Emptineſſe] Iſa. 34.11. Confuſion and emptineſſe. The words are the ſame, uſed of that confuſed and formleſſe ſhape of the lower part of the world, in it's firſt production, Gen. 1.2. See ch. 24.10. Jer. 4.23. Annot.

Encline] To hearken, hear, give ear, attend: Pſal. 116.2. He hath enclined his ear, bowed his ear. Aynſw. Jer. 7.24. Nor inclined their ear; as the manner is of thoſe that liſten to ought, which they are deſirous to hear. Annot. Pſal. 119.112. I have inclined mine heart. Set, bent my minde. Judg. 9.3. Their hearts inclined to follow Abimelech; i. e. To chuſe him before any other to be their King, becauſe he was their kinſman. Annot. Prov. 2.18. Her houſe inclineth unto death. The courſes uſed in her houſe bring men to untimely ends, ch. 7.27. Annot.

Encloſe] To compaſſe, environ, Judg. 20.43. Block up, Lam. 3.9. To wrap in, or ſhut up as cloſe priſoners. Luk. 5.6. They are encloſed in their owne fat. Pſal. 17.10. or, with their fat they have cloſed up, to wit, their face, or body (much like that ſpeech in Job 15.27. He hath covered his face with his fatneſſe) or, their fat they cloſe up, meaning that they pamper and harden themſelves. Aynſw.

Enclosings] Exod. 28.20. & 39.13. Embоſſements. Aynſw.

Encounter] To ſtrive, or contend with, Act. 17.18.

End] 2 Chr. 24.23. Heb. revolution, mar. Prov. 23.18. Reward, marg. Ends, 1 Kin. 8.8. Heb. heads, mar. Job 37.3. & 38.13. Hebr. wings, marg. From one end to another, Ezr. 9.11. Hebr. from mouth to mouth, marg. So 2 King. 21.16. mar. Hope to the end, 1 Pet. 1.13. Gr. perfectly, marg.

The end is not yet, Mat. 24.6. The end of Jeruſalem, or of the Jewiſh State (not of the whole world) the approach of the Romanes to deſtroy Jeruſalem, ſoon after the aſcenſion of Chriſt, Dr. Ham. Annot. d. He that endureth to the end, Mat. 10.22. To endure to the end, Mat. 10.22. To endure to the end, doth here clearly ſignifie a perſevering conſtant adherence to Chriſt, in deſpight of all the perſecutions, that ſhould befall them for the name of Chriſt. Idem. Annot. g.

Endamage] To wrong, hinder, do harm unto, Ezr. 4.13.

Endanger] See Indanger.

Ended] Finiſhed, Gen. 2.2. Aynſw. They end, 2 Sam. 20.18. or make an end, mar. Iſa. 60.20. A full end put unto. Applyed unto dayes of mourning, Deut. 34.8. Iſa. 60.20. dayes of purification, Act. 7.27. dayes of the ſiege, Eze. 4.8. dayes of temptation, Luk. 4.2,13. Harveſt, Ruth 2.21. Matter, 2 Sam. 20.18. Prayers of David, Pſal. 72.20. Sayings, Matth. 7.28. Endleſſe genealogies] 1 Tim. 1.4. He calleth them endleſſe, not becauſe in the genealogies, there was no end, neither upwards nor downwards, but becauſe thoſe of the Jews who imbraced Chriſtian Religion, were ſo addicted to theſe genealogies, that they might have pretence of claiming kindred of Chriſt, that they made no end of drawing down their lines of deſcent from David, or from Abraham; or becauſe the queſtions moved concerning genealogies, by reaſon of the ſlender proof and ground they had for them, could receive no determination or end. Annot.

Endleſſe life, Heb. 7.16. See the Dict. on the Hebr.

Endeabour] Pſal. 28.4. According to the wickedneſſe of their endevours, according to the evill of their practiſes. This hath reference to the curſe denounced againſt ſinners, Deut. 28.20. Aynſw.

Endeavour] To ſtudy, ſeek, deſire, or covet earneſtly, Act. 16. 10. To care for, ſtudy, apply the minde unto, labour, or affect; and that carefully, diligently, earneſtly, Epheſ. 4. 3. 1 Theſſ. 2. 17. 2 Pet. 1. 15.

Endow] To give a dowry, Gen. 30. 20. Exod. 22. 16.

Enemy] Their enemies, Exod. 22. 35. Heb. thoſe that roſe up againſt them, marg. An enemy in my habitation, 1 Sam. 2. 32. or the affliction of the Tabernacle, mar. Mine enemies, Pſal. 5. 8. & 27. 11. Heb. thoſe which obſerve me, marg. The Jews enemies, Eſt. 3. 10. or oppreſſour, marg.

An enemy hath done this, Mat. 13. 28. The phraſe ἐχθρὸς ἄνθρωπος, literally enemy man, is here an Hebraiſme, the like as we ſhall finde Eſt. 7 6. The man adverſary, or adverſary man, is this wicked Haman. And ſo it reſtrains not the word here to a man, but leaves it in the latitude, that ἐχθρὸς alone would be a man or devil. Dr. Ham. Annot. e.

Enflame] To kindle, as דלק is rendred in Ezek. 24. 10. & Obad. v. 18. which in Iſa. 5. 11. is tranſlated enflame. That is indeed the ordinary effect of Wine and Strong drink, immoderately taken, to enflame the body. Jer. 51. 39. To bring Feavers, and Calentures, ſuch as have thereof their name, Deut. 28. 22. Yea, to enflame it with filthy luſt, Gen. 19. 32, 36. Hoſ. 4. 11. Yet becauſe the word ſometime alſo ſignifieth, eagerly, or ardently to perſue, Pſal. 7. 13. & 10. 2. Lam. 4. 19. Some therefore render it, till the wine perſue them. As they perſue it, ſo it perſues them in that manner, that it doth ſurpriſe them, and maſter them, and take wits, reaſon, and underſtanding from them, Hoſ. 4. 12. Prov. 20. 1. Annot.

Enfold] A fire enfolding it ſelf, Ezek. 1. 4. Vapours likely in the cloud, kindling, and burning into themſelves, the flame turning inward, catching it ſelf, as the Hebr. is, and making as it were a fiery globe: Some would apply the ſignification of this to Sin, and the nature of it. But we rather conceive it repreſents the fiery wrath of God; or ſecondarily of Nebuchadnezzar his inſtrument, who burnt up Temple, City, and all. Annot

Engage for] Who is this that engaged his heart to approach unto me? Jer. 30. 21. Some expound this of Chriſt, and that either in way of admiration of his dignity and excellency; for who is this (that is, how excellent a perſon is he) that hath given his heart, that is, his ſoul, for a pawn, or pledge, or engagement to procure acceſſe to me? Iſa. 53. 7, 10. Heb. 7. 22. or in way of appropriation and excluſion of all others, Who but he hath engaged, or can engage? Who can engage his heart to approach unto God, in that manner as Chriſt did? 1 Tim. 2. 5. or, who dare in that manner offer to approach unto God, or take upon him the office of mediating between God and man, unleſſe he be by God himſelf called and aſſigned thereunto? Heb. 5. 4. Others, apply it to Gods people, and that as ſpoken either in way of admiration, as intimating the paucity of thoſe at preſent that did apply themſelves to draw neer unto God; and they render the words, For who is he that engageth his heart to approach unto me? (ſo it ſhould be like that, Iſa. 53. 1. Who beleeveth our report? that is, few or none) or in way of confirmation, as rendring a reaſon, why he ſaid he would make them to approach, that they might come neer to him, to wit, becauſe none could do it of himſelf, Cant. 1. 4. Joh. 6. 44. & 15. 3. or in way of ſtipulation, like that Pſal. 25. 12. and that Iſa. 50. 10. and ſo the words may be rendred, either, Who is he that hath engaged, or undertaken for his heart to draw neer unto me? as thy ſervant hath engaged himſelf for the lad, Gen. 44. 32. or, that hath made a covenant or agreement with his heart (that is, hath ſincerely obliged himſelfe, and made a covenant with his heart) to approach unto me? as Iſa. 36. 8. & Job 31. 1. And ſo the words may have reference either to what went before, of taking neer to him, ſuch as had any hearty deſire and reſolution thus to approach and come home to him, ch. 24. 7. & 50. 4, 5. Joh. 6. 37. or to that which followeth, that if any ſuch were found, whoſoever they were that ſhould be ſo affected, they ſhould be his people, and he would be their God, verſ. 22. Annot.

Engrave] To cut, or carve, Exo. 28. 11. Spoken of God the Father, (Zech. 3. 9.) who hath appointed his Son to be Mediatour, and hath conferred upon his humane nature, all the gifts of his Spirit, for to perform it. See 2. 34, 44. Heb. 9. 11. Joh. 1. 16. & 3. 34. Col. 1. 19. & 2. 9. Though it ſhall be a ſtone rejected by the builders, Act. 4. 11. Yet God will work upon it all perfection of excellencies, as Pſal. 45. 7. The very engraving of Chriſts wounds upon his body, was an excellent workmanſhip of God. Annot.

Engraver in ſtone] Exod. 28. 11. or Stonecutter, Jeweller. This engraving in precious ſtone, and that like a ſignet, with the names of the Sons of Iſrael, ſignified the firm and perpetuall love, memoriall, eſteem, and ſuſtentation of the Church of Chriſt, Job 19. 23, 24. Cant. 8. 6. Hag. 2. 23. Aynſw.

Enjoy] Make his ſoul enjoy good, Eccleſ. 2. 24. or delight his ſenſes, marg. Thou ſhalt not enjoy them, Deut. 28. 41. Hebr. they ſhall not be thine, marg.

Enjoyn] Philem. verſ. 8. To command, as the Originall ἐπιτάσσω is rendred, Mar. 1. 27. & 6. 37, 39. Luk. 4. 36. & 8. 31. & 14. 22. Act. 23. 2. or, to charge, as the ſame word is rendred, Mar. 9. 25. To ordain, or appoint, Eſt. 9. 31. Who hath enjoyned him his way? Job 36. 23. Who hath preſcribed to him what he ſhould do? Annot.

Enlarge] Gen. 9. 27. or Perſwade, ma. Enlarged by you, 2 Cor. 10. 15. or Magnified in you, marg. Applyed to Bed, thou haſt enlarged thy bed, Iſa. 57. 8. (thou haſt encreaſed thy Idolatries more and more, by the multitude of thine Altars, or by enlarging thy Temples and places built for the exerciſe thereof, as 1 King. 11. 7. & 21. 3. like a Strumpet, that makes her bed or room larger; or maketh many beds and rooms, to receive and entertain the more company, 2 Chr. 28. 24, 25. Jer. 2. 28. & 11. 13. Ezek. 16. 15, 16, 24, 25, 31. & 23. 14. See verſ. 7. So enlarge or widen the place of thy tent, to receive the more inhabitants, ch. 54. 2. Annot.) Borders, Exod. 34. 24. Deut. 12. 20. Amos 1. 13. (Enlarged their border, by war, and by unjuſt invaſion. Annot.) The borders of garments, Mat. 23. 5. (for ſhew to men, that others might take the more notice of them, and think them to be the onely religious men. Thus hypocriſie learneth to abuſe any ordinance of God. See Numb. 15. 39. Annot.) Coaſts, Deut. 19. 8. 1 Chr. 4. 10. Deſire, as Hell, Hab. 2. 5. (Prov. 27. 20. & 30. 16. The Babylonian hath been inflamed with an unſatiable deſire, and ambition. See Iſa. 5. 14. Annot.) Baldneſſe, as the Eagle, Mic. 1. 16. (when ſhe changeth her feathers, or groweth bald. Annot.) Gad, Deut. 33. 20. (which may be underſtood of Gad's inheritance, which the bleſſed God would enlarge, as he promiſed Iſrael, Exod. 34. 24. or of his perſon, and then his inlarging is his deliverance out of diſtreſſe, as in Pſal. 4. 1. So it hath reference to Gad's troubles, propheſied in Gen. 49. 19. and the hiſtory of Gad's inlargement by Jephthah, in Judg. 11. Aynſw.) Heart, Pſal. 119. 32. (amplified and encreaſed with wiſdome, as 1 King. 4. 29. (as, to want an heart, is to be fooliſh, Prov. 9. 4.) or, with comfort, as Iſa. 60. 5. or love, as 2 Cor. 6. 11. Aynſw.) Iſa. 60. 5. (for joy dilateth and enlargeth the heart, 2 Cor. 6. 11, 12. as on the contrary, grief is wont to contract and draw it in, Prov. 12. 25. See ch. 61. 3. Annot.) Hell, Iſa. 5. 14. Japhet, Gen. 9. 27. (God enlarge Japhet, or perſwade Japhet; wherein is a pleaſant Paranomaſia, or a verball alluſion, Japh elohim lejepheth; that is, God enlarge the enlarged, or perſwade the perſwaſible. After the former reading the word enlarge imports a temporall bleſſing upon Japhet, for the increaſe of his poſterity, and an enlargement of their territories; for the European Gentiles, eſpecially the Romanes, of the poſterity of Japhet, extended their temporall Empire ſo far, as to account themſelves Lords of the world. According to the latter reading, God perſwade Japhet, the meaning of the bleſſing, prayer, or propheſie, (for it is all) is that the Gentiles who came of Japhet, and were ſeparated in Religion from the Church, ſhould by converſion be joyned to it, Eph. 2. 13. and that this converſion ſhould be wrought by the powerfull perſwaſion of the Word and Spirit of God, and not by humane Oratory, though never ſo eloquent. Annot. So in effect Aynſw.) Mouth, 1 Sam. 2. 1. (my mouth is enlarged over mine enemies. Now by Gods giving me a Son, as my heart is dilated with joy, ſo my mouth is opened to expreſſe my inward rejoycing; having not onely matter of ſufficient praiſing God for his goodneſſe towards me, but alſo to ſtop the mouth of my adverſary, ſeeing ſhe hath now no cauſe to inſult over me; or, if ſhe ſhall ſtill opon her mouth wide againſt me, I ſhall in as ample manner enlarge my ſelf in Gods praiſes, and have matter enough to ſtop her mouth. Annot.) The Nations, Job 12. 23. (as they do increaſe in number, ſo he doth enlarge their borders, and ſpreads them abroad upon the face of the earth, that all may live, and not one be a burthen to another. Annot.) The place of the tent, Iſa. 54. 2. (Heb. widen, as ch. 5. 14. Implying, that her iſſue and inhabitants ſhould ſo increaſe and multiply, that ſhe ſhould want room to receive them. See ch. 49. 20, 21. & 60. 4, 5. Annot.) Steps, Pſal. 18. 36. (Thou haſt enlarged my ſteps, or haſt widened my paſſage, enlarged my pace; that is, given me room to walk ſtedily and ſafe; contrary to that which is ſaid of the wicked, that his ſtrong (or violent) paſſages are ſtraightned, or made narrow, Job 18. 7. Aynſworth.) Troubles of the heart, Pſal. 25. 17. (the troubles of heart are enlarged, or do enlarge themſelves, do make wide roomth. He ſheweth his heart to be penned in with ſtraights and diſtreſſing ſorrows, which largely ſpread themſelves over all. Aynſw.

Enſnare] Job 34. 30. Leſt the people be enſnared. Not by their bad life and example, (as ſome would have it) but leſt the people by their tyrannous courſes loſe their liberties. Or, becauſe of the ſnares of the people; that is, God revengeth the peoples wrongs, and pulls Kings down for oppreſſing Subjects. Annot.

It implyes ſingular love to a thing, and great labour about it: notes eager affection in following thereof; ſo following as the perſecuter, who will not reſt till he have him whom he perſecuteth. If he fall, he will up again, and to it, and not give over. Leigh Crit. Sac.

Entangle] 2 Pet. 2. 20. They are again intangled, ἐμπλακέντες, attached, incumbred, taken with, enſnared.

Envyed him, Gen. 26. 14. Had an envious zeal and emulation. So Solomon ſaw how all labour and rightneſſe of work, brought envy to a man from his neighbour, Eccleſ. 4. 4. Aynſw. One word in the Originall, is, for envy, zeal, and jealouſie; taken ſometime in the good part, ſometime in the evil, as Gen. 30. 1. The Spirit that dwelleth in us luſteth to envy (or enviouſly) Jam. 4. 5. If we underſtand by Spirit, the ſpirit of a man unregenerate, as ſome doe, then the laſt clauſe muſt be rendred luſteth to envy, that is, inciteth, or putteth on, or moveth earneſtly unto envy, and the like: but if by Spirit we underſtand here the Spirit of God, which is the more probable opinion, becauſe that clauſe dwelleth in us, is often attributed to the Spirit of God, Exod. 25. 8. & 29. 4. Rom. 8. 11. 1 Cor. 11. 16. then that clauſe muſt be underſtood of the

The word ſignifies bodily and locall errors, and wanderings, Ezek. 34. 6. and a figure, the errours of the minde, Prov. 5. 19, 20. But eſpecially ſuch as ariſe out of ignorance, not of wilfulneſſe, Gen. 4. 2. & 5. 18. & 22. 14. Fairs] The moſt famous were kept in Tyrus, where Merchants from all Countreys came, and traded, Ezek. 27. 12, &c.

Faith] I have not found ſo great faith, no not in Iſrael, Mat. 8. 10. There are five acceptions of the word πίστις faith, in the New Teſtament.

1. The faith, or believing that Chriſt was able to cure diſeaſes, &c. as here, & ch. 9. 22. Act. 14. 9. And under this head the faith of the Diſciples, by which they believed Chriſt, ſo far, as that by his delegated power, they were able to do the like miracles, Mat. 17. 20. & 21. 22. Mar. 11. 24. 1 Cor. 13. 2. and perhaps ch. 12. 9. where faith as a χάρισμα, or gift of the Spirit, is joyned with the gift of healing.

2. The belief of all that is revealed by God, and that is in effect the true Religion, either before Chriſts birth (and then 'tis the faith of God) Heb. 11. 3, 30, 31. and referred to v. 6. or after, and then it's the faith of Chriſt, Rev. 14. 12. or belief of the truth, i. e. that truth now revealed by Chriſt, 2 Theſſ. 2. 13. And when this is not ſo complete as it ſhould be, for want of light, then it's weak faith, or weakneſſe in faith, Rom. 14. 1.

3. The dictate of conſcience, rightly perſwaded or aſſured of the lawfulneſſe of what a man doth, and that either to one particular action, Rom. 14. 22, 23. or univerſally, to the generall current of the life, Heb. 10 22.

4. In a more limited ſenſe, it's a confidence in prayer, that what we ask as we ought to doe, we ſhall receive, Jam. 5. 15. and as an aſſociate of that, depending on Gods proviſion for the things of this life, the want of which is called ὀλιγοπιστία, littleneſſe of faith, Mat. 6. 30.

5. Fidelity, and that either in God, making good his promiſe to us, Rom. 3. 3. 1 Cor. 1. 9. & 10. 13. 1 Theſſ. 5. 24. or in man, toward other men, Mat. 23. 23. Gal. 5. 22. Servants towards their Maſters, Tit. 2. 10. So πιστὸς, the faithfull Steward, Matt. 25. 21. Luk. 14 17. 1 Cor. 4. 7. Or of men toward God, 2 Tim. 4. 8. where keeping the faith, after fighting and finiſhing the courſe, muſt needs be conſtancy and fidelity, from whence the word πιστὸς moſt commonly draws its ſignification, being frequently taken not for believing but faithfull, 1 Tim. 1. 12. Heb. 2. 17. & 3. 2. Rev. 2. 10. and ſo ἄπιστος is ordinarily unfaithfull, Luk. 12. 46. all one with hypocrites, Mat. 24. 51. Beſide theſe five, the word is alſo ſometimes uſed in a looſer ſenſe, for believing the doctrine of God and Chriſt, howſoever acquir'd, whether from ſenſible experience, Jam. 2. 19. or from ocular demonſtration, Joh. 20. 25. or from relation, as when it's ſaid to come by hearing. Dr. Ham. Annot. f.

Faithfull] 1 Tim. 6. 2. or, Believing, m.

Faithfulneſſe] Pſal. 5. 9. or Stedfaſtneſſe, marg.

Faithfully] Thus did they which had the overſight of the Houſe of the Lord, 2 King. 12. 11, 15. & 22. 7. Thus were the Prieſts and Levites to execute their office, Chr. 19. 9. Thus were the Offerings, and Tithes, and Dedicate things brought in, Ib. 31. 12. Thus muſt Kings judge, Prov. 29.14. And he that hath Gods word, ſpeak Gods word, Jer. 23. 28. and Chriſtians do unto each other whatſoever they doe, 3 Joh. verſ. 5.

Faithleſſe] ἄπιστος, Mat. 17.17. Luk. 9.41. An unbeliever, ſo is the word rendred, Luk. 12. 46. 1 Cor. 6. 6. One that believeth not, 1 Cor. 7. 12, 13. Unbelieving, Ib. v. 14, 15. An infidell, 2 Cor. 6. 15. 1 Tim. 5. 8.

Fallow ground] Jerem. chap. 4. verſ. 3. Break up your fallow ground, Hebrew fallow your fallow, or fallow ye a fallow. It might not amiſſe alſo be rendred, Plough up your plough-land. A Metaphor taken from grounds that are to be broken up for tillage, which had never been to that purpoſe employed before; or that having been formerly ſo employed, having lien long fallow, and being overgrown therefore with weeds and thorns, are not fit to receive ſeed, which would but be caſt away, being caſt upon them, untill they be broken up with the ploughſhare, and rid of that traſh, which wicked courſes are compared unto, Heb. 6. 8. Annot.

Falſe accuſers] 2 Tim. 3. 3. or make-bates, marg.

Falſe ballance] Prov. 11. 1. Heb. ballances of deceit, marg.

Falſe witneſſes] Pſal. 35. 11. Heb. witneſſes of wrong, mar.

Sought falſe witneſſe againſt Jeſus, Matth. 25. 59. The profeſſed coming in, and entertaining of falſe witneſſes againſt Chriſt, will not ſeem ſtrange, if it be remembred that among the Jews, in actions againſt Seducers of the people, or falſe Prophets, it was lawfull to ſay any thing, whether true or falſe, no man being permitted to ſay any thing in defence of them. In the condemning of other men, they expected a day and a night, to ſee if any thing could be produced, which might profit the Priſoner; but not in theſe caſes of falſe Prophets, and Seducers of the people to Idolatry. So it is ſaid in the Story of Stephen, they ſuborned men, Act. 6. 11. & verſ. 13. They ſet up, or ſubſtituted, falſe witneſſes. Beſides, the Sanhedrin were ſo reſolved to take away his life, that they did profeſſedly ſeek falſe witneſſe, that ſhould come and ſwear any thing againſt him. And what was here done in their proceſſe againſt him, is juſt the antitype, or farther impletion of that which was firſt performed on Jeremiah, Jer. 26. 8, 9. Dr. Ha. An. h.

Falſhood] Job 21. 34. Heb. tranſgreſſion, m. Iſa. 28. 15. Under falſhood have we hid our ſelves. Hereby ſome underſtand their Idols, ſo tearmed, ch. 44. 20. Jer. 10. 14. wherein many of them much confided, chap. 1. 31. & chap. 17. 8. Others, their treachery and diſſembling complyance with the adverſe party, whereby they made account to ſave themſelves, whatſoever became of others. Others, their crafty ſhifts, and wily devices, which may well include the former, ch. 29. 15, 16. Others laſtly, which is moſt likely, their ſtrength raiſed, and wealth gotten by fraudulent and deceitfull courſes, Pſal. 52. 7. & 62. 9, 10. ch. 30. 12. Annot.

Falſifie] Amos 8. 5. Heb. pervert, marg.

Families] Gen. 47. 12. According to their families, Heb. according to the little ones, marg. that is, according to the number that was in their families, as well ſmall as great. Anſw. Judg. 6. 15. my family, or my thouſand, marg. 2 Chr. 35. 5. Families of the Fathers, Heb. the houſe of the Fathers, marg. Pſal. 68. 6. in families, Heb. in a houſe, m.

Famiſhed] Gen. 41. 55. or hungred, had famine. Anſw. Iſa. 5. 13. Heb. men of hunger, or famine. Annot. Prov. 10 3. Not ſuffer the righteous to famiſh. Though the Lord ſuffer the juſt to want for a time, yet he will ſend him comfort in due time. Zeph. 2. 11. I will famiſh, Heb. make lean, mar.

Famous] Ruth 4. 11. Be famous, Heb. proclaim thy name, mar. Ezek. 23. 10. She became famous, Heb. a name, marg.

Fan] Whoſe fan is in his hand, Mat. 3. 12. πτύον, a winnowing inſtrument, a piece of wood by which they ſeparate the wheat from the chaff, ſaith Heſychius. The Hebrew reads מִזְרֶה, ventilabrum, from זָרָה, diſperſit, ventilavit, referring in generall to winnowing, or holding up to the winds, but not peculiarly to the manner of doing it. The Syriack hath ܕܝܪܬܐ, raphſho, and ſo the Arabick alſo; in which languages the word is ſaid to have two ſignifications.

1. To note a ſhovel, or ſuch like inſtrument with a broad head, as a paddle, &c. wherewith the ſurface of the earth is plained or pared.

2. An

2. An inſtrument with a broad head, where-with corn is moved, or winnowed, or ſtirred up to cleanſe it. An inſtrument with teeth, ſomewhat like our Pitchfork, with which they managed the buſineſſe of winnowing their corn, ſtirring it up, that the chaffe when the corn is out of it, having no weight in it, may be driven away with the wind, if there be any, and if there be none, they had an inſtrument, as we have now ſayles to make a wind, and then that blows away the chaff, without any other help, then of ſtirring it up, that the wind may have force on it. Dr. Ham. Annot. i.

Fanners] Jer. 51. 2. I will ſend unto Babylon fanners. As I ſometime fanned and ſcattered my people by them, chap. 4. 11, 12. & 15. 7. So will I now fan them by the Medes and Perſians, who ſhall empty their land of them, as they formerly emptyed my land of her inhabitants, verſ. 35. 2 Chr. 26. 20, 21. ch. 48. 12. & 49. 32, 36. Annot.

Farm] Mat. 22. 5. or field (for ſo the Originall ἀγρὸς is rendred, Mat. 6. 28, 30. & 13. 24, 27, 31, 36, 38, 44.) or land, Mat. 19. 29. Act. 4. 37. or countrey, Mar. 5. 14. & 6. 56. & 15. 21. & 16. 12. Luk. 8. 34. or piece of ground, Luk. 14. 18. For farms are in the Countrey, whereunto belong lands, fields, ground. Worldly men look after ſecular riches, not valuing the eternal. Pleaſures and Avarice keep men from Chriſt and Salvation. Annot.

Farther] More, Act. 4. 17. & 24. 4.

Faſt] Apace, ſpeedily, Ezr. 5. 8.

Faſt] Had faſt cloſed up, or cloſing cloſed. Aynſw. But by the words prefixed (binde, abide, keep, cleave, ſetteth, &c.) or annexed hereunto, as aſleep, &c. the meaning of ſuch places is plainly to be perceived.

Faſt] 2 Sam. 12. 16. David faſted, Heb. faſted a faſt, mar.

Sailing was now dangerous, becauſe the Faſt was now already paſt, Act. 29. 9. There is no queſtion but that the Faſt which is here ſaid to be newly paſt, was the great Anniverſary Faſt, the day of Expiation. The deſcription of which we have Iſa. 58. under the name of a Sabbath, verſ. 13. Now the preciſe time of this Sabbatick Faſt is (Levit. 16. 29.) on the tenth day of the ſeventh month, called Tizri, which falls on the ſame time almoſt with our September, the firſt day of Tizri on the ſeventh of that, and ſo the tenth of Tizri on the ſixteenth of September, i. e. thirteen dayes before our Michaelmas; or, as Scaliger ſets it, on the twentyeth of that moneth. This being thus obſerved, the reaſon of the Apoſtles obſervation, that ſailing was now become dangerous, becauſe the Faſt was paſt, will be eaſily cleared, it being all one as if he had ſaid, becauſe it was paſt the twentyeth of September, it being obſerved by all Sailers, that for ſome weeks before and after Michaelmas, there are on the Sea ſudden and frequent ſtorms, which we now call Michaelmas flaws, which muſt needs make ſailing dangerous, as the experiment proved, verſ. 14. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

Faſt] See Faſting.

Faſtened] Job 38. 6. Hebr. made to ſink, marg.

Fat] Jer. 50. 11. Heb. big, or corpulent, marg.

Father] Call no man your Father upon the earth, Mat. 23. 9. The wiſe man, the principall of the School of the Prophets, who had the great authority among them, no man contradicting what he ſaid, was by them then called אב, Father; and in this reſpect, and in this ſenſe of the word Father among the Jews, all Chriſtians being now taught of God by Chriſt, are appointed to acknowledge no Father in earth. Dr. Ham. Annot. c.

Fatherleſs] One whoſe Father is dead. Whoſe helper is the Lord, Pſal. 10. 14. who judgeth for them, Ibid. 18. is their Father, Pſal. 68. 5. in whom they find mercy, Hoſ. 14. 3. who hath enacted Laws on their behalf, Exod. 22. 22. Deut. 10. 18. Pſ. 82. 3. Iſa. 1. 17. Prov. 23. 10. Speaketh againſt, yea pronounceth a curſe upon them that wrong them, Iſa. 1. 23. & 9. 17. & 10. 2. Jer. 5. 28. Ezek. 22. 7. Mal. 3. 5. Deut. 27. 19. and that they are indeed truely religious who take care of them, Jam. 1. 27. as Job dip, ch. 29. 12. & 31. 17. To be fatherleſſe or orphans, is (as ſometimes) a grievous judgement, Pſal. 109. 10, 12. and a curſe of the Law, Exod. 12. 24.

Fathome] Act. 27. 28. The Originall ὀργυιὰ, is the meaſure of the extenſion of the hands, together with the breaſt betwixt, containing ſix feet, which is a kinde of meaſuring well known unto our Mariners, in ſounding the depth of the Sea. Leigh Crit. Sac.

Fatlings] Beaſts that were carefully and diligently fed, that they might be very fat, 1 Sam. 15. 9. 2 Sam. 6. 13.

Fats] Taken properly, Joel 2. 24. figuratively, Joel 3. 13.

Fault] There is utterly a fault among you, 1 Cor. 6. 7. The word ἥττημα is used Rom. 11. 12. and is opposed to πλήρωμα, fulneſſe, noting there the great paucity of the Jewiſh converts to Chriſtianity. Accordingly, though it be here applyed to another matter, yet in the ſame notion it is a going leſſe, or an inferiour degree, which in reſpect of that which is to be expected of the higher Proficients in Chriſtianity, is a defect, or failing, a low pitch for any Chriſtian, but not ſuch as can abſolutely and univerſally be counted a ſin, as not being againſt any precept. Contending or going to Law for light inconſiderable matters, is forbidden by Chriſt, Mat. 5. 40. but not abſolutely all contending for the recovery or defending ones owne, when the matter is of weight or importance; onely they that have gotten a ſuperiority and contempt of the world, they will goe higher then that ſtrict precept, and rather endure conſiderable loſſes, then engage themſelves in ſuch diſquiets of minde, and turmoyls, as ſuch contentions uſe to bring with them; and to this is to be applyed that which here follows in this place, Why doe ye not rather ſuffer injury and defraudation? i. e. It is more Chriſtian and excellent to do ſo. And in this reſpect, or comparatively to this higher virtue, the going to Law at all, though it be not a ſin, ἁμάρτημα, or παράπτωμα, yet it is ἥττημα a diminution, a leſſe degree of Chriſtian perfection. And that is all that is meant in this place. Dr Ham. Annot. a.

Faultleſs] Ἄμεμπτος, without complaint, Heb 8. 7. See the Dict. thereon. Jude v. 24. To preſent you faultleſſe, Gr. to make you ſtand. At the day of Judgement, to make you ſtand without guilt or filth of ſin. Annot.

Faulty] Delinquent, guilty, 2 Sam. 14. 13 Hoſ. 10. 2.

Favour] Eſt. 2. 7. or Kindneſſe, marg.

Favourable] Judg. 21. 22. Be favourable unto them, or gratifie us in them, marg. Job 23. 26. And he will be favourable unto him. God will be pleaſed with him, and look cheerfully on him in his conſcience, as a man doth on his friend when he is reconciled. Annot. Pſa. 85. 1. Thou haſt been favourable, Heb. well pleaſed. Annot. or, haſt favourably accepted. Aynſw.

Favoured] Hail highly favoured, Luk. 1. 28. or graciouſly accepted, or much graced, marg. or gracious perſon. Dr. Ham. Paraph.

F E.

Fear] 1 Pet. 3. 15. or reverence, marg.

Might ſerve him without fear, Luk. 1. 74. That the word ἀφόβως, without fear, referres to our enemies, in whoſe power we were before, appears by the diſtinct mention of them in the next words, and therefore it cannot with any ſenſe be applyed to the excluding that fear of our danger, which is founded onely in our ſelves, our own negligences or miſcarriages. The reading is this, that we being delivered without fear from the hands of our enemies might ſerve him. Dr. Ham. Paraph. & Annot. q.

With fear and trembling, Phil. 2. 12. The phraſe ſignifieth with humility, yet not onely lowlineſſe of minde, but diligence and caution, and ſollicitude, and fear of diſpleaſing, as a qualification of obedience, ſuch as will be required to render it acceptable to God, Eph. 6. 5. 2 Cor. 7. 15. comp. with ver. 9. 11, 14. Thus ἐν φόβῳ, in fear, ſignifies 1 Pet. 1. 17. with all diligence and care to approve themſelves to God. And ſo 2 Cor. 7. 1. In the fear of God, is the qualification of their cleanſing from all filthineſſe, and perfecting holineſſe. And Heb. 12. 28. as the qualification of ſerving God acceptably, is added with reverence and fear. Idem Annot. c.

Fear not their fear (it's in our tranſlation, Be not afraid of their terrour) 1 Pet. 3. 14. i. e. the puniſhments which they threaten (where not the affection, but the object, or thing it ſelf which is feared is meant) and ſo Iſa. 8. 16. from whence the place is taken) the Heb. which is rendred φόβον αὐτῶν, his fear, is מוראו, which ſignifies the terrible thing, the object of fear, not fear it ſelf which is יראה, and therefore it follows in that very place, The Lord ſhall be thy fear, i. e. Surely, the object of it, he ſhall be feared by thee, and ſo the Hebrew is in other places rendred ὁράματα, Deut. 26. 8. terrible ſights, or appearances, and cha. 34. 12. θαυμάσια τὰ μεγάλα, the great wonders, or terrible things that were done before them. So מחד, fear, is ſometimes rendred πόλεμος, war, Job 22. 10. Sometimes ὄλεθρος, deſtruction, Prov. 1. 26. So Jude verſ. 23. Whom ſave with fear, i. e. in time of danger, as it follows, pulling them out of the fire. Dr. Ham. on Heb. 5. Annot. b.

Fear] Job 3. 25. The thing which I greatly feared is come upon me. Hebr. I feared a fear, and it came upon me, marg. Heb. 5. 7. In that he feared, or for his piety, mar.

There's a Dutifull fear, as of Children towards wards their Parents, Lev. 19.3. Wives towards their Husbands, Eph. 5.33. Servants towards their Maſters, Eph. 6.5. Inferiours towards their Superiours, Rom. 13.7.

A baſe fear onely in bodily or worldly reſpects, Joſh. 10 2. 1 Sam. 15.24. 1 King. 5.51. Act. 16. 38. or for the perſons of men, Mat. 21.26. Gal. 2.12.

A Chriſtian fear, out of love and care of ſpirituall welfare, 2 Cor. 11.3. Gal. 4.11.

A religious fear, in reſpect, To God himſelf, Prov. 31.30. Eccleſ. 5.7. Act. 10.7. To his commandements, Prov. 13.13. To his exemplary puniſhments, Deut 13.11. & 17.13. 1 Tim. 5.20. Act. 5.5. & 19.17. To his great and rare works, Luk. 1.65. & 5.26. & 7.16.

A wiſe fear, as to avoyd the malice of enemies, Judg. 9.21. Joh. 19.38. & 20.19.

A reverent fear, as reſpecting the wrath of the perſon, Mar. 6. 20. or for offending, Luk. 9.45.

A compaſſionate fear, to prevent miſchief from another, Act. 23.10. Bernard.

Fearfull in praiſes, Exod. 15.11. Who ought for his great and dreadfull execution of judgement, to be praiſed; and when we praiſe him, we may fear, becauſe we cannot ſufficiently praiſe him; yea, ſo far ſhould we be from preſuming upon God, for any of his acts and attributes, that all of them, even his Mercy, ſhould affect us with an awefull fear and religious reverence. See Pſal. 2.11. & 130.4. Iſa. 6.5. Jer. 33.9. Annot. Deut. 28. 58. Fearfull Nation, or marvellous, Aynſw. Iſa. 35.4. Heb. haſty, as cha. 32.4. Prone to fear; oppoſed to confidence, cha. 28.16. Annot.

Fearfully] Pſal. 139.14. or, in fearfull ſorts, to wit, I am made; or, theſe are fearfull things. The Chald. ſaith, thou haſt done fearfull things. Aynſw.

Feaſt] 1 Cor. 5.8. or, Holiday, mar.

Feaſt] Job 1.4. And feaſted, made feaſts. The word is taken from a word that ſignifies to drink, for choyce wines and drinks were a principall part of their feaſts, Gen. 43.34. Annot.

Feathered fowles] Pſal. 78. 27. The Quails, Heb. fowles of wing, mar. Ezek. 39.17. Every feathered fowle, Heb. the fowle of every wing, marg.

Feeble knees] Job 4.4. Heb. the bowing knees, mar.

Feebleneſs] Jer. 47.3. Nor look back for feebleneſſe of heart. Extremity of fear, joyned with feebleneſſe, as well of hand as of heart, ſhall ſo overſway naturall affection with them, that they ſhall caſt and ſeek every one onely how to ſhift for, and ſave himſelf, not once looking after their children, as unable to reſcue them, though never ſo fain they would. Annot.

Feed] Gen. 47.17. He fed them, Heb. led them, marg. Pſal. 28.9. Feed them, or rule them, marg. So Mic. 5.4. & 7.14. mar.

Feet] Pſal. 18.36. Hebr. ankles, marg. & 2 Sam. 22.37.m. Gen. 49.10. From between his feet, ſignifieth, born of, and brought up by him. For ſo this phraſe ſignifieth, Deut. 28.57. & 33.3. Aynſw. Judg. 3.24. He covereth his feet, or doth his eaſement, marg.

Brought up at the feet of Gamaliel, Act. 22.3. It was the manner of Diſciples to ſit at the feet of their Maſters, which in Pirke Avoth is called to duſt themſelves in the duſt of their feet, for ſo ſaith Joſe there. Let thy houſe be the houſe or aſſembly for wiſe men; i. e. Be thou ever converſant in the School of the Doctors, and do thou roll, or duſt, or tumble thy ſelf in the duſt of their feet. Dr. Hammond Annot. a.

Where note, that by a figurative form of ſpeech, ſenſe and ſpeech is given to dumb and ſenſeleſſe creatures. Annot.

The felloes in a wheel are moſt commonly five or ſix, which being joyned together, make the round circle next the ground, whereunto the iron ſtrakes are nailed on the outſide, and on the inſide the one end of each ſpoke is placed, the other end being joyned unto the nave.

But if we are true Beleevers, whether male or female, we are in equall eſteem with God, Gal. 3. 28.

Fence] Pſal. 62. 3. A tottering fence, or wall, or mure ſhooved at, or thruſt, namely, for to fall, as is expreſſed, Pſal. 118. 13. Hereby is meant a great and ſudden ruine, as Iſa. 30. 13. Ezek. 13. 13, 14. Aynſworth. Though ye ſeem to be in honour, yet God will ſuddenly deſtroy you. Annot.

But the word is well rendred fetch, both there and here, for it includeth two notions, to take, and to bring, as to receive and beſtow, Pſal. 68. 18. comp. with Eph. 4. 8. Annot. Jer. 36. 21. Hebr. to take the roll, for to take and bring it. Annot. 2 Chr. 18. 8. Fetch quickly, Heb. haſten, m.

Fierce] Gen. 49. 7. Strong. Aynſw. Job 41. 10. Bold, Heb. cruell, for cruelty makes men fierce. Annot. Iſa. 7. 4. Fierce anger, word for word, heat of noſe, becauſe anger diſcovereth it ſelf in the noſe, Pſal. 18 8. So alſo ch. 13. 9, 13. As if he had ſaid, all their fierceneſſe and fieryneſſe of their fury, though they fume at the noſe never ſo much, ſhall prove nothing but ſmoak. Annot. 2 Tim. 3. 3. cruel, ἀνήμερος. Dr. Ham.

Fierceneſs] Deuteron. 13. 16. Burning, ſtrength, wrath. Aynſw. Job 39. 24. With fierceneſſe and rage, or with commotion and unquietneſſe. Annot. Pſal. 85. 3. Fervency. Aynſw. Jer. 25. 38. Becauſe of the fierceneſſe, Heb. heat, or fervour, as Iſa. 13. 13. Annot.

Fiery] Numb. 21. 6. or burning, as the Chald. tranſlateth. The Gr. calleth them deadly, or killing. In the Hebr. they are named Seraphim, that is, Burners, becauſe when they bite a man, he burneth with extreme heat and thirſt: It may be alſo in reſpect of their colour, for ſome Serpents are of a fiery colour. Aynſ. Deut. 33. 2. A fiery Law, becauſe the Lord ſpoke thoſe words out of the midſt of the fire, Deut. 5. 22. and to ſhew the nature and effect of the Law, which is like fire. Jer. 23. 29. Anſwerable to this Legall fire is that fire of the Law of the Spirit, which was given with cloven tongues like fire, Act. 2. 3, 4. Idem. Given with the fire of terrible lightnings, Exod. 19. 16, 18. Or, becauſe the Law is the rule of our ardent devotion to God, and fervent affection to our neighbours. An. Eph. 6. 16. All the fiery darts; that is, ſaith the Gr. Scholiaſt, concupiſcence, or luſts, which kindle a fire in the ſoul, all incentives to ſin; as alſo the moſt dangerous temptations of incredulity, diſtruſt, and deſpair. For the Metaphor of fiery darts, ſome underſtand it of venemous darts, which by their poyſon ſo infect the body, that it burneth as it were with fire: others underſtand ſuch darts whoſe points were put into the fire to be hardened, that ſo they might do the more hurt. Both ſorts do well agree with the nature and property of Satans temptations, which do infect the ſoul as it were with poyſon, and ſcorch it, as it were with fire, if they be not ſpeedily reſiſted and quenched. Annot. Heb. 10. 27. Fiery indignation, burning of fire, πυρὸς ζῆλος. Dr. Hamm. 1 Pet. 4. 12. Fiery tryall, that is, thoſe cruell perſecutions which ye ſuffer. It is a Metaphor taken from Goldſmiths, Goldſmiths, who try their gold in the fire. See ch. 1. 7. Pſal. 66. 10. Annot. This in generall may be defined any kinde of adverſity, or ſharp perſecution, which (as fire, blown up into flames, to gold, or other metals, is the means of exploring and purifying them) is in like manner here ſaid to be befaln them for their tryall. See Prov. 27. 21. & Pſal. 66. 10. If this be applyed to the Jews in generall at that time, it may then be fitly interpreted of the great combuſtions and ſeditions cauſed by the Zealots and Seditious, oft mentioned by Joſephus, which raiſed ſuch ſtirs among them, and brought ſuch heavy bloody ſlaughters upon them, before their deſtruction by the Romanes, and not onely in but out of Judea. But if it be more ſtrictly applyed to the Chriſtians to whom St. Peter writes, it muſt then ſignifie the perſecutions which from the Jews and Gnoſticks fell on the pure and orthodox Chriſtians, and was particularly for the exploring and trying of them, the malice of the perſecuters being ſuch, and no other means of appeaſing them, ſave the denying of the faith, or by complyance, ſeeming to do ſo, that whoſoever was not ſincere was ſure to be tempted out of his profeſſion. Dr. Hamm.

Fift, or Fifth] Son, Gen. 30. 17. Part of land, Gen. 41. 34. Part, Levit. 5. 16. Yeer, Lev. 19. 25. Lot, Joſh. 19. 24. Rib, 2 Sam. 2. 23. Seal, Revel. 6. 9. Angel, Revel. 9. 1. Precious ſtone, Rev. 21. 10. Day, Gen. 1. 23. Moneth, Numb. 33. 38. Hereunto the words two, ſix, thouſand, one thouſand, two thouſand, three thouſand, four thouſand, ſeven thouſand, nine thouſand, being added, the number there ſet downe is plain unto any.

Fiftieth] Yeer, Lev. 25. 10, 11. 2 King. 15. 23, 27.

Fig] The fruit which groweth on the Fig-tree, Iſa. 34. 4. Cant. 2. 13. Nah. 3. 12. Jam. 3. 12. Being good, both for food, 1 Sam. 25. 18. & 30. 12. and medicine, 2 Ki. 20. 7. Iſa. 38. 21. Fight] 2 Chr. 32. 2. He was purpoſed to fight, Heb. his face was to war, mar.

Fight] Corporall, 1 Sam. 17. 20. Spirituall, tearmed the fight of faith, 1 Tim. 6. 12. and a good fight, 2 Tim. 4. 7. Fight the good fight of faith, 1 Tim. 6. 12. or, ſtrive the good ſtrife, Ἀγωνίζου τὸν καλὸν ἀγῶνα, where alluſion is made to the exerciſes of the Grecians, as here, to that of racing, where the Crown was ſet over the Goal, that he that came foremoſt, and ſo conquered, might catch it off, and carry it away with him. Dr. Hamm. In 2 Tim. 4. 7. The ἀγὼν is called καλὸς, good, either as being in a good cauſe, or as νόμῳ, ch. 2. 5. according to the Laws of the Agones, and ſo his fighting a good fight, is ſuffering Chriſtianly and valiantly. Idem.

File] 1 Sam. 13. 21. Heb. a file with mouths, i. e. To point and ſharpen their inſtruments, and neceſſary utenſils, when they could not go to the Philiſtins forges. Annot.

Fill] Lev. 25. 19. And ye ſhall eat your fill; to the full, or to ſatiety. Aynſw. This ſignifieth abundance from God, Joel 2. 26. and contentation in men; as they that are never content, are ſaid not to know ſatiety, Iſa. 56. 11. And when God withholdeth increaſe, they eat, but not to ſatiety, Hag. 1. 6. Thus God fed them with Manna to the full, Exod. 16. 8 and promiſeth ſo to feed the poor and meek under Chriſt, Pſal. 22. 26. & 132. 15. The juſt eateth to the ſatiety of his ſoul. Prov. 13. 25. Idem on Lev. 26. 5. Prov. 7. 18. Let us take our fill of love, Heb. be drunken with loves. Annot.

Filled] Iſa. 43 24. Filled me, Heb. made me drunk, or abundantly moyſtened, mar.

That ye might be filled, Eph. 3. 19. πληρόω, ſignifies to fill up vacuities, to perfect, to complete; ſo here, having recommended to them the exceeding love or charity of God toward them, viz. rich love, and promiſes of God in Chriſt, he adds, that they may be fulfilled, i. e. (as an effect of their conſideration of Gods love towards them) filled up, and perfected to the higheſt pitch that God

now in Christ requires of us, and that is properly called all the fulnesse of God; i. e. all that perfection of charity to which God in Christ hath designed to elevate the Christian, and wherein in a manner all Christianity doth consist, and to which we are engaged by his love to us. Dr. Ham. Annot. c.

Why hath Satan filled thine heart? Act. 5.3. i. e. Why, or how did Satan incline or embolden thee to doe this villany? Idem on Luk. 1. Annot. a.

Filth] Isa. 4. 4. Heb. ordure, or excrement. The word imports all such filth or excrement as comes forth from the body, either upward, as ch. 28. 5. 2 Pet. 2. 22. or downward, as Deut. 23.14. Ezek. 4. 12. But is used more generally, for any exceeding foul or filthy thing, as of such garments, Zech. 3. 3, 4. And for sin and wickednesse, spirituall filth, shewing how loathsome and abominable sin is in Gods sight, Ezek. 24. 6. Mat. 15. 18, 20. 2 Cor. 7. 1. So it is here taken, & Prov. 30. 12. Annot. 1 Cor. 4.13. We are made as the filth of the world, the vilest. Dr. Hammond. The word περικάθαρμα signifieth properly the filth or dirt scraped off mens shooes, or from the pavement of the ground. The word signifies the Dung-cart that goes through the City, into which every one brings his filth, & casts it in. Every one had some filth to cast upon Paul, and the rest of the Apostles. But in Budeus his opinion, the Apostle had alluſion unto the Expiations in use among the Heathens in time of any Pestilence, or contagious infection; for the removall of such diseases, they then sacrificed certain men unto their gods, which men they tearmed καθάρματα. As if the Apostle had said, We are as despicable and as odious in the sight of the people, as much loaded with the revilings and cursings of the multitude, as those condemned persons who were offered by the way of publick expiation. Leigh Cr. Sac. For this lustration, the vilest persons were wont to be used, sordid, refuse people, the nastiest persons in the City. Dr. Ham. Annot. a. See Off-scouring.

Finally] Λοιπὸν, 2 Cor. 13. 11. Some read it thus, for the rest; others, for the remainder. It signifieth a remainder, and implyeth, that there remained yet one necessary point to be delivered before he made an end. Leigh Crit. Sac.

Fine] Choyce, precious. Spoken of Brasse, Rev. 1. 15. & 2.18. Copper, Ezr. 8.27. (Heb. yellow, or shining brasse, marg.) Flax, Isa. 19. 9. Flower, Lev. 2.1. Gold, 2 Chr. 3.5. Linnen, Gen. 41. 42. (or silk, marg.) Meal, Gen. 18.6. In every of which the best and choyceſt is to be understood. Psal. 81. 16. With the finest of the wheat, Heb. with the fat of wheat, mar. So Psal. 147. 14. m.

Fine] Job 28. 1. Gold and silver, that now glister so much, did not so at first, but were buried low in the earth, and there lay buried in rubbish, till by the wisdome given to man by God they were taken out from thence and refined. Annot.

Finer] or Melter, Prov. 25. 4. for which he must have his fining pot, Prov. 17. 3. & 27. 21.

Finisher] Heb. 12. 2. See the Dict. on the Hebrews.

Fins] Lev. 11. 9. Whatsoever hath fins and scales. The fin is that which groweth out of the fish, the scale is that which cleaveth to all the body. The fins serve as wings to guide her way, the scale is to cover, protect, and adorn the body. These two figured in men faith in Gods Word, whereby all Religion is guided and directed; and good works the fruits of faith, by which it is manifested and adorned. Aynsw.

Fires] Isa. 24. 15. Glorifie ye the Lord in the fires. Ye that abide yet in the fire of tribulation, despair not, nor be discouraged, but by your patient sufferings glorifie God, and depend upon him for deliverance. Annot. or, in the valleys, mar.

Firebrands] Judg. 15. 4. or Torches, marg.

Firmament] Gen. 1. 6. Heb. expansion, m.

First] Ezek. 20. 40. or Chief, mar. So 44. 40. mar.

First-born] The first born of every creature, (or, the whole creation) Col. 1.15. The word πρωτότοκος, beside the ordinary notion of first-born (which cannot so well here referre to Christs eternall generation, because of that which is added to it, the first-born of every creature, which onely gives him a precedence before all other creatures, & doth not attribute eternity to him) is used sometimes for a Lord, or person in power, who hath the priviledge of the first-born, dominion over all his Brethren; and according to this notion it is used commonly in Scripture for a Prince, or principall person. See Psal. 68. 27. Job 18.13.

18.13. And thus may it fitly be a title of Chriſt incarnate, in reſpect of his power over his Church, the Key of the houſe of David laid upon him. But it is poſſible it may peculiarly reſerre to his reſurrection, in which he was the firſt born from the dead, verſ. 18. the firſt which from the grave was raiſed and exalted to heaven; and being ſo riſen, all power was given unto him in heaven an in earth. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

Church of the firſt-born, Heb. 12.23. The firſt-born had not onely the priviledge of the Prieſthood before the Law, but alwayes ſince the פי שנים, the double portion, διπλῆ μερὶς, the portion not onely of poſſeſſions, but of dignity and honour above the reſt of the Brethren. And proportionably the Apoſtles, which were either ſimply the firſt converted to the Faith of Chriſt, or elſe preferred before others, as Judah to the primogeniture of dignity, and Levi in reſpect of the Prieſthood are called here the firſt-born, and the Church firſt founded in them, and planted by them, is here called the Church of the firſt-born, the Apoſtolical Church. Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

Firſtling] Spoken of Beaſts (as firſt-born of man) that which openeth the matrix, Ex. 13.12. It was of the firſtlings of the flock that Abel offered, becauſe it was fit that God ſhould have the firſt fruits of his owne increaſe. Annot. Lev. 27.26. Heb. firſt-born, marg.

Fiſh] Jer. 16.16. And they ſhall fiſh them; ſo environ them, as Fiſher-men do fiſhes, to make havock of them, that they ſhould be wholly at their mercy, either to ſlay, or to ſave. Annot. The Chaldeans ſhal be as ſo many Fiſhers to drag them out of their good land. Hall Paraph.

Iſa. 44.13. He fitteth it, Heb. maketh it, or worketh it. It cometh from a root that ſignifieth to ſcrape, or pare away, Lev. 14.41. Annot.

Fitly] Aptly, agreeably, Eph. 2.21. & 4.16. A word fitly ſpoken, Prov. 25.11. Hebr. ſpoken upon his wheels, mar.

Some take it for a leſſe reed; others, for a meadow, as Gen. 41.2. meaning the graſſe that is on the Meadow, on which the Cattle feed. The word hath its originall from אח, a Brother, becauſe flags, and ſo alſo graſſe in a Meadow, grow together as in a brotherhood. Annot.

Flagons] Iſa. 22.24. The word firſt and properly ſignifieth a Bottle, ſuch as they uſed commonly monly to carry or keep Wine in, 1 Sam. 1.24. & 10. 3. & 25. 18. which were uſually of earthen ſtuffe, Jer. 19. 1, 10. & 48. 12. and therefore of no great value, Lam. 4. 2. Fleſh] For that it was weak through the fleſh, Rom. 8. 3. The fleſh in this place cannot ſo fitly be ſaid to ſignifie the ſtate and condition of men under the Law, (mentioned ch. 7. 5.) but that which is the means, by which occaſionally (as the Syr. notes) the Law became ſo weak and unable to reſtrain men, viz. the carnall or fleſhly appetite, which is contrary to the propoſals and preſcriptions of the Law. The carnality of mens hearts was too ſtrong for the Moſaicall Law to do any good upon them. And ſo the Law was weak, not abſolutely, but through the fleſh, i. e. The Moſaicall diſpenſation by the promiſes, and terrors which it propoſed, was not able to ſubdue carnall affections, to mortifie luſts, to bring men to inward purity, which to the fleſh was more ingrateſull, then that temporall promiſes ſhould perſwade any man to undertake it, when there were not temporall puniſhments to drive them to it, as in caſe of concupiſcence oppoſed to that inward purity, there were not. And ſo it was not poſſible for the Law to bring them to any good, Chriſts reformation was neceſſary thus to call carnall ſinners to repentance. Dr. Hammond Annot. a.

Fleſh and blood, Mat. 16. 17. It's an Hebr. phraſe, בשר ודם, ſignifying no more then a meer man here upon the earth, one that hath aſcended no higher then the common ſtate of men. Idem Annot. e. In 1 Cor. 15. 50. It ſignifies that ſtate of growing, feeding, corruptible bodies, ſuch as theſe we carry about us; this being the difference betwixt the naturall body we have here, and the ſpirituall hereafter. Id. Ann. d.

Except ye eat the fleſh of the Son of man, Joh. 6. 53. For the underſtanding hereof, conſider,

1 That the fleſh and blood of the Son of man, is put for the Son of man, or Chriſt himſelf, a part being put for the whole.

2 That fleſh and blood, frequently are uſed not onely to ſignifie our mortall condition, which this our fleſh and blood is ſubject to; but alſo this mortall nature, as it is ſubject to much weakneſſe and afflictions, and ſo it notes Chriſt in his ſtate of humiliation.

3. That the occaſion of Chriſts diſcourſe here, was for that they ſought him, becauſe they did eat of the loaves and were filled, v. 26. which he reprehends in them, and bids them ſeek and deſire that food which endureth to everlaſting life, verſ. 27. i. e. that doctrine of his, which is food for their ſouls, and being received, and digeſted, and turned into encreaſe of good life in them, would bring them to immortality. All which being put together, make up this complete ſenſe of the words, that Chriſt, this mortall, deſpiſed, crucified Chriſt, that took our fleſh on him, came down from heaven, here lived and died, to reveal his Fathers will unto us, and work belief in us, is the food of our ſouls, the believing and obeying of whom, will as food, ſuſtain corporall life, beget and maintain ſpirituall life in us, and bring us to eternity. Idem Ann. e.

No fleſh ſhould be ſaved, Mat. 24. 22. Here is meant none of all the Jews; that is, The ſharpneſſe of this War from the Romanes without, and of the Zelots within (Ieruſalem) that that killed all that were averſe from War, was ſuch, that if it had continued, if it had gone on farther againſt the City, all the Jews every where had been deſtroyed utterly. Idem Annot. i.

As pertaining to the fleſh, Rom. 4. 1. This connecteth with the εὑρηκέναι, hath found, for ſo it lies, εὑρηκέναι κατὰ σάρκα, found according to the fleſh, and is not joyned with Abraham our Father, as in reaſon it would have been (and not εὑρηκέναι interpoſed) if the meaning of it had been, Our Father according to the fleſh; which being ſuppoſed, it will likewiſe follow, that κατὰ σάρκα, according to the fleſh, muſt ſignifie the ſame with ἐξ ἔργων, by works, verſ. 2. in like manner as found and juſtified import the ſame. Idem Ann. a.

For the deſtruction of the fleſh, 1 Cor. 5. 5. i. e. To the bringing of ſome ſore diſeaſe upon them. Idem on Mat. 17. Ann. c.

Whereby the doctrines and practiſes of the Gnoſticks are to be underſtood, Dr. H.

Fleſh is often taken for corrupt nature, as Rom. 7. 25. & 8. 1, 5, 9, 13. Hence thoſe luſts are called fleſhly luſts, or the luſts of the fleſh, which proceed from corrupt nature, Gal. 5. 1. Rom. 13. 14. Eph. 2. 3. 2 Pet. 2. 18. Sometimes the luſts of the fleſh, are taken for thoſe luſts which are againſt the ſeventh Commandement, as 1 Joh. 2. 16. Annot.

And the floods came, Mat. 7. 25. The word ποταμοὶ, doth not particularly ſignifie rivers, i. e. ſtreams, or chanels, either beginning from Springs, or proceeding from the Sea, but is a general word, of which as thoſe rivers are one ſpecies, ſo are Land floods or Torrents, that ariſe from any tempeſtuous ſudden rain; another, and the latter of theſe is here meant, being joyned to the deſcending of the rain, and accompanyed with the blowing of the winds. Foꝛe-ſhip] The prow or foremoſt part of the ſhip, Act. 27.30.

Foꝛe-ſkin] Gen. 17.11. To wit, of the genitall part, which ſo ſoon as ſin appeared, was for ſhame kept out of ſight; and which is not onely corrupt in it ſelf, but the means to convey corruption to another, which yet God can dignifie with a holy uſe in a Sacramentall ſenſe, and hereby upon this diſhonorable part he hath ſet ſo much honor, according to that of the Apoſtle, 1 Cor. 12.23. that many Nations have willingly taken up Circumciſion, as an honour to themſelves, & the want of it hath been ſometimes upbraided with contempt, 1 Sam. 17.36. Annot. The Hebr. Gnorlah ſignifieth a ſuperfluity and ſtoppage, that hindereth the due effect and operation of a thing; and the Gr. ἀκροβυσία (which the Apoſtle uſeth in Rom. 2.25.) is in ſpeciall that ſuperfluity, which is on the top of mans fleſh, to wit, on the member of generation: the fore-skin that covereth the ſecret part, which God here commandeth to be cut quite off, as a ſigne of mortification, and regeneration of nature. The ſame word is applyed figuratively to other parts; and ſpiritually all ſin is ſignified by this ſuperfluous fore-skin, Jam. 1.21. Aynſw. Deu. 10.16. The fore-skin of your heart. This the Gr. tranſlateth hardneſſe of heart. The Chald. fooliſhneſſe (or groſſeneſſe) of the heart. Hereby is taught repentance and mortification of the inward man by circumciſion off the heart in the Spirit, Rom. 2.29. in putting of the body of the ſins of the fleſh, Col. 2.11. Aynſw. Jer. 4.4. Forge] The proud have forged a lie, Pſal. 119. 69. or compoſed, adjoyned. So Job 13. 4. Aynſw.

Forger] Ye are forgers of lies, Job 13. 4. So it is tranſlated, but the word טפל, never ſignifies ſo, but חרש, is uſed for to invent lies, as a Work-man frames a building. The word is uſed but twice more in Scripture, and it ſignifies ſowing, whereby one piece of cloth is ſowed to another, as ch. 14. 17. Some take it as an accuſation of his friends, that they had as it were ſowed one lie to another to diſgrace him, that is, had multiplyed many lies againſt him. But it rather intimates faſtening lies upon God, or him, as one piece of cloth is faſtned upon another; as it ſhould be tranſlated, Pſal. 119. 69. The proud have ſowed or faſtened a lie upon me. He accuſes his friends that they did go about to wrong God and him, by ſpeaking falſly of both. Annot.

We muſt pray for the forgiveneſs of our own ſins, Pſal. 25. 18. For the forgiveneſſe of others, Exod. 32. 32. Yea forgive men their treſpaſſes, as we would that God ſhould forgive our treſpaſſes, Mat. 6. 14. See forgiveneſſe.

Forke] 1 Sam. 13. 21. An inſtrument which Husband-men uſe about their corn, hay, graſſe, &c.

Form] Who being in the form of God, Phil. 2. 6. μορφὴ ſignifies not onely an externall and accidentall form, as Mar. 16. 12. Nor at all an image or picture (as μόρφωσις ſeems to do, Rom. 2. 20. 2 Tim. 3. 5.) but it is taken alſo in good Authors, for an internal eſſential form or beeing. It ſignifies that which hath a beeing of it ſelf, and needs not the aſſiſtance of another to its being; ſo that being in the form of God, is known in the eſſence of God, being God, and by the rayes and beams of his divinity (ſhining even in his firſt conception and birth) diſcerned and known to be ſo. Dr. Hammond Annot. a.

Form] Iſa. 45. 7. Frame. Annot. Job 26. 5. Are formed from under the waters. The word ſignifieth to bring forth children out of the wombe, when they have their right form, ch. 39. 1. Thus it is taken here. Such things are formed in the bottome of the waters, or under them, as in a wombe, and by Gods providence brought forth to light as children are. Annot.

Job 33. 6. I am formed, Heb. am caſt out. An alluſion to the Potters, who when they purpoſe to make an earthen veſſell, cut out a lump of clay to make it of. So did God form Adam's body, Gen. 2. 7. Annot. And of him all things are formed, beaſts, Gen. 2. 19. the crooked Serpent, Job 26. 13. the earth, Pſal. 90. 2. the eye, Pſal. 94. 9. All things, Prov. 26. 10.

Foundation] Ezr. 3. 6. The foundation of the Temple of the Lord was not yet laid, Heb. the Temple of the Lord was not yet founded, marg. Job 38. 6. Heb. ſockets, marg.

Laying up in ſtore for themſelves a good foundation, 1 Tim. 6. 19. Treaſure, or pledge, bill, or bond. The word θεμέλιον coming from τίθημι, to lay up, as θησαυρὸς doth, it may poſſibly ſignifie no more then a treaſure, ſomewhat laid up. But it may ſignifie in the ſame latitude, that the Hebr. עקד (which is anſwerable to it) doth, i. e. not onely a foundation, but as the Rabbins uſe the word, a bill of contract, a bond or obligation that he receives that lends out any thing, upon which he may found a confidence of having it returned to him again. To this perhaps it may be applyable that the Hebr. מיסד, which is rendred θεμέλιον ſometimes, is alſo rendred συνθήκη, Iſa. 30. 1. A compact. And then it will have this weight here, that the Almeſgiver by his liberality, receives and layes up an obligation from God that this mercy of his ſhall be rewarded. Hereunto that of Prov. 19. 7. is very agreeable; and in this ſenſe the word is again found, 2 Tim. 2. 19. where Gods θεμέλιον is ſaid to have a ſeal affixed to it, which ſeems to referre to a Bill or Bond, and becauſe thoſe ſeals had their inſcriptions on both ſides, agreeing to the conditions of the two perſons contracting, accordingly it is here added, firſt on Gods part, The Lord knoweth them that are his; i. e. God will be faithfull and conſtant in owning thoſe that are his Servants. Then ſecondly on mans part. Let every one that nameth the name of Chriſt depart from iniquity. So that Gods θεμέλιον there, may very well ſignifie his χειρόγραφον bill or bond (and ſo here the word may ſignifie alſo) which being left with any man, as a means to ſecure him, a depoſitum, a παγδήκη, a pledge or pawn, may well be ſtyled θεμέλιον, from τίθημι, pono, ſomewhat delivered him for his ſecurity. Dr. Ham. Para. & Annot. b.

Fringe] Numb. 15. 38. The fringe and ribband on the border of the garment, were helps to memory; ſo that when men looked on them, they might be admoniſhed of their duty towards God, which being upon the borders of their garment, or upon the four quarters, they could not which way ſoever they went in company, but be in the view of thoſe that met or followed one another. It is thought our Saviour wore ſuch, which was touched by the Woman, who by a touch was cured of her diſeaſe, Luk. 8. 44. Annot. A fringe is in Hebr. called Tſitſith, or Zizith, which in Ezek. 8. 3. is uſed for a lock of hair of the head, and is here applyed to a fringe, the threads whereof hang downe as locks of hair. And the Hebrew Doctors call it alſo Gnanaph, that is, a branch, becauſe it hangeth as branches or twigs of a tree. The word Gedilim uſed for fringes, in Deut. 22. 12. were the thrums of the cloth which was woven; and Tſitſith the fringe here ſpoken of, were threads tyed to the thrums with knots. Aynſw.

Fro] Gen. 8. 7. To and fro, Hebr. going forth and returning, not into the Ark, but fluttering about it, and reſting on the top of it. Annot. 2 King. 4. 35. Heb. Once hither and once thither. Annot. Job 7. 4. From one ſide of the bed to the other. Annot. This is joyned with Driven, Job 13. 25. Going, Job 1. 7. Ezek. 27. 19. Reel, Pſal. 107. 27. Removing, Iſa. 49. 21. Run, 2 Chron. 16. 9. Iſa. 33. 4. Jerem. 5. 1. & 49. 3. Dan. 12. 4. Amos 8. 12. Zech. 4. 10. Toſſed, Prov. 21. 6. Epheſ. 4. 14. Walk, Zech. 1. 10, 11. & 6. 7.

From] Eſt. 1. 19. Heb. from before, mar. Rom. 6. 20. Gr. to, marg.

Front] The ſetting in order of the Army, ſtanding in the front of the battel, and being ready to fight, 2 Sam. 10. 9. The front of the houſe, 2 Chron. 3. 4. Hebr. the face. Tremel.

Frontiers The outmoſt bounds of a Countrey, Ezek. 25. 9.

Frontlets] Exod. 13, 16. Little plates or pieces of parchment worn upon the forehead, called Phylacteries, according to the Greek, Matt. 23. 56. from a word ſignifying to keep or preſerve, that is, in memory. For though they could not ſee between their owne eyes, they might ſee in each others foreheads that which ſhould remember them of Gods deliverance of them; their right uſe was memorative, which afterwards was turned into ſuperſtitious preſervatives againſt the power of ſin. Annot.

Froſt] Job 37. 10. By the breath of God froſt is given, &c. When God pleaſeth, a cold blaſt comes forth, which bringeth froſt, whereby the waters that ran at large before, are as it were ſhut up into a narrow priſon by the ice, which like the priſon walls incloſeth them. That which is here tranſlated froſt, is divers times in this book tranſlated ice. It comes from a word that ſignifies to make bald, for it covers the graſs, which as it were the hair of the ground, and makes it ſmooth like a bald head. Annot.

Froward]

Froward] The counſell of the froward is carryed headlong. Job 5. 13. Deceitful perſons, who have one crafty device twiſted within another like a rope. The word ſignifies to wreſt or turn a thing, and then to wreſtle. Such as can turn themſelves every way, as Wreſtlers doe, to get advantage of others, and wind themſelves within them, to overthrow them by policy, when ſtrength faileth, Gen. 30. 8. Deut. 32. 5. Pſ. 18. 26. Prov. 8. 8. Annot.

Frowardly] Iſa. 57. 17. or perverſly, (Heb. turning away, as Jer. 3. 14, 22.) They walked on croſſy in their owne crooked courſes, and would not be reclaimed, Jer. 5. 3. & 8. 5, 6. Annot.

Frowardneſſe] Prov. 2. 14. In the frowardneſſe of the wicked. Perverſly, wicked, walking croſſe to God and good men, Lev. 26. 21. Pſal. 18. 27. Annot. Prov. 10. 32. Speaketh frowardneſſe. Things juſtly diſpleaſing to others. Annot.

Frozen] Job 38. 30. Hebr. Taken. The water is as it were taken captive, and put into a priſon. Annot.

Fruit] And the fruit of righteouſneſſe, Jam. 3. 18. καρπὸς, fruit noteth that which is any way (whether naturally or morally) produced, and ſignifies either an effect or reward. As an effect it is uſed, verſ. 17. immediately precedent, where of the ſupernal wiſdome, it is ſaid, that it is πλήρης ἀγαθῶν καρπῶν, full of good fruits, thoſe fruits being the effects or productions of that wiſdome. But elſewhere it ſeems to be taken in that other notion, Heb. 12. 11. and ſo here. Dr. H. Annot. g.

Fruits] Job 31. 39. Heb. the ſtrength, m.

Fruitfull field] Ezek. 17. 5. Heb. a field of ſeed, marg.

Fryed] Lev. 7. 12. Haſtily fryed, or baken with bubbles; that is, So fryed, that it may be hoven as with bubbles. Aynſw. on Lev. 6. 21. where he renders theſe words in our tranſlation (when it is baken) after this manner, haſtily fryed.

Frying-pan] Lev. 2. 7. A veſſel of miniſtration, and of the holy things. Herein the Pan and Frying-pan differed. The Frying-pan had a lip (or edge) and the paſte that was baked thereon was ſoft, and for that it had a lip (though it was ſoft) it did not run out. But the Pan (being flat and ſmooth) had no lip, and the paſte that was baked thereon, was hard, ſo that it did not run off. Aynſw. on Lev. 2. 5.

F V.

Full] Job 21. 23. In his full ſtrength, Heb. in his very perfection, or in the ſtrength of his perfection, mar. Heb. 5. 14. Full of age, or perfect, mar. Job 11. 2. A man full of talk, Heb. a man of lips, marg.

Fuller] Γναφεὺς, Mar. 9. 3. of γνάπλω, or γνάφω, which ſignifieth to ſmooth, dreſſe, and trim up cloth or garments. By plucking, pulling. Leigh C. S. It ſeemeth that the Fullers had a field, wherein they uſed to dreſſe and dry their cloth, having their dwellings neer adjoyning. Iſa. 7. 3. Annot. It ſeems that they alſo whited raiment, Mar. 9. 3. For which they uſed ſoap, Mal. 3. 2.

Fulfill] I am not come to deſtroy, but to fulfill, Mat. 5. 17. To perfect, fill up, repair, and make up whatſoever is any way wanting, to reſtore whatſoever hath been taken from it, by falſe interpretations of thoſe which have ſtriven to evacuate ſome parts of it; to require more explicitly what was obſcure before, and where there is any need to increaſe and adde to the Law. Dr. Ham. Par. The Greek word πληρῶσαι, is anſwerable to the Hebr. מלה, which ſignifies not onely τελέω, to perform, but τελειόω, to perfect, to fill up, as well as to fulfill; and ſo is rendred ſometimes by one, ſometimes by the other. And the Gr. it ſelf is ſo uſed in like manner, when it refers to a word or a promiſe, then it is to perform, to fulfill, 2 Chr. 36. 22. In other caſes it is to fill up, to compleat, to perfect, 2 Chron. 24. 10. & Mat. 23. 32. Idem Annot. h.

Fully] Numb. 7. 1. Had fully ſet up, that is, finiſhed the rearing up. Aynſw. Numb. 14. 24. Followed me fully, Heb he fulfilled after me. So in Deut. 1. 36. & Joſh. 14. 8, 9, 14. By this manner of ſpeech is meant a full and conſtant following and obedience unto the end. Idem.

Fulneſſe] How much more their fulneſſe? Rom. 11. 12. How much more ſhall the addition of the multitude of Jewiſh believers, if they ſhall yet repent and come in, be matter of confirmation of the faith to the Gentiles, and a means to bring them all to receive it, to convert the Gentiles over all the world? The word πλήρωμα, fulneſſe, is a known famous word, uſed by the Ancients for the whole body of the congregation or Church compacted together, in oppoſition to ſchiſms and breaches in it. And accordingly to be admitted into the Church, is to be received into the Eccleſiaſtick fulneſſe, according as Matth. 9. 16. πλήρωμα is the piece that being put into the garment, the garment which was before torne, is made whole again. In this ſenſe I conceive the word is here to be taken, for the Jews being added to the Church, their coming in, and laying hold on the Faith (being provoked thereto by ſeeing the Gentiles believe) and ſo filling up the vacuity as it were which was formerly in the Church, by their ſtanding out impenitently. Dr. Ham. Par. & An. d.

Furious] Prov. 22.24. Mad, outragious, raging, Heb. a man of wraths. Tremel. Such a one aboundeth in tranſgreſſion, Pro. 29.22. Thus was Nebuchadnezzar, Dan. 2.12. In Nah. 1.2. the Lord is ſaid to be furious, Heb. that hath fury, whoſe anger never aſſwageth to the reprobate though for a time he deferre it. Annot. Who is alſo ſaid to execute judgement in furious rebukes, Ezek. 5.15. as alſo vengeance, Ezek. 25.17.

Furiouſly] 2 King. 9.20. Heb. in madneſſe, marg.

G A.

Gad] Gen. 30.11. that is, a Troop, or Company, mar.

To gad] Jerem. 2.36. Why gaddeſt thou about ſo much to change thy way? To what end doſt thou run to and fro in this manner, one while one way, another while another way to ſeek ſuccours abroad? Iſa. 57.10, 18, 25. ch. 14.10. Like a Trader that haunts Marts, and Markets, repairing now to one, then to another, Ezek. 27.19. Where the ſame word is uſed, one while ſending to the Aſſyrians, 2 King. 16.7. 2 Chro. 28.16. Hoſ. 5.13. Another while to the Ægyptians, Iſa. 30.2. & 31.1. chap. 37.5. Hoſ. 12.2. Annot.

Gadite, Gadites] The Tribe or poſterity of Gad, ſuch as deſcended of them whoſe Poſſeſſion was on this ſide of Jordan, Joſh. 1.12, 14.

Gain] Dan. 11.39. Heb. a price, mar.

Gainſayers] Tit. 1.9. Either ſuch as contrad. & the wholſome doctrine, by teaching falſe and unſound doctrine, whether Jews, Pagans, Hereticks, or falſe Teachers; or elſe ſuch as contradict it by their wicked manners and converſation, a number of counterfeit Chriſtians do, being both impious towards God, and injurious to men. Taylor on Tit. p. 199.

Gaius] The well-beloved Gaius, 3 Joh. 1. This was not the Gaius mentioned, Rom. 16.23. who appears to be a Corinthian, and ſeems to be he that is mentioned, 1 Cor. 1.14. As one converted to the faith, and baptized by Paul: Nor the Gaius mentioned, Act. 19.39. who was a Macedonian, and of the City of Derbe, Act. 20.4. But a third, whom St. John calleth his Son, which ſignifies him to have been begotten in the faith, i. e. converted by St. John. It's a Romane name (Gaius and Caius being all one) and he ſeems to have been ſome Gentile Chriſtian, an eminent member in that Church, verſ. 9. To which St. John ſeems to have written his Second Epiſtle; no where elſe, but in this place mentioned in the New Teſtament. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

Galilee of the Gentiles] Mat. 4.15. That which is here Γαλιλαία τῶν ἐθνῶν, is in Iſa. 9.1. גְּלִיל הַגּוֹיִם, the circumference of the Nations, or that part of Paleſtine which is fartheſt from Jeruſalem, and hath the Nations round about it, from גָּלַל, volvit, circumduxit, and ſo by the Targum it's rendred תְּחוּם, confinium, the confines of the Gentiles, becauſe round about that part of Paleſtine, the Ægyptians, Arabians, Phenicians, inhabited neer the Sea ſide in reſpect of Traffick. Dr. Ham. Annot. e.

Out of Galilee ariſeth no Prophet, Joh. 7.52. That Galilee was under a reproach among the Jews appears, ch. 1.46. And as there it's ſaid that no good could out of Nazareth: ſo here, that never any Prophet came out of Galilee. But upon ſearch it ſeems to appear that the Phariſees here were too large in their obſervation of reproach; for though it happened not often, yet of Jonah we finde that he was of Gath Hepher, 2 King. 14.25. That was a Town in the Tribe of Zebulun, Joſh. 19.13. and conſequently in Galilee, Iſa. 9.1. And this Jonah propheſied in the time of Joaſh, (when he was oppreſt by the Syrians) that by his Son Jeroboam the Kingdome ſhould be delivered out of their hands, 2 King. 14.25, 26. And was afterward ſent to Nineveh, Jonah 1.1. Idem Annot. b.

Galilean] A native or inhabitant of Galilee, and ſo of Herod's juriſdiction, Luk. 23.6. Annot. They differed from the Jews in their ſpeech, Mar. 14.70. Luk. 22.59.

received Christ, Joh. 4. 45. There were of them whose blood Pilate mingled with their Sacrifices, who were therefore held to be greater sinners then others, but were not, Luk. 13. 1, 2, 3.

Gall] Thou art in the gall of bitterness, Act. 8. 23. In Deut. 29. 18. Apostasie, or falling from God, is described to be a root bearing gall and bitterness, say the Vulgar, gall and wormwood, say our English; and the Septuagint, φύσαν ἐν χολῇ καὶ πικρίᾳ, springing up in gall and bitterness; but the Hebr. רוֹשׁ, which we render gall, signifies also a poysonous herb, and so must signifie there, where it's joyned with a root bearing or bringing forth; and so the wormwood following will best agree with it, and both together will expresse that sin to be a root, whose effects are poysonous and bitter, very hurtfull and infectious to men, and most displeasing to God. Answerable and equivalent to this, is the χολὴ πικρίας, here, which therefore signifies this Apostaticall condition of Simon, so lately baptized, to be dangerous to him, and odious in Gods sight, he being that first-born of Satan, as he is styled. and an Apostate from the Christian faith. Dr. Ham. Annot. d.

Gallant] Great, sumptuous, stately. Spoken of a Ship, Isa. 33. 21. In the beginning of the verse the same tearm is given to God, glorious or magnificent Annot.

Galley] Isa. 33. 21. Wherein shall go no Galley with Oars, Heb. no Ship of Oare shall go in it. Ship of Oare. for Bark, Vessell, or Galley rowed with Oares. Annot.

Galleries] Ezek. 41. ve. 15. or severall Walks, or Walks with pillars, mar.

Gallows] Est. 5. 14. Heb. a tree, marg.

Gaped upon me with their mouth] Job 16. 10. As a wilde beast opens his mouth wide to swallow downe his prey, so have they sought to destroy my good name by reproaches and slanders. The phrase imports sometimes a great desire of taking the life away, as Psal. 22. 12, 13. Sometimes a strong endevour to blast a mans reputation, as Psal. 35. 20, 21. Lam. 2. 15, 16. So it is taken here. See vers. 20. Annot.

Gardiner] Κηπουρὸς, Joh. 20. 15. which cometh of κῆπος, a garden, and ἔργον, the Overseer or keeper thereof. Leigh Crit. Sac.

Garrison] 1 Sam. 13. v. 23. or standing camp, mar.

Gate] Prov. 17. 19. He that exalteth his gate, seeketh destruction. He that makes him fairer gates then his neighbour, seeking to exalt himself above his degree, gives others occasion to seek his ruine. By high gates we may also understand sumptuous houses and edifices, the very cost whereof undoeth many, before they be up and finished, and the envy more when finished. But the Hebr. word פתחו, may also be expounded (as Mic. 7. 5.) of the mouth, he that maketh wide his mouth, or he that speaketh big. Solomon by using this word common to words and edifices, might have a respect to both, to condemne pride or affected greatnesse in both. Annot.

Gates] 1 Chr. 9. 19. Heb. threshold, mar. The gates of hell shall not prevail against it, Mat. 16. 18. Gates may signifie,

1 Power, force, strength; which consists in arms or weapons, which were usually kept over the gates of the Cities.

2 Counsell, contrivance, stratagem, policy, because they were wont to sit in counsell in the gates.

2 Worldly authority borrowed by Satan, from his instruments, the Heathen powers of the world, because judgement was wont to be exercised in the gates; and so these three being put together, will conclude that it's not all the power and strength, wisdome and policy, authority and Empire in the world, no not death or grave, nor Satan himself that shall be able to destroy this fabrick, now to be erected by Christ and his Apostles in the hearts of men. Dr. Ham. Annot. g. The gates of Ἅιδης, i. e. the power of destroyers shall never prevail against it. Idem on Heb 11. An. h.

Gather] Deut. 28. 30. Hebr. profane, or use it as common meat, mar. Psal. 26. 9. or take away, marg. Gathered, Judg. 1. 7. or gleaned, marg. Judg. 6. 34. Heb. called, m. 1 Sam. 14. 48. He gathered an host, or wrought mightily, marg. 2 King. 22. 9. Gathered the money, Heb. melted, marg. 2 Chron. 34. 17. Gathered together the money, Heb. poured out, or melted, mar.

Gatherer of grapes] Jer. 6. 9. & 49. 9. of Sycamore fruit, Amos 7. 14.

Gave] 1 Sam. 10. 9. Heb. turned, marg. 2 King. 17. 3. Heb. rendred. marg. 2 King. 25. 6. Gave judgement upon him, Heb. spake judgement with him, marg. 2 Chr. 35. 7, 8, 9. Heb. offered, marg. Job 42. 19. Heb. added to, m. See Give.

Gaza] 2 King. 18. 8. Heb. Azzah, mar.

Gazathites] Of or belonging to Gaza, Josh. 13. 3.

Gaze] Exod. 19. 21. To gaze, or to see, as Moses did at the first, till he was stayed of God, Exod. 3. 3. Curiosity is forbidden, that men might walk by faith, not by sight, 2 Cor. 5. 7. and learn humility, Rom. 12. 3.

Geba] 1 Sam. 13. 3. or, the Hill, mar.

Geber] The ſame with Gebar. One of Solomon's Officers in Ramoth Gilead, 1 King. 4. 13.

Genealogies] Neither give heed to fables and endleſſe genealogies, 1 Tim. 1. 4. And warn thy flock not to heed thoſe fabulous pedegrees of the gods, which under the name of Æones the Gnoſticks talk ſo much of. Moſt of the divinity of thoſe Gnoſticks (made up out of the Greek Poets, Antiphanes, Heſiod, Philiſtion, &c.) conſiſted of conjunctions, and then from them genealogies, how one thing joyns with another, and begets a third (out of night and ſilence comes forth chaos, &c.) and they applyed all the theologie and genealogies of the gods in Orpheus, &c. to the ἄγγελοι, as they called the Angels. Dr. Ham. Par. & Annot. a.

Generall of an Army] 1 Chron. 27. 34. The chief Commander.

Generall Aſſembly, Heb. 12. 23. See Dict. on the Hebr.

Generally] 2 Sam. 17. 11. Spoken of the gathering of all Iſrael together, from Dan even to Beerſheba, that is, in generall, from the utmoſt limits of the land, in the length of it, from the North to the South. See Annot.

Generation] Act. 13. 36. After he had ſerved his own generation by the will of God, or after he had in his own age ſerved the will of God, marg.

All theſe things ſhall come upon this generation, Mat. 23. 36. Γενεὰ, generation, ſignifies not a whole ſecle, but rather the third part of a ſæcle, or hundred yeers. So in Heſychius the word is taken to ſignifie either the life of a man, or thirty yeers, or twenty five, or twenty. Now the life of a man, ſignifies not the ordinary ſpace of a mans life, from birth to death, but ſo as the ſpace of the life of 14 men, children to one another, make up 14 generations, Mat. 1. So that here by the phraſe this generation, ſuch a ſpace is meant, that they that were then alive, might and ſhould live to ſee it. Dr. Ham. Annot. i.

Who ſhall declare his generation? Act. 8. 33. Who ſhall deſcribe the wickedneſſe of that age that uſed him thus, which put him to death for coming to do good to them? What an accurſed wicked generation was that wherein he was born? For ſo the word דורו, his generation, ſignifies, Gen. 6. 9. & Deut. 32. 5. Idem Par. & Annot. h.

Gentiles] 1 Cor. 10. 32. or Greeks, mar. So 12. 13. mar.

And Jeruſalem ſhall be trodden of the Gentiles, untill the times of the Gentiles, Luk. 21. 24. Jeruſalem ſhall be inhabited by the Gentiles, all the Jews in a manner excluded (which was when Adrian rebuilt a part of it, and called it by his owne name Ælia) till the time that the Goſpel had been freely preacht unto the Gentiles, and by them in ſome eminent manner been received, when it ſhould be re-inhabited by Jews again, viz. the Chriſtian Jews, who being wrought on by emulation of the Gentiles, were now many of them brought to receive the Faith. See Rom. 11. 11, 13. Dr. Hamm. Annot. c.

Gentleneſſe] Pſal. 18. 35. Thy gentleneſſe hath made me great, or with thy meekneſſe thou haſt multiplyed me, mar.

Gibeah] 2 Sam. 6. 3. or the Hill, mar.

Gifts] Heb. 2. 4. or Diſtributions, mar.

Ginnethon] Neh. 10. 6. & 12. 16. The ſame with Ginnetho, mentioned Neh. 12. 4. See mar.

Gird] Let your loins be girded about, Luk. 12. 35. Beſide the generall uſe of girding, for putting on clothes, frequent in theſe books, as Joh. 21. 7. & verſ. 18. And from hence in a ſenſe ſomewhat varied, in the end of the ſame verſe, another ſhall gird thee, i. e. binde thee as a priſoner, or captive, as I conceive it alſo is, Job 12. 18. where girding is ſet oppoſite to looſing of bonds. Three ſorts of men there are in theſe books which are proverbially ſaid to be girt.

1 The Jewiſh Prieſts, Lev. 16. 4. Exod. 29. 5. after whoſe example the Son of man is brought in, Rev. 1. 13. and ſo the ſeven Angels, Rev. 15. 6.

2 Souldiers, whoſe military girdle was a ſpeciall part of their armour; and hence the ungirt ſignifies the unarmed; and 2 Kin. 3. 21. where we read, as many as were able to put on armour, the Gr. literally from the Heb. hath it, girt with a girdle. So 1 King. 20. 11. the girt and ungirt are the armed and unarmed. And to this ſort the military girdle or belt, belongs that that place of Eph. 6. 14. having your loins girt, where the truth, i. e. orthodox profeſſion of the Goſpel, in oppoſition to hereticall doctrines and practiſes, is deſigned to be this girdle, which keeps all their armour cloſe about them.

3 Servants, or waiters, who ſerve at Tables, who having their cloaths after the Eaſtern manner, looſe, and long, and flying about, found it neceſſary to gird themſelves, that they might do ſervice the more readily. And ſo here in this place, Let your lions be girt, being here an expreſſion of thoſe that expect the commands of their Maſter, which appears both by the mention of their Lord whom they wait for, verſ. 36. and the happy are thoſe watching ſervants, verſ. 37. Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

The meaning of ſuch places where the words charge, ear, light, up, &c. are annexed to give, are plain and eaſie to be underſtood.

Giver] Iſa. 24. 2. As with the taker of uſury, ſo with the giver of uſury to him; or rather, ſo with the letter on uſury, as with him to whom he letteth on uſury; for ſo it is word for word in the text. Annot.

2 Cor. 9. 7. God loveth a cheerfull giver; becauſe he gives his heart firſt to God, before he gives his alms to the poor; and giving that which he giveth with a cheerful countenance, he more comforteth the receiver, giving hope of future bounty. For what a man doth cheerfully, he will do again upon a like good occaſion. And moſt certain it is, that God eſteemeth of no offering of ours which is not as free as liberall, according to our ability. Annot.

Glad] Pſal. 21. 6. Thou haſt made him exceeding glad, Heb. gladded him with joy, marg. In Pſal. 2. 11. Theſe words in our tranſlation, Rejoyce with trembling, are rendred thus by Mr. Aynſw. Be glad with trembling. The word ſignifieth (ſaith he) open and manifeſt joy, exultation, or outward glee. So that herein the difference ſeemeth to be between gladneſſe and joy; that that's outward, this inward.

To make glad] is ſpoken of God, Pſal. 21. 6. & 90. 15. & 92. 4. Of men, Prov. 10. 1. & 27. 11. Jer. 20. 15. 2 Cor. 2. 2. (which is at ſome times unlawfull and ſinfull, Hoſ. 7. 3. Of a good word, Pro. 15. 15. Of wine, Pſal. 104. 15.

Gladly] Mar. 6. 20. ἡδέως, willingly, with pleaſure aud delight, Act. 2. 41. Readily, cheerfully, ἀσμένως.

Gladneſſe] Herewith praiſes are to be celebrated unto the Lord, 2 Chr. 25. 30. Herewith the Lord is to be ſerved, Pſal. 100. 2. his Miniſters to be received, Phil. 2. 29. Chriſtian ſociety and fellowſhip to be maintained, Act. 2. 46. It muſt not onely be outward, but even of the heart, Deut. 28. 47. Cant. 3. 11. It's not for every one, but for the upright in heart, Pſal. 97. 11. It's the hope of the righteous, Pro. 10. 28. It's ſometimes greater then ordinary, 1 Chr. 29. 22. Neh. 8. 17. The Lord is the giver hereof, Pſal. 4. 7. & 30. 11. & 51. 8. Herewith did Gods people keep their feaſts, 2 Chron. 30. 21, 23. Nehem. 12. 27. Eſt. 9. 17. The removall hereof a great judgement, Iſa. 16. 10. Jer. 7. 34. Joel 1. 16.

Glitter] If I whet my glittering ſword, Deut. 32. 41. Heb. the lightening of my ſword, that is, the bright glittering blade of my ſword; which the Gr. tranſlateth, if I whet my ſword like lightening. This ſimilitude ſheweth Gods judgements to be ſwift, violent, powerfull, terrible, as in Zech. 9. 14. Ezek. 21. 10. Aynſw. It's applyed alſo to ſpear, Job 39. 23. The glittering ſpear, Hebr. the flaming ſword. For it ſhines like a flame, Gen. 3. 24. Annot.

Gloominеſſe] Joel 2. 2. Of darkneſſe and of gloomineſſe. Of affliction and trouble; and it may be he hath relation to the coming of theſe creatures in great ſwarms, whereby the air may be darkened, verſ. 10. Annot.

Glory] Pſal. 89. 44. Heb. brightneſſe, ma. The Son of man ſhall come in the glory of his Father, Matt. 16. 27. The Hebr. שכינה, the appearance of God, or ſpeciall preſence, which is called his δόξα, glory, conſiſts generally in the appearance of his guard, the Angels that wait on him; as when Jacob ſees the viſion of Angels, he concludes, ſurely the Lord is in this place. And accordingly here, Chriſts coming in the glory of his Father, is expreſt by, with his Angels. Dr. Hammond Annot. n.

Foraſmuch as he is the image and glory of God, 1 Cor. 11. 7. The Hebr. כבוד, ſignifies both glory and beam (the beams of the Sun being ſo glorious, that all glory is deſcribed by them, and is rendred both by δόξα & ἀπαύγασμα, and one of them may be here taken for another, glory for beam or irradiation; ſuch a beam, which flowing from another another, derived from another, implyes that from whence it flows to be more honorable. Or elſe the word may ſignifie ſimilitude, likeneſſe, in both places of this verſe, for ſo it is uſed by the Septuagint, Numb. 12. 8. & Pſal. 17. 15. And ſo here it will agree with εἰκὼν, the man is the image and ſimilitude of God, and the woman of the man. Id. Annot. b.

And come ſhort of the glory of God, Rom. 3. 23. The word δόξα glory, or praiſe, being here joyned with θεοῦ, of God, ſignifies not that glory which accrues to God, the glorifying, or praiſing of his name, but that which accrues to man from God, and that may be either in this world, or in the next; the approbation and acceptance of any work here, Joh. 12. 44. & 5. 44. or the reward of it hereafter; and ſo it ſeems to denote here, that reward which belongs to unſinning obedience, in which boaſting is founded, v. 27. and to which grace, as it ſignifies pardon of ſins, is oppoſed, verſ. 24. and therefore of this all men are ſaid to come ſhort, who are found to be ſinners, in the beginning of the verſe. Dr. Ham. Annot. g.

Glory] Exod. 8. 9. Glory over me, or have this honour over me, marg.

Glorious] Iſa. 63. 1. Heb. decked, marg. Dan. 11. 16. Glorious land, or goodly land, Heb. the land of ornament, mar.

Eph. 5. 27. A glorious Church, ἔνδοξον. All beauty, all comelineſſe, all graces whatſoever may make the Church, amiable, lovely, or any way to be deſired or admired, is compriſed under this word glorious. Leigh Cr. Sac.

Gloriouſly] Exod. 15. 1. or excellently, Heb. excelling excelleth; which the Gr. tranſlateth, is become gloriouſly glorious. The Chald. paraphraſeth, for he excelleth above the excellent, and excellency is his. Aynſw. Iſa. 24. 23. or in glory, or with glory. Annot.

Gluttonous] Mat. 11. 19. A great eater, devourer, greedygut.

Gnaſh] Job 16. 9. He gnaſheth upon me with his teeth. In deriſion, or contempt, or as a ſigne that he will deſtroy me, Pſal. 35. 16. Like a wilde beaſt ready to devour a poor lamb, and preparing the inſtruments of his deſtruction, ſharpening his teeth, &c. and by gnaſhing his teeth threatning deſtruction, Pſal. 37. 12. Annot.

Gnaſhing of teeth, Mat. 8. 12. βρυγμὸς, though it might be thought to ſignifie chattering of teeth, proper to a ſtate of cold, and agreeable to the ſecond notion of Hell, by ſome mentioned from Job 24. 19. Gehenna nivis, the hell of ſnow; as the other is Gehenna ignis, the hell of fire. Yet the notion of ὀργὴ, Act. 7. 54. for anger or rage, which is proper to that of gnaſhing the teeth, and the mention of fire joyned with it, Mat. 13. 4, 50. which cannot agree with chattering, do ſufficiently juſtifie the ordinary rendring, gnaſhing and grinding of teeth, as in pain or rage is uſuall. Dr. Ham. Annot. h.

Goats] As their ſkins were uſed for garments, Heb. 11. 37. ſo was their hair for the uſe of the Tabernacle, Exod. 36. 14. and for pillows, 1 Sam. 19. 13. There are alſo wilde goats, Job 39. 1. who have their name in the Originall from aſcending, becauſe they uſe to be in high rocks for ſafety, 1 Sam. 24. 2. Pſal. 104. 18. Others derive it from a word that ſignifies profit, but by the contrary, becauſe there is much danger in hunting them. Annot.

Godlineſſe] Great is the myſtery of godlineſſe, 1 Tim. 3. 16. The notion of piety in this place is obſervable for Chriſtian religion, the doctrine of Chriſt, whether as that which is it ſelf the true way of ſerving and worſhipping of God, ſo as will be acceptable to him (and ſo εὐσέβεια, piety) or that which preſcribes and delivers the moſt exact and perfect way of ſerving God, and ſo by a Metonymie is called piety. That it ſignifies ſo here, appears by the parts of this myſtery, as they are here ſet down, being the parts of our Religion, into which all Chriſtians are initiated or entred, the foundation on which all our Chriſtian practiſe is built, the branches of our initiation into Chriſtian religion, grounds of our believing and practiſing the Chriſtian doctrine. Thus ch. 6. 5. Where ſpeaking of the wicked hereticks of thoſe times, the Gnoſticks, he mentions it as a piece of their doctrine, that εὐσέβεια is πεσμὸς, piety (i. e. the Chriſtian religion, the being of that profeſſion) is gain, matter of ſecular advantage. In other places it's true, that εὐσέβεια, piety, is taken in a narrower ſenſe, for that virtue particularly of worſhipping God aright, as Tit. 2. 12. in diſtinction from the duties towards others and our ſelves, 1 Tim. 6. 11. 2 Pet. 1. 6. and in one place, 1 Tim. 5. 4. for the return of gratitude in Children to their Parents, which is a kind of piety alſo, as the love of our Countrey, honouring of Magiſtrates, that are a ſort of gods, as well as parents to us, is ordinarily called piety. Goodlineſſe] Iſa. 40. 6. The Heb. word properly ſignifies benignity, bounty, or goodneſſe, Pro. 20. 6. And becauſe that it is a thing that uſually maketh men deſirable, and to be had in eſtimation and repute, Pro. 19. 20. Hence it cometh to paſſe that the ſame word is uſed for grace, or gracefulneſſe, or glory, as it is here rendred in the ancient Gr. and by the Apoſtle, 1 Pet. 1. 24. The word ſeems to import whatſoever naturall endowments may make men to be had in admiration or eſtimation with others, as perſons of eminency and ability to effect great matters. And one of the great Jewiſh Maſters obſerveth it to be ordinarily uſed for any excellency or eminency, either in good or evill. Annot.

Every living creature which is in the power of man, if it ſhall damnifie (or hurt by puſhing with the horn, kicking, biting, or any other way) the owners are bound to pay for it, becauſe their goods have done the dammage. Aynſw.

Gorgeous] Luk. 23. 11. The Originall λαμπρὸς is rendred in Act. 10. 30. bright. In Rev. 15. 6. white. In Rev. 18. 14. goodly. In Rev. 22. 1. clear. It ſignifieth alſo gliſtering, reſplendent, ſhining, gay, &c.

Gorgeouſly] Luk. 7. 25. They which are gorgeouſly apparelled. They which uſe brave and honorable apparell, ſuch as Nobles and Princes do.

Got] Gen. 36. 6. Purchaſed. Aynſworth. Gen. 39. 12. Got him out, or went forth out. Id. Pſal. 44. 3. They got not the land in poſſeſſion, &c. *they inherited not the land. Gotten] Gen. 12. 5. The ſouls they had gotten, or had made. Gotten into their poſſeſſion, as the Gr. manifeſteth. But this may be meant not onely of getting them to their ſervice (as 1 Sam. 8. 16.) but alſo of winning them to the Faith of God, as the Chald. Pharaphraſt ſaith, had ſubdued unto the Law. Which is very probable by that example of his houſhold ſouldiers, Gen. 14. 14. And his commendation for teaching his houſe, Gen. 18. 19. and their receiving the wound of circumciſion, Gen. 17. 23. So Targ. Jeruſal. alſo calleth theſe ſouls of Proſelytes, or *Converts. Govern] To have or exerciſe dominion over, 1 King. 21. 7. The word ſignifies to binde, Job 5. 18. and by a Metaphor to rule or lay command on others to binde them. So it is uſed, Joh. 3. 7. Annot. on Job 34. 17. Govern the Nations, Pſa. 67. 4. Heb. Lead gently, as a ſhepherd leads his ſheep. Annot.

Government] 2 Pet. 2. 10. or Dominion, marg.

Governments] 1 Cor. 12. 28. The word is all one with the Latine Gubernationes, and ſo denotes the power and office of ruling and governing particular Churches, already planted by the Apoſtles, and by them commited to the care of the Biſhops, ſet down here under the ſtyle of διδάσκαλοι, teachers, who as they farther inſtructed the Congregations, which had received the faith, ſo they did rule, and order, and adminiſter them. Grace] 1 Cor. 10.30. or Thankſgiving, m. Heb. 12.28. Let us have grace, or let us hold faſt, marg. 2 Cor. 8. 19. or Gift, ma. Dr. Ham. in his Annotations on Luk. 1. p. 205. 2. mentioneth the ſeverall notions of χάρις, namely,

1 For the Goſpel of Chriſt, as it ſignifies the matter of the Goſpel, Heb. 13.9 and as it ſignifies the preaching or promulgating of it, Act. 18. 27.

2 As it ſignifies charity, liberality, Act. 2. 47. (ſo he renders the word χάρις, which in our Tranſlation is favour) And very neer to that for δόσις, a gift, 1 Pet. 3. 7.

3 It ſignifies alſo a reward, either that of good words, of thanks, as we call it; or elſe further, of ſome reall return, a retribution for a good turn, Luk. 17. 9. So Luk. 6. 32, 33, 34. For which there is μισθὸς, reward, verſ. 35. So 1 Pet. 2. 19.

4 It ſignifies favour, or mercy, Luk. 1. 30. And in effect in all thoſe places, where it ſignifies the Goſpel in oppoſition to the Law, that being ſo ſtyled, becauſe there is ſo much of Gods favour and undeſerved mercy diſcernible in it, contrary to boaſting or debt.

5 It is taken for virtue, goodneſſe in the latitude, without reſtraint to any particular kinde of it, 2 Pet. 3. 18. Grow in grace, i. e. all kinde of goodneſſe.

6. It is peculiarly uſed for the ſufferings which had befaln St. Paul, in the diſcharge of his office, Phil. 1. 7. See his Ann. thereon, p. 672.

Graciouſly] Of his favour, grace and mercy, Gen. 33. 5, 11. Pſal. 119. 29. Receive us graciouſly, Hoſ. 14. 2. or give good. Accept out of thy fatherly favour the true witneſſes and effects of our converſion; ſhew thy reconciliation to us, by thy gracious bleſſing of us: in thy grace and mercy is our all and onely hope. Annot.

Graffe] Rom. 11. 17. And thou being a wilde Olive-tree were graffed in. Paul uſeth a ſimilitude of graffing a branch of the wilde Olive into the true, but contrary to nature: for nature adviſeth to ſet ſweet graffs into ſowre ſtocks; and although it be naturall for the ſtock to be vehiculum alimenti, to convey the nouriſhment to the graff, yet naturally virtus temperamenti, the quality of the juyce is from the graff, not from the ſtock; but in our ſupernaturall graffing, the branch of a wilde Olive is made partaker not only of the root, but fatneſſe alſo of the true Olive. Leigh's Annot.

Grand-mother] A Grandame, ones Father or Mothers Mother, 2 Tim. 1. 5.

Grant] Licence, permiſſion, will, Ezr. 7. 3.

Grape] It's taken alſo properly for the fruit of the Vine, Numb. 13. 23. Deut. 23. 24. & 24. 21. the juyce whereof is tearmed blood, Deut. 32. 14. as being red coloured, like blood. Hereupon Chriſt killing his enemies, and having his clothes ſprinkled with blood, is deſcribed like one treading grapes in the Wine-fat, Iſa. 63. 2, 3. Rev. 14. 19, 20. & 19. 13. Literally it is meant of the Wine; that was plentifull in the land of Canaan: and ſpiritually, of the heavenly graces wherewith Chriſt filleth his people, Iſa. 55. 1. Aynſw.

Grape-gatherer] One that gathereth grapes into baskets, Jerem. 6. 9. where a great ſpoyl, and that redoubled, both of perſons and prey is intimated, though not an utter extirpation of either. Annot. See Jer. 49. 9. & Obad. 5.

Graſſe] The earth bringeth it forth, Gen. 1. 12. and it is ſaid to ſpring out of the Earth, 2 Sam. 23. 4. And therefore is tearmed, the graſſe of the field, Numb. 22. 4. and the graſſe of the earth, Job 5. 25. Yea even upon the very Mountains the Lord maketh it to grow, Pſal. 147. 8. and that to be food for Oxen, Numb. 22. 4. Horſes and Mules, 1 King. 18. 5. Wilde Aſſes, Job 6. 5. Cattel, Pſal. 104. 14. Heifers, Jer. 50. 11. Yea for the great Nebuchadnezzar for a certain time, Dan. 4. 33. Rain makes it to grow, Deut. 32. 2. Pſal. 72. 6. Prov. 19. 12. Zech. 1. 10. There's ſome growing upon the houſe-tops, which comes to nothing, Pſal. 129. 6. It's at the firſt green and flouriſhing, but being upon the ſudden cut down withereth, Pſal. 37. 2. & 90. 5. Iſa. 40. 6. 1 Pet. 1. 24. the graſſe of the field, Mat. 6. 30. χόρτος, ſignifies any thing that grows in the field or garden; here the genericall word is reſtrained by the context, and referring to the Lilies of the field, verſ. 28. doth ſignifie a flower, one day glorious and beautifull in the field, and the next day or ſoon after, cut down, and uſed for the heating of ovens or furnaces. Dr. Ha. Annot. p. 41. 2.

The graſſe faileth, or the herbage, (that properly that is newly ſprung up, and ſprouted out of the ground, the tender ſprout, Gen. 1. 11, 12. ch. 37. 27. & 66. 14. Jer. 14. 5.) is gone, or conſumed. Annot.

Graſhoppers] Amos 7. 1. or green worms, marg.

Grate] Exod. 27. 4. or Sieve, as the word is Engliſhed, Amos 9. 9. It was a broad plate of braſſe, with many little holes, through which aſhes and the like things might fall, and ſerved as an hearth for the fire to burn upon. Aynſw.

Grabe] Tit. 2.2. The word σεμνὸς, ſignifieth a ſeemly, modeſt, and gracious carriage; oppoſed to all lightneſſe, vanity, or viciouſneſſe, in geſture, ſpeech, apparel, countenance, deeds or converſation; and is a generall virtue befitting every age, and every vocation and condition of life, and not appropriated to any one calling or condition more then another, required in the Miniſter, 1 Tim. 3.8. in his Wife, verſ. 11. and in every private man, 1 Tim. 2.1. Taylor on Titus.

Grabe] Job 21.32. Hebr. graves, marg. Job 30.24. Heb. heaps, mar. Pſal. 49.15. or Hell, marg. So in 1 Cor. 15.55. marg. Hence Grave clothes, Joh. 11.44. The word τάφος is by Grammarians derived from θάπτω, mors, death, and ſo ſignifies peculiarly thoſe ſwathes that belong to dead men, wherein their whole body was wound, in relation to which it is that (Act. 5.6.) they are ſaid to winde up Ananias when he is dead. Dr. Ha. on Joh. 19.40. p. 357.2.

Grabe] To ingrave, carve, or cut, Exod. 28.9. 2 Chr. 3.7. Exod. 32.16. To hew or cut out, Iſa. 22.16. For this there were tooles, Exod. 32.4. And in Job 19.24. there's mention of an iron pen.

Grabel] Put for Pain, Pro. 20.17. Multitude, Iſa. 48.19. Much diſquietneſſe, Lam. 3.16.

Gray] Spoken of and applyed unto the Hairs, Gen. 44.31. Deut. 32.25 Hoſ. 7.9. the Head, Gen. 42.38. (both being in effect the ſame, Heb. my graineſſe or hoarineſſe, that is, me who am gray-headed.) Whence Gray-headed, Job 15.10. which is uſuall with ſuch as live long, or are become old.

Greaſe] Pſa. 119.70. Their heart is fat as greaſe. Their heart is indurate and hardened, puffed up with proſperity and vain eſtimation of themſelves, Pſal. 17.10. Iſa. 6.10. Annot.

Great] Gen. 30.8. With great wraſtlings, Heb. wraſtlings of God, marg. 2 Sam. 24.14. 1 Chr. 21.13. or Many, marg. 2 Kin. 6.14. Heb. heavy, mar. Job 5.25. or Much, mar. 1 Chr. 11.9. Waxed greater and greater, Heb. went in going and increaſing, mar.

And great commandement, Mat. 22.38. This commandement, by which the worſhip of the one God, is commanded, Deut. 6.4. is not onely one of thoſe which were written in their Phylacteries faſtened on their poſts, and read in their Houſes daily, but to note it to be the great commandement indeed above others. It is obſervable, that in Deuteronomy the words in the Hebrew which begin and end it, have the laſt letter written very big, and noted in the marg. to be ſo written. Dr. Ham. Annot. e.

Greatly] Much, very much, Deut. 15.4. & 17.17. I will greatly multiply, Gen. 3.16. Heb. multiplying I will multiply. Aynſw. Job 3.25. The thing which I greatly feared, Hebr. I feared a fear. Annot. Iſa. 42.17. Greatly aſhamed, Heb. aſhamed with ſhame. Annot.

Greave] A leg-harneſſe, 1 Sam. 17.6.

Grecians] There aroſe a murmuring of the Grecians, (or Helleniſts) againſt the Hebrews, Act. 6.1. The word Ἑλληνιστὰς is by the Syr. rendred, Jews that underſtand Greek, ſuch as did uſe the Greek language, though they did not dwel in Greece. And ſo thoſe here that uſed the Septuagints tranſlation of the Bible, are called Ἑλληνισταὶ, Helleniſts, and ſo are differenced here from the Ἑβραῖοι, Hebrews, which uſed the Jeruſalem Paraphraſe, which is now extant. Thus are Ἕλληνες, Act. 11.20. differenced from the Jews in generall, v. 19. not that thoſe Helleniſts were not Jews (for there verſ. 20. it's ſaid that he preached to them; whereas v. 19. it's clear, that they preached to none but Jews) but that theſe Jews underſtood Greek, and uſed the Greek Bible, and therefore are called Helleniſts. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

Greece] Zech. 9.13. The ſame with Grecia.

Greedy] Pſal. 17.12. Greedy of his prey, Heb. that deſireth to raven, mar. Pro. 1.19. & 15.27. Greedy of gain, covetous, Iſa. 56.11. Greedy dogs, Heb. ſtrong of ſoul, or of appetite; as a man or owner of ſoul, that is, of appetite, for one of greedy appetite, Pro. 23.2. Annot.

Greedily] Spoken of the Slothfull, Pro. 21.26. of the Extortioner, Ezek. 22.12. of wicked falſe Teachers, Jude v. 11.

Greek] Mar. 7.26. or Gentile, marg. Luk. 23.38. The Greek language, Joh. 12.20. Certain Greeks, either Proſelytes or Heathens converted to the true Religion profeſſed in Iſrael, as 1 King. 8.41. or Jews of Greece, that is, whoſe Anceſtors were Jews, though themſelves were bred and born in Greece, for theſe alſo came up to the feaſt. Annot. There were Jews of Paleſtine, which in Act. 6.1. are called Hebrews, born and bred bred there; and Jews of Greece called Grecians, whoſe Anceſtors were Jews, though they had dwelt in Greece, and uſed the Greek tongue, as their native. Annot.

And there were certain Greeks among them that came up to worſhip at the feaſt, Joh. 12. 20. The Grecians are here ſuppoſed to be Proſelytes of the Gates, who yet were not permitted among the Jews to celebrate the Feaſt with them, but onely either to behold their Solemnities or Holy feſtivities, and προσκυνήσωσιν ἐν τῇ ἑορτῇ, or as it is here peculiarly ſaid, ἵνα προσκυνήσωσιν ἐν τῇ ἑορτῇ, that they might worſhip at that time of publick worſhip, which in Atrio Gentilium, in the Court of the Gentiles they were permitted to doe, as appears by the Eunuch, Act. 8 27. who came to worſhip at Jeruſalem, where that Temple was, which is ſtyled the Houſe of prayer to all people. So the pious men, i. e. Proſelytes, Act. 2. 5. which came up to Jeruſalem at the feaſt of Pentecoſt. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

Green] Judg. 16. 7. Green withs, or new cords, Heb. moyſt, marg.

Greeniſh] Levit. 13. 49. or very green. Aynſw.

Greenneſſe] Job 8. 12. Whileſt it is yet in his greenneſſe; that is, whileſt it flouriſheth moſt, before the beauty of it be gone. Annot.

Greet] 1 Sam. 25. 5. Greet him in my name, Heb. aſk him in my name of peace, mar. The word ἀσπάζομαι, which is rendred greet, Rom. 16. 3. and in many other places ſignifieth to ſalute, but with a kiſſe and embracing, to greet friendly, Tit. 3. 15. It ſignifieth ſuch friendſhip as was in thoſe Countreys teſtified by ſalutations and embracings. It implyeth the performance of courteſie and well-wiſhing. Leigh Crit. Sac.

Grief] 1 Sam. 25. 31. Heb. ſtaggering or ſtumbling, mar. Job 6. 2. My grief, my inward hearty ſorrow ariſing from my calamity, ſo the word is uſed, ch. 17. 7. or, my wrath, as ch. 5. 2. whence that variety of reading, Eccl. 7. 3. & 11. 10. Annot.

Griebance] Hab. 1. 3. And cauſe me to behold grievance among them, whereby they violently grieve, vex, and ſpoyl one another, and ſpecially the wicked ſo grieve the godly. Annot. Hab. 1. 13. Iniquity, comp. text with marg.

Grieve] Ruth 1. 13. It much grieveth me, Hebr. I have much bitterneſſe, marg. To make ſorry, or heavy, 1 Sam. 2. 33. To be vexed, Gen. 34. 7. Was grieved, Judg. 10. 10. Hebr. was ſhortened, mar. 1 Sam. 30. 6. Heb. was bitter, mar. Gen. 6. 6. It grieved him.

The Scripture giveth to God Joy, Grief, Anger, &c. not as any paſſions or contrary affections; for he is moſt ſimple and unchangeable, Jam. 1. 17. but by a kinde of proportion, becauſe he doth of his immutable nature and will, ſuch things as men do with thoſe paſſions and changes of affections. So Heart, Hands, Eyes, and other parts are attributed to him for effecting ſuch things, as men cannot do but by ſuch members. God is ſaid to be grieved for the corruption of his creatures; contrariwiſe, when he reſtoreth them by his grace, he rejoyceth in them, Iſa. 65. 19. Pſal. 104. 31. Aynſw.

But if thy Brother be grieved, Rom. 14. 15. λυπεῖται here ſignifies to be grieved, as that notes being wounded or galled in the courſe, and by that means driven off from his profeſſion of Chriſtianity. That it ſignifies ſo appears by the context, comparing this v. with v. 13. Where the Brothers having a ſcandall, i. e. gall-trap put in his way, is all one with the being grieved here; anſwerable to both which together, is ſcandalized (or galled, and made weak, or ſick, or faint, or wounded) verſ. 21. For it is to be obſerved, that λύπη, grief, or ſorrow, is oft taken for the cauſe of ſorrow, diſeaſe, wound or gall. Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

Grievous] Gen. 41. 31. Heb. heavy, mar. 1 King. 2. 8. Heb. ſtrong, marg. Pſal. 31. 18. Heb. hard, mar. Gen. 18. 20. Sore, Rev. 16. 2. Swarm of flyes, Exod. 8. 24. Thing, Gen. 21. 11. Things, Pſa. 31. 18. Viſion, Iſa. 21. 2. Wayes, Pſal. 10. 5. Whirlewind, Jerem. 22. 19. Wolves, Act. 20. 29. Words, Prov. 15. 1. Work, Eccleſ. 2. 17. Wound, Jer. 30. 12. Write, Phil. 3. 1. Yoke, 1 King. 12. 4.

Grievouſly] Lam. 1. 8. Hath grievouſly ſinned, Heb. hath ſinned ſin, and the Chald. hath committed a great or grievous ſin. Annot. So verſ. 20. I have grievouſly rebelled, Heb. rebelling rebelled. Annot.

Grievouſneſſe] Iſa. 10. 1. or grievous things, Annot. Iſa. 21. 15. Grievouſneſſe of war, that is, a grievous war, Hebr. heavyneſſe, as ch. 30.27. heavy for grievous, as Gen.18.20. Annot.

Grinde] It ſhall grinde him to powder, Mat. 21.44. λικμᾶν here, is by the Grammarians rendred, not onely to winnow, but to threſh the Corn, either by breaking it with an inſtrument, a Flail among us, or by bringing the wheel over it, or by treading it out, which was the cuſtome among the Jews. Now this phraſe here applyed to men, (as it's alſo in the Prophets of the Old Teſtament, I will threſh you with a threſhing inſtrument, &c.) ſeems here to ſignifie that ſad condition of the people of the Iews all of them that ſh u'd hold out againſt Chriſt, Chriſt ſhall come upon that people as with his threſhing inſtrument in his hand, ch. 3. 12. ſhall break and daſh them to pieces, violently ſeparate the Straw from the Wheat, the multitude of unprofitable, i.e. unbelieving impenitents, from the little ſound corn among them, the few ſound beleevers; and then break all that ſtraw into ſmall pieces, as the manner of their threſhing was. Dr. Ham. Annot. g.

Grinders] The great Jaw-teeth wherewith we grinde our meat, Eccl. 12.3.

Grin] Job 18. 9. The grin ſhall take him, lay faſt hold on him, ſo that he cannot eſcape. Annot. Hereby may be underſtood the crafty devices and projects of the ungodly, Pſal. 140. 5. & 141. 9.

Grizled] Gen. 31. 10. or Hail-ſpotted, that is, having many white ſpots like hail-ſtones, for ſo the Hebr. & Chald. words import. The Gr. expounds it ſprinkled as with aſhes. It may be alſo to ſignifie that this was Gods work, as the hail falleth from heaven. Such was the colour of certain Horſes that Zachary ſaw in a viſion, Zech. 6. 3, 6. Aynſw.

Groan] Spoken of Beaſts, Joel 1. 18. the whole creation, Rom. 8. 22. the godly, Rom. 8. 23. 2 Cor. 5. 2, 4. Jeſus, Joh. 11. 33. the Iſraelites, Exod. 2. 24. & 6 5. King David, Pſal. 6. 6. Men oppreſſed, Job 24. 12 Pharaoh, Ezek. 30. 24. the wounded, Jerem 51. 52.

Grope] Deut. 28. 29. or feeling, meant as an effect of blindneſſe of ſoul, as Paul ſpeaketh of Gods works to the heathen, that they ſhould ſeek the Lord, if haply they might feel, (or grope) after him, Act. 17. 17. They grope in the noon day, as in the night, Job 5. 14. They are like blinde men, who at high noon when the Sun ſhines brighteſt, grope for dores and walls, as other men do in the darkeſt nights, Gen. 19. 11. Judg. 16. 26. The meaning is, that theſe crafty men meet with troubles, in the midſt and height of their proſperity. Or rather in things moſt clear, they ſeek out for ſome way to execute their wicked devices, but are ſo beſotted that they can finde none. Annot.

Groſſe darkneſſe] Iſa. 60. 2. or thick darkneſſe. The word ſeemeth compounded of a tearm, that ſignifieth to drop or diſtill, as Deut. 32. 2. & 33. 28. And another, that ſignifieth a miſt, or fog, ch. 29. 18. & 59. 9. So that it ſimplyes in its proper notion a miſt ſo thick that it even droppeth again. Such a miſt or darkneſſe as that in Ægypt was, Exod. 10. 22, 23. Annot.

Ground] Spoken of the golden calf, Ex. 32. 20. Corn, 2 Sam. 17. 19. Manna, Numb. 11. 8.

Hail] Iſa. 32. 19. When it ſhall hail, coming down on the Forreſt. Or (as ſome) And it, or he, ſhall hail with hail the forreſt. Whereof the meaning may be this, That God will preſerve the fruits of the earth for them, that they ſhall not with ſtorm and tempeſt be ſpoyled, and will therefore in his providence, ſo diſpoſe occurrents of that kinde, that when ſtorms come they ſhall light on the wilde or waſte forreſt, where it can do little hurt, and not on their corn-grounds, or vineyards, or the like, where it might do miſchief, as Pſal. 78. 47. & 105. 32, 33. See Exod. 9. 22-26. Annot.

This alſo ſignified his fierce, ſtrong, and crafty nature. For hair is a ſigne of naturall ſtrength, and nature being corrupted, hairineſſe denoteth the power of corruption; therefore when Lepers were purified, all their hair was to be ſhaven off, Lev. 14. 8. Aynſw. Pſal. 68. 21. And the hairy ſcalp, Heb. the crown (or ſcalp) of hair, meaning open and inevitable judgement on the chiefeſt and moſt fierce enemies. Idem.

Hands] Lifting up holy hands, 1 Tim. 2. 8. The ceremony of Waſhing was among the Jews conſtantly uſed before Prayers, and ſo among the Mahometans. This ſignificant rite the Apoſtle here applyeth to the thing ſignified by it, cleanneſſe of the heart and actions, and makes that neceſſary to the offering up any acceptable ſervice to God. Dr. Hamm. Annot. b.

Lay hands ſuddenly on no man, 1 Tim. 5. 22. That laying on hands is a ceremony of prayer, or benediction, is ordinarily known in the Old Teſtament, uſed firſt by the Father to the Children, in beſtowing the bleſſing upon them, and with that ſucceſſion to ſome part of the eſtate, Gen. 48. 14, 15. And from thence it was among them accommodated to the communicating of power to others, as Aſſiſtants, or deriving it to them as Succeſſors. So when Moſes aſſumed the Seventy to aſſiſt him, Numb. 11. 17. it was done (ſaith Maimonides) by his laying hands upon them. And when he left the world, and conſtituted Joſhua his Succeſſour, God appointed him to lay his hands upon him, Numb. 27. 18. So Deut. 34. 9. From theſe three uſes of the ceremony, in prayer, in paternall benediction, in creating of officers, three ſorts of things there are in the New Teſtament, to which it is principally acommodated.

1 In prayer it is uſed either in curing diſeaſes, the corporall hands, Luk. 13. 16. Act. 19. 17. & 28. 8. as it was foretold, Mar. 16. 18. or pardoning ſins, the ſpirituall hands, Heb. 6. 2. Where as the Baptiſmes are thoſe uſed among the Jews and Chriſtians, for the admiſſion of Proſelytes; ſo the impoſition of hands, doth probably denote the reſtoring of penitents that were lapſt after Baptiſme. From that of paternall benediction, is that of laying on hands in bleſſing of infants, Mar. 10. 16. By that means ſignifying them to be fit to be received into the Church by Baptiſme, as thoſe that have title to this Kingdome of heaven, the Church here, and through the ſame mercy of God in Chriſt, heaven hereafter.

2 That of confirming thoſe of full age, that had formerly been baptized. Such that of the Epheſian diſciples ſeems to be, Act. 19. 5, 6. to which in thoſe times many extraordinary gifts were conſequent, ſpeaking with tongues, &c. as had formerly falln out, Act. 10. 44.

3 From that in creating Succeſſors or aſſiſtants in power, came the uſe of impoſition of hands in Ordination, whether of Biſhops or Deacons, Act. 6. 6. & 8. 17. & 13. 3. 1 Tim. 4. 15. & 2 Tim. 1. 6. Dr. Ham. Annot. f.

Handy] Pſal. 19. 1. His handy-work, or the work of his hands. Aynſw.

Hang] Exod. 26. 32, 33. Hebr. give. Aynſw. Job 26. 7. And hangeth the earth on nothing. The earth is upheld onely by Gods almighty power, having no foundation at all, but hanging like a ball in the midſt of the heavens, Pſal. 104. 5. Hebr. 3. 1. Annot.

On theſe two commandements hang all the Law and the Prophets, Mat. 22. 40. or conſpire; i.e. the whole Old Teſtament conſpires with theſe, theſe are the ſumme of all that is ſaid there. But if it be read hang, then the meaning will be, that all commanded in the Jewiſh received Scripture, depends upon one of theſe two, hangs on one of theſe great pegs, i. e. in the laſt reſort, reducible to one of theſe heads. Dr. Ham. An. f. And hanged himſelf, Mat. 27. 5. or was ſtrangled, or fell into a fit of ſuffocation. Dr. Ham. Par.

This ſhewed the reſtraint of the Jewiſh Church, from ſuch bleſſings as God hath opened to us in Chriſt, Heb. 9. 9, 10, &c. & 10, 19, 20. Aynſw. There were ſeverall other hangings made for the ſervice of the Tabernacle. Hereby in Eſt. 1. 6. tapeſtry is meant. 2 King. 23. 7. Where the women wove hangings for the grove, Heb. houſes, or curtains, whereby they might keep themſelves from the ſight of others. Idolatry and all manner of filthyneſſe uſe to go together. Which might alſo well be, that he helped himſelf by leaning on his ſtaff, and reſting on the bolſter of his bed. Aynſw.) So with ſpears, 1 Sam. 17. 7. and hath annexed unto it corner, of which before. Which are on the head of the fat valleys, Iſa. 28. 1. that is, on the top (as Exod. 17. 10. See Ezek. 24. 17. It was an ornament of ſpecial note with them, as appears, Jer. 2. 32. Nor is it to be omitted, that the royall diadem (as the name it ſelfe alſo imports) was in ancient times no other then a fair and rich fillet. It comes of a word that ſignifies to tye, or to binde. And God ſeems to allude to ſuch curious fillets or ribbons, when he willeth his people to binde his precepts for a ſigne upon their hands, Deut. 6. 8. See alſo Prov. 3. 3. & 6. 21. & 7. 3. Annot.

Headlong] Job 5. 13. Is carryed headlong. It comes from a word that ſignifies haſte, for haſty folks take not time enough for advice, but do things very raſhly, and with precipitation, and ſo not onely miſſe what they intend, but alſo have ill ſucceſſe, Iſa. 19. 14. & 32. 4. Annot. This word is alſo joyned with Caſt down, Luk. 4. 29. and Falling, Act. 1. 18.

Act. 25. 21. the hearing, or judgement, marg.

And what ye hear in the ear, Mat. 10. 27. The Rabbins affirm that the Maſters among the Jews were wont to have their Interpreters, who did receive the dictates of the Maſters whiſpered in the ear, and then publickly propoſe them to all, the Maſters dictating ſoftly, but the Interpreters delivering them aloud. Accordingly, Elias Levita ſaith that the Interpreter is mentioned Exod. 4.16. and adds, that every Pſalme that is inſcribed משכיל, was received from a Maſter, and dictated by an Interpreter. So it was an Enſigne of a Maſter to have an Interpreter. This Chriſt applyes to himſelf and the Diſciples, making himſelf the Maſter, dictating to them the words of life, the New Covenant, which they conſequently are bound κηρύξειν, to proclaim to others, as ſo many κήρυκας, aloud, publickly, on the houſe top, and not for fear keep in any part of it. Dr. Hamm. Annot. i.

And was heard, Heb. 5. 7. εἰσακούειν, to hear, is uſed by the Greek Tranſlators of the Old Teſtament, to expreſſe הושיע, to preſerve, or deliver. So Pſal. 55. 18. (to which the Gr. σώζειν, which we ordinarily render to ſave, is directly anſwerable, and ſo is here directly joyned with εἰσακούειν, in the ſame ſenſe) and it is alſo uſed in other places for ענה, reſpondit, anſwered, (which is in effect the ſame (the anſwering of a prayer for deliverance) being all one with delivering.) So Pſa. 22. 20. Thou haſt heard or anſwered me from the horns of the Unicorn; i. e. delivered me from that great danger. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

Ye have heard that it was ſaid by them of old times, Matt. 5. 21. There were three wayes among the Hebrews of interpreting Scriptures.

1 שמועה, hearing, ἀκόασις, when any fact is recited, or hiſtoricall ſenſe explicated, which to have heard, is ſufficient, without any more.

2 אגדא, myſticall expoſition.

3 מחלי, parabolicall expoſition.

The firſt of theſe belongs to thoſe paſſages of Scripture, which were plain matters of fact, as here plain commands of the Decalogue, without any other expoſitions on them, then the bare reciting them out of the book. Idem Annot. k.

Sac.*) Willing, Exo. 35. 22. (free) Wiſe, Exod. 28. 3. Such as had the ſpirit of Wiſdome, in all manner of workmanſhip, &c. Exod. 31. 2--6.

Heavens] But the heavens and the earth which are now, 2 Pet. 3. 7. Theſe are here ſet, to ſignifie the whole compages of this Sublunary world, and all the creatures that are in it, all that was deſtroyed by the Flood, and is now ſecured from periſhing ſo again, and is reſerved for Fire; by which it is (by perpetuall tradition) believed, that the World ſhall finally be deſtroyed. Dr. Hammond Annot. e.

Honour] To hold in reputation, Phil. 2. 29. Comp. the text with the marg. To eſteem, 1 Pet. 2. 17. mar.

Giving honour unto the Wife, 1 Pet. 3. 7. Afford ſupplyes or maintenance to the Wife, as being the weaker veſſell, taken out of, and depending on him for the neceſſaries of life. Dr. Ham. Annot. d.

Counted worthy of double honour, 1 Tim. 5. 17. The double honour refers to the Elder brothers portion, Deut. 21. 17. and this going along with the power of ruling the family, Gen. 4. 7. (after the death of the Father) is fitly accommodated to the office of a Biſhop in the Church, and ſo the electing of Barnabas and Paul to the Apoſtleſhip, Act. 13. 2. is expreſſed by ἀφορίσατε, ſeparate, the word uſed about the firſt born, Exod. 13. 2. Thus the double portion of the ſpirit of Elias reſting on Eliſeus, was the making him his Succeſſor in the office of a Prophet, as the Father, above the ordinary Sons of the Prophets, to have rule over them. And ſo this verſe is the ſetting down the reaſonableneſſe that the Biſhop that diſcharged his duty or prefecture well, ſhould be looked upon in all reſpects as one that hath the primogeniture of maintenance (to which verſ. 18. refers) as well as dignity, eſpecially if his pains be extraordinary. Dr. Ham. Annot. d.

So called of a word that ſignifies to roll, or turn round, ch. 22. 18. It is uſed both for a royal diadem, ch. 62. 3. Ezek. 21. 26. and for a Prieſtly miter, Exod. 28. 4. Lev. 8. 9. Horribly] Jer. 2. 12. Be horribly afraid, or agaſt, Ezek. 27. 35. & 32. 10. It hath ſome affinity alſo with the word that ſignifieth hair, and hairy, or rough, and may imply ſuch an horror as ſome horrid occurrent is wont to produce, ſuch as would make ones hair (as we uſe to ſay) ſtand an end. Annot.

Horſeback] Horſes were uſed by Scouts and Poſts, for the more ſpeedy diſpatch of their buſineſſe, 2 King. 18. 19. Eſt. 8. 10. Bring him on horſeback, Eſt. 6. 9. Heb. cauſe him to ride. Annot.

as alſo to ſing Pſalms. Both theſe of Boughs and Hymns were uſuall among the Grecians in any time of ſacred feſtivity. Thoſe boughs there uſed were called hoſanna's; and to bind up hoſanna's, is properly to bind up bundles of Willow boughs, which were moſt uſed among them, though they are not preſcribed in Nehemiah. This ceremony thus largely uſed to Chriſt, is a token of the peoples acknowledging him to be the Meſſias, the Shiloh whom they expected. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

Hundred] Hereunto there are ſeverall other numbers added, as five, ten, twelve, nineteen, twenty, &c. as others prefixed, two, three, four, five, &c. which being applyed unto the things numbred, cubits, men, ſhekels, talents, yeers, &c. the number is plainly to be perceived.

Hunger-bitten] Job 18.12. His ſtrength ſhall be hunger-bitten. He that had abundance, and fared daintily, and was ſtrong before, now God hath blown upon his eſtate, ſhall be ſo poor, that his bodily ſtrength ſhall decay for want of food, chap. 15.23. 1 Sam. 2.5, 36. Annot.

Hurt] To my hurt, Gen. 4.23. or, for my ſtripe. The Originall word ſignifieth a wayl or mark of a ſtripe or of a wound in the fleſh. Aynſw. Do us no hurt, Gen. 26.29. Evill, Aynſw. It's in effect the ſame with harm, leſſe, damage.

Husbandry] 2 Chr. 26.10. Heb. ground, m. Job 1.3. or houſhold. Comp. the text with the mar. 1 Cor. 3.9. or Tillage, mar.

Husk] In the husk thereof, 2 King. 4.42. or in his ſcrip, or garment, marg.

He would fain have filled his belly with the husks that the Swine did eat, Luk. 15.16. They were the fruit of the Carobe or Arbor Ceratonia. It's of the length of a mans finger, forked, about the breadth of a thumb, very ſweet, but hard of concoction, and of an ill juyce, whereof the rinde is the part that is eaten. This was ordinary among the Ægyptians. Dr. Hamm. Annot. b.

Hymne] Matth. 26.30. or Pſalm, marg. In Eph. 5.19. & Col. 3.16. as the Apoſtle exhorteth us to ſinging, ſo he inſtructeth what the matter of our ſong ſhould be, viz. Pſalms, Hymns, and Spirituall ſongs. Thoſe three are the title of the Songs of David, as they are delivered unto us by the holy Ghoſt himſelf: Some of them are called Mizmarim, Pſalms; ſome Tehillim, Hymns; ſome Shirim, Songs, Spirituall ſongs. Pſalms were ſung on the voyce and inſtrument both, Pſ. 108.1. Dan. 3.7. Hymns were Songs of Thankſgiving for a particular benefit received, Mat. 26.30. Songs, wherein we give thanks for generall bleſſings, as when David praiſed the Lord

Lord for the works of Creation, Pſ. 104. 3. Leigh's Annot. on Col. 3. 16. Bodius on this place (having related the opinions of others) delivereth, that the Apoſtle under theſe three words, Pſalms, Hymns, Songs, comprehendeth all kindes of Spirituall ſongs, whereby a faithful and regenerate ſoul ſhould exerciſe and delight himſelf, to the glory of God, the edification of the brethren, and his owne conſolation, and growth in grace. Bod. in Eph. 5. 19. p. 720.

And when they had ſung an hymne, Mat. 26. 30. It was the cuſtome of the Jews after Supper to ſay Grace, and then to ſay or ſing Verſes or Songs, eſpecially over the Paſchall Lamb; at which time they were wont to ſing from the 112. to the 119. Pſalm, the matter of thoſe Pſalms agreeing perfectly with the Paſchall Lamb. This may have been the Hymne, or rather Hymns or Pſalms which Chriſt ſang here with his Diſciples. But it's alſo not improbable that it was ſome other Hymn accommodated to this particular inſtitution of Chriſts, and this ſung by them all in the ſame manner as we read of the Chriſtians Hymne, Act. 4. 24. Dr. Ha. Annot. g.

Hypocriſie] Iſa. 32. 6. or profaneneſſe, or abominable wickedneſſe, as the word commonly, yea univerſally ſignifies. See ch. 9. 17. & 33. 14. Annot.

Hypocriticall] Pſal. 35. 16. Hypocriticall mockers. Aynſw. rendreth the words hypocrites, ſcoffers. Hypocrites or cloſe diſſemblers, which outwardly cover and cloak the wickedneſſe wherewith inwardly they are defiled. Matth. 23. 27, 28. or, which have their hearts covered, Job 36. 13. The Greek alſo (from whence our Engliſh word hypocriſie is borrowed) ſignifieth an underjudgement, that is, diſſimulation. Aynſw.

Iſa. 10. 6. An hypocriticall Nation. Or rather, a profane Nation, or a polluted people. See ch. 9. 17. Annot.

Jaare-Oregim] Called alſo Jair, 1 Chr. 20. 5. The Father of Elhanan, 2 Sam. 21. 19. To the name Jair (as ſome would have it) Oregim was added, becauſe the ſpear of the Gyant whom Elhanan ſlew, was like a Weavers-beam, as the word ſignifies. The which might have been probable, if the word Oregim had been added to Elhanan, who had ſlain this Gyant, and not to Jair, who was his Father, and had his name before this battle was fought. Annot.

Jachin] 1 King. 7. 21. or, he ſhall eſtabliſh, marg.

Jacob] Pſal. 24. 6. O Jacob; or, O God of Jacob, marg.

Jangling] 1 Tim. 1. 6. Vain jangling, ματαιολογία. Vain talking, an idle diſcourſe or reaſoning, differing nothing from old Wives fables, which though long, yet are empty and fruitleſſe, ſo that they themſelves know not what they ſay, what they would be at. Leigh Cr. Sac.

Janoah] A City, 2 Ki. 15. 29. See Janohah.

Jannes] As Jannes and Jambres withſtood Moſes, 2 Tim. 3. 8. Theſe names are not to be met with in the ſtory of the Old Teſtament, but are taken out of other Records of the Jews (as divers other things mentioned in the New Teſtament touching Moſes, Act. 7. 22, 23, 25.) being the name of the chief Magicians, who did the miracles before Pharaoh, Exod. 7. In thoſe records they are named Johanne and Mamre, Janis and Jambres, Johanne and Mambre, Jane and Mamre, Jones and Jambres, John and Ambroſe, Jonos and Jambres. And among the Heathens, in Pliny, there is talk of Moſes Jannes, and Cabala (or as other Copies read, Jotape) which he mentions as Jews that uſed Magick. They are ſaid to be skill'd in the holy things among the Ægyptians, inferiour to none in the art of Magick, and the Prieſts above Memphis. They are in an Arabick Manuſcript named Deiannes Jambarus and Suradas, and that God deſtroyed them with Pharaoh and his hoſte in the red Sea. To theſe Saint Paul here very fitly compares the Gnoſticks, and their chief Founder Simon (and Menander and others after him) being a known Sorcerer, and resisting the truth by lying wonders, as those Magicians did. And of him we find that fulfilled in the event, which is here foretold, vers. 9. that he should meet with the like fate, and discovery, that those Magicians met with, for having undertaken to fly, he was carried up in the air by a chariot of the Devils, but was thrown down from aloft to a notorious infamous death. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

Jashubi-lehem] The name of a place, 1 Chr. 4. 22.

Jaw-bone of an Asse] Judg. 15. 16. By this weak means, and contemptible instrument, through Gods Almighty power and assistance, Samson slew a thousand of his and his peoples enemies, and laid their dead bodies on heaps one upon another. Annot.

Jasher] Josh. 10. 13. & 2 Sam. 1. 18. or the upright, marg.

Jaws] Job 29. 17. Heb. the jaw-teeth, or the grinders, marg.

Idle] Of every idle word, Mat. 12. 36. It is the custome of all Writers, very frequent in the Sacred Dialect, to use phrases, whereby they understand much more then they expresse. So ἀργὸν ῥῆμα, idle word, is much more then idle, vain, even blasphemous speeches. The word ἀργὸν, may bear proportion in sense to the Hebrew אָוֶן, which signifies vain indeed, but frequently false, because that which is false wants the solidity and substance of truth. It's quasi ἔργῳ, when the words are without deeds agreeing to them. It may referre to the notion of ὀνειδισμὸν ῥῆμα, used for reproach, and contumely, ch. 5. 11. for such was that against Christ, vers. 24. that great contumely and falsity of his casting out devils by the Prince of Devils. That it is some grand crime, not every word which tends not to some speciall end of Christian edification, appears by the next verse, where they are affirmed to be such, as for which under Christ, men are sure to be condemned, and not by evill works or actions onely. Dr. Ham. Annot. e. & m.

Idol] Zech. 11. 17. The word here for Idol signifieth a thing of nothing, of no worth, an empty, vain, vacant thing. Annot. 2 Chr. 15. 16. Hebr. kortour, marg. Idols, Deut. 29. 17. Heb. dunguy gods, marg. Isa. 2. 20. His idols of silver, Heb. the idol of his silver, m. Zeph. 1. 3. Idols, or the stumbling blocks, m. Comp. the text with the marg. Zech. 10. 2. Hebr. Teraphims, mar. Lev 19. 4. Turn ye not to idols. Idols called in Hebr. Elilim, which properly signifieth things of nought, nothing, vain, and nought worth, according to the nature of which name, Paul saith, We know that an idol is nothing in the world, 1 Cor. 8. 4. Elim signifieth Gods; Elilim, no gods; which the Greek here nameth Eidola, whereof our English Idols is derived. In the Chald. they are called errours or aberrations. And Elilim is applyed to other things also which are of no value, as in Job 13. 4. Physicians, Elil, that is, vain, or of no value; and in Jerem. 14. 14. False Prophets prophesied, Elil, a thing of nought. And as Images are the same that Idols in signification, so Images of silver and gold, are called Elilim, Idols, Isa. 2. 20. So that hereby God forbiddeth the transgression of the first and second Commandements. Aynsw.

An idol is nothing in the world, 1 Cor. 8. 4. The meaning of this assertion of the Gnosticks, and concession of St. Paul's, that an idol is nothing in the world, must needs be fetcht from the notation of the Heb. word, אלול, from אל, that signifies nothing, that which hath no existence, so far from being gods, that they are οὐδὲν ἐν κόσμῳ, nothing in the world, no parts of Gods first Creation, onely inventions and fancies of men, creatures of mens owne creating. Wicked men are the formers first, and then the worshippers of their wicked deities. Dr. Hamm. Annot. a.

Idolater, or with Idolaters] 1 Cor. 5. 10. That εἰδωλολάτραις here is not to be restrained to the particular sin of worshipping pictures or images, will be probable by the rest of the sins which are joyned with it, for which a Christian professor is to be excommunicated, v. 11. It seems rather to referre either to the joyning in the Idol feasts, of which the Gnostick hereticks were guilty; or else to those filthy practises, so frequent and customary in their mysteries, as prime rites of the Heathen false worships, and taken up in a most vile manner by the Gnosticks also. That the word should thus be used, will appear most reasonable,

1 Because of the words used in the Old Testament, to signifie an idol, גלול, is one, which signifies pollution or filth, by which any man is contaminated, and which is sometimes rendred βδέλυγμα, abomination, and the false god, or Idol meant sometime, when βδέλυγμα, abomination is used, as Wisd. 12. 23.

2 Because their Heathen worships were so ſo full of theſe foul ſins, Ib. 14. 23, 26, 27. Jer. 44. 19. 1 King. 14. 24. See Levit. 18 24, 25, 27, 28, 29. To which purpoſe no doubt it was, that the ſigne of Gods covenant with his people, was that of Circumciſion, a ſigne of the exciſion of pleaſures, noting the caſting off that ſuperfluity of naughtineſſe, which had been practiſed among thoſe Nations; and the ſame is more then intimated in our Baptiſme, the outward part of which is the waſhing away the filth of the fleſh, and ſignifies the forſaking of all the ſinfull luſts thereof. So 1 Ki. 15. 12. the Idols and the Sodomites are mentioned together. And 2 King. 23. 7. the houſes of the Sodomites are caſt down. So Iſa. 57. 5. You that inflame your ſelves with idols under every green tree. Noting that proſtitution of men and women in the groves, about their Idol-Temples, in honour of their falſe gods. Dr. Hammond Annot. i.

Idolatrous] 2 King. 23. 5. The idolatrous Prieſts. The root כמר, Camar, whence this word cometh, is uſed to ſet forth the heat and ardency of the bowels, when one is moved in compaſſion, as Gen. 43. 30. 1 Kin. 3. 26. Hoſ. 11. 8. It is alſo uſed (1 Sam. 5. 10.) for the blackneſſe or ſhrinking of the skin with famine. This title Chemarim was given to idolatrous Prieſts, either by reaſon of their prepoſterous zeal and fervency about their Idolatry; or, becauſe they uſed to wear black cloaths, or becauſe they were much exerciſed in burning Sacrifices and Incenſe. Annot.

Idolatry] Wholly given to Idolatry, Act. 17. 16. That Athens was a City full of Images, or Idols, or Altars erected to the gods, and much given to the worſhip of them, appears by Pauſanias, the number of the Simulachra, or εἰδωλα there, being more then in all Greece beſide. Which is alſo affirmed by others. Dr. Ham. Ann. a.

And what will I, if it be already kindled? Luk. 12. 49. The particle εἰ, which is ordinarily rendred if, is oft an optative, or expreſſion of wiſh or deſire. So cha. 19. 42. If thou kneweſt, for O that thou kneweſt. So ch. 22. 42. If thou wilt, for O that thou wouldeſt; and thus it may be here, O that it were already kindled, and then the latter part will be an anſwer to the queſtion propoſed in the former, thus, τί θέλω, what do I deſire? Beyond all things, that it were already kindled? Or, what do I deſire if it were already kindled? i. e. I deſire no more but this. Now the κλῆροι among the Hebrews, were thoſe portions of Land that fell by Lot to any in the Diviſion of Land or Eſtate; as in the firſt Diviſion of Canaan, Judah had his lot or portion, Reuben his, and God was Levi's lot, or inheritance, or poſſeſſion, as we call it. So in like manner, when in the diviſion of the World into Jews and Gentiles, God choſe the Iews, they were ſaid to be his κλῆρος, or portion, Deut. 4. 20. and ſo beleivers or Chriſtians are now ſtyled, 1 Pet. 5. 3. and in a more peculiar manner, they that preached the Goſpel, the Apoſtles; and ſo accordingly have all that have ſerved God in the Miniſtery, been called Gods κλῆρος, or Clergy, by whom therefore they are ſaid κληρωθῆναι, to become Gods peculiar poſſeſſion, or portion. Dr. Ham. Annot. e.

Inventers of evill things] Rom. 1. 30. Deviſers of evill, whether of ſin, or of pain; ſuch as invented new ſins, new kindes of puniſhment.

Inwards] Exod. 29. 13. or Inmoſt part, that is, the Heart, which is moſt inward, and in the midſt of the body. So the inward of Man, is uſed for the heart, and conſequently for the thoughts and minde, as in Pſal. 5. 10. & 62. 5. & 94. 19. and that which the Prophet calleth the inward man, Jerem. 31. 33. the Apoſtle calleth the minde, Hebr. 8. 10. Aynſw.

Jonadab] Voluntary, or willing. David's Brother, 2 Sam. 13. 32. The Son of Rechab, Jer. 35. 6. called alſo Jehonadab, 2 King. 10. 15.

Joſeph] Gen. 30. 24. that is, Adding, m.

Journey] Gen. 24. 21. or Way. Aynſw. Accordingly ὁδὸς, which in Rom. 3. 17. is rendred Way, is in Mat. 10. 10. tranſlated Journey.

Joy] Pſal. 27. 6. Heb. ſhouting, marg. Pſ. 30. 5. Hebr. ſinging, marg. Pſal. 43. 4. My exceeding exceeding joy, Hebr. the gladneſſe of my joy, marg.

And joy in the holy Ghoſt, Rom. 13. 17. That χαρὰ, joy, Gal. 5. 22. ſignifies not the natural paſſion, but the Chriſtian virtue, and that again moſt probably that which is exerciſed toward our Brethren, appears by the ἀγάπη, charity, before, and εἰρήνη, peace, &c. after it, and therefore it muſt be underſtood in that notion, which ſhall be agreeable thereto, either to ſignifie the rejoycing at any good that befals another, but eſpecially at the virtuous actions performed by him (which 1 Cor. 13. 6. is rejoycing in the truth, i. e. integrity and ſincerity of another, oppoſite to his ἀδικία, doing amiſſe precedent) or elſe the deſire or delight of doing good to others, which as a thing very pleaſant to him that hath it, and as the cauſe of joy to them that receive benefit from it, may perhaps be called joy. Accordingly joy in the holy Ghoſt, that grace of the Chriſtian flowing from the ſanctifying Spirit of God, or which is according to the will of God; a holy Chriſtian joy is the ſeeking and advancing the ſpirituall weal and good of others; as the grieving of them is the contrary, the wounding of their conſciences, and occaſioning their ſin. Dr. H. Annot. c.

Joy] Pſal. 21. 1. To rejoyce continually. Aynſw. The word καυχάομαι (whence καύχημα, which in Rom. 5. 11. is tranſlated, we joy) ſignifieth, to glory, which is more then to rejoyce, or joy. Leigh Cr. Sac.

Joyfulneſſe] Col. 1. 11. The Originall χαρὰ is tranſlated alſo joy, Mat. 2. 10. & 13. 20, 44. and gladneſſe, Mar. 4. 16. Act. 12. 14. Phil. 2. 29. as here joyfulneſſe being the ſame with joy and gladneſſe.

Joyfully] Live joyfully, Eccl. 9. 9. See life, or enjoy life. Annot. Received him joyfully, Luk. 19. 6. Received him rejoycing, χαίρων, and took joyfully, Heb. 10. 34. μετὰ χαρᾶς, with joy.

Joyous] Iſa. 22. 2. or Revelling. Annot. So in Iſa. 23. 7. & 32. 13. Joyous, Heb. 12. 11. Gr. of joy. Annot.

Barbed irons] Job 41. 7. See Barbed.

Iſcariot] And Judas Iſcariot, Matth. 10. 4. This title of his may either be taken from his Countrey, whence he came, a man of Cariath (according to which it is that the ancient Greek and Latine MS. generally read, ἀπὸ Καριώθ, Acariota, from Cariath) or elſe from the Syriack, which calls a wallet or purſe, Secariat, and then כסריוטא, Secariota, or Iſcariota, may ſignifie him that hath the Wallet, which was the office of this Judas. Dr. Hamm. Annot. d.

Iſland] Running under a certain Iſland, Act. 27. 16. A Land cloſed in, or environed with the Sea, or freſh water.

Iſraelitiſh] Levit. 24. 10. Heb. an Iſraeliteſſe, which the Chald. expoundeth, a daughter of Iſrael: her name was Shelomith, v. 11. Aynſw.

Judah] 2 Chron. 25. 28. In the City of Judah; that is, the City of David, as it is 2 King. 14. 20. marg.

Judge] I judge him not, Joh. 12. 47. The word κρίνω here, ſeemeth to be be taken in the ſenſe of accuſing, as a Plaintiff or Witneſſe accuſeth, and not of condemning, which is the office of a Judge. Dr. Ham. Annot. d.

Thou that judgeſt, Rom. 2. 1. Here, and in the end of the verſ. & verſ. 3. is clearly the Gnoſticks Judaizer, who teaches the obſervation of the Moſaicall Law, and accuſes the orthodox Chriſtians, who are not circumciſed, for breakers of the Law, and yet himſelf runs riotouſly into thoſe ſins, for the abſtaining abſtaining from which, Circumciſion was deſigned and inſtituted by God. This judging and condemning of the Gentile Chriſtians, was by them taken up from the Jews, who having themſelves guilt enough of ſins as well as the Gentiles, would yet diſcriminate themſelves from all others, by this or the like character of Legall obſervances, as by that which ſhould juſtifie them, or free them from judgement, under which the Gentiles which knew not the Moſaicall Law, and were not circumciſed, were to lie, and be accurſed. Thus is the word uſed, chap. 14. 4. Of the Jewiſh Chriſtian, that abſtained from ſome ſorts of meats, verſ. 2. And though he doth that, either out of weakneſſe, as that ſignifies diſeaſe, erroneous ſeduction, or at leaſt out of infirmity and ignorance, as thinking himſelf bound to it by the Moſaicall Law (which he believes ſtill to obleige) and ſo ought not to be deſpiſed or ſet at nought by him that underſtands Chriſtian liberty, yet doth very ill in judging all others that do not abſtain as he doth. For this is the very ſame error that is here reprehended in the Iews and Gnoſticks, of judging all others as men out of Gods favour becauſe they do not what they do, or pretend to doe, i. e. obſerve not the Rituall parts of Moſes Law. This is particularly markt in the Iews, Matt. 7. 1. and beaten down by Chriſt as an irrationall ſin. Dr. Hamm. Annot. a.

Judged] 1 Cor. 5. 3. or Determined, ma. Judgeth, 1 Cor. 2. 15. or Diſcerneth, mar.

Judgement] 2 Cor. 19. 6. Hebr. in the matter of jndgement, marg. Iſa. 56. 1. or Equity, marg. Iſa. 59. 8. or Right, marg. 1 Cor. 11. 34. or Condemnation. Comp. the text with the marg. Phil. 1. 9. or Senſe, marg.

And he ſhall ſhew judgement to the Gentiles, Mat. 12. 18. The word κρίσις in this place ſeems to ſignifie the whole Goſpel, the true Religion, the true way of worſhipping and obeying God, the whole will of God under the Goſpel, and either is to be rendred truth out of the Hebr. משפט, Iſa. 42. 1. (whence thoſe verſes are taken) which Prov. 8. 20. is rendred ἀλήθεια, truth, (and ſignifies ſo when it's rendred κρίσις, judgement, Jer. 5. 4. Pſal. 37. 6.) and κρίμα. Iſa. 32. 62. and oftentimes δικαιοσύνη, righteouſneſſe, which is all one with ἀλήθεια truth; or elſe being rendred judgement, it is to be taken in the ſame ſenſe as if it were rendred truth, as indeed κρίσις judgement, is the title of the prime Chriſtian virtue, righteouſneſſe, or equity in judging, Mat. 23. 23. And either way it here ſignifies the Goſpel, and ſo verſ. 20. alſo. Idem Annot. c.

When thou art judged, Rom. 3. 4. contendeſt. κρίνομαι ſignifies to have a Suit in Law, any civill controverſie or contention, 1 Cor. 6. 1. Accordingly the word שפט, though it ſignifie to judge, yet it ſignifieth often to contend, to plead or manage a cauſe for one againſt another, as Ezek. 50. 4. Wilt thou judge them? i. e. Wilt thou plead for them? Idem Annot. b.

Judgement-ſeat] Mat. 27. 19. or Tribunall. The Originall βῆμα ſignifieth a place of ſpeaking in a Sermon, or in Judgement, to which one muſt aſcend by certain ſteps, from βαίνω to aſcend. Leigh Crit. Sac. Men here have theirs, Chriſt one day will have his Judgement-ſeat, Rom. 14. 10. 2 Cor. 5. 10.

Juice] Cant. 8. 2. See Dict. on the Cant.

Jumping] Leaping, ſkipping, hopping, Nah. 3. 2.

Juſt] Prov. 11. 1. A juſt weight, Heb. a perfect ſtone, marg. Deut. 16. 20. Altogether juſt, Heb. juſtice, juſtice, marg.

Being a juſt man, Mat. 1. 19. The word δίκαιος, anſwerable to the Hebr. צדיק, ſignifies ordinarily works of mercy, charity. So Deut. 24. 13. צדקה, both according to the Context, and the Septuagints rendring here, is ἐλεημοσύνη, mercy. So when the Rabbins ſay there are two Thrones, one of Judgement, the other of Mercy, the latter is ſo ſtyled by the Author to the Hebrews, chap. 4. 16. So Pſal. 112. 9. His righteouſneſſe, that is, his bounty to the poor. So Iſa. 58. 7, 8. & Mat. 6. 1. where we now read ἐλεημοσύνη, it's apparent (by the Vulgar reading juſtitiam) that δικαιοσύνη was an an ancient reading, and that for alms in that place. Proportionably to theſe acceptions of the word, the righteouſneſſe of Joſeph here ſhall ſignifie not Legall juſtice, but peculiarly goodneſſe and clemency, whereof here he made an eminent expreſſion. Dr. Ham. Annot. g.

Juſtified] Rom. 6. 7. Freed. Comp. the text with the marg.

Juſtifier] Rom. 3, 26. One juſtifying.

Juſtle] To daſh, bruiſe, or ſquaſh, Nah. 2. 4.

Kelitah, or Kelita] Succour, a gathering together, or a bending of the voyce. A Levite, the ſame with Kelaiah, Ezr. 10. 23. One that cauſed the people to underſtand the Law, Neh. 8. 7. and ſealed the Covenant, Neh. 10. 10.

Kenezites] Gen. 15. 19. Theſe are thought to be the off-ſpring of Kenaz, a Duke of Eſau's race, Gen. 36. 15. 42. and were uſually ſtyled Idumeans. And though thoſe that dwelled in Mount Seir, might not be medled with (God having made an expreſſe prohibition, even to a foot of ground, Deut. 2. 4, 5.) yet this ſeemeth not to be generall, in regard of Perſons, nor of Times, for the Edomites that deſcended from Eſau, and bare his name (for one of his names was Edom) were all of them ſubdued by David, and brought under ſervitude, 2 Sam. 8. 14. Annot.

Kerchiefs] Ezek. 13. 18. Head-tires, vails bound to the heads, and to cover the faces. Annot.

Kernels] Numb. 6. 4. From the kernels even to the huſk; that is, either kernels or huſk of the grape; which (though they have not ſuch force as the liquor to affect the minde, yet) God here forbiddeth, to teach an exact care to avoyd evill, and danger, occaſion, provocation, yea or appearance of evill, as 1 Theſſ. 5. 22. as we are alſo to hate not onely pollution of the fleſh, but even the garment ſpotted by the fleſh, Jude v. 23. not Idols onely, but alſo their coverings and ornaments, Iſa. 30. 22. Aynſw.

Keys] I will give unto thee the keys of the Kingdome of heaven, Matt. 16. 19. What is here meant by the keys, is be diſcernible by Iſa. 22. 20. By which is noted the beſtowing on Eliakim the power of adminiſtring and ruling the whole family or houſe of the King, ſo as to entertain and admit into it, and in like manner to exclude out of it, whom he would. And accordingly this being by Chriſt accommodated to the Church, notes the power of governing in it. This primarily and independently belongs to Chriſt, Rev. 3. 7. as to whom was given by the Father all power in heaven and earth, particularly that of looſing or remitting ſins on earth, Mat. 9. 6. And by Chriſt here communicated to his Apoſtles and their Succeſſors the Biſhops in the Church. And ſo this agrees perfectly with the promiſe of Chriſt, Matth. 19. 28. And this power being here promiſed by Chriſt to be conferred on Peter a ſingle perſon, ſo that whatſoever he bound or looſed, was bound or looſed by Chriſts affirmation, is by force of the words, chap. 18. 18. (before the keys were given) and by the form of conferring it actually, Joh. 20. 23. actually and equally inſtated on every of the Apoſtles, and accordingly the fiery tongues deſcended, and ſat upon every of them. Dr. Ham. Ann. h.

Kindly] Gen. 24. 49. Deal kindly. The word ſignifieth a true and faithfull diſpoſition, conſtantly to perform what is ſpoken or expected. Aynſw. Gen. 34. 3. Spake kindely, Heb. to her heart, marg. 2 Ki. 25. 28. Spake kindly to him, Hebr. good things with him, marg.

Kindred] Joſh. 6. 23. Heb. families, marg. 1 Chr. 12. 29. Hebr. Brethren, marg.

Kindes] Gen. 8. 19. Heb. families, marg.

King] Pſal. 2. 6. Hebr. anointed, marg. Kings Court, Amos 7. 13. Hebr. houſe of the Kingdome, mar. 2 King. 9. 13. Is King, Heb. reigneth.

Kingdome] That ye may be counted worthy of the Kingdome of God, 2 Theſſ. 1. 5. That the Kingdome of God ſignifies the ſtate of the Goſpel, or Chriſtian profeſſion, appears oft in the Goſpels, eſpecially in the parables of Chriſt, when the Kingdome of God is likened to a net, to a pearl, &c. But there are two other notions of it.

1. That of reigning with Chriſt in endleſſe bliſſe in another world. And,

2. The exerciſe of Chriſts Regal power, which was then ſo oft foretold to be approaching, in deſtroying his enemies, and preſerving his faithfull Subjects, according to that double duty of a King, Rom. 13. Of avenging of offenders, and rewarding them that do good. And that this is the notion of it in this place, appears very probable by that which follows, where it is ſaid, that it is juſt with God to repay tribulation to their perſecuters, and to the perſecuted, ἄνεσιν, releaſe, refreſhment from the perſecutions under which they had been. This was it that the Apoſtles had foretold them in their preachings, and the benefits and fruits whereof they had been promiſed upon their perſeverance in the Faith, through all their perſecutions, not excluding their eternall reward (but ſuppoſing that, for the future, and in caſe they did not outlive the preſent diſtreſſes, 1 Theſſ. 4.13.) but withall giving them into the bargain this aſſurance of an eminent deliverance here, halcyonian dayes of reſt to the Church upon the deſtruction of their perſecuters, according as it fell out in Veſpaſian's dayes, after the deſtruction of the Jews. And this the Apoſtles profeſſed to expect, and ſo did the orthodox Chriſtians generally; and as St. Stephen was ſtoned for that expectation, Act. 6. 14. ſo were the Apoſtles and their followers perſecuted alſo, and ſo it was literally ὑπὲρ τῆς παῤῥησίας, for this avowed expectation of this Kingdome, thus underſtood, they ſuffered perſecution. D. Ham. Ann. a.

The Kingdome of heaven is at hand, Mat. 3, 2. The Kingdome of heaven ſignifies in the New Teſtament, the Kingdome of the Meſſias, or that ſtate or condition, which is a moſt lively image of that which we believe to be in heaven, and therefore called by that name. For as Gods Regall power conſiſts in aſſiſting, defending, and rewarding all his faithfull Subjects, and in warning, puniſhing, and deſtroying his obdurate enemies; ſo this Kingdome of the Meſſias, is an exact image or reſemblance of it. And being not of this world, a ſecular Kingdome, but conſiſting eſpecially in ſubduing the world to his dominion. That is done firſt by the deſcent of the Spirit, and preaching the Goſpel, by his Word powerfully working in ſome, and bringing them unto the Faith, and then by his Iron Rod executing vengeance on others, viz. the contumacious and obdurate, and particularly thoſe of the Nation of the Iews, after the Crucifixion of Chriſt. And accordingly this Kingdome of God will generally ſignifie theſe two together, not onely the firſt alone, but in conjunction with it, that other more tragicall part of it alſo; and thus is it uſed here. Idem Ann. c.

Kingly throne, Dan. 5.20. throne of the Kingdom.

Kin] Lev. 18. 6. Neer of kin to him, Hebr. remainder of his fleſh, marg. The Heb. Sheer, ſignifieth fleſh, Prov. 5. 11. & 11. 17. And as Baſar, fleſh, is ſometime uſed for kindred, Gen. 29. 14. So is Sheer, in this caſe of Marriage and copulation; and ſo by the Chald. & Greek it is tranſlated, neer, and neer of kin. Aynſw.

2 Sam. 19. 42. The King is neer of kin to us; that is, of our Tribe, and dwelleth among us. Annot.

The Levite divided his dead Concubine into twelve pieces, Judg. 19. 19. Baal's Prieſts cut themſelves till the blood guſhed out upon them, 1 King. 18. 28. Ezekiel ſmit about a third part of his hair, to ſhew that a third part of the people ſhould fall by the ſword, Eze. 5. 2. Hall. Hereunto cruell oppreſſours are compared, Prov. 30. 14. Make thee ſharp knives, Joſh. 5. 2. The Hebr. word ſignifieth knives of ſtones or flints, or elſe ſharp raſors as the Chald. Paraphraſe hath it. Annot. The knives mentioned, Ezr. 1. 9. were to kill and ſlay and cut in pieces ſuch beaſts as were ſacrificed. Annot.

When they knew God, &c. Rom. 1. 21. The phraſe γνόντες τὸν Θεὸν, knowing God, here ſeems to reſerre the whole preſent diſcourſe to the Gnoſticks, who were ſo called from their aſſuming to themſelves ſo much of the knowledge of God, and the myſteries of religion. And theſe being a ſort of Hereticks in that firſt age under the Apoſtles, who affirmed Simon to be God the Father, that appeared in Mount Sinai; as alſo God the Son, that appeared in the fleſh; and the holy Ghoſt, who was promiſed to come, were the darnell ſown by the Envious perſon, whereſoever the Goſpel was planted; and this, as in other places, ſo in Rome, where Simon Magus the Founder of them (contended after this time with St. Peter, but) before the writing of this, as in Claudius's dayes, had a ſtatue erected to him, as to the ſupreme God. Theſe Gnoſticks pretended to be great Zelots for the Law of Moſes, particularly for Circumciſion, thereby to avoyd the perſecutions which the Jews raiſed againſt the Chriſtians, Gal. 6. 12. And on the other ſide, thought it lawfull to offer ſacrifice to Idols, 1 Cor. 8. (to comply with the Heathens) becauſe, as they ſaid, an Idol was nothing, and yet further worſhipped the images and pictures of Simon and Helena. Dr. Hamm. Annot. e.

Knowledge] Hab. 2. 14. With the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, or by knowing the glory of the Lord, marg. Rom. 1. 28. To retain God in their knowledge, or to acknowledge, marg. Job 15. 2. Vain knowledge, Heb. knowledge of wind, mar.

And in all knowledge, 1 Cor. 1. 5. The word γνῶσις here ſignifies the farther explication of the Chriſtian doctrine. Dr. Ha. Ann. c.

Which paſſeth knowledge, Eph. 3. 19. The knowledge muſt probably ſignifie thoſe things which the Gnoſticks pretend to know, and boaſt ſo much in that knowledge; and ſo to know the love of Chriſt which paſſeth knowledge, is to ſtudy and contemplate that one ſubject, Chriſts infinite love to us, which is infinitely more worth our ſtudying, then what they boaſt of, then the higheſt knowledge or skill of Myſticall interpretations which the Gnoſticks pretended to. Idem Annot. b.

Which is renewed in knowledge, Col. 3. 10. Εἰς ἐπίγνωσιν. If the Prepoſition εἰς be taken by an Hebraiſme for ἐν in, or by, then it denotes the means of working our renovation, the knowledge of the Goſpel, in which our pattern is ſet, according to which we are to frame our lives for the future; and this is generally expreſſed by τὴν γνῶσιν ἀληθείας, the acknowledgement of the truth, 1 Tim. 2. 4. Tit. 1. 1. Heb. 10. 26. But it is poſſible alſo that εἰς being taken in the proper notion of it, ἐπίγνωσις may be ſet in oppoſition, or by way of ſuperaddition to γνῶσις, knowledge, which the Gnoſticks boaſted of, and from whence they had their name, and with it joyned all vicious corrupt practiſes; whereupon hee requires his Coloſſians to forſake thoſe ſins, and to be renewed to that which the Gnoſticks have not attained to, to acknowledgement or diſcerning, i. e. the experimentall practicall knowledge of Gods goodneſſe to us in regenerating (which is more then the firſt creating) us after his own image, to live according to the divine pattern which he hath ſet us. Idem Annot. a.

According to knowledge, 1 Pet. 3. 7. This denoteth that knowledge of duty, by which a Chriſtians life and actions muſt be directed, ſaith H. Grotius. The word alſo hath a Critical notion in theſe Books, for a ſpecial χάρισμα, or gift of the Spirit, 1 Cor. 12. 8. viz. that ſort of Chriſtian knowledge which conſiſts in explaining of Parables, or myſterious expreſſions in Scripture. Idem Annot. e.

And to virtue knowledge, 2 Pet. 1. 5. I conceive that in this Epiſtle, which is ſo wholly deſigned as an Antidote againſt the Gnoſticks, and particularly againſt their abominable filthy practiſes, the word γνῶσις, knowledge, is uſed not for that χάρισμα, or gift of myſterious knowledge, but for the true ſaving Chriſtian knowledge, in oppoſition to that pretended to by the Gnoſticks, and therefore it is here encompaſſed with virtue on one ſide, meaning by it courage and conſtancy in the Faith, ſo oppoſite to their doctrine of Complyances and Continence on the other ſide; and the adding of the one to another, Courage to their Faith, and Continence to their Knowledge, is by him adviſed to on purpoſe to teſtifie and demonſtrate their having forſaken thoſe abominable luſts, ſo uſed in the Heathen world, and brought into Chriſtianity by the Gnoſticks. Idem Annot. c.

Lace] Of the Blew lace there was a two-fold uſe: The one to binde the Breaſt-plate to the Ephod, Exod. 28. 28. The other for the plate of gold which was to be on the Miter, Ib. 37.

Lack] Want, as of Prey, Job 4.11. Meat, Job 38.41. Knowledge, Hoſ.4.6. Service, Phil. 2. 30.

Had no lack. Exod. 16. 18. There was an equality both for rich and poor: And hereupon the Apoſtle gathereth a reaſon to perſwade unto liberality, and communication of Gods bleſſings one with another, 2 Cor. 8. 14, 15. It figured alſo the equall portion which all ſorts of beleevers have in Chriſt, our heavenly Manna, Gal. 3. 28, 29. 2 Pet. 1.1. Aynſw.

Laden] A people laden with iniquity, Iſa.1. 4. Heb. a people of heavyneſſe of iniquity. Not laden with ſin, as groaning under the burden of it, as Pſal. 38. 4. Mat. 11. 28. but committing and ſtanding guilty of not ſmall ſo much as heavy and hainous ſins; great and grievous ſinners, ſuch as the Sodomites, Gen. 13. 13. & 18. 20. and as Eli's Sons are ſaid to have been, 1 Sam. 2. 17. Annot.

Hab. 2. 6. Ladeth himſelf with thick clay. Earthly riches (the deſire of which is the ſouls enſnaring, or a burden which overcommeth and ſmothereth him alive, 1 Tim. 6. 9, 10.) burden him, and make him a burden to himſelf. Annot.

Lading] Act. 27. 10. φόρτος, the burden of a ſhip, or that wherewith it is laden.

Lady] Unto the elect Lady, 2 Joh. 1. Κυρία may fitly be ſet to ſignifie no more then τῇ δεῖνα, an appellation fit to be uſed, when the name is either unknown or concealed; for in that caſe, and not onely as a title of honour and dignity, it's ordinary to ſay Κύρις, (which probably is grown to be in Engliſh Cyr or Syr) So Joh. 20. 15. the Woman taking Chriſt for the Gardiner, and addreſſing her ſpeech to him, as one one whoſe name was not known to her, begins with Κύριε, Syr. But beſides this, it is obſervable, that both Κυρία among the Athenians, and Curia among the Romanes, ſignifies the very ſame that ἐκκλησία, and Eccleſia doth, i. e. the Aſſembly, both as that ſignifies the perſons congregated either for Civill or Sacred uſes, and the place where they thus met. And the words will be beſt rendred, the elect Church, or Congregation; ſome which is not thought fit here to be mentioned by name, or particularly. Dr. Hamm. Annot. a.

Lake] On the lake, Luk.8.23. That which is here truly called λίμνη (for ſo it was) the lake (and not the ſea) of Genaſereth, ch.5.1 is called θάλασσα, the ſea, Mat. 8. 24. and the ſea of Galilee, Mat. 4. 18. & Joh.6.1. & 21.1. the ſea of Tiberias; and all this, not becauſe it was a ſea, but becauſe of the ambiguity of the Hebr. ים, which as it ſignifies the ſea, ſo alſo any lake or confluence of waters, and is uſed for that great Veſſel in the Temple, 1 King. 7. 23. which being of ſuch a largeneſſe (30 cubits round, and 5 cubits high, and containing 2000 baths) was a kinde of Lake, and is there ſo called, a Molten-lake, the Heb. ים, being there uſed, and by us rendred ſea, but would be more properly lake, and ſo likewiſe the word θάλασσα in the other Goſpels. Dr. Hamm. Annot. c.

Lanch] To depart from the Haven, and take Sea, to diſ-anker, and put to ſea, Luk. 8. 22. Act. 21. 1.

Land] To go to land, or remove out of the ſhip to land, Act. 8. 22. & 21. 3. & 28. 12.

Land] And thou Bethlehem in the land of Judah, Mat. 2. 6. The word γῆ is the Nominative caſe, and here ſignifies that portion, i. e. a part of it, which belonged to the Regall Tribe, as chap. 4. 15. γῆ Ζαβυλὼν, καὶ γῆ Νεφθαλείμ, is the portion of Zabulon and Nepthalim; and though it were a Town or City, yet it is capable enough of that appellation, as the City of the Sodomites, and of thoſe of Gomorrah, is called by the ſame word, γῆ Σοδόμων, &c. ch. 10. 15. and is vulgarly rendred the land, cleerly the City of Sodome. Dr. Ham. Annot. e.

Lands] Pſal. 100. 1. All the lands, Hebr. all the earth, marg.

Land-mark] Prov. 22.28. or Bound, m.

Lanes] Narrow ſtreets, with buildings on each ſide, which are ſeldome without poor, &c. Luk. 14.21.

Laſharon] The name of a place, Joſh. 12.18. or Saron, marg.

Laſt] The laſt ſhall be firſt, Matth. 20. 16. Some that came in later, deſerved as well as they that were firſt call'd in the morning, by their labouring more abundantly for the time, then they had done which were longer there; labouring in that two hours as much as the others had done all the day. So that the account of the buſineſſe is laid upon the ſuperabundant diligence and earneſtneſſe of thoſe that came late in, which God (though not tyed by contract, as with the other, but onely by promiſe of giving them what ſhall be meet, v. 4.7.) i.e. dealing equitably with them) thinks fit to reward, through his merciful interpretation and acceptance of it, as richly as the whole dayes labour of the others. Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

It ſhall come to paſſe in the laſt dayes, Act. 2.17. The laſt dayes do in that place of Joel literally ſignifie the laſt dayes of the Jews, immediately preceding their deſtruction, called there, the great and terrible day of the Lord. And accordingly the laſt dayes, have among the Jews proverbially ſignified the dayes of the Meſſias, which they call אחרים ימים, the laſt dayes. Idem Annot. b. So in 2 Pet. 3.3. by the laſt time, or dayes, the time immediately preceding the deſtruction of the Jews is meant, before which (as was foretold, Matth. 24. 10, 11, 12. 2 Theſſ. 1. 2, 3, 5. 1 Tim. 4.1. 2 Tim. 3. 1.) befell the Apoſtaſie of the many Chriſtians to the foul Gnoſtick hereſie. Idem An. a.

Latchet] Iſa. 5.27. Nor the latchet of their ſhooes be broken. They ſhould have nothing befall them, not ſo much as the breaking of a Shooe-latchet, that might cauſe them to ſlacken their pace, or to ſtay them on the way for the mending of it. Annot.

In Mar. 1.7. The latchet of whoſe ſhooes, &c. His meaning was to expreſſe the condition of the meaneſt Servant, who ſtoops to pull off his Maſters ſhooes; as if he had ſaid, I am unworthy of the meaneſt Servants office in his family. Annot.

Lately] Not long before, of late, Act. 18. 2.

Labers] 2 Chr. 4. 14. or Cauldrons, m.

Law] Neh. 12. 44. that is, appointed by the Law, marg. Pſal. 19.7. or Doctrine, m. Act. 19.38. The Law is open, or the Court-dayes are kept, marg.

Think not that I am come to deſtroy the Law, Mat. 5. 17. The Law 1. ſignifies in one generall notion, the whole way of œconomy among the Jews under the Old Teſtament (taken preciſely by it ſelf, without oppoſition to the Reformation wrought after by Chriſt) That way that men were then put into in order to their eternall weal. Thus here, I came not to deſtroy the Law, to pull aſunder that former fabrick under the Old Teſtament, but πληρῶσαι, to perfect it, to perform and improve it in ſome things, wherein it may be better. So ver. 18, 19.

2. The old form of the Jewiſh Religion (as it was before it was reformed by Chriſt) and that in oppoſition to the new form, as it now ſtands reform'd and heightned, altered and improved by Chriſt. Thus Rom. 2. 17. & 3. 20, 21, 27, 31. & 4. 13. & 6. 14, 15. & 7. 3. & 8. 3. Gal. 2. 16. & 3. 2, 5, 10, 11, 12, 13. and in many other places. Dr. H. Annot. g.

Lawfull aſſembly] Act. 19. 39. or Ordinary, marg. Ezek. 33.14. Lawfull and right, Heb. judgement and juſtice, marg. 2 Cor. 14.4. or Poſſible, marg.

Lawfully] According to law, juſtice and equity, 1 Tim. 1. 8. 2 Tim. 2. 5.

Lead] Metall, whereof the uſe is both profitable and common, as being part of the prey taken by the Iſraelites from the Midianites, Numb. 31. 22. and wherewith the Merchants traded in the Fairs of Tyrus, Ezek. ch. 27. 12. being one of the baſeſt kinds of Metal, to which therefore the degenerate generate Jews are compared, Ezek. 22. 18, 20. Easie to be melted, and in melting consumed in the fire, whereunto such as being chastised, amend not, are compared, Jer. 6. 29. Most heavy, as which being cast into the water, sinketh to the bottome, Ex. 15. 10. and keepeth down that whereon it is laid (whereby some understand the firmnesse and immutability of Gods decree, touching the wicked Jews; or as others, of severely punishing the Babylonians, who had cruelly vexed the Church) Zech. 5. 7, 8. Ravanel. Job 9. 24. And lead. Lead here must be the matter of the Writing, not the instrument. Some conceive that they used for the preservation of Monuments, to cut the letters in stone, and melt lead to put into each letter, to make them the more visible and durable. Others, that they did engrave the letters in plates of lead, as now they doe in brasse, and fasten them in stones, as now they do engrave stones. The Hebr. word is taken from a word that signifies dust, because lead is taken out of the dust, and hath much dust in it. Annot.

Lead] Deut. 20. 9. To lead the people, Heb. to be in the head of the people, marg. Isa. 3. 12. They which lead thee, or they wich call thee blessed, marg.

Leather] 2 Kin. 1. 8. and Leathern, Mat. 3. 4. It was an ancient custome to have fair costly Girdles, but by such a Girdle as the Prophet wore, he shewed a contempt of all bravery. And thus was John the Baptist attired, to shew that he was that other Eliah that was to come, Mal. 4. 5. Matth. 17. 11. Annot.

Leave] Gen. 33. 15. Heb. set, or place, ma. Rev. 11. 2. Leave out, Gr. cast out, marg.

Leaven] A little leaven leaveneth the whole lump, 1 Cor. 5. 6. A proverbial speech, insinuating that one scandalous offender may infect the whole Church, as one scabbed sheep a whole flock.

Galat. 5. 9. A little leaven. Hereby (as St. Jerome observeth) he understandeth either an errour but in one point, or two, which corrupteth the whole Doctrine of Christianity; as a small qnantity of Ratsbane poysoneth the whole milk; or, a few false Teachers or erroneous believers are able to infect a whole Church or Congregation. Annot

Led] Isa. 9. 16. They that are led of them, or they are called blessed of them, marg. Nah. 2. 7. Led away, or discovered, mar. Led him, Deut. 32. 10. or compassed him, mar.

Left handed] Judg. 3. 15. Hebr. shut of his right hand, i. e. not having the like use of it, as others that are right-handed, even as they have not the like use of their left; and this cometh to passe either from some weakenesse and infirmity of nature, or (and that most ordinarily) from an ill custome in childhood, which in time becometh a second nature, and sometimes affected and attained unto by practise, as by those martially disposed, that they may with more advantage handle their weapons, as those Benjamites, ch. 20. 16. Annot.

Leprous] Exod. 4. 6. Leprous as ſnow, that is, white as ſnow, as the Chald. tranſlateth. The Leproſie was a ſore outragious diſeaſe, and by man incurable, and God laid it ſometime ſuddenly upon perſons for their great ſins, as upon the Siſter of Moſes, Num. 12. 10. Gehezi, 2 King. 5. 27. Liberall] Prov. 11. 25. The liberall ſoul, Heb. the ſoul of bleſſing. Annot. Iſa. 32. 5. Called liberall, Iſa. 32. 5. The word importeth freeneſſe, liberality, ingenuity, as appears by Exod. 25. 1. & 35. 5. Pſa. 68. 9. & 110. 3. and is uſed commonly in Scripture for a Prince, or a Lord, Mal. 1. 8. And ſo I ſuppoſe the intent of the Prophet here is, that no Nabal ſhall be a Nadib; that is, no niggard or baſe-minded fellow, a noble man, or a Prince. God is light, 1 Joh. 1. 5. The word φῶς, light, is a figurative expreſſion, to ſignifie the moſt perfect immaculate purity; and σκοτία, darkneſſe, is directly contrary, mixture of all impurity; the affirming of which concerning God, is no ſuch ſtrange thing, as that the Apoſtle ſhould introduce it with ſo much ceremony as here we ſee made of, ve. 1, 3, 5. That which all this ſolemnity was thought fit to introduce, was certainly ſomewhat either doubted of, and queſtioned by the doctrines, or oppoſed and reſiſted by the lives of thoſe to whom he writes. And that which ſeems moſt probable to be the full importance of it, is in the generall, to denote the great perfection of purity, which is now commanded in the Chriſtian Law; and more particularly, the great obligation that lies upon Chriſtians, not to make that profeſſion a pretence or excuſe, for the favouring of themſelves in any degree of liberty or impurity. Contrary hereunto were they who called themſelves Τέλειοι, & Γνωστικοὶ, perfect, and knowing men, beyond all others, who yet living in a ſink of all uncleanneſſe, ſaid, they had not ſinned, v. 10. Dr. Hamm. Annot. a.

In Joh. 1. 9. Chriſt is called the true light, and that both in reſpect of his doctrine, which was the direction of every mans life, and in reſpect of the more imperfect ſhadows, that had been before under the Law. Idem on 1 Joh. 2. Ann. a.

Light] Gen. 24. 64. She lighted off, Heb. fell down; the Gr. hath leaped down, which was to meet Iſaac with the more reverence and ſubmiſſion. Idem.

Lighten] Pſal. 34. 5. Were lightened, or flowed, ran as a river, Iſa. 2. 2. & 60. 5. Aynſw. Annot. Pſal. 77. 18. Lightened the world, or illuminated. Aynſw. Act. 27. 18. Lightened the ſhip, by caſting the goods over-board. Annot.

Lighting] Iſa. 30. 30. And ſhall ſhew the lighting down of his arm. The word rendred lighting down, is ſuppoſed to ſignifie ſometime deſcenſion, but often reſt. The meaning may be, God will in a conſpicuous manner cauſe his revenging power (that is, his arm here, as ch. 48. 14. & 52. 10.) to light on and to reſt upon them. Annot. Matth. 3. 16. Lighting on him, coming on him.

Lightly] Gen. 26. 10. Might lightly have lain, or had almoſt lain. Aynſw. Gen. 32. 15. Lightly eſteemed, or vilely and fooliſhly deſpiſed. The Chald. expounds it, he provoked to anger. Idem. Iſa. 9. 1. When he lightly afflicted the land; or, when the land was lightly afflicted, or viſited, which may be underſtood of a former invaſion, 2 King. 15. 19. 1 Chr. 5. 26. ſaid here to be but a light affliction to ſpeak of, becauſe the King of Iſrael having with a great ſumme of Money compounded with Pul, King of Aſſyria, he ſtayed not long in the Land, 2 Kin. 15. 20. Annot. Jer. 4. 24. The hills moved lightly, or ſwiftly; yea, exceeding ſwiftly, for the verb is in a redoubled, and withall, a reciprocall form; as if he had ſaid, The hills all apace beſtirred themſelves; light for ſwift, as Iſa 5. 26. Annot. Mar. 9. 39. Can lightly ſpeak evill of me. Readily, quickly. It is no eaſie matter, ſcarce can be. Leigh Cr. Sac. on τάχα. He ſhall finde much to do, firſt to quiet his own conſcience. Annot.

Lightneſſe] Jerem. 3. 9. or Fame, marg. Jer. 23. 32. or looſeneſſe, or lewdneſſe. Annot. 2 Cor. 1. 17. Did I uſe lightneſſe? Did I change my minde?

Like] 2 Sam. 22. 34. He maketh like, Heb. equalleth, marg. Phil. 2. 20. Like minded, or ſo dear unto me, marg. 1 Chro. 4. 27. Like to, Heb. unto, marg. Deut. 23. 16. Where it liked him beſt, Heb. is good for him, marg.

Liveneſſe] Phil. 2. 7. or Habit, marg.

Liking] Job 39. 4. Their young ones are in good liking, are ſlick, and fat, or are recovered. So this word is tranſlated, Iſa. 58. 16. They ſoon recover from the weakneſſes which came upon them by their painfull entrance into the world. Annot.

Lilly-wozks] 1 King. 7. 19. The Lilly was a glorious flower (Mat. 6. 29.) and odoriferous (Cant. 5. 13.) fitly therefore are theſe added to beautifie the Chapiters, for this end they were ſet alſo upon the brim of the great Sea, 2 Chr. 4. 5. Annot.

Lioneſſe] Ezek. 19. 2. The female Lion. Whereby is meant, the Mother of the Kings, or the Royall ſtock, or the Nation of the Jews. Annot.

Lion-like men] 2 Sam. 23. 20. Which did reſemble Lions both in their courage and ſtrength. Annot.

Lips] Pſal. 17. 1. Not out of fained lips, Heb. without lips of deceit, marg.

Liquor] Exod. 22. 29. Heb. tear; that is, the firſt fruits of wine and oyl, which when they are preſſed, drop as tears: So the Gr. tranſlateth it, the firſt-fruits of thy Wine preſſe.

Liſt] They liſted, Mat. 17. 12. Thought good, pleaſed them, they would.

Liſten] Iſa. 49. 1. Heb. hear, as cha. 1. 2. or hearken, as ch. 51. 1. Annot.

Litters] Iſa. 66. 20. or Coaches, marg. Our Interpreters wel render them, their covered wagons, that is, cloſe wagons, as ſome tearm them. The word in its firſt notion ſignifieth a Tortoiſe, though the Greeks render it a Crocodile. Now from the ſwelling up (for it hath very neer affinity with a word that ſignifies to ſwell, Numb. 5. 21, 22, 27.) or riſing ſhield-faſhion (whence a ſhield alſo in Latine is ſo tearmed) of the Tortoiſes ſhell, both in Latine and other languages, were arched and vaulted roofs, or works of any ſort ſo called; and from that faſhion of covering, were thoſe Wains or Wagons, ſo tearmed, being appointed to carry the materials of the Tabernacle; and it may wel here be rendred Coaches or Litters, ſuch being uſually much of that making. Annot.

Little] 1 Tim. 4. 8. or for a little time, marg. A little ſpace, Ezr. 9. 8. Heb. moment, marg.

Live] Exod. 21. 35. Living. A live coal, Iſa. 6. 6. The word properly ſignifies, a quick coal, or a coal of fire, as it is more fully expreſſed, Cant. 8. 6. that is, fiery, or fiered. Hence the ſparks called the ſons or children of ſuch a coal, Job 5. 7. The quick coal here, is a note of Purification, and expiation of ſin, becauſe the nature of fire is to ſever and conſume the droſſe. Annot.

Live] 1 Cor. 9. 13. or Feed, marg. So long as I live, Job 27. 16. Heb. from my days, m. As long as thou liveſt, Deut. 12. 19. Heb. all thy dayes, marg.

Now we live, 1 Theſſ. 3. 8. To live, beſide the literall notation of it, ſignifies alſo to be cheerfull or merry, to rejoyce, Pſal. 22. 26. So Joh. 14. 19. Becauſe I live, ye ſhall live alſo. In the firſt place it is literally taken for Chriſts reſurrection, but in the ſecond for their rejoycing, ſuch as was cauſed by the recovery of a friend from death to life, (and theſe joyned by the figure Antanaclaſis) And this is ordinary in all languages, Hebrew, Greek, and Latine. And ſo here it is evidently uſed, We live if ye ſtand faſt in the Lord, i. e. it is a matter of infinite joy to us; and accordingly it follows as an expreſſion of Exultancy, for what thankſgiving can we returne for all the joy? &c. Dr. Hammond Annot. b.

Lively] Exod. 1. 19. Quick, having no uſe or need of Mid-wives aſſiſtance; which might be true of many of them, for thoſe that are laborious (when they are with childe) have quicker labour when their burden cometh to the birth, then others have. Ann.

Liver] It hath its ſituation on the one ſide of the ſtomach, which it toucheth in a wonderfull manner, with five branches, like as it were five fingers, wherewith it ſtretcheth alſo a little towards the left ſide. Its ſubſtance is compacted fleſh, of a red colour, not much unlike to congealed blood, full of veins and arteries, and is of a warm and moiſt complexion, like as is alſo the blood. It is of it ſelf without ſenſe or feeling, like to half a circle, and in man (in regard of the whole body) is much bigger then in beaſts. It is the beginning and the ſeat of all luſts, a fountain of all the veins, the kitchin of all the blood, which it afterwards in moſt wonderful manner ſpreadeth abroad, and imparteth throughout the whole body, whereby all the members are nourliſhed, ſuſtained, and ſtrengthened. General prac. of Phyſick, p. 384, 385.

He looked in the liver, Ezek. 21. 21. This was a kinde of Divination, by the ſhape, colour, poſture, &c. of entrails of ſacrificed Beaſts, and eſpecially of the Liver. Annot.

My

My liver is poured upon the earth, Lam. 2. 11. My gall or choler is cast up; as with extremity of grief, mixt with indignation, is oft done: So Job 16. 13. My gall is poured upon the ground. Annot.

Living water] Joh. 4. 10. The Hebrews expresse a fountain of water, springing or bubling up continually, by the phrase מים חיים, Gen. 29. 19. living waters; and the Gr. render that either literally by living water, or springing or leaping water, that springing of waters out of the earth, being a kinde of imitation or resemblance of life. This fountain or springing water being of all other the purest, is here set, to denote that great mercy and grace of God in the hands or dispossall of Christ, ch. 3. 35. that gift of God, vers. 10. which he had to give her back again by way of reward for any kindnesse of hers to him. And thus Christ himselfe was promised in the Old Testament to bee given in the notion of a fountain, Isa. 12. 3. Psal. 68. 26. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

Load] Who daily loadeth us, Psal. 68. 19. to wit, with his blessings or gifts, or with afflictions, wherewith the Saints are burthened, and yet blesse him for his comforts in them, 2 Cor. 5. 4. & 1. 3, 4, 8. & 6. 4-6. The Chald. understandeth it of such loading as is by adding precepts upon precepts. Aynsw.

Loaf] Exod. 29. 23. or, great round-cake: for this, in Lev. 8. 26. Moses saith one cake. So in 1 Chron. 16. 3. that is called a loaf, which in 2 Sam. 6. 19. is called a cake. Aynsw.

Job 7. 5. Become loathsome, or melted, Psal. 57. 7, 8. By reason of stinking matter which ran out of his sores, which made his body yeeld a noysome savour to himselfe, and others, and consume away. Annot.

Lock] That whereby a key shutteth or openeth a dore, Neh. 3. 3, 6, 13, 14, 15.

Lock] To make fast a dore, Judg. 3. 23. And locked them. The dore (as is probable) having a spring-lock, locked in the shutting. Annot.

Locusts] And his meat was locusts, &c. Matt. 3. 4. Ἀκρίδες not improbably may signifie ἀκρόδρυα, or ἀκρώρεις, i. e. mattes of the Nyssean reed, or reed-berries, all fruits of trees in Phavorinus, i. e. fruits of the wilder trees, or indeed herbs or leaves. Accordingly another. The word which we render locusts, signifies not living creatures, as some have ignorantly conceived, no by no means, but the tops of herbs and plants. And Burchardus, relateth that in the Monasteries of Palestine neer Jordan, the Monks use a food of a sort of hearbs call'd locusts. Dr. Ham. Annot e.

See Upper roomes.

Loftily] Psal. 73. 8. They speak loftily, or from aloft; or, of the most high, that is, of God, as in the next verse; but the Chald. expoundeth it, of the highnesse of their heart. Aynsw.

Love] Mal. 2. 11. Which he loved, or ought to love, marg.

If ye love me, keep my commandements, Joh. 14. 15. The notion of loving God in Scripture, but eſpecially in the New Teſtament, ſeems moſt fitly to be taken from one moſt eminent act and expreſſion of love amongſt all men; viz. that of doing thoſe things which are eſteemed moſt grateſull and acceptable to the beloved; either as tending moſt to his good, or any other way moſt deſirable to him. For this indeed is the one expreſſion of loving one another, all other being effects of love to our ſelves. But becauſe God wants no contributions of ours to the advancing of his good, or (indeed) of his glory; and our onely way of doing grateſull things to him, is our performing what he commands; therefore it is conſequent, that our obedience to the will and commands of God in the higheſt and moſt perfect manner, is ſtyled the loving of him, being indeed the prime, if not onely way of demonſtrating our love to him. So here, If ye love me, keep my commandements. If ye are ſo affected to me, as to deſire to gratifie me, obedience to all my precepts, is the way of doing it. So verſ. 21. 23, 24. & 1 Joh. 2. 5. & 5. 3. From whence it is, that as in ſome places compared together, love is equivalent or parallel with keeping the commandements of God, as Exod. 20. 5. Deut. 5. 9. & Gal. 5. 6. compared with 1 Cor. 7. 19. (and diſobedience to enmity, Rom. 8. 7. & Jam. 4. 4.) So the whole condition available to our acceptation with God, and Salvation, is oft expreſt by this ſtyle of love. And becauſe thoſe duties that are to be performed to God immediately, are more acceptable and grateſull to him; but eſpecially that of confeſſing him, and in deſpight of dangers and death it ſelf, keeping cloſe to him; therefore that is many times expreſt by loving of Chriſt, 1 Cor. 8. 3. & 16. 22. Main ſail] Act. 27. 40. The chief or principall ſail belonging to a ſhip.

Make] 2 Tim. 4. 5. Make full, or fulfill, mar. Iſa. 1. 15. Make many prayers, Hebr. multiply prayer, marg. Heb. 11. 22. Make mention, or remember, mar. Job 11. 19. Make ſuit, Heb. intreat thy face, mar.

Maker] Job 32. 22. My maker. He that created me, or he that formed me. Annot. That trimmed me up, ſet all my parts in order, and compleated me. Annot. on chap. 10. 8. My maker, Job 35. 10. Hebr. my makers, alluding to the Trinity of Perſons, or ſpeaking of God in the plurall number, by way of honour. God may be called our Maker, as our Creator, Gen. 1. 26, 27. or as our Raiſer to honour, as he is ſaid to make Moſes and Aaron, 1 Sam. 12. 6. that is, to advance them, as it is there tranſlated. Annot. Iſa. 1. 31. The maker of it, or his work, m.

Malchiram] The Son of Jeconiah, or of Salathiel, 1 Chr. 3. 17, 18.

Male] 1 Sam. 17. 5. A coat of male, or after the ſimilitude of fiſh-ſkales, one lying upon another. Annot.

Male-children] The Sons, Joſh. 17. 2.

Malefactor] κακοποιὸς, Joh. 18. 30. an evill doer. So the word is rendred in 1 Pet. 2. 14. & 3. 16. & 4. 15. It properly ſignifieth one who hath as it were a certain habit of doing evill, one that harmeth others, as Thieves, and Robbers; but is in eſpeciall applyed unto Witches and Magicians. Leigh Crit. Sac. In Luk. 22. 32, 33, 39. the word κακοῦργος is uſed, which uſually is meant of ſuch a one as doth miſchief in ſecret; and is taken alſo for ungracious, flagitious, naughty and notable Villains, as publick Thieves convicted and condemned to death. Leigh Cr. S. In 2 Tim. 2. 9. it's rendred evill-doer.

Malice] Col. 3. 8. It is nothing elſe but anger inveterate. Byfield. It is an evill affection of the heart, which properly deſireth the hurt of our neighbour, and rejoyceth in his fall. Taylor on Tit. 3. 3.

Malicious] 2 Joh. 10. Naughty, miſchievous, evill, wicked.

Mammon] Luk. 16. 9. or Riches, marg. It ſignifieth either the Idol which the Syrians worſhipped, or the Riches, over which he was ſet. Some render it gain, or lucre; others, riches; others, money. Jerome deriveth it from Taman, to hide. Leigh Cr. Sac. on the word μαμωνᾶ.

Mamon in the Punick tongue, ſignifieth gain, or riches of this world. Suidas interpreteth it, gold, earthly riches, ſupervacaneous, or more then neceſſary. Torſtius deriveth it from the Hebr. מָמוֹן, among other things ſignifying nutrire, ſuſtentare, and ſo Mamon ſignifieth food or ſuſtenance for this life. As alſo it may come of the ſame root, as it ſignifieth credere, becauſe men uſually truſt therein. See Pſal. 37. 3. Annot. on Luk. 16. 9.

Mammon of unrighteouſneſſe, Luk. 16. 9. So called, not that we ſhould give for alms or holy uſes, goods unjuſtly gotten: (for all ſuch muſt be reſtored again to their right owners; nor are ſuch acceptable to God, though alms be a ſacrifice wherewith God is pleaſed, Heb. 13. 16. He hath no need of ſacrifice out of other mens goods, but abominateth it, as him that offereth a dog, or buildeth up Sion with blood) but riches are ſo called, becauſe commonly either in their getting, uſing, or keeping, they adminiſter matter of ſin, 1 Tim. 6. 9. Annot.

Man] Gen. 2. 15. The man, or Adam, ma. Exod. 12. 16. Heb. ſoul, mar. 2 Chr. 14. 11. or mortall man, marg. Men, 1 Cor. 14. 20. Gr. perfect, or of a ripe age, mar. For every man, Exod. 16. 16. Heb. by the poll, or head, marg.

The Son of man is Lord even of the Sabbath day, Matth. 12. 8. That by the phraſe the Son

Son of man, in this place, is not meant man in common, but peculiarly Christ, is more then probable, not onely by these words, a greater then the Temple is here, but also by the use of this phrase in Daniel, chap. 7.13. and in every other of the 88 repetitions of it in the New Testament. And although by the words as they are in St. Mark, ch. 2.27. the contrary seemeth not improbable, yet to that the answer is ready, that the case of which Christ here and there speaks, being for the necessary use and good of man, plucking and eating for necessity and preservation of life, that may be very fitly referred to by Christ, when he saith, the Sabbath is made for man, so that the phrase for man, shall signifie for the good of man, could not reasonably be conceiv'd to obliege him to any thing so contrary to that, as is starving or debilitating of nature, so as to render him unable to discharge the duty of their Calling. The onely proper conclusion from this notion, of the Sabbath's being made for man, will be this; That therefore he that gave that positive Law, can dispense with the observance of it; and consequently Christ may do it, as here he doth, in such cases as are for the good of man, as works of mercy, which being part of the Morall eternall law, he prefers before the performance of these positive laws, which respect his owne service, vers. 7. Nay, that at the very making of it, it was dispensed with in some cases, as those vers. 5. of the necessary services of the Temple; and what was done here, was for the service of Christ, who is greater then the Temple. Dr. Hamm. Annot. a.

Man-childe] Gen. 17. 10. Son, or male.

Manger] And laid him in a manger, Luk. 2.7. φάτνη signifies a Stable where Cattel stand, and not onely the place where their meat is put, the Manger; and to this the story best agrees, which gives the reason of their laying him in the φάτνη, because there was no room (not in the Stable, but) in the Inne. Dr. Ham. Annot. c.

Manifestation] Rom. 8. 19. ἀποκάλυψις. The word signifieth the revelation or declaration of things hidden. Leigh Crit. Sac. 1 Cor. 12. 7. & 2 Cor. 4. 2. φανέρωσις. It signifieth such a manifestation as is permanent, which lasteth for ever. Idem.

Waiteth for the manifestation of the Sons of God, Rom. 8. 19. The word signifies revelation, explaining or displaying somewhat that was before obscure and covered; and so the manifestation of the Sons of God, will be the discovering who are truly such. This was to be done among the Jews, who all pretended to that title, by the Apostles preaching the Gospel to them, in the power of Christs resurrection; and they that did not now receive him so testified, it's evident they were Bastards and not Sons, though before they might have the excuse of Ignorance to extenuate their fact, Luk. 23. 34. 1 Cor. 2.8. Now because by the Apostles preaching of Christ to the Jews, this discovery was to be made, and so the Gospel first preached unto them, before they went to the Gentiles; and upon the Jews rejecting Christ, the Apostles were then to depart, and go to the Gentiles; therefore the creature or Gentile world are said earnestly to expect or wait for this discovery, as a thing by which they were to receive this great advantage, in hope that they also, vers. 20, 21. i. e. the Gentiles that shall receive the Gospel, as well as the beleeving Jews, shall be redeemed from their customes of sin, which made them slaves, and become partakers of that glorious title of Sons of God also. Dr. Ham. Annot. f.

Manifestly declared] 2 Cor. 3.3. Plainly and clearly appearing.

Manner] Numb. 15.24. or Ordinance, m. 1 Sam. 17. 30. Heb. word, mar. 2 Sam. 7. 19. Heb. law, marg.

Man-servant] Exod. 20. 10. The same charge which the Lord gave touching the Maid-servant, was also given touching the Man-servant. Of which see in Maid-servant.

Man-wiper] Willingly, 1 Tim. 1.9. Unwillingly, Numb. 35. 6, 12.

Marishes] Fenny, marish ground, Ezek. 47. 11.

Mark] The same with Marcus, the Son of Mary, whose name was John, his surname Mark, Act. 12. 12.

Mark me] Job 21.5. Heb. look unto me, m. Mark well, Ezek. 44.5. Hebr. set thine heart, marg.

Market] Ezek. 27. 13. or Merchandise, marg.

And when they come from the Market, Mar. 7.4. Ἀγορὰ signifies any promiscuous or popular assembly, being (setting aside the sacred assemblies, which are otherwise exprest) of two sorts; either,

1 To buy and sell: or,

2 To resort for justice. And the word here used commonly signifies both or either of these:

1 A Fair, or Market.

2 A place of Judicature, an Hall, or Court of Judgement. Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

Marriage] Which made a marriage for his Son, Mat 22. 2. Γάμος & Γάμοι ſignifie both in this place, and Joh. 2. 1. a marriage-feaſt, and that here the ἔνδυμα γάμου ſignifies the garment that was cuſtomary at ſuch feaſts, i.e. a better ſort of array then thoſe that were uſed upon ordinary dayes, will be obvious to any man that is converſant in ancient cuſtomes. And this it ſeems ſo neceſſary (as repentance and reformation of life, the new garment or array of the ſoul, which is here parabolically expreſt by it) that without it, even they that were invited to come, were not yet permitted to taſte of the feaſt, or remaine among the gueſts. Dr. Hammond Annot. a.

Marrie] Numb. 36. 6. Heb. be Wives, mar. Married, Numb. 12. 1. Heb. taken, mar. Neh. 13. 23. Heb. made to dwell with, marg.

Forbidden to marry, 1 Tim. 4. 3. Many Heticks there were in the ancient Church, which prohibited Marriage, and taught Abſtinence from Meats as neceſſary, having much of their doctrine from the Pythagorean Philoſophers. Such were the Encratitæ, Montaniſts, and Marcionites. But theſe came after the Apoſtles times, and are not ſo probably ſpoken of here, as thoſe which were preſent then in the Church. And ſuch (ſaith Ignatius) there were in the Apoſtles times, and ſuch (ſaith Ireneus) was Saturninus who with Simon Magus was the Father of the Gnoſticks. He was the firſt that among Chriſtians affirmed Marriage to be the work of the Devill, and commanded to abſtain from the fleſh of Beaſts. And this was generally the doctrine of the Gnoſticks, who under a pretence of Continence, committed all villany againſt the Creation and the Creator; teaching that men ought not to receive Marriage, nor get children, nor bring into the world ſuch as would be miſerable, nor furniſh death with food or nouriſhment, i. e. people, the world with men, whom death will conſequently feed on. Dr. Ham. Ann. b.

Mart] She is a Mart of Nations, Iſa. 23. 3. or, ſhe was a Trader with Nations. The word tranſlated Mart, ſignifies properly not a Mart or Market, that is, a place of trade, but trade, or traffick, or merchandiſe it ſelf, verſ. 18. Prov. 3. 14. & 31. 18. & 45. 14. Annot.

Marbels] Exod. 34. 10. In Gr. glorious things; and ſo the Evangeliſt uſeth the word, Luk. 13. 17. where the Syr. hath marvellous things. Aynſw.

Marbellous] Job 5. 9. Marvellous things. Such things as we cannot underſtand the cauſe of, becauſe it goes above the capacity of our natural reaſon. The word ſignifies not onely things that we admire, as not knowing the cauſes of them, but alſo any thing hidden, or above the reach of our underſtanding, Judg. 13. 18. Pſal. 130. 1. It is derived from a word that ſignifies dividing, or ſeparating, Exod. 33. 16. It imports things divided from our underſtanding, as Miracles are which are above the courſe of Nature, and many things alſo in the courſe of Gods ordinary providence. Annot.

Marbellouſly helped] 2 Chron. 26. 15. Namely, from God, verſ. 7. Annot. Job 37. 5. God thundered marvellouſly. So as no creature can make ſuch a noyſe. Others read it, God thunders out marvellous things with his voyce; and refer it to thoſe ſtrange things which are wrought by the thunders, as melting the money without hurting the purſe, breaking the ſword within the ſcabbard, exhauſting the wine within the barrell, breaking the bones within the fleſh; which are things above our reach. Annot.

Maſt] Iſa. 33. 23. made of the Cedars from Lebanon, Ezek. 27. 3. without which no ſhip could ſail, as whereunto the ſails are faſtened. It is divided into three parts. The uppermoſt is tearmed Carchefium; the middle, Trachelus; the loweſt, Pterna. Minſhew's Guide into the Tongues.

Maſters] Be not many Maſters, Jam. 3. 1. One great fault of the Judaizing Chriſtians, and Gnoſticks, frequently taken notice of, is that of Judging others, the orthodox Chriſtians, and ſeparating from them. Theſe are in Rom. 2. 18, 19, 20. farther deſcribed, as thoſe that take upon them to know the will of God moſt perfectly (and are thence called Gnoſticks) to be guides of the blinde, lights of them that are in darkneſſe, inſtructers of fools, Διδάσκαλοι νηπίων, Teachers or Maſters of babes, &c. where their aſſuming thoſe titles of Guides, Lights, Inſtructers, Maſters, is joyned with the judging of others, as blind, ignorant, fools and babes. And as there Διδάσκαλος, Teacher or Maſter (the ſame as here) is one of the titles they aſſumed, ſo verſ. 21. Thou that teacheſt another; in this ſenſe again, thou that aſſumeſt to know more then all others, and to be able to inſtruct and teach others, as if no man knew his duty but they. Theſe are again deſcribed, Rom. 14. 4. by the he that judgeth another mans ſervant, that (when Chriſt hath given Chriſtians liberty in the matter of Circumciſion, and other Judaicall performances) require all thoſe performances of their fellow-Chriſtians, as if they, not Chriſt, were the Lords and Maſters of their Faith. So Col. 2. 16. A ſpice of this humour it was that Chriſt noted in the Phariſees, Mat. 23. when he tells them, they loved to be called Rabbi, Rabbi, verſ. 7. i. e. my Maſter, my Maſter, my Guide, my Inſtructer; which Chriſt forbidding his Diſciples to imitate, gives this reaſon, for one is your Guide, or Maſter, Chriſt; and again, verſ. 10. Be not ye called Guides, or Maſters, for one is your Maſter, Chriſt. And this is the notion of διδάσκαλοι, Maſters, here. As for the putting in the word πολλοὶ, many, Be ye not many Maſters, I ſuppoſe that it is in oppoſition to the εἷς διδάσκαλος, or καθηγητὴς, the one Maſter, or Guide, Matt. 23. or the εἷς νομοθέτης, the one Law-giver, or Judge, here, Jam. 4. 12. for it being Chriſts office onely to give laws to the Church, theſe Judaizers do clearly intrench upon his office, and ſo are πολλοὶ διδάσκαλοι, many, in ſtead of the one Maſter. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

Maſters

Maſtery] That ſhout for maſtery, Exod. 32. 18. Of ſtrong men which overcome in the War. Aynſw.

Had the maſtery of them, Dan. 6. 24. Did exerciſe their rule or power over them.

2. Iſh, a man of worth, of value and valour, an eminent man; and it is uſed therefore to diſtinguiſh the Sex, Gen. 2. 23. and the Age, Judg. 8. 20, 21. & 1 Cor. 13. 11.

4. Enoſh, a ſick, ſorrowfull, corruptible, mortall man, Pſal. 8. 4. & 9. 19, 20. for ſo ſignifies the word whence it is derived, 2 Sam. 12. 15. Pſal. 69. 20. Jer. 30. 12. Mic. 1. 9. The word Adam commonly imports man in generall, without diſtinction of place, or ſtate; and ſo Adam and Iſh are all one, Pro. 3. 13, 30. But where theſe two are found together, as counter-diſtinguiſhing either mankinde in generall, as Pſal. 49. 2. & 62. 9. or ſome ſpeciall perſons, or number of people, as here the main body of the Jewiſh State; there is by Adam underſtood, a mean man, a man of low degree, alluding to his firſt originall, from the duſt, Gen. 2. 7. & 3. 19. which, as it is the loweſt and baſeſt of the Elements, ſo in Scripture language it notes lowneſſe, and baſeneſſe, Gen. 18. 27. Pſal. 113. 7. ch. 47. 1. Jer. 17. 13. whence that Proverb, Job 30. 8. Sons of baſe men, more vile then earth. Annot.

2. That part which is moſt deep or inward, Exod. 14. 23. Gen. 2. 9. & 3. 3.

3. That part which is incloſed by the two extremes, though it be neither exactly in the midſt, nor the moſt inward part, Joh. 19. 18. Act. 1. 18. This is expreſt by among, Gen. 23. 6. & 42. 5. In the midſt of him, a member of the Church, or converted to the faith and worſhip of God, Iſa. 29. 23. They ſhall be deſolate in the midſt of the Countreys that are deſolate, Ezek. 30. 7. They ſhall be like unto them. So Ravanel. In the midſt of them, Jer. 51. 1. Hebr. heart, marg. Into the midſt of the charet, 1 King. 22. 35. Hebr. boſome, marg.

that

Might] Zech. 4. 6. or Army, marg.

Mightily] Very much, greatly, Deuter. 6. 3. Judg. 4. 3. Powerfully, Judg. 14. 6. He will mightily roar, Jerem. 25. 30. Hebr. he will roaring roar; that is, roar exceeding loud; for theſe ingeminations imply, as a certainty ſometime, ver. 28. ſo otherwhile, a vehemency, or exceſſe, as Iſa. 24. 16. Annot. Vehemently, forcibly, earneſtly, couragiouſly, Act. 18. 28.

Milch] Spoken of Camels, Gen. 32. 15. Kine, 1 Sam. 6. 7. who gave ſuck to their Colts and Calves.

Mildew] Deut. 28. 22. It hath the name in Heb. of paleneſſe, as Jer. 30. 6. and ſo is here tranſlated in Greek, and is a plague upon Corn, through too much moyſtneſſe, (as blaſting is with dryneſſe) whereby the naturall greenneſſe is gone before it be ripe, and the colour faded. So in 2 Chro. 6. 28. Amos 4. 9. Hag. 2. 17. Aynſw.

Milk] Deſire the ſincere milk of the Word, 1 Pet. 2. 2. λογικὸν γάλα, rationall milk, not that milk of cattle which mens bodies are wont to be fed with; but this rational milk, by which mens ſouls are improved, to wit, inſtruction, or Chriſtian doctrine. Dr. Ham. on Rom. 12. Annot. a.

Such figurative ſpeeches as theſe are very ordinary, and have no more ſtrangeneſſe in them, then νοητὸν, or πνευματικὴ τροφὴ, intellectuall, or ſpirituall food, i. e. food to the underſtanding, or to the ſpirit; νοῦς, & λόγος, & πνεῦμα, the underſtanding, and reaſon, and ſpirit, being in effect all one, and milk being every where uſed for that inſtruction that is fit for thoſe of younger yeers, Heb. 5. 12. Idem on 1 Pet. 2. Annot. a.

Milk out] Iſa. 66. 11. or wring out, as ch. 16. 4. Prov. 30. 33. for the proper notion is the ſame, though the forms diverſe, as the Jewiſh Critick here well obſerves: the word it ſelf is no where elſe found. Ann.

Mill] The Mills mentioned in Scripture, were neither Water-mils, nor Wind-mils, but either Hand-mils, about which Maid-ſervants were employed for the grinding of the Corn, Exod. 11. 5. or Captives, Judg. 16. 21. or ſuch about which Aſſes were employed, Mat. 18. 6. Luk. 17. 1. Ravanel.

Millions] Thouſands of millions, Gen. 24. 60. Thouſands of ten thouſands; that is, a mother of innumerable people. The Chald. tranſlateth, thouſands and ten thouſands, whereby an infinite number is meant, as in Dan. 7. 10. Aynſw.

Mynde] Iſa. 26. 3. or thought, or imagination, marg.

Mind] Mind the things of the fleſh, Rom. 8. 5. Savour. The Originall φρονέω is a generall word, comprehending the actions and operations both of the underſtanding and will, and is in Scripture applyed to both, but moſt commonly to the actions of the Will, and affections, which are particular notions of the Will. Leigh Crit. Sac.

Let us minde the ſame thing, Phil. 3. 16. ſignifieth to be of one minde, of one judgement, of one affection, one towards another. Id. Ib. To reſolve, Ruth 1. 18. Intend, 2 Chron. 24. 4.

Minded] Carnally minded, Rom. 8. 6. Gr. the minding of the fleſh, marg. Like minded, Phil. 2. 20. or, ſo dear unto me, marg. Spiritually minded, Rom. 8. 6. Gr. the minding of the ſpirit, marg.

Mindfull] Remembring, that remembreth, keepeth in minde, or memory, 1 Chr. 16. 15. Pſal. 8. 4.

Mine] 2 King. 10. 6. Heb. for me, marg. Jer. 44. 28. Heb. from me, marg.

Mingle] To mixe, temper. Hail mingled with fire, Exod. 9. 24. or, and fire catching it ſelf among the hail; that is, one flaſh of lightening taking hold of another, and ſo the flames infolding themſelves, did increaſe and burn more terribly. This word is only uſed here, and in Ezek. 1. 4. The Gr. tranſlateth it inflaming (or ſetting on fire; which word the Apoſtle uſeth, Jam. 3. 6.) and ſo the Chald. ſaith, inflaming it ſelf, and David calleth it, a fire of flames, Pſal. 105. 32. Aynſw.

Miniſh] To abate, leſſen, diminiſh, Exod. 5. 19. Pſal. 107. 39.

Miniſter] Miniſtred, 1 Tim. 3. 13. or uſed the office of a Deacon well. Comp. the text with the marg.

Miniſters of the Word, Luk. 1. 2. Inſtruments and Actors of thoſe things which were the ſubject matter of the following hiſtory. Dr. Ham. Paraph.

Miniſtery] Act. 12. 25. or Charge, mar.

Miniſtration] Luk. 1. 23. Officiating, or publick ſervice. Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

Minſtrel] And ſaw the minſtrels, Mat. 9. 23. This cuſtome of having muſicall inſtruments in funeralls, came to the latter Jews, from the rites and manner of the Gentiles; for in the Old Teſtament, there is no mention of any ſuch cuſtome. Songs of lamentation they had, Jer. 9. 17. & 22. 18. & 34. 5. Amos 6. 15. But theſe were performed onely by the Voyce, not by Inſtruments. Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

Miracles] After that miracles, 1 Cor. 12. 8. Powers of inflicting diſeaſes, and death it ſelf upon the diſobedient. Dr. Ham. Paraph. as in St. Peter on Ananias and Saphira; in Paul, on Barieſus; and in thoſe firſt times, in the Governours of the Church, by their cenſures delivering up men to Satan, to the deſtruction of the fleſh, to inflict diſeaſes on them. Id. Annot. d.

Miry] Muddy, or dirty, Pſal. 40. 2. Ezek. 47. 11.

Miſerable] Miſerable comforters, Job 16. 2. Hebr. comforters of miſery or trouble. Annot.

We are of all men moſt miſerable, 1 Cor. 15. 19. in a moſt ſad and pitifull condition. In regard that Chriſtians do not onely forſake the pleaſures of this world, and are ſubject alſo for the profeſſion of the truth, to a great many croſſes, tribulations, and perſecutions; therefore ſhould there be no reſurrection, Chriſtians muſt needs be moſt miſerable, for then they ſhould enjoy no good nor comfort at all, neither here nor hereafter, neither temporall nor eternall. The ground of this argument is this, that the perfect felicity of the ſoul, and the immortality thereof, are by Gods order inſeparable from the reſurrection of the bodies; therefore he that denyes the one, overthrows the other. See Matth. 25. 32. Annot.

Miſerably] He will miſerably deſtroy thoſe wicked men, Mat. 21. 41. κακοὺς κακῶς ἀπολέσει. It is a kinde of Greek proverb, meaning, he will with grievous puniſhments conſume thoſe impious tenants, and provide him better. Annot.

Miſery] In miſery, Job 3. 20. Toyled with labour or pain. Annot.

Miſpereth] See Miſpar.

Mixture] Of mixture, Pſal. 75. 8. that is, of liquor mixed, ready to be drunk, as Wiſdome is ſaid to have mixed her wine, Pro. 9. 2. that is, tempered it ready. So Revel. 14. 10. The Chald. addeth mixture of bitterneſſe. Aynſ. A compound, Job 19. 39.

M O.

Moabite] A Moabite ſhall not enter into the Congregation, Deut. 23. 3. The Ammonite and Moabite for their ſpeciall unkindneſſe and ſin, had a ſpeciall puniſhment above others, that theſe men might never be admitted into full communion with the Common-wealth of Iſrael, as other Nations might; but this the Hebrews reſtrain to the men onely, not to the women. Aynſw.

Moabiteſſe] A woman of Moab, as Ruth, who was marryed to Boaz, Ruth 4. 5, 10.

Mockers] Pſal. 35. 16. Scoffers, men that make ſcoffs, or laugh to ſcorn. Jer. 15. 17. thoſe that make merry. Annot.

Moderately] Hath given you the former rain moderately, Joel 2. 23. Hebr. according to righteouſneſſe. Namely, at the time of your greateſt need, and in that juſt meaſure, as it is required, for to help the barrenneſſe which was before. Others, in righteouſneſſe; that is, bountifully, and lovingly. Annot.

Modeſt] Spoken of apparell, 1 Tim. 2. 9. which muſt be ſober, moderate. But Salmaſius underſtandeth it of the humility of the mind. Leigh Cr. Sac.

More] More in number, Exod. 1. 9. Deut. 1. 11. More, or other, Ruth 1. 11. 2 Sam. 5. 13. 1 Chr. 14. 3.

Moloch] Ye took up the Tabernacle of Moloch, Act. 7. 43. That the word Μολὸχ, Moloch, is originally the Heb. מלך, a King, there is no doubt. And ſo here it notes ſome deified King of the Ægyptians, i. e. an Idol-falſe-god, worſhipt and placed among the Stars; and accordingly, an old Ægyptian Alphabet, that ſets down the names of the Planets, hath for Mars, Moloch. Now for the Tabernacle of Moloch, that is ſure ſome little Cabinet wherein the image of this falſe god was kept; ſuch as the ſilver Chappels of Diana, Act. 19. This is in Amos 5. 26. the Tabernacle or Siccoth of your King, or Moloch, i. e. the Chapplet where that Image of your falſe god, called here כִּיּוּן, a figure made to be worſhipt, was enſhrined, or dwelt. Dr. Hammond Annot. e.

Moneth] A whole moneth, Numb. 11. 20. Heb. moneth of dayes, marg.

Monethly] Monethly Prognoſticators, Iſa. 47. 13. See Prognoſticators. The word properly ſignifies the new moon, Pſal. 81. 3. Ezek. 46. 3. But it is uſed commonly for the Moneth, becauſe the New Moon among the Jews began the moneth. Annot.

Monuments] Which lodge in the monuments, Iſa. 65. 4. that is, in their Idol-temples, as the Old Latine hath it; or in caves, under ground; or cut out in rocks, as the Greek, there to expect dreams from their imaginary Deities, which was an uſual practiſe among the Pagans, as appears from Ariſtophanes, Ariſtides the Sophiſter, and others; and Jerome on this place teſtifies to have been practiſed by them in his dayes. The word here uſed is ambiguous, it ſignifieth properly places kept or obſerved. Whence it is rendred chap. 1.8. beſieged; and ſo it ſignifies, Ezek.6.12. Some would have it here to ſignifie ſuch horrid places as people are therefore wont cautiouſly to obſerve, for to ſhun and avoyd. Others, ſecret, hidden places, as hidden things, chap. 48. 6. which agreeth well with thoſe ſecret vaults, caves, and cloſets, wherein the Heathen had wont to have private commerce with their gods. Others, and this way the Jewiſh Criticks moſt go, render it waſtes, deſolate places, ſuch as they ſay are oft-times haunted with devils, Mat.12.43. and ſo they would have the word taken, ch. 49. 6. Or, as ſome of them, among the corpſes that are kept in the graves, and there held as in priſons or holds, ch. 14. 18. Ezek. 32. 23. or with the corpſes, for ſuperſtitious purpoſes reſerved and kept by them. Some late Writers of note, that lodge with the kept-ones. So (ſay they) in deriſion, are their Idols here termed, becauſe they were kept carefully for fear of being ſtolen, as oftimes they were, Gen. 31. 19,30. Judg. 18. 18,24. being not able to keep and ſave themſelves, much leſſe thoſe that ſerved them, by whoſe care and providence they were to be kept from miſcarrying, chap. 41. 7. & 46. 1,2,7. Annot.

Money] A peece of money, Mat.17.27. or, a ſtater. It is half an Ounce of ſilver, in value, Two ſhillings ſix pence, after 5 ſhillings the Ounce. Annot.

Money-changers] The tables of the Money-changers, Mat. 21.12. The word τραπεζα, a table, here, is that from which thoſe that dealt in returning moneys, or in bills of exchange, and made advantage and gain by ſo doing, are called τραπεζιται, Matth. 25. 27. which ſeems to ſignifie that ſort of men, who (as Merchants among us) returne money for others, to ſome other place, or help them to do it, and by ſo doing, receive ſome themſelves, and help them to advantage ſometimes. Hence it was that the Iſraelites being by the Law to come up to Jeruſalem, (how far ſoever they dwelt from it) and there to ſacrifice, and to offer the half-ſhekel for the uſe of the Temple, Exod. 30. 13. (which by the length of their journey, they were diſabled to do) theſe Trapezitæ ſet up their tables in the very Temple, that ſo they might traffick with all that had uſe of them; in like manner, as others brought Oxen, and Sheep, and Doves, to ſell there to them that had not brought their Sacrifices with them. Theſe Traders are here called κολλυβισται, i. e. men that dealt in money, and ſo alſo κερματισται, Joh. 2. 14. and that is the very ſame, κερματα being ordinarily taken for χρηματα, i. e. money indifferently; and it is a miſtake of thoſe, which from the nature of this word, think it fit to tranſlate it Money-changers, in this and that other place, (meaning thereby thoſe that change one peece of money into another, other Coins, greater or ſmaller into that of a ſhekel) whereas it is dealing in money by way of return, or exchange. Dr. Hamm. Annot. b.

More] And more alſo, 1 Sam. 3. 17. Hebr. ſo adde, marg. Treſpaſſed more and more, 2 Chr. 33. 23. Hebr. multiplyed treſpaſſe, mar. Ye will revolt more and more, Iſa. 1. 5. Hebr. increaſe revolt, marg. I will bring more, Iſa. 15. 9. Heb. additions, marg.

Morning] Viſit him every morning, Job 7. 18. Heb. at mornings. There are two mornings in the Original; one dark and duskiſh, from whence it hath its name in Hebrew, שחר, a little befor Sun-riſing. The other, בקר, from inquiring. For after Sun-riſing men begin to look after their buſineſſes, and the morning is the fitteſt time to ſtudy, when mens wits are freſheſt. By this phraſe is intimated, firſt the certainty of theſe viſitations. They are ſure to come, as the Sun to riſe, and day-light to follow after darkneſſe. Secondly, the ſpeedineſſe of them, they tarry not till noon, but as good husbands, take the morning light to go about their affairs, and neglect not the firſt occaſion; ſo God did call Job to account, and inquire into him, as ſoon as he did awake, and behold the day-light, Pſal. 46. 5. Jer. 35. 14. See the phraſe, Pſal. 73. 14. Lament. 3. 23. Annot.

From the morning, Neh. 8. 3. Hebr. from the light, marg.

Morning-ſtars] When the Morning-ſtars ſang together, Job 38. 7. The ſtars new created, Pſal.148. 3. Or rather the Angels created in the firſt morning of the world, that they might behold the creation of all other creatures, though they had no hand in it, and firſt praiſe God for it, before man was made. Thus it muſt be underſtood, for elſe Stars and Angels praiſe God ſtill. So Angels are compared to Stars for brightneſſe, Rev. 1. 20. and are called Angels of light, 2 Cor. 11. 14. And they are called Morning-ſtars, becauſe they were the firſt living creatures made in the morning of the world. Chriſt is alſo called the Morning-ſtar, Rev. 2. 22. Annot.

Morrow] The next day, 1 Sam. 30. 17.

Comp.

Comp. the text with the marg. To morrow, Exod. 8. 10. or againſt to morrow, marg.

Mortall] Shall mortall man, Job 4. 17. Wretched man, ſubject to ſins and miſeries The word ſignifies mans weakneſſe and inability to ſtand before God. Annot.

Mortally] And ſmite him mortally, Deut. 19. 11. Heb. in life, marg.

Mote] Why beholdeſt thou the mote that is in thy Brothers eye, &c. Mat. 7. 3. How ſtrange a thing is it, that thou ſhouldſt look ſo ſeverely on the light faults of others, who haſt for the moſt part ſo much vaſter crimes to be cenſur'd and reform'd in thy ſelfe? This makes thy cenſuring others, very unreaſonable in thee. This is ſpoken to check the importunity of thoſe who are alwayes cenſuring and condemning others, for ſmall matters, reprehending for trifles, when they are themſelves guilty of thoſe things which are much more to be reprehended; κάρφος being taken in the notion of a thin piece of wood, the leaſt ſplinter or ſhiver imaginable, of very little, yet of ſome length, 'twil be here very fitly uſed, and ſet oppoſite to the δοκὸς, the beam, the biggeſt and longeſt piece of wood which is uſed. Dr. Ham. Paraph. & Annot. a.

Moth] Which are cruſhed before the moth, Job 4. 19. Sooner then a Moth can be cruſht between a mans fingers, which is killed onely with a touch, and a very light alſo. Or, in preſence of a moth. He is not able to ſtand out againſt the weakeſt creature, but waſtes inſenſibly, and by degrees, aa a garment Moth-eaten. Or, before conſumption, ſo the root of this word is tranſlated, Pſa. 6. 7. & 31. 9, 10. They dye for the moſt part, before their naturall ſtrength be ſpent. Annot.

Moth eaten] And as a garment that is Moth-eaten, Job 13. 28. That is, food for Moths, and devoured by them, as meat is by men. Hereby a ſecret and inſenſible conſumption by great pains and ſorrows is intended, as Pſal. 39. 11. Annot.

Move] He moveth his tail, Job 40. 17. or he ſetteth up, marg.

Moveable] Her wayes are moveable, Prov. 5. 6. This may import frequent change of places (which the Hebrew נוד, will bear very well, which alſo ſignifies to wander up and down) and habitation, a thing often practiſed by them that would not be known. Annot.

Mover] An Inciter, ſtirrer up, Act. 24. 5.

Mount] To aſcend, or go up, Job 20. 6. Pſal. 107. 26. Iſa. 9. 18. & 40. 31.

Mount] Caſt a mount, Ezek. 26. 8. or pour out the engine of ſhot, marg.

Mounts, Jer. 32. 24. or engines of ſhot, marg.

Mourn] To weep, Gen. 50. 3. marg. To mourn with him, Job 2. 11. or to have compaſſion on him, as Pſal. 69. 20. Annot. Sarah is the firſt for whoſe death mourning and weeping is mentioned; a note of honour, as appeareth by Gen. 50. 9, 10, 11. 2 Sam. 1. 17, &c. Jer. 22. 18. But ſorrow for the dead, muſt be moderate in Gods people, 2 Theſſ. 4. 13, 14. and weep in the Hebr. hath one little letter extraordinary, noted alſo in the marg. of the Hebrew Bibles, whereby (as the Jews think) is ſignified, that Abraham's mourning was not exceſſive, but with moderation. Aynſw.

This is taken both properly, not onely for grief of minde, but for that externall way whereby the ſame is teſtified. Whence the houſe or place of mourning, Eccl. 7. 2, 4. Jer. 16. 5. and improperly; and that not onely ſynecdochically, when mourners are put ſpecially for them that mourn for the dead, Ezek. 12. 7. Hoſ. 9. 4. or metonymically,

1. When mourning is put for want, and ſtraights, or time wherein one is greatly diſtreſſed, Deut. 26. 14. And ſo for great affliction, calamity, and puniſhment, Rev. 18. 7, 8. Whence the day of mourning, is called the time of great calamity, Iſa. 60. 20. (elſewhere it is taken for the time appointed for mourning for the dead, Gen. 27. 41. Deut. 34. 8. In which places mourning may be alſo taken for death.)

2. When to mourn is put for to faſt, Ezr. 10. 6. Dan. 9. 2, 3. Matth. 9. 14, 15. For that mourning was uſed in Faſting; and of old, ſuch as mourned, were wont to faſt, 2 Sam. 1. 12. 1 King. 21. 27. Nehem. 9. 1. Eſt. 4. 3. Pſal. 35. 13. & 69. 11.

Or metaphorically, when things inanimate and inſenſible, are ſaid, in the deſcription of a great and publick mourning, and ſo of moſt grievous calamities, to mourn, Iſa. 14. 7. & 33. 9. Jer. 4. 28. & 12. 4, 11. & 14. 2. Hoſ. 4. 3. Jer. 23. 10. Joel 1. 10. Amos 1. 2. Lam. 1. 4. In which places to mourn may be alſo taken metonymically, as wherein it denoteth the defect of ſome thing, and ſo the cauſe which affords the ground of mourning, Iſa. 19. 8. Joel 1. 9. There was mourning for themſelves, Dan. 4. 9. Mourning for others; whileſt alive, when dead; for the godly, for the wicked. Ravanell.

Mourner]

Mourner] Hereof there were ſome fained, 2 Sam. 14. 2. Some true, Job 29. 25. Iſa. 57. 18. Some hired, Jer. 9. 17.

Mournfully] Mal. 3. 14. Heb. in black, m. as Job 30. 28. Pſal. 38. 6. Humbly, dejectedly. This God greatly requires, Mic. 6. 8. Annot.

Mourning] Who are ready to raiſe up their mourning, Job 3. 8. Who are as ready to weep, as if they had tears at command. Or, who have ſo many troubles, that when they have done mourning one hour, they are ready to begin again the next, and ſo by manifold complaints and lamentations, renew their grief. Or, an alluſion to ſuch as were hired to mourn at Funerals; we read of mourning women, 2 Chron. 35. 25. Jer. 9. 17. There were alſo men-mourners, Amos 5. 16. Others read it, who are ready to raiſe up Leviathan, that huge fiſh, mentioned chap. 41. 1. Pſal. 74. 14. & 104. 26. Iſa. 27. 1. Such as can raiſe Sea-monſters by Enchantments. Or, Mariners, who in a ſtorm, ready to be caſt away, when the Whales riſe up, and are ready to devour them, curſe the day that ever they came into the ſhip. Annot.

Mower] He that moweth or reapeth, Pſ. 129. 7.

Moyſt] New, freſh, Numb. 6. 3.

Moyſten] His bones are moyſtened, Job 21. 24. Heb. watered. There is an elegancy in the Originall, his bones is watered; that is, every one of them. Not a bone wants moyſtneſſe. Annot.

M U.

Muffters] The muffters, Iſa. 3. 19. or masks, or veils, or hukes. Such as women uſe to veil, or cover their faces with, as Rebekah did, Gen. 24. 65. and of which the Apoſtle ſpeaks, 1 Cor. 11. 10, 15. (for the head there ſignifies not the ſkull or ſcalp onely, but takes in the face alſo, as when a man is ſaid to be beheaded, 2 Sam. 16. 9.) So ſome take it, becauſe the word whence it comes is found uſed by the Jewiſh Writers, for in that manner to cover. Others expound it ſpangles, or ſpangled attires, that are wont to quiver, and by quivering to make a more glittering ſhew; becauſe the originall of it is from ſuch as in Scripture ſignifies trembling, and ſhaking, or quaking, Pſ. 60. 3. chap. 51. 17, 22. Nahum 2. 3. Zech. 12. 2. The word it ſelf is a ſole one. Annot.

Multitude] In the abſence of the multitude, Luk. 22. 6. or without tumult, marg. ὄχλος here ſignifies a tumult, after the manner of the Hebrews, who uſe המון (literally a multitude) for a tumult or noyſe. Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

Murder, or Slay] To murder is taken either properly, or uſually, and commonly, to take away ones life (ſo ſhedding blood, Gen. 9. 6 either cauſeleſſly, 1 Sam. 25. 31. or preſumptuouſly, Exod. 21. 14. and ſo becoming guilty of innocent blood, Deut. 19. 13. and going in the way of Cain, Jude verſ. 11.) or improperly; for,

1 Not onely to take away ones life, but out of hatred, ill-will, wrath, and deſire of revenge to proſecute him, and do him all the miſchief that poſſibly he can, whether by word or deed, Exod. 20. 17. Deut. 5. 17. Mat. 19. 18. Mar. 10. 19. Luk. 18. 20. Rom. 13. 9. Jam. 2. 11. comp. with Matt. 5. 22. 1 Joh. 3. 15.

2 To bite him deadly, Job 20. 16.

3 To undoe, deſtroy, or ruine him, Pſal. 139. 19. Dan. 5. 19. Pſal. 34. 22.

4 To afflict grievouſly, Pſal. 78. 34. Iſa. 27. 1, 2.

5 To oppreſſe by fraud, Jam. 5. 6.

6 To condemne, or convince one to be guilty of death, Rom. 7. 11. 1 Cor. 3. 6.

Myſtery of iniquity] 2 Theſſ. 2. 7. The vile ſins of the Gnoſticks, and their bitter hatred to Chriſtians; both ſomewhat diſguiſed, and kept ſecret, not profeſſed and avowed (becauſe it was not yet ſeaſonable) but yet acted underhand more warily. Dr Ham. Annot. i.

N A.

Name] The number of the names, Act. 1. 15. That the word ὄνομα is here taken for a perſon, not literally a name, will eaſily appear by the like uſe of שם in the Hebr. for though that primarily ſignifie a name, yet it's ordinarily uſed in the Hebr. Writers in this other ſenſe, for perſon, and with an emphaticall adjunct (השם, the name) it is commonly ſet to ſignifie God, who is κατ' ἐξοχὴν, ὁ ὤν, he that is. So Phil. 2. 10. ὄνομα Ἰησοῦ, the name of Jeſus, ſeems to be no more then Jeſus, who was at his reſurrection to have dominion over all creatures, and to be acknowledged to have ſo. Dr. Hamm. Annot. d.

Gave names, Gen. 2. 20. Heb. called, marg.

Name] To mention, expreſſe, ſpeak of, Gen. 23. 16. 1 Cor. 5. 1. Eph. 1. 21. Named, Gen. 27. 36. of called. Aynſw.

Namely] To wit; or, even, annexed by appoſition to what goeth before, Iſa. 7. 20. In many places it's ſupplyed, not to be found in the Originall.

Narrowed reſts] 1 King. 6. 6. Heb. narrowings, or rebatements. At the floor of the middle chambers, there was a rebatement in the wall, a cubit thick; and at the floor of the higheſt chambers, ſuch another rebatement. On theſe rebatements the beams of the chambers were laid. Annot.

Narrowly] Lookeſt narrowly, Job 13. 27. Heb. obſerveſt. As men uſe to watch thoſe that are put in the Stocks; that they may not eſcape; ſo thou doſt take away from me all means of eſcaping theſe troubles. Others read, It keeps in. The Stocks keep in the priſoner, ſo that he hath no way of eſcaping; and ſo do theſe afflictions keep me faſt. Annot.

Shall narrowly look upon thee, Iſa. 14. 16. or, ſhall look wiſhly upon thee. Annot.

Nation] Nation ſhall riſe againſt Nation, Mat. 25. 7. The Gr. word ἔθνος here, which we render Nation, and the Latine gens, anſwerable to the Heb. גוים, are the originals from whence the words Ethnick (or Heathen) and Gentiles come; and by the cuſtomary acception of the words for the other Nations of the world, excluſively and in oppoſition to the Jews then, and Chriſtians now, it comes to paſſe that the word Nations is ordinarily thought to ſignifie all other people of the world, but never the Jews. But this is a miſtake, thus caſually and cauſeleſly occaſioned; for there were ſeverall diviſions of Paleſtine (as they were before ἔθνη πολλὰ, Deut. 15. 6. Many nations, and great, chap. 9. 1. which the Jews were now poſſeſt of) Judea, and Galilee, and Iturea, and Abylene; and each of theſe is properly called ἔθνος, natio; ſo βασιλεία, Kingdome too, there being ſeverall Tetrarchs over them, Luk. 3. 1. So Eccl. 50. 26. There being mention of two nations, Samaria is preſently ſpecified to be one of them. And ſo here, and Luk. 21. 10. the phraſe Nation againſt Nation (and in like manner Kingdome againſt Kingdome) may well denote Civill inteſtine commotions in Paleſtine, perhaps one of theſe Tetrarchies againſt another; or elſe one of theſe againſt it ſelf (as Civil wars are inteſtine breaches in the ſame City or Nation) and ſo certainly the very phraſe is uſed, 2 Chron. 15. 6. where is an expreſſion of the great vexation of the Jews, v. 5. it's added, Nation was deſtroyed of Nation, City of City; where the Gr. read, συλλήμψεται ἔθνος ἐπὶ ἔθνος, Nation ſhall fight (as here ſhall riſe) againſt Nation. In this ſenſe we finde not onely the word Nation in the ſingular appropriated by ſome adjunct to Judea, as our Nation, Luk. 7. 5. Our place and Nation, Joh. 11. 48. The Nation of the Jews, Act. 10. 22. This Nation, Act. 24. 2. Thy Nation, Joh. 18. 35. and my Nation, Act. 24. 17. & 26. 4. & 28. 19. But without any ſuch adjunct, τὸ ἔθνος, the Nation, Luk. 23. 14. & Joh. 11. 50, 51, 52. And even in the plurall, the word Nations uſed in the Prophets, for Paleſtine. So Pſal. 2. 1. גוים, or nations, and people that oppoſe Chriſt, are, I conceive, the Jews, in their conſultation againſt him; and ſo it's interpreted and applyed peculiarly to them, Act. 4. 25, 27, 28. And ſo when of Jeremy it's ſaid, that he was ordained a Prophet to the Nations, Jer. 1. 5. The Jews ſure are at leaſt one of thoſe Nations. So ch. 4. 16. Mention to the Nations; i. e. to the Jews. So ch. 25. 11. Theſe Nations; i. e. The Jews ſhall ſerve the King of Babylon ſeventy yeers; the preciſe time of the Jewiſh captivity. So when Matth. 12. 15. it's ſaid, that Chriſt withdrew from Capernaum (and Mar. 7. 5. it's ſpecified that it was to the Sea of Galilee) upon that it is applyed applyed to him by St. Matthew, that of Isa. 42. 1. that he shall declare judgement to the Gentiles or Nations; and in him shall the ἔθνη, Nations trust, i. e. the Jews in Galilee, and the adjacent Cities of Tyre and Sidon, &c. which came out, and were healed of him, Mar. 3. 8. when the Pharisees consulted to destroy him, Matth. 12. 14. So Lam. 1. 1. when of Jerusalem it's said, that she was great among the Nations, that signifies that City to have been the Metropolis of Judea, as is farther expresst by the next words, and Princes among the Provinces. That this is the meaning of Nation here, will appear both by the completion of this Prophesie, in the great commotions and slaughters that were in Palestine, as also by the addition of famines, &c. from place to place, which belongs to that famine mentioned Act. 11. 28. And when it's there said that it shall be on the whole world, that must be understood (as οἰκουμένη world, signifies, Luk. 21. 26. Rom. 10. 18.) the whole land of Judea, according to the manner of the Septuagint, who oft render the land (when it signifies the land of Judea) by οἰκουμένη, the world. So Isa. 10. 23. where for ἐν τῇ οἰκουμένῃ, in the world, the Apostle Rom. 9. 28. reads ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς, upon the land. And in this sense of world, the prediction here exactly agrees with Josephus's relation of the times, who saith, that there was a great famine through Judea. And accordingly it's said, Act. 11. 29. that they of Antioch sent relief into Judea, which argues the famine to have been confined to Judea, and not extended to Antioch. See 1 Cor. 16. 1. & 2 Cor. 9. 1. And thus most probably must πάντα ἔθνη be interpreted in this chap. vers. 9. all the Nations, i. e. of Palestine, all the Jews in all parts, for the Jews were they which so hated and persecuted them (and the Gentiles comparatively did not, but as they were stirred up by them) and the Apostles are not yet supposed to go out of Palestine, but to be on their task of preaching through the Cities of Israel, till the time of Christs coming to destroy that people, Mat. 10. 23. Dr. Ha. Annot. e.

Teach all Nations, Mat. 28. 19. ἔθνη, nations, doth not signifie here the Tribes and Families of the Jews, the Regions and Cities of Palestine, exclusively to the other Nations of the world; so neither the Nations of the Heathen world in opposition, or exclusively to the Jews; but primarily, and in the first place, the severall parts of Judea, and the Jews wheresoever they are in their dispersions abroad; and then secondarily, the Gentiles mingled with the Jews; and finally, the whole Gentile world, when upon the Jews rejecting the Gospel, the Apostles depart from them, and go to the Gentiles. Idem Annot. b.

Native] His native Countrey, Jer. 22. 10. Heb. the land of his nativity, as Gen. 11. 28. & 24. 7. Annot.

Nature] Doth not even Nature it self teach you? 1 Cor. 11. 14. It's either the universal custome of all Nations, or the fashion of the place, or of the generality of people, for men and women to distinguish their sexes by cutting or not cutting the hair. Dr. Hamm. Annot. f.

Northern Iron, Jer. 12. 12. Heb. Iron from the North; that is, ſuch as was brought from the Countreys that lie Northward; out of which Regions the ſtrongeſt and toughest Iron came to them: for the Chalybes, who were anciently moſt famous for Iron works, and their skill in tempering thereof; and from whom, both with the Greeks and Latines, the ſteel had its name; were a people of Pontus, neighbouring upon the Paphlagones, and their Countrey Northward from Judea. Annot.

Pro. 25. 12. and they were of divers ſorts; ſome that were hanged in or about the ears, as appears Gen. 35. 4. and were ſo riſe with their women, and the younger ſort of that ſex, that of them alone was made the golden calfe, Exod. 32. 2. From which, to diſtinguiſh thoſe here ſpoken of, they are called jewels of the noſe. Though the word here rendred noſe, is oft-times uſed for the whole face, Gen. 3. 19. 2 Sam. 24. 33. and ſo it may take in alſo the ears, and be rendred more largely the face-jewels, as comprehending either kinde. Annot.

Novice] Not a novice, 1 Tim. 3. 6. Νεόφυτος ſignifieth not in reſpect of age, for Timothy himſelf was ſuch; but in reſpect of receiving the faith, by analogie, with the uſe of the word φυτεύω, to plant, for to inſtruct in Chriſtianity, to teach the faith; as when St. Paul ſaith that he hath planted, and ſo ſaith Theophylact, it's all one with νεοβάπτιστος, newly baptized, lately received into the Church. Dr. Ha. Ann. d.

Nouriſhed] or made him great, Ezek. 31. 4. Comp. the text with the marg.

Nourither] And a nouriſher of thine old age, Ruth 4. 15. Hebr. to nouriſh thy gray haires. Annot.

Nouriſhment] Having nouriſhment miniſtred, Col. 2. 19. The Originall word ἐπιχορηγέω (ſaith Mr. Elton) ſignifieth under-ſupplyed, or furniſhed, as members of the body are under the head: and furniture (being a word of relation, implying ſomething wherewith a thing is furniſhed) ſignifieth ſupplyed, as furniſhed with that which is anſwerable to the furniture that comes from the head to the members of the naturall body, viz. to the furniture of life, ſenſe, motion, and particular ability of every member, as of Seeing, Hearing, Taſting, Smelling, Feeling, Concocting, and the like; that as the body is under-ſupplyed with life, ſenſe, and motion, and with particular ability of every member needfull, from the head; ſo the body of the Church is under-ſupplyed from Chriſt the head, with ſpirituall life, motion, ability, and grace. Leigh Crit. Sac.

Nourture] Epheſ. 6. 4. The Originall word παιδεία, noteth out ſuch a diſcipline as befitteth a lad or young childe. It is tranſlated nourture, but it ſignifieth as well correction as inſtruction, as Heb. 11. 7. 2 Tim. 3. 16. Both ſenſes will ſtand here, and our Engliſh word (as well as the Greek) will bear both; for to nourture children is as well to correct them, as to inſtruct them. Such an affliction as a tender parent layeth upon his dear childe. Leigh Cr. Sac.

Number] Few in number, Gen. 34. 30. The Hebr. is, men of number; and the Chald. a people of number, that is, eaſily numbered, a few, a ſmall company, as the phraſe is explained in Deut. 26. 5. Men of fewneſſe, that is, a few men. So in Deut. 4. 27. Jer. 44. 28. The contrary is, without number, when many is meant, 2 Chr. 12. 3. Aynſw. Without number, Job 34. 24. Hebr. without ſearching out, m The word is taken,

3 For a multitude, as of Dayes, Numb. 9. 19. Stars, Pſal. 147. 4. Churches, Act. 16. 5. Things infinite and incomprehenſible, Pſal. 71. 15. (See Job 36. 26.)

This ſheweth the love, mildeneſſe, gentleneſſe, which ſhould be in Governours; and ſo it is ſaid unto the Church, Kings ſhall be thy nurſing fathers, &c. Iſa. 49. 23. And the Apoſtle ſaith, We were gentle among you, even as a Nurce cheriſheth her children, &c. 1 Theſſ. 2. 7, 11. Aynſw.

Obey] To believe, Act. 5. 36. marg. Rom. 10. 30, 31. marg.

Object] Act. 24. 19. To lay to ones charge, or to accuſe, as the Originall word is rendred in verſ. 2, 8, 13.

Obſcure] In obſcure darkneſſe, Prov. 20. 20. Hebr. in the blackneſſe of darkneſſe. Tremel.

Obſervation] Luk. 17. 20. or with outward ſhew, marg.

O C.

Occaſion] To be the cauſe of, 1 Sam. 22. 22.

Occupy] That never were occupyed, Judg. 16. 11. Hebr. wherewith work hath not been done, marg. They occupyed with thee, Ezek. 27. 27. Hebr. they were the Merchants of thy hand, marg.

Occuppers of thy merchandiſe] Eze. 27. 27. Factors, Merchants, or ſuch as ſell or trade in bartering or changing one commodity for another.

O D.

Odde] The odde number of them is to be redeemed, Numb. 3. 48. or, of the redeemed that are moe.

O F.

Of] Concerning, 1 Sam. 31. 11. marg. According to, 1 King. 10. 13. marg. With, 1 King. 11. 11. marg. From before, Ezr. 7. 14. marg. Iſa. 10. 22. Hebr. in or amongſt, marg. Heb. 11. 26. or For, marg.

Off] By the words joyned herewith, way, tell, afar, lighted, from, &c. the meaning hereof is plain.

The land that is very far off, Iſa. 33. 17. Heb. the land of far diſtance, marg.

Offence] The word σκανδαλον in the ſacred Writers, is either naturall or metaphoricall.

It naturally ſignifies, 1. A trap, a gin, or ſnare to catch any thing. So in the Greek tranſlation of Pſal. 69. 22. which ſhould be ſo rendred in Rom. 11. 9. (where the ſame words are cited out of the LXX. tranſlation, and not out of the Hebr. text of the Pſalm) not ſtumbling-block, but gin, or ſome other word belonging to this ſignification.

2. Any obſtacle or hinderance laid in a mans way, by which the paſſenger is detained or ſtopped; peculiarly, a ſharp ſtake, ſuch as in time of War men were wont to put in the fields, where their enemy ſhould follow, to wound their feet or legs in the paſſage; againſt which, being ſo ordinary in War, they anciently uſed greaves of braſſe to defend their feet or legs, 1 Sam. 17. 6.

3. A ſtone or block in the way, at which men are apt (if they be not carefull, or if they go in the dark) to ſtumble and fall. And thereupon in the Old Teſtament it is taken taken for a fall, and ſo ſometime for ſin, the fall of the ſoul. In which ſenſe I conceive it's uſed, Judg. 8. 27. where it's rendred a ſnare, i. e. a ſin enſnaring, or occaſioning ruine.

4. Slander, calumny, or defamation, Pſal. 50. 20.

Metaphorically, for the uſe of the word in the New Teſtament, ſome places muſt be interpreted by bringing the Metaphor from the firſt ſenſe, as it ſignifies a ſnare, or gin, as Mat. 16. 23. Rev. 2. 14. Mat. 5. 29. & 18. 8. Mar. 9. 47. Others, by bringing it from the ſecond ſenſe of a ſharp ſtake, which he who hath once met with, and been galled by it, is wont to gather up, and caſt into the fire, as Matth. 13. 41, 42. (to which St. Paul ſeems to allude, 2 Cor. 11. 29. Mat. 17. 27. & 15. 12. & 18. 6, 7. Luk. 7. 23. Mat. 13. 57. Mar. 6. 3. Joh. 6. 61. Gal. 5. 11. Matt. 26. 31. Mar. 14. 23, 27. Joh. 16. 1. Rom. 14. 13.) A third ſort referre to the third mentioned acception of the word, as it ſignifies a ſtumbling-block, as Rom. 9. 33. 1 Cor. 8. 9, 13. 1 Pet. 2. 8. 1 Joh. 2, 10, 11. Dr. Hamm. on Mat. 11. 6. Annot. c.

Offend] Mat. 5. 29. or, do cauſe thee to offend, marg. Things that offend, Mat. 13. 41. or ſcandals, marg.

Offended] As it is an idiom ordinary in the Books of the Old and New Teſtament, that paſſive verbs (by a Metonymie of the effect) comprehend and import the reality of the effect of the paſſion, or a willing reception of the impreſſion; i. e. note the patient not onely to receive influxes from the agent, but to be effectually chang'd by the paſſion; ſo σκανδαλίζεσθαι, to be ſcandalized (or offended) is to be wrought on (brought into ſin, actually diſcouraged in the wayes of godlineſſe) by the ſcandall laid in his way. Id. Ibid. Annot. b.

Offenders] 1 King. 1. 21. Hebr. ſinners, marg.

Offering] Exod. 25. 2. or Heave-offering, marg. 1 King. 18. 29. Hebr. aſcending, marg. Rom. 15. 16. or ſacrificing, marg.

Peace-offerings, Ezek. 43. 27. or Thank-offerings, marg.

The words prefixed, burnt, drink, free-will, heave, meat, peace, ſin, thanks, wave, wine, ſhew both the kindes, and of what the offerings were.

Office] Set office, 1 Chr. 9. 22. or truſt, marg.

Officer] Deliver thee to the officer, Matth. 5. 25. The word ὑπηρέτης, officer, or ſergeant, which is here uſed, and ſo in like manner Joh. 18. 3. is alſo uſed, Luk. 4. 20. in another ſenſe; by which compared together, it appears that the ſame men which in the Conſiſtory, or Court of Judgement among the Jews, were Apparitors or Sergeants, were alſo in the Synagogues employed (as Deacons) to miniſter, to bring and take away the book, &c. So the very word διάκονος, that we ordinarily render Deacons, doth Matth. 22. 13. ſignifie the officers that take and carry men to priſon, and (as it was the Lictors office) binde men hand and foot, &c. In ſtead of ὑπηρέτης here, is πράκτωρ, Luk. 12. 58. i. e. Sergeant or Lictor, that executes the ſentence to which any man is adjudged by the Court of Juſtice. Dr. Ham. Annot. n.

Oft] They waſh their hands oft, Mar. 7. 2. or diligently; in the Originall, with the fiſt. Theophylact, up to the elbow, marg.

Often-times] Job 33. 29. Hebr. twice and thrice, marg.

O H.

Oh] Oh that thou wouldſt, &c. 1 Chr. 4. 10. Hebr. if thou wilt, &c. marg.

O L.

Old] Thine old age, Ruth 4. 15. Hebr. thy gray hairs, marg.

Olive-tree] 1 King. 6. 23. or oylie, Heb. trees of oyl, marg.

Olive-yard] Exod. 23. 11. or Olive-trees. Annot.

O N.

On] 1 Pet. 2. 24. or To, marg.

One to another] 1 Sam. 10. 11. Heb. a man to his neighbour, marg. Exod. 18. 16. Hebr. a man an his fellow, marg.

Onward] Went onward, Exod. 40. 36. Heb. journeyed, marg.

O P.

Open] When he had opened the book, Luk. 4. 17. Opened it by way of unfolding and unrolling, which refers to the manner of writing among the Jews, which was not in parchments or papers ſewed together, as we now uſe, but in one continued page, or long roll, and that folded up, to ſave it from duſt, or other harm. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

Openings] In the openings of the gates, Pro. 1. 21. The wonted place of publick appearance in thoſe dayes, it being the place for Courts of Juſtice, and Tryals at Law, which brought great reſort of people. Annot. on Pſal. 127. 5.

Opportunity] Ye lacked opportunity, Phil. 4. 10. Ye wanted ability. So Gal. 6. 10. Not as we have opportunity, but as we have ability, (all one with give alms of such things as you are able, Luk. 11. 41.) for indeed that is an opportunity, when the wants of others, and our plenty meet together. Dr. Ham. Annot. d.

O R.

Oracles of God] Rom. 3. 2. From the use of the word λόγιον, taken for that pectoral (which was one of the things proper to the High-priest, being fastened about his neck, coming down, and hanging upon his breast, by which he received the responses of God, in all matters of difficulty, as when they should make war or peace, &c.) by which all the responses and oracles of God were received, it comes, that the word λόγια in the plurall is used to signifie those oracles and responses, all the revelations of Gods will by this means vouchsafed unto men. In Heb. 5. 12. they signifie Gods will revealed to us, the Christian doctrine. The beginning of the Oracles is the first part of that Christian doctrine, the things which Christ first revealed and preached to them, chap. 6. 1. viz. repentance and faith. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

Oration] And made an oration, Act. 12. 21. Made a set speech unto them; probably it was appointed for audience of the Tyrian and Sidonian Commissioners about the peace. Annot. The word δημαγορέω, comes of δῆμος, the people, and ἀγορεύω, I speak. Leigh Crit. Sac.

Ordain] Ordained them Elders, Act. 14. 23. χειροτονήσαντες πρεσβυτέρους, is to consecrate or ordain Governours by imposition of hands, to make them such that were not so before, to invest and endow them with authority in the Church. The word χειροτονέω literally signifies, to stretch out the hand, or hold it up, and signified among the ancient Greeks, chusing or giving of sentence or suffrages, which in popular elections or Judicatures, was done after this manner. But this being the originall of the word, it is (as is ordinary with other words) somewhat enlarged and changed in the ordinary usage of other Writers, Jewish and Christian, and signifies indifferently constituting or ordaining, without any intimation of suffrages, or plurality of persons or voyces, by whom this ordination is made. And thus it is used in this place, not of any multitude or number of men to whom suffrages might belong, but of Paul and Barnabas, who did it by joynt consent. And there is no other possible way for two to vote any thing. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

Orderly] Walkest orderly, Act. 21. 24. by rule, by line, and by measure. It is a military word, borrowed from the marching of Souldiers unto the battle, whose manner it is to keep their rank, and without any out-raying, to march along after the prescript rule of their Generall or Leader. Leigh Crit. Sac. in στοιχέω.

O V.

Over-drive] To drive too fast, Gen. 33 13.

Oversight] Had the oversight, Neh. 11. 16. Hebr. were over, marg. Having the oversight, Neh. 13. 4. Heb. being set over, marg.

Ought] Any thing, part, &c. Gen. 39 6. Exod. 5. 8.

Ought] To owe, or be indebted to, Mat. 18. 24, 28. Luk. 7. 41.

Our own] Psal. 12. 4. Heb. with us, marg.

Outer] Outward. Spoken of Court, Ezek. 46. 21. Gate, Ezek. 47. 2. Darkness, Mat. 8. 12.

Out-lived] That lived longer, Judg. 2. 7.

Out-run] Run faster, Joh. 20. 4.

Outwardly] In show, Mat. 23. 28. Rom. 2. 28.

Out-went] Went faster, Mar. 6. 33.

O W.

Owe] The word ὀφείλω, to owe, is here (in Luk. 11. 4.) to be taken in a notion peculiar to the Syriack language (wherein Christ certainly spake) which neither the Greek, nor Latine, nor Hebrew had made use of; for he that sins or offends either against God or man, is in Syriack said חוֹבָא, a debter; and so חוֹבָא, debitum, a debt, i. e. peccatum, a sin. And proportionably to this, to pardon, is by them expresst by שְׁבַק, to remit, and here is rendred ἀφίωμεν, to release, or absolve. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

Own] To his own, Joh. 16. 32. or, his owne home, marg. That thou go to battle in thine owne person, 2 Sam. 17. 11. Hebrew, that thy face or presence go, &c. mar. Mine own, 1 King. 1. 33. Heb. which belongeth to me, m.

Owner] He to whom a thing is due, Prov. 3. 27. whether Oxe, Exod. 21. 28. or Pit, Ib. 34. or Asse, or Sheep, or any beast, Exod. 22. 10, 11. or Hill, 1 King. 16. 24. or Land, Job 31. 38, 39. or Ship, Act. 27. 11. or any thing else.

O Y.

Oyl-Olive] Deut. 8. 8. Heb. of Olive tree of oyl, marg.

P A.

Pains of death] Act. 2. 24. The Hebr. חבל, signifies two things, a cord or band, and a pang, especially of women in travail. Hence the Septuagint meeting with the word, Psal. 18 2. (where it certainly signifies χοινία, cords or bands) have yet rendred it ὠδῖνες, pangs. And so again, 1 King. 20.31. and in other places; and from their example here, St. Luke hath used τὰς ὠδῖνας θανάτε, the pains or pangs of death, when both the addition of the word λύσας, loosing, and κρατεῖσθαι, being holden fast, doe shew that the sense is bands or cords. Dr. Hammond Annot. c.

Painfull] It was too painfull for me, Psal. 73. 16. Heb. it was labour in mine eyes. Annot.

Painfulnesse] 2 Cor. 11,27. The Originall μόχθῳ, signifieth labour joyned with carefulnesse, grief, and wearisomnesse. Leigh Crit. Sac. In 1 Thess. 2. 9. it's rendred travail, as it is also, 2 Thess. 3. 8.

Paleneſſe] Jer. 30. 6. See in Pale.

Paleſtine] The same with Palestina.

Palm branches] Neh. 8. 15. The branches of the Palm, as of the Olive, Vine, and Mirtle, were thick, and the leaves broad, and they had a fragrant savour, and in that respect fit to make Booths. Annot.

Pardon] Why dost thou not pardon, Job 7. 21. Heb. lift up, or take away; for pardon takes away the burden of our sins, and the knowledge thereof gives peace to our consciences, by lifting the burden from off them that did oppresse them before. Sometime the word signifies lifting up a burden, or yoke, to ease the oppressed, as vers. 13. Hos. 11. 4. And it may be an allusion to the Sacrifices and gifts that were lifted up, Ezr. 1. 4. marg. The Sacrifices were lifted up upon the Altar, Lev. 1. 7, 8. and thence the Burnt-sacrifice had his name, עולה in the Originall, from ascending, Levit. 1. 3. Sometimes it signifies taking away, Exod. 10. 19. and therefore it is used for pardoning sin, which is a lifting up and taking away the greatest burden in the world. So it is used, Psal. 85. 2. & 32. 1. Exod. 34. 7. Hos. 14. 2. And the Greek word answerable to it is so used, Joh. 1. 29. Annot.

Pare] Deut. 21. 12. or suffer to grow, Heb. make or dresse, marg.

Partake] Rom 11.17. To be a partaker of, as the word is rendred, 1 Cor. 9. 23. Phil. 1. 7. A companion, Rev. 1. 9.

Partiality] Without partiality, Jam 3.17. or without wrangling, marg. Doing nothing by partiality, 1 Tim. 5. 21. An allusion unto Deut. 17. 11. not inclining to either side. The Metaphor is taken from a Ballance, by titing it of one side. Leigh Crit. Sac. in ἀπροσκλισίας.

Particularly] In particulars, Act. 21. 19.

Partition] The middle wall of partition, Eph. 2. 14. The Proselytes of the gates were permitted to live among the Jews, to come into the one Court (the outer) of the Temple, divided by a low wall or sept from the other, called by St. Paul (here) the middle (or half) wall of partition, on which (saith Josephus) was written, Μηδένα ἀλλόφυλον ἐντὸς εἶναι, that no stranger might go into the inner Court. Dr. Ham. on Mat. 23. Ann. d. Those Proselytes were by the Jews so far accounted unclean, according to the Law, that they were not permitted to come into that Court of the Temple, called holy, where the Jews were. So it is charged upon them as a fault, Ezek. 44.7. that they had brought into Gods Sanctuary strangers. And Act. 21. 28. on Paul, that he brought Greeks into the Temple. Id. on Eph. 2. Annot. a.

Partly] In part, Dan. 2. 42.

Paſſe] Passed, Est. 4.17. Went his way. Comp. the text with the m. Passed away, Psal. 90. 9. Heb. turned away, marg. This word πασχὰ, passe (or depart) referres to the Passeover, mentioned in the beginning of the verse, to signifie that that legall Passeover, or the occasion of it, Gods passing over the house of Israel, and the Israelites passing or getting out of Ægypt, did note the passing of Christ out of this world, where he was a Servant, into the land of liberty, i. e. heaven. Dr. Ham. on Joh. 13.1. Annot. a.

Paſture] In green pastures, Psal. 23.2. Heb. pastures of tender grasse, marg.

Path-way] A narrow way, a foot-path, Prov. 12. 28. In the path-way thereof (of righteousnesse) there is no death. There seems to be implyed here, that though the godly for righteousnesse sake, may be driven into straits, so that they must go in the narrow way, meet with crosses, troubles, adversity, yet by them they ſhall not be deprived of everlaſting life.

Patiently] Wait patiently for him, Pſal. 37. 7. or pain thy ſelf, that is, ſet thy ſelfe with earneſtneſſe and patience to wait for. Aynſw. I beſeech thee to hear me patiently (neither being angry, nor weary) Act. 26. 3. As he commended his knowledge, ſo he intreateth his patience. They that know moſt, ought to be moſt attentive, where matters of Religion are controverted. Impatience in hearing matters of ſo high concernment, concludeth ignorance or impiety. Annot.

Pabed] See Dict. of the Cant.

Paul] Who is alſo called Paul, Act. 13. 9. Severall accounts are given of Saul's two names; as, that he was at his Baptiſme named Paul by Ananias. That as an effect of his converſion, it was of his owne impoſing, and that his humility would not owne that name of a proud tall King of Iſrael, but preferred the contrary of Paulus a little one; agreeable whereunto it is, that he calls himſelfe, ἐλαχιστότερ῾ο πάντων ἁγίων (a word made by himſelf on purpoſe) leſſe then the leaſt of Saints. That it is a token of this his firſt victory over the Heatheniſme of Sergius Paulus here in this ch. (where he is firſt called by his name) whoſe name he was therefore to bear by way of triumph, as Scipio of Africanus, and the like. But it is moſt probable, that he being a Jew, born in a City of Rome, had at his Circumciſion two names, Saul a Jewiſh, and Paulus a Romane name. And this is moſt agreeable to the form of ſpeech here, Σαῦλ῾ος δέ (ὁ καὶ Παῦλ῾ος) But Saul, who is alſo Paul, noting him to have had two names at once, and not to have changed one for the other. Dr. Ham. Ann. b.

P E.

Peace] Sown in peace, Jam. 3. 18. εἰρήνη, peace, ſignifies,

1. That virtue of Charity, peace with men, and ſo it's certainly uſed in the end of the verſe, in oppoſition to all the uncharitableneſſe and emulations in the former part of this, and the beginning of the next chap. and conſequently ποιεῖν εἰρήνην, to doe or make peace (proportionable to the phraſes ποιεῖν δικαιοσύνην, to do righteouſneſſe, and ποιεῖν ἁμαρτίαν to do or commit ſin) ſignifies to uſe all diligence of indevour and induſtry to attain it; to perſue peace, to be emulous, ambitious of quiet, ſtudiouſly to contend for it.

2. According to the notion of the Hebr. שלום, all happineſſe and proſperity, as when Peace be to you, is the form of ſalutation, and contains all the bleſſings in the world, ſpirituall and temporall under it; and ſo by the ordinary figure of ſacred Rhetorick, Antanaclaſis, it ſeems to ſignifie here in the former place, in peace, i. e. in a moſt happy, gracious manner, or with a confluence of all felicity attending it. Dr. Hammond Annot. g.

The peace of God, Phil. 4. 7. Not Gods peace or reconciliation toward us, but that peaceableneſſe which God hath commanded and bequeathed to us. Id. Annot. b.

Peaceably] Gen. 37. 4. With peace, or unto peace; that is, gently, lovingly. The Gr. tranſlateth, no peaceable thing. Aynſw.

Peace-offering] See Offering.

Peculiar] A peculiar people, 1 Pet. 2. 9. What λαὸς εἰς περιποίησιν ſignifies here, muſt be diſcerned from Exod. 19. 6. whence it is taken, (though the words are removed out of their place, and theſe, which are there before the royall Prieſthood, here placed after it.) The Hebr. reads there והייתם לי סגלה, which is literally, you ſhall be to me a treaſure, or κειμήλιον, any thing that is laid up, and preſerved moſt carefully. The Gr. render it there more according to the ſenſe, ἔσεσθέ μοι λαὸς περιούσι῾ος, ye ſhall be unto me a ſpeciall or peculiar people, as that phraſe is uſed and rendred, Tit. 2. 14. And though the Apoſtle here doth not uſe that whole phraſe, yet he takes λαὸς, people, from thence, and for the word סגלה, he renders it from Mal. 3. 17. εἰς περιποίησιν, for an acquiſition or poſſeſſion; for ſo there, that ſpeech of Gods, which I make a treaſure (i. e. lay up tenderly and carefully, and, as it follows, ſpare as one ſpareth his Son that ſerveth him) is rendred in the Gr. ἣν ἐγὼ ποιῶ εἰς περιποίησιν, which I make for an acquiſition or treaſure. And ſo λαὸς εἰς περιποίησιν, are thoſe whom God means to keep moſt charily, as his deareſt children, or moſt valued treaſure. Dr. Hamm. Annot. e.

Peece of money] Mat. 17. 27. We Engliſh στατῆρ, a peece of money at large, but it contained preciſely two Didrachma, for the Tribute-money to be paid for each perſon was Didrachmum, as is evident, Mat. 17. 24. (being in value fifteen-pence, marg.) and this Stater was paid for two, namely for Chriſt and Peter, the value of it therefore was Two ſhillings ſix pence.

Peeces of gold, 2 King. 5. 5. Hereby is meant that which is elſewhere called a ſhekel of gold, 1 Chr. 21. 25. Hence the one thouſand ſeven hundred peeces of gold, mentioned Judg. 8. 26. the Gr. renders one thouſand ſeven hundred ſhekels ſhekels of gold. The weight of this coin was two Attick drams, the value 15. s. Goodwyn's Moſes and Aaron, p. 326. 328.

Penny-worth] Worth ſo many pence, Mar. 6. 37.

Pen-knife] He cut it with the Pen-knife, Jer. 36. 23. Heb. he tore it with the Scribes knife, or raſor, as it is rendred, Pſal. 52. 2. Iſa. 7. 20. Such as the Scribes uſed to make or mend their pens with, and to raſe out ought in any roll or writing, when occaſion was ſo to do. Annot.

People] Gen. 29. 1. Hebr. children, marg. Prov. 14. 34. Hebr. Nations, marg.

Perfect] Either we are already perfect, Phil. 3. 12. crowned, or received the reward, as τετελείωμαι, an agoniſticall word, ſignifieth: of their prizes there were ſome more valuable then others; the more illuſtrious were called τέλεια νικητήρια, the perfect rewards or prizes. Dr. Ham. Annot. d.

Perfectly] Ye ſhall conſider it perfectly, Jer. 23. 20. with underſtanding, or conſideration. Annot. Throughly, Matth. 14. 36. Perſpicuouſly, plainly, exactly, Act. 18. 26. Well, throughly. 1 Theſſ. 5. 2. That ye be perfectly joyned together, 1 Cor. 1. 10. The originall καταρτίζω, ſignifieth as to reſtore and ſet things faln into their proper place again (as Gal. 6. 1. καταρτίζετε, reſtore and ſet him in joynt again (the phraſe being borrowed from Chirurgeons, who being to deal with a broken joynt, will handle the ſame very tenderly, ſetting the bone that is broken, ſo as it may become as ſtrong and ſound as ever it was) ſo to be more and more perfected and eſtabliſhed in that ſame eſtate unto which they were reſtored, which is the notion in this place. Leigh Cr. Sac.

Perfectneſſe] Which is the bond of perfectneſſe, Col. 3. 14. This may be an hypallage, the moſt perfect bond; may be alſo in that notion that perfect, Mat. 5. 48. which is all one with mercifull, Luk. 6. 36. For ſo the Chriſtian charity, that is a tranſcript of Chriſts love to us, is a conſpiration or meeting together (ſo συμπνοια may ſignifie) of all mercifulneſſe, or elſe an obligation to it. Dr. Hamm. Annot. b.

Performance] An accompliſhment, fulfilling, Luk. 1. 45.

Perpetually] Alwayes, 1 Kin. 9. 3. Amos 1. 11.

Perſon] According to the number of your perſons, Exod. 16. 16. Hebr. ſouls, marg.

Ye ſhall not reſpect perſons, Deut. 1. 17. Heb. acknowledge faces, marg.

Perſwaſion] This perſwaſion cometh not of him that calleth you, Gal. 5. 8. This new doctrine of the neceſſity of Judaicall obſervances, (whereunto ſome would perſwade you, or whereof ye are perſwaded) is not taught you by God, or by him (whether my ſelf, or any other) who brought you to the faith. Dr. Ha. Paraph.

Perverſly] Unjuſtly, wickedly, miſchievouſly, 2 Sam. 19. 19. 1 King. 8. 47. They dealt perverſly with me. Pſal. 119. 78. Depraved, perverted, wronged me, or would pervert me from the right way. Aynſw.

Perverſneſſe] Numb. 23. 21. or moleſtation. A word which ſignifieth both ſin and affliction, Pſal. 25. 18. & 73. 5. & 94. 20. The Chald. taketh it in the firſt ſenſe, for them that do falſhood; and this is moſt fit; but the Gr. tranſlateth it pain. Idem. Iſa. 30. 12. Hebr. a perverted or croſſe way or courſe, rendred froward, Prov. 2. 15. & 3. 32. & 14. 2. A defect of the ſubject, as vile for vile grapes, ch. 5. 24. Burning, for burning fire, Jer. 36. 22. Untempered, for untempered mortar, Ezek. 13. 11. Such croſſe courſes by which they departed from God (as the word importeth from whence it cometh, uſed Prov. 3. 21.) leaving him, and his advice, to cleave to courſes of their owne, verſ. 11. Annot.

Peſtilent] A peſtilent fellow, Act. 24. 5. λοιμὸν, a plague. As the Latines put ſcelus in the abſtract, pro ſcelerato; wickedneſſe, for a wicked fellow. Annot.

Phariſee] One of the chief Phariſees, Luk. 14. 1. The Phariſees which are ſo oft mentioned in the Goſpel, were a particular ſect in their Religion, and that an improvement of the חסידים, or Haſidei (as they were ἐκκαθαζόμενοι τῷ νόμῳ, 1 Mac. 2. 42. Thoſe that voluntarily performed ſome things which the Law required not, and were contrary to the Karei or Scripturarii, who were for that onely which was commanded by Law) forming thoſe things into doctrines or precepts, and obliging all to the performance of them, which the Aſidei performed as Free-will offerings, and ſo divided themſelves from the reſt of the profane world, which did not as they did; nay, from the Aſidæi themſelves (who performed as much as they, but did not think themſelves or others obliged by Law to do ſo) and therefore were called פרישים, Phariſees, ἀφωρισμένοι, ſeparate or divided from other men; and by St. Paul, ἀκριβεστάτη αἵρεσις, a ſect that required the moſt exact performances of any. By this it appears that theſe were not any order or ſort of men ſetled by Law, which had ἄρχοντες, or Rulers over them; but onely a ſect, of which ſome of all orders of men were, and indeed a prevailing ſect, taken up by moſt of the chief men of the Nation, the Elders in the great Councel or Sanhedrim in Jeruſalem, and the Rulers in the Conſiſtories, in other Cities, which therefore are called ἄρχοντες Φαρισαῖοι, Rulers, and thoſe Rulers, Phariſees, one of whom is here ſpoken of, and ſtyled εἷς ἀρχόντων Φαρισαίων, one of the Rulers that were Phariſees. Dr. Hammond Annot. a.

Pillars] 1 King. 10. 12. or rails, Heb. a prop, marg.

Pinacle] Mat. 4. 5. πτερύγιον, ſignifying literally a little wing, doth here note the exterior circuit of the top of the houſe, which compaſſeth it in (and is thence called στέφανη, Deut. 22. 8.) to keep men from danger of falling from the roof, and is therefore in the Law preſcribed in their buildings, that thou bring not blood upon thy houſe. It is a kind of girdle on the top of the Temple to compaſſe it, which is clearly the battlement, not the pinacle. Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

Piped] Played on pipes, 1 Kin. 1. 40.

Pipes] 1 King. 1. 40. or Flutes, marg.

Pipers | See Dict. on the Revel.

Planted it in a fruitfull field, Ezek. 17. 5. Heb. put it in a field of ſeed, marg.

Plantation] That he might water it by the furrows of her plantation, Ezek. 17. 7. An alluſion to the Channels and Pipes wherewith the Ægyptians conveyed the waters of Nilus to their Land. See Deut. 10. Zedekiah enclined unto, and relyed upon the King of Ægypt, to be upheld and relieved with his forces againſt the Chaldeans (See Jer. 37. 7.) ſupported by him in his revolt.

Planters] The planters ſhall plant, &c. Heb. ſhall profane them. Thoſe that plant them ſhall in due time enjoy them, not being deprived of the fruit of their labours, nor that which they had taken pains for, being either deſtroyed or devoured by ſtrangers, Iſa. 65. 21. 23. Annot.

Plat] To binde, knit, or faſten together, Mat. 27. 29. Mar. 15. 17.

Players on inſtruments] Pſal. 77. 7. or Players on flutes, or Dancers, for ſo this word may be alſo taken for dancing (to wit, at the ſound of the flute or pipe) as Judg. 21. 21. Comp. herewith Iſa. 30. 29. The Gr. here turneth it rejoycers, and it may foretell the joy that ſhould be in the world for the converſion of the Gentiles. Aynſw.

Plow-man] He that ploweth the ground, Iſa. 28. 24.

Porters] 1 Chr. 16. 42. Hebr. for the gate, marg.

Portion] Such things as belong to one, Eſt. 3. 9. Comp. the text with the marg.

Poſſeſſion] Was in their poſſeſſion, Deut. 11. 6. Hebr. was at their feet; τὸ ὑπόδιον, rendred in Act. 5. 4. Whiles it remained, ſignifies a poſſeſſion immoveable, an eſtate in land, which is called a demean, in this very notion of ὑπόδιον, remaining, becauſe when the fruit is taken off, the land remains; and ſo is applyed here to κτῆμα, a poſſeſſion, verſ. 1. Upon the ſame account again it's called an eſtate, as being a ſtanding, remaining, continuing poſſeſſion. Proportionable to this, τὸ ἀργύριον is wealth in money, or lands ſold, or put into money. And then the meaning of the whole is clear, Was not the land, eſtate, demeans; thy owne land, eſtate, demeans? And, was not the price for which it was ſold, wholly in thy power, i. e. in thy hand, as בידך, in the hand, ſignifies, in the power, not as of an owner, but as a receiver. As Gen. 24. 10. it's ſaid of Abraham's ſervant, that all the goods of his Maſter were in his hand, as in the Stewards hand, to receive, and look to. So that in both reſpects, the poſſeſſion being wholly thine, and the money coming wholly to thy hands, paid wholly to thee (the contrary of either of which would have allowed him ſome pretence or excuſe) there was no excuſe, for thy not bringing according to thy vow, the whole value of it. Dr. Ham. on Act. 5. 4. Annot. c.

Power] On the right hand of power, Matt. 25. 64. The right hand of power, is the right hand of God the Father, who is called power by the Hebrews. So the right hand of greatneſſe, Heb. 8. 1. So 1 Pet. 4. 14. the Spirit of glory, is, the Spirit of God. Dr Ham. Annot. k.

For this cauſe ought the woman to have power on her head, 1 Cor. 10. 11. What the word ἐξουσία here ſignifies, will be beſt conjectur'd by looking on the Hebr. word, which ſignifies the Womans hood, or veil, and that is רדיד, whoſe theme רדד, ſignifies dominion or power over any thing or perſon; according to which notion of the theme, the word ἐξουσία muſt needs be anſwerable to the Hebr. רדיד; and conſequently, though it ſignifie power primarily, is yet fitly ſet here to ſignifie a veil (and by the Vulgar tranſlation, in ſome Copies rendred velamen) by the ſame proportion, as רדיד, deduced from a root ſignifying power, is put for a womans veil, Cant. 5. 7. & Iſa. 3. 23. And ſo Gen. 24. 65. & 38. 14. And this more fitly, in reſpect of the diſcourſe or rationall importance of this place, which verſ. 8. proves that the Woman ſhould wear a covering, in token of her Husband's power over her. And for the Womans head, it ſignifies her head and face both, which were cuſtomarily covered with a veil, and it was counted immodeſt to be without it. And the woman muſt be covered, becauſe of the Angels; i. e. ſhe ought to doe that which was moſt decent in that place where the Angels were preſent to behold them; and that yet more particularly, when ſhe hath thoſe Angels (which uſe to be preſent in ſuch places) for example alſo, who by covering their faces uſe to teſtifie their ſubjection toward God, Iſa. 6. 2. Dr. Ham. Annot. c. d. e.

Powers] Col. 1. 16. The Angels are called, Thrones, Dominions, Principalities and Powers, becauſe God by them governs the Nations, and (as ſome think) moves the Heavens, reſtrains the Devils, works Miracles, foretels things to come, protects the faithful, and exerciſeth his judgements upon the world; yet ſo as theſe names may be given given to all Angels in divers reſpects, and upon occaſion of divers imployments; or, they may be given to ſome Angels for a time, and not for ever. Byfield on the Coloſſ. And powers, Col. 2.15. Hereby the evill Angels may be underſtood, called Powers, for their ability and force of working. Idem.

Be ſubject unto powers, Tit. 3.1. Such as exerciſe delegated authority, and hold from thoſe who have primary and plenary power under God, as Vicegerents or Viceroyes under the King, Preſidents of Provinces, Lieutenants over Countreys, Maiors of Cities or Towns, &c. Taylor on Tit.

Powers of heaven, Mat. 24.29. Δύναμις ordinarily ſignifieth an hoſt, or army, and Δύναμις ὐρανῦ, anſwerable to צבאות השמים, the powers, or the hoſts of heaven, are the Sun, Moon, and Stars, that move and ſhine there. Theſe are uſed in Propheticall, i.e. figurative writings, to denote the then Church of God, the people of the Jews, (according as the Temple is called the Camp, and all things in it are expreſt by that Metaphor of a Militia) So when Dan. 8.10. it is ſaid of the little horn, It waxed great, even to the hoſt of heaven, and it caſt down ſome of the hoſt, [and of the ſtars to the ground, and ſtamped upon them. There is little doubt but that the Jews are meant there, by the hoſt of heaven; for otherwiſe it would not be very intelligible of the ſtars of heaven, how they ſhould be caſt down to the ground, and ſtamped on, ſave onely in this ſenſe, as Jeruſalem is ſaid elſewhere. [Luk. 21.24. to be trodden under foot by the Gentiles. According to this notion of this phraſe, all the reſt of this verſe will be interpretable, that the Sun, i.e. the Temple, the Moon, i.e. Jeruſalem, the chief City; and the Stars, i.e. the reſt of the leſſer Cities, and ſo all together making up the hoſt of heaven, i.e. the whole Nation and Church of the Jews, ſhall be brought down from the flouriſhing condition which they had formerly enjoyed, many Cities, Jeruſalem particularly, utterly deſtroyed, and the whole people ſhaken, endangered ſhrewdly, brought very neer (only a remnant eſcaping, according to the propheſies) to utter deſtruction. (See Iſa. 13.10. & 34.4. Ezek. 32.7. Joel 2.31. & Revel. 6.13,14.) And ſo agreeable to this exactly will that voyce of Jeſus the Son of Ananias be, Woe to the City, and to the People, and to the Temple. Dr. Ham. Ann. n.

Powerfull] Pſal. 29.4. Hebr. in power. Annot. With able power. Anſw. Spoken of Paul's letters, 2 Cor. 10.10. and the Word of God, Heb. 4.12. By this word the Septuagint often in the Old Teſtament rendred an Hebr. word, which ſignifieth prævalidum, (very ſtrong, or mighty, of great power) as being in authority ſuperiour to others, Jer. 9.23) Leigh Cr. Sac. in ἰσχὺς.

P R.

Practiſe] Covetous practiſes, 2 Pet. 2.14. It ſignifieth not onely a bare deſire of having more, but ſuch whereby one taketh away other mens goods by force or fraud; which therefore Eraſmus rendreth rapinas, rapines. And the Apoſtle doth therefore uſe the plural number, to ſhew that thoſe Seducers, that they might heap up riches by deceiving the ſimple, uſed not one onely way, but were acquainted with divers cunning devices. See Leigh Cr. Sac. in πλεονεξία.

Prayer] Job 15.4. or ſpeech, mar. Where prayer was wont to be made, Act. 16.13. A place of prayer was reputed to be, or we thought there was an Oratory. Προσευχὴ ſignifies a place ſet apart, or accuſtomed for the ſervice of God; and the cuſtome of building ſuch is ſaid to come from the fact of Iſaac, Gen. 24.62,63. where it's ſaid that he went out into the field, or to a well, to pray, ſaith the Chald. Par. and therefore they built theſe Proſeuchæ in fields for the moſt part, neer fountains or rivers, or brook ſides, which the Idolaters imitated, Iſa. 57.6. (and ſuch perhaps it was where they prayed, ch. 21.5. or on Mountains, as that Luk. 6.12. which the Idolaters imitated alſo. That this here was ſuch a one, may appear not onely by that which is here ſaid of Paul, that he ſate down, and ſpake to the women, making it a place not to pray, but to preach; but alſo by the expreſſe words of Epiphanius. There were (ſaith he) anciently ſome places of Prayer without the City, both in Judea and among the Samaritans; and there is a place of Prayer in Shechem (which is now called Neapolis) without the City, &c. which is neer this very place which is here ſpoken of, v.11. Beſides, the Syriack is diſtinct and punctuall in rendring it בית צלותא, a houſe of prayer. Dr. Ham. Par. & Annot. a.

Preach] Teaching and preaching, Act. 5.42. The firſt refers to the ἐν τῷ ἱερῷ, in the Temple. The ſecond to the κατ' οἶκον, in ſomewhat more private places. The firſt to thoſe that were inſtructed in the Doctrine of Chriſtianity already. The ſecond to thoſe that had not already received it. And ſo Act. 15.35. In proportion to which was that difference in the Chriſtian Church betwixt Evangeliſt and Doctor, or Teacher. The firſt telling them the good news, and planting the Goſpel, the other other watering or inſtructing them farther in it, and ſo the Word and Doctrine are different, 1 Tim. 5.17. The firſt without the Church, to unbelievers, Mat. 13. 19. Mar. 4.14. Act. 4.4 & 6. 2. 2 Cor. 5.19. 1 Pet. 2. 8. The ſecond in it, or to thoſe that were already converted to the Faith. Dr. Hammond on Matth. 9. Annot. l.

When I have preached unto others, 1 Cor. 9.27. Κήρυξ in the Olympick or Iſthmian games, is the præco or herald (the word by its origination ſeeming to come from the Heb. כרז, clamavit, or proclamavit, to cry and proclaim; and from thence κηρύζω & κηρύσσω by an eaſie change) whoſe office it was from a ſcaffold or eminent place to proclaim the combate that was to be entred, to call the agoniſtæ, to name the prizes, to admoniſh the athletæ, to animate them, to ſet them the Laws of the Agones, to ſubject all to the examination of the Judges, and as they ſhall determine, to pronounce the Conquerour. Such are the Apoſtles under Chriſt, at once κήρυκες, & στεφανίται, Heralds, and Crowners, pronouncing, proclaiming, citing, admoniſhing, binding, looſing, pronouncing ſome Conquerours, and ἀποκηρύττοντες rejecting others as unworthy. Id. Ann. p.

Precious things] 2 King. 20. 13. or Spicery, marg.

Presbytery] The Πρεσβυτέριον or Elderſhip that laid hands on Timothy, and made him Biſhop, may well be reſolved to be the Biſhops or Apoſtolicall men, thoſe that were vouchſafed the favour to be Apoſtles, ſaith Theodoret, who with St. Paul, 2 Tim. 1. 6. Thus St. Peter calls himſelf, συμπρεσβύτερος Πέτρος, 1 Pet. 5. 1. And ſo St. John, 2 Joh. 1. & 3 Joh. 1. Accordingly Chryſoſtome, by Elderſhip he means not (thoſe that were in his dayes called) Presbyters, but Biſhops, for Presbyters did not ordain Biſhops. And ſo Theophylact, and Oecumenius. And ſo Ignatius calls the Apoſtles, the Presbytery of the Church, and Theodoret renders the reaſon of the appellation, for ſo (ſaith he) the holy Scripture call'd the chief men of Iſrael, the Senate, or Elderſhip. Dr. Ha. on Act. 11. Annot. b.

Preſence] 2 King. 13.23. Hebr. face, ma. In preſence, 2 Cor. 10.1. or in outward appearance, marg.

Preſerver] O thou preſerver of men, Job 7.20. The word is uſed for keeping out of dangers, Deut. 32.10. Pſal. 31.24. God preſerves beaſts, Pſ. 36. 6. but eſpecially man, 1 Cor. 9.9,10. Or, O thou keeper of men, who keepeſt me in afflictions, as in a priſon, that I cannot eſcape, Lam. 3. 5,6,7. I am kept as a priſoner to judgement. Or, O thou obſerver of men. Thou that haſt ſhewed by continual plaguing me, that thou in thine anger obſerveſt all mens miſcarriages, to take advantages againſt them, to bring plagues on them. Annot.

Preſſe fat] A preſſe for Wine, Hag. 2.16. See Prov. 3. 10.

Preſſes] The treaders ſhall tread out no wine in their preſſes, Iſa. 16. 10. They trode out, as at this day, their grapes, not in ſuch preſſes as we uſe now for Sider and Verjuice, with weights and ſcrues, but in open veſſels or fats, with their feet, Judg 9.27. Neh. 13.15. and the Treaders (Job 24. 11.) uſed to chant merrily as they trod, when they taſted the ſweet liquor, Jerem. 25. 30. & 48. 33. Annot.

Preſumptuous] 2 Pet. 2. 10. or bold, who dare do any thing, though never ſo dangerous or wicked.

Prey] To rob, ſpoyl, make a prey of, Jer. 30. 16.

Pricked in my reins] Pſal. 73. 21. or ſharpned (pricked) my ſelf, that is, felt ſharp pains, to wit, with my fretting thoughts and deſires. Aynſw.

Prieſthood] And ſeek ye the Prieſthood alſo? Numb. 16. 10. In Chald. the High-prieſthood. In Gr. to do the Prieſts office. That was in degree above the Levites, who were to miniſter unto the Prieſts, but not to come nigh the Altar, as did the Prieſts, Numb. 18. 2,3. Aynſw.

Shall bear the iniquity of your Prieſthood, Num. 18. 1. that is, ſhall bear the puniſhment for all iniquity that is done about your Prieſts office. And this is ſpeciall concerning the Prieſts, whoſe care and charge is over the Levites alſo, which might not come neer ſomething belonging to the Prieſthood. Idem.

Prince] Among the Princes of Judah, Matt. 2. 6. In ſtead of the Hebr. word, Mic. 5. 2. rendred thouſands, the Evangeliſt hath here ſet downe ἡγεμόσιν, rulers. The meaning of it will not be diſcerned, but by remembring a cuſtome of the Jews, among whom the people was diſtributed by chiliads, or thouſands, ſo many in a Town or City; not that that number was ſo to continue, and not to exceed, but onely in relation to the firſt diſtribution. Hence it is that ſuch a Diviſion, or Town, or City, is in the Old Teſtament phraſe called a chiliad, or thouſand, as in Micah it is, and Judg. 6. 15. where the ordinary tranſlation reads, My familie is poor in Manaſſeh, but the Heb. rendred in the marg. is, My thouſand is the meaneſt, &c. Of every ſuch Diviſion viſion there was ſome Lord or Chief, under whom the whole multitude were, as under a Patriarch, or Head of a family. And ſuch was Gedeon, Judg. 6. 15. when he ſaith, my thouſand; and as it is ordinary for a King of any Nation in Authors, to ſignifie not only the perſon of the King, but the whole people under him alſo; ſo here the ἡγεμόνες, rulers in the Evangeliſt, are the very ſame with the thouſands in the Prophet, and each of them ſignifie the Towns or Cities of Judah, ſuch as Bethlehem was, which is here ſpoken of, as the place where the Meſſias was to be born, according to that in Micah aforeſaid. Dr. H. Annot. f.

Priſon] And preacheth to the ſpirits in priſon, 1 Pet. 3. 19. The ſpirits in the priſon, or cuſtody, or ſheath (here φυλακὴ ſignifying any kinde of receptacle, Rev. 18. 2.) are thoſe ſouls of men, that lay ſo ſheathed, ſo uſeleſſe and unprofitable in their bodies, immerſed ſo deep in carnality, as not to perform any ſervice to God, who inſpired and placed them there) and it's elſewhere a figurative ſpeech to expreſſe wicked men, who are called priſoners in priſon, i. e. ἐν φυλακῇ, Iſa. 42. 7. & ch. 49. 9. and bound in priſon, Iſa. 61. 1.) they, the thoughts of whoſe hearts were evil continually. To theſe Chriſt, i. e. God eternall went and preached in, or by that Spirit by which he was now raiſed from the dead. Dr. H. Ann. f.

Prochorus] The name of a Deacon, Act. 6. 5. It's derived of πρὸ, before, and χόρος a company of ſingers, or dancers; that is, quick, nimble, ready, he that leadeth the dance. Paſor Etym.

Proclamation] A publick notice given by the voyce of a Cryer, of any buſineſſe whereof a Superiour is pleaſed to advertiſe his Subjects, 1 King. 15. 22. 2 Chr. 24. 9. & 30. 5.

Profit] To do good to, be profitable, avail, aid, help, 1 Sam. 12. 21. Prov. 10. 2. & 11. 4.

Promiſe] Breach of promiſe, Numb. 14. 34. or altering of my purpoſe, marg.

Promiſe] To ſpeak the word, aſſure, warrant, Exod. 12. 25. Numb. 14. 40. Joſh. 9. 21. And he promiſed, Luk. 22. 6. ἐξωμολόγησε, clearly denotes one of theſe two things, either confeſſion of ſin, or giving of thanks, both being the importance of the Hebr. הודה, in Hiphil, from ידה. In the ſenſe of confeſſing of faults, it's to be found, Mat. 2. 6. Mar. 1. 5. Act. 19. 18. Jam. 5. 16. In that of praiſing or giving thanks, Matt. 11. 25. Luk. 10. 21. Rom. 14. 11, 15. Phil. 2, 11. Rev. 3. 5. and ſo here, which being an expreſſion of joy, is oft taken for joy it ſelf, and ſo is fit for this turne, the covetous Purſe-bearer being very well pleaſed with ſuch a bargain. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

Promote] And go to be promoted over the trees, Judg. 9. 9. or go up and downe for other trees, marg.

Prophеſie] And propheſied, Luk. 1. 67. Beſides, the foretelling of future events, which is the ordinary notion of to propheſie, it ſignifies, 2. To work miracles, Eccl. 48. 14. 3. To declare the Wil of God to any, by revelation or miſſion from him. In which ſenſe as Chriſts prophetick office conſiſted in revealing the Wil of God to the world, ſo all that have in any degree done the like, are ſtyled Prophets. All that have taught men their duties towards God and men. Thus the Heathen Poets which ordinarily reprehended their vices, are by St. Paul called, their owne Prophets, Tit. 1. 12. Thus when Exod. 7. 1. God ſaid to Moſes, I have made thee a God to Pharaoh, and Aaron thy Brother ſhall be thy Prophet; the meaning is, that what God had or ſhould command Moſes ſhould (as God to a Prophet, the Oracle to the προφήτης) deliver to Aaron, concerning Pharaoh; and Aaron ſhould go as a Prophet ſent from God, and deliver it to Pharaoh, Exod. 4. 16. 4. To expound or interpret Scripture, 1 Cor. 14. 1, 4, 5, 6, 22, 24, 29, 31, 32. 5. It's ſometime ſet to ſignifie wilde raving behaviour or ſpeaking, ſuch as the ἐνθουσιασμοὶ, or Enthuſiaſts among the Heathen, men poſſeſt with diabolicall furies, were wont to uſe, 1 Sam. 18. 10, 11. The reaſon of this is clear, v. 12. becauſe Prophets did ordinarily both ſpeak and act in a manner far diſtant and remote from the ordinary practiſe of other men; uſed ſtrange language, ſtrange motions and agitations of the body, and accordingly were by many that looked on them, thought to be mad, 2 King. 9. 11. 6. Singing and praiſing God, forming of divine Hymnes, and ſinging them to God, 1 Sam. 10. 5. And they ſhall propheſie, and thou ſhalt propheſie, where the Chald. Par. reads, ſhall ſing, and thou ſhalt praiſe with them. And ſo it's poſſible it may be, Numb. 11. 25. And to this notion of Propheſying, muſt this place of Zachary's propheſying be interpreted, and ſo 1 Cor. 11. 5. Dr. Ham. Annot. m.

Prophet] Being Prophets, Act. 15. 32. They that are here called Prophets, are alſo called verſ. 22. ἡγουμένους ἐν τοῖς ἀδελφοῖς, Governours of Churches, and accordingly to be reſolved perſons intruſted with the power of Biſhops in particular Churches of Judea, and ſo members of the Councel at Jeruſalem. Idem Annot. e.

More [illegible] Prophet, Matt. 11.9. viz. in reſpect of the clearneſs of Gods ſhewing Chriſt unto him, and his revealing him to others, pointing at him, ἰδοὺ, behold. Idem Ann. d.

That Prophet, Joh. 6. 14. The Jews expected a Meſſiah, whom they called ὁ προφήτης, the Prophet, but this a glorious one, and a powertull King, one that ſhould work their deliverance, free them from, and revenge them on the Nations, who had gotten the dominion over them. By this miracle of Chriſts in feeding ſuch a multitude with ſo ſmall proviſion, they conjectured rightly, that he was able to ſuſtain and feed the greateſt and moſt numerous Army, with very little charge, and hereupon were ready to come and take him by force to be their King, i. e. their Judge, or Leader to fight their battles for them. Idem Annot. a.

Secondarily Prophets, 1 Cor. 12. 28. Next after the Apoſtles are Prophets placed in the Church, both here, and Eph. 3. 5. & 4. 11. Their office was to preach more fully the Goſpel of Chriſt to thoſe who had formerly received it, and to that end they were inſpired by God with that ſpeciall gift of interpreting the propheſies, &c. of the Old Teſtament, thereby to confirm the Jews in the Faith; and beſide many other ſpiritual gifts, they had that of foretelling things to come, Act. 11. 27. Theſe differed from Apoſtles on one ſide, were inferiour to them, had not that higher commiſſion, ſaith Theophylact; and being joyned with Doctors, Act. 13. 1. did yet in this differ from them, ſay the Scholiaſts, that the Prophets did ſpeak all from the Spirit, but the Doctors from themſelves. Idem Ann. b.

Proſelyte] To make one Proſelyte, Mat. 23. 15. A Proſelyte is one that being a Gentile by Birth and Religion, comes over to the Jewiſh religion, either in whole, or in part. For there are three ſorts of Strangers, and two of Proſelytes in the Jewiſh Writings. The firſt ſort of Strangers are thoſe which continue open Idolaters, who were not permitted to live or have any place of beeing in the land of Iſrael. The ſecond ſort of Strangers are the firſt of Proſelytes, which though they imbraced not the whole Jewiſh religion of Circumciſion, Waſhing, Sabbatizing, &c. yet renounced the idolatry and πλῆθος, or multitude of the Gentile-gods, and aſſented to ſome foundations of the Jewiſh religion, which they called the ſeven Precepts of the Sons of Adam, and of Noah: (Which were,

1 Of ſtrange worſhip, or of renouncing the idolatry of the Heathens, the not worſhipping other gods.

2 Of the benediction, i. e. the worſhip of the Name, i. e. the true God.

3 Of judgement, or adminiſtration of juſtice.

4 Of diſcloſing nakedneſſe, i. e. of abſtaining from all uncleanneſſe.

5 Of ſhedding blood, or againſt homicide.

6 Of theft, or rapine, and doing as they would be done to by others.

7 Of a member of any live creature, or that they ſhould not eat the fleſh of any creature with the blood in it; a ceremony choſen by God, as a means to keep them in deteſtation and abhorrence of the ſin of homicide, occaſioned probably by the bloodineſſe that was among the men of the Old world, and accordingly given to Noah after the Flood, Geneſ. 9. 4. and conſequently to all the Proſelytes among the Jews. Whereof ſee on Act. 15. Ann. d.)

Theſe were called Proſelytes of the gates, were permitted to live among them, to come into the one Court (the outer) of the Temple; and in brief, were by the Jews allowed to have a portion in the life to come. The third ſort of Strangers, and ſecond of Proſelytes, are thoſe which embraced the whole Jewiſh religion, ſubmitted to be circumciſed, and to perform the whole number of the precepts of the Law, and theſe are admitted to priviledges proportionably, and differ nothing from a Jew, but onely that they are not born in the land, (of which ſort were Urias the Hittite, Herod the Idumean, whoſe Kingdome in his Succeſſors is therefore called מלכות גוים, the Kingdome of the Strangers, and Nicolas, Act. 6.) who were called גרי צדק, Proſelytes of righteouſneſſe, גרי ברית, Proſelytes of the Covenant. Theſe may perhaps be meant by the children of the Covenant, Act. 3. 25. The multitude there being mixt of Jews and Proſelytes, chap. 2. 5, 14. Dr. Hamm. Annot. d.

Proſperouſly] With good ſucceſſe, as one would have or wiſh it, 2 Chron. 7. 11. Pſal. 45. 4.

Proud] God reſiſteth the proud, Jam. 4. 6. The word ὑπερήφανος here, notes not particularly the vice of pride and haughtineſſe, but a generall diſobedience and reſiſtance againſt the Law of God, which is called ὕβρις, con- mulicuſneſſe; and ſuperbia, pride, in oppoſition to obedience; as in Virgil,

Regum eſt
Parcere ſubjectis, & debellare ſuperbos.

It is the part of Kings to ſpare thoſe that ſubmit, and ſubdue the proud; a place directly parallel to this here out of the Proverbs; and which St. Auguſtine conceives to be had from thence. The place in the Proverbs reads, God ſcorneth the ſcorners (becauſe Scorners uſe to repell with ſcoffs all good counſels and admohitions) and ſo ſaith Æſchylus, God is the juſt and heavy puniſher of the proud. Dr. Hamm. Annot. b.

Proudly] Pſal. 17. 10. In pride, haughtily. Aynſw.

Dealt proudly, Neh. 9. 16. Rebellious and obſtinate ſinners, manifeſt pride of heart againſt God himſelf. Annot.

P V.

Publican] Many Publicans and ſinners, Mat. 9. 10. Publicans were infamous perſons among the Jews, not onely becauſe they dealt, and (by neceſſity of their Trade) converſed with the Gentiles, (whence perhaps the ἁμαρτωλοὶ, ſinners, here joyned with them, note Heathens, call'd ſinners of the Gentiles, Gal. 2. 15. And as Publicans and Sinners here, ſo we read Publicans and Heathens, chap. 18. 17.) but alſo in reſpect of their calling, that of hiring the tributes at a price, and raiſing gain to themſelves by exaction. The Publicans trade is filthy and ſordid, ſaith Artemidorus. And ſo that of the Poet, All Publicans are theeves, all rapacious, or robbers. And the Hebrews have a proverb, Have not a Wife out of a family in which there is a Publican, becauſe they are all Publicans, theeves, wicked ſinners. According to this is Zacheus his confeſſion of his former life, Luk. 19. 8. Dr. Ham. Ann. c.

Publickly] Openly, in the hearing of others, Act. 18. 28. & 20. 20.

Pure] Keep thy ſelf pure, 1 Tim. 5. 22. The meaning hereof will appear by the ancient Gloſſary. Ἁγνὸς, caſtus, it ſignifies that kinde of purity which conſiſts in perfect chaſtity, free from all ſhew of impurity. So ch. 3. 2. 2 Cor. 11. 2. Tit. 2. 5. Dr. Hamm. Annot. g.

Purpoſe] To intend, reſolve, determine, 2 Chr. 28. 10. & 32. 2. Iſa. 14. 24.

Purſe] In your purſes, Mat. 10. 9. The word ζώνη that literally ſignifies a girdle, both in Greek and Latine Authors, ſignifies alſo a purſe, either becauſe that was wont to be ſowed or faſtned to the girdle, or becauſe the girdle being a looſe thing, tyed about the middle, they uſed to wrap up [illegible] money within it. Dr. Hamm. Annot. e.

Purſue] From purſuing him, 2 Chr. 18. 32. Heb. from after him, marg.

Purſuer] One that eagerly followeth after another for his ruine and overthrow, Joſh. 2. 16, 22. Lam. 1. 6.

Put] To put her away, Mat. 1. 19. This here muſt be taken not as an act of divorce, but ſo as without taking notice of the betrothing, which being ordinarily performed at home, might be kept from publick knowledge; and ſo her being with childe needed not bring the puniſhment of one found by the Husband to be no Maid, Deut. 22. 2. upon her, but onely that which belonged to the unmarryed. D. Ham. Ann. i.

Put to the worſe, 2 Chr. 25. 22. Heb. ſmitten, marg.

Q u.

Queſtion] What queſtion ye with them, or among your ſelves, marg. Mar. 9. 16. The Originall συζητέω is rendred in Mar. 12. 28. by reaſoning together, in Luk. 22. 23. by enquiring among themſelves, in Act. 6. 9. by diſputing. So Act. 9. 29. it properly ſignifieth, to enquire of the truth by a familiar conference, yet ſo as that often what one holdeth, another denyeth. Leigh Crit. Sac.

Then he queſtioned with him, Luk. 23. 9. ἐπηρώτα αὐτὸν. The originall ἐπερωτάω, is rendred in Mat. 12. 10. by asking, in Matt. 16. 1. by deſiring, in Mat. 22. 35. by asking a queſtion, in Luk. 3. 14. by demanding. What queſtions Herod's were, are not expreſſed, but not being propounded with any intent to be converted, but for his curioſity, Chriſt therefore would not afford an anſwer.

Quiet] Quieted my ſelf (Hebr. my ſoul, m.) Pſal 131. 2. Stilled, or made ſilent, refraining it from noyſome luſts. Aynſw.

When he quieteth the earth, Job 37. 18. When God takes away the ſtorm from it, and ſends heat. Or imperſonally, when the earth is quieted. Annot.

Have

Have quieted my ſpirit in the North Countrey, Zech. 6. 8. Have perfectly executed their charge, and given me ſatisfaction; either ſatisfying me in my revenge upon the Chaldeans, for the wrong done to my people, as Iſa. 1. 24. Or, ſo working upon my people yet remaining there, ſo reducing them to penitency and piety, as thereby rendring me pacified and appeaſed toward them; not minding utterly to caſt them off, but really to be reconciled with them, and intreated by them. Annot.

R A.

Racha] Mat. 5. 22. Ραχὰ is an Heb. word, and ſignifies vain, or empty, and being applyed to any man, is a word of contumely, calling him empty, deſpicable, witleſſe fellow. This is here forbidden by Chriſt, and (as an unſupportable wound to anothers reputation, which is generally prized next to life, often preferred before it) is by him thought fit to be ſuperadded to the old Command of not killing. And this is an elevation of Chriſts doctrine above the Heathen theologie, which gives leave to reproach, and counſels to contumelious words. Dr. Ham. Annot. l.

Rachab, or Rahab] Mat. 1. 5 That Rachab was the Wife of Salmon, and Mother of Boaz, is not ſet down in the Old Teſtament, nor mentioned in the genealogie in St. Luke, but recited by this Evangeliſt, either out of the Cabala or Tradition, or elſe from ſome other written Author of ſufficient credit among the Jews, as the names of Jannes and Jambres, 2 Tim. 3. 8. and ſome others appear to have been. Dr. Ham. Annot. c.

Rags] As filthy rags, Iſa. 64. 6. Concerning the notion of the word here uſed, and not elſewhere read; as alſo concerning the notation of it, there is great variety of opinions, even among the Jewiſh Criticks themſelves. Some of them render it, a coat of patches, or rags, a Beggars coat, made up of rags of old cloth, worn out, and caſt away, from a Chald. word that ſo ſignifies. Others, a garment defiled with blood, from a word that ſignifies prey or ſpoyl, Gen. 49. 27. For that garments ſo taken from ravenous beaſts, or by men in fight, are uſually ſuch, Gen. 37. 31, 33. chap. 9. 5. See Lam. 4. 14, 15. Others, a clout of ſores; a clout, or rag, pulled off from ſome matury ſore, from a Chald. word ſo ſignifying, Lev. 13. 2. Others, the cloth or ſheet, mentioned Deut. 22. 15, 17. from a term that imports teſtimony. Others, a birth-clout, or cloth uſed about child-birth, from a Chald. word ſignifying to bear, or to be with-childe. Others laſtly, a cloth, or cloth of ſeparations, a menſtruous cloth or clout, as coming from a word that ſignifies both in Hebr. and Chald. as before to put away, or to remove and ſeparate, Prov. 25. 20. Dan. 2. 21. and as having affinity with another word of that notion, Ezek. 7. 19, 20. & 36. 17. and this moſt pitch upon; the old Latine among others, and our oldeſt Engliſh. Nor is the Greek deemed to intend other, when it rendreth it of a ſitting woman, being ſuppoſed to have an eye to that of Rachel, Gen. 31. 34, 35. Nor the Chald. who rendreth it an abominable thing in generall; but hath a word in particular deſigning this, derived from it. And to ſome ſuch loathſome and naſty ſtuffe in all likelyhood, doth the Prophet compare the moſt righteous among the main multitude of his people. See cha. 30. 22. Lam. 1. 17. Annot.

Railer] Or a Railer, 1 Cor. 5. 11. That λοιδορὸς ſignifies a railer, or opprobrious, contumelious ſpeaker, there is no doubt; but that it ſignifies reproachfull actions as well as words, there is as little queſtion; and therefore Heſychius that renders it κακολογῶν in reference to words, renders it ὑβριστὴς, a contumelious perſon, it may be in reſpect of actions alſo. And then it may be here another notation of the Heathen Gnoſticks ſins of uncleanneſſe, which in all languages have been civilly expreſt by words that note contumely, or reproach. If this be not it, it may then, according to the ordinary uſe of the word for reproachfull ſpeeches, refer to the uncharitableneſſe of the Gnoſticks, in accuſing the Chriſtians, and ſo ſtirring up perſecutions againſt them. Dr. Ham. Annot. k.

Rainy] A rainy day, Prov. 27. 15. A day wherein there's ſtore of rain.

Ran] 1 King. 18. 35. Hebr. went, marg. Ran thorow, 2 Chro. 32. 4. Hebr. overflowed, marg.

Ranſome] I will ranſome them, Hoſ. 13. 14. Vouchſafe them a temporall deliverance from captivity, and a ſpirituall deliverance from the power of the grave and death. Annot.

The Lord hath ranſomed Jacob, Jer. 31. 11. or reſcued him. Annot.

Rably] Headlong, unadviſedly, without diſcretion or deliberation, Act. 19. 37.

Rabenous] Nor any ravenous beaſt, Iſa. 35. 5. Heb. a ravenous of beaſts. The word properly ſignifieth a burgler, one that breaketh into houſes to rob and ſpoyl, or murder and miſchief, Ezek. 7. 22. & 18. 10. Hoſ. 4. 2. Mic. 2. 13. More generally rendred robbers, Jer. 7. 11. alluded to, Joh. 10. 1, 8, 10. here uſed for any ravenous creature: ſuch among wilde beaſts as theſe are among men; ravenous, or ravener (for the word is ſubſtantive) of beaſts, that is, not one that in a ravenous manner maketh havock and ſpoyl of other beaſts (though ſuch commonly ſo doe) but one among beaſts that is ſo qualified, or ſo practiſeth; as choyce of Firs and Cedars, is not the choyce that others make of Cedars, but the choyce ones among them, ch. 37. 24. Jer. 22. 7. Annot. Calling a ravenous bird from the Eaſt, Iſa. 46. 11. Cyrus from Perſia lying to the Eaſt of Babylon, ch. 41. 2, 25. who ſhould come ſwiftly and ſeiſe upon Babylon, as an Eagle or Vulture upon his prey, Job 9. 26. By either of which alſo Cyrus might be reſembled, in regard of his hooked noſe like an Eagles or Vultures beak; which was in him ſo notable, that it brought men ſo marked in much repute among the Perſians. Annot.

Rabin] Spoyl, Nah. 2. 12.

R E.

Reaſon] Should he reaſon with unprofitable talk? Job 15. 3. The word ſignifies,

1. To reaſon a caſe by anſwers and replyes, ch. 6. 25.

2. To convince, confute, or reprove ſuch as are in the wrong, ch 6. 26.

3. To correct or ſcourge one for ſin, Pſal. 6. 1.

Here it is taken in the firſt ſenſe. Annot.

It ſignifieth alſo to conferre, diſcourſe, diſpute, contend, debate about a buſineſſe, Mat. 16. 8. Mar. 8. 16. Act. 17. 2.

Reaſonable, or rationall ſerbice] Rom. It may poſſibly be ſuch as will be agreeable to the notion of ὁ λόγος, the Word, as it ſignifies Chriſt, and then it's the Chriſtian ſervice. It may be, as λόγος ſignifies the Word or Scripture, and then it will be that worſhip which is preſcribed us in the Scripture; and ſo the Syr. ſeems to underſtand it, ſetting down for λογικὴν לעמי דבר, ſecundum os verbi, according to the mouth of the Word, i. e. ſuch as the Word preſcribes. It may be alſo as λόγος Word, is oppoſed to νόμος Law, and then it will be the Evangelicall worſhip. And once more it may note ſuch a worſhip of God as is moſt agreeable to reaſon, and ſuch as a rationall man will reſolve to be moſt agreeable to ſo excellent and pure a Deitie. But the circumſtances of the place, and oppoſition to the ſacrifices of the Law, the beaſts that were offered there, ſeem to reſtrain it to the vulgar and ordinary notion of λογικὴν, rationall, in oppoſition to the irrationall ſacrifices under the Law, as ζῶσα, living before, to the dead bodies among them. Dr. H. Annot. a.

Rebellious] Againſt the Lord, Deut. 9. 7. Againſt Parents, Deut. 21. 18, 20. Spoken of Children, Deut. 30. 1. City, Ezr. 4. 12, 15. Generation, Pſal. 78. 8. Heart, Jerem. 5. 23. Houſe, Ezek. 2. 5, 6. Nation, Ezek. 2. 3. People, Iſa. 30. 9. Princes, Iſa. 1. 23. Son, Deut. 21. 18, 20.

A rebellious Son, Deut. 21. 18. The Heb. Moreh ſignifieth one that changeth or turneth to the worſe, both in heart and action, and in particular turneth from and oppoſeth the Word of God, as Deut. 1. 26, 43. & 9. 7, 23, 24. The Gr. here tranſlateth it contentious; the inſtance of this rebellion is ſhewed, v. 20. Aynſw.

Rebels] Numb. 17. 10. Heb. children of rebellion, marg. The Gr. tranſlateth, the diſobedient Sons, meaning the Iſraelites, called Sons, or children of rebellion, becauſe they were ſo much addicted thereunto, as if Rebellion it ſelf had been their Mother. Idem.

Rebuker] Though I have been a rebuker of them all, Hoſ. 5. 2. Heb. a correction; that is, I that am the ſupreme Lord, will look over and correct their judgements, and make theſe falſe Judges give an account. I will be he that ſhall reprove and puniſh all theſe iniquities, Job 24. 16. Hoſ. 6. 9. Or, this they did, though I did rebuke them by my Prophets, and labour their amendment, which takes away all excuſe from them, and aggravates their crime; yet ſome would make the meening this, And I have been rebuked of them all, like that chap. 4. 4. & Lament. 3. 13. & Pſal. 22. 6, 7. & 44. 14. Annot.

Rebukes] Pſal. 39. 11. Reproofs. Aynſw. Furious rebukes, Ezek. 5. 15. Such as were not to cure, but to deſtroy. Annot.

Received up] Luk. 9. 51. Crucified, (See Joh. 12. 32.) Dr. Ham. Paraph.

Reconcile] Be reconciled, Matt. 5. 24. Reconcile thy ſelfe, appeaſe, get his favour.

So

So 1 Cor. 7.11. So Rom. 5.10. Reconciled to God, i. e. reſtored to his favour, God pacified toward us. Dr. Ham. Ann. m.

Reddiſh] Levit. 13.19. That hath any red colour, little or much, mingled with it. Aynſw.

Redemption of your bodies] Rom. 8.23. Deliverance (which is one kinde of adoption) from ſervitude and oppreſſions, the reſcuing our outward man out of the afflictions which encompaſſe us at the preſent (See verſ. 18.) and deliverance (from which, it's clear, we have not yet attained unto) and alſo from death it ſelf by the reſurrection of the body. Dr. Ham Par.

Redneſſe] Spoken of the eyes coming through drunkenneſſe, Prov. 23.29.

Redound] To abound, overflow, 2 Cor 4.15.

Refiner] One that by melting his oar or metall in the fire, purgeth the gold or ſilver from the droſſe. See Prov. 17.3. Jerem. 9.7. Applyed unto Chriſt, Mal. 3.2, 3.

Refreſhing] Times of refreſhing ſhall come, Act. 3.19. It is a figurative manner of ſpeaking, taken from Workmen repoſing themſelves in the cool ſhades; to repreſent eternall reſt after the labours and travels of this life. See Luk. 16.25. Rev. 7.15,16. & 14.13. Or he pointeth here at that w^ch Paul writeth, Rom. 11.23, 26. the final calling of the Jews by the Goſpel preached; to which thoſe words which before were preached unto you, verſ. 20. may alſo relate. Annot.

Regard] In regard of the oath of God, Eccleſ. 8.2. Becauſe of, in reſpect of.

And to him they had regard, Act. 8.11. Attended, applyed their minde or heart unto, were wholly addicted, gave ear unto, obeyed, did ſo obſerve that they placed their hope and confidence in him, became his followers. See Leigh Crit. Sac. in προσέχω.

Regeneration] Mat. 19.28. The word παλιγγενεσία ſignifies properly a new or ſecond ſtate. In ſacred Writers it's uſed agreeably for the reſurrection, whether that of the future being of body and ſoul, or that which Chriſt is pleaſed to make preparative to it the ſpiritual proſelytiſme, expreſt by that phraſe, Tit. 3.5. The change and renovation of the ſoul and affections in this life, and as a token, and ſigne of that work of Chriſts, it is uſed for baptiſme, that being born of water, and the holy Ghoſt, Joh. 3. Farther yet, and by the ſame analogie it may ſignifie that ſecond or new ſtate, that αἰὼνα ἀτὸν, in Iſaiah, that age to come, i. e. the ſtate of the Church under Chriſt, or his ſpirituall Kingdome, beginning at the reſurrection of Chriſt; and this either in reſpect of the beginning of it, Chriſts reſurrection, which is fitly ſtyled παλιγγενεσία, the new birth of Chriſt; or elſe in regard that all other things (i. e. the generall diſpoſall of all things in the Church) are become new, 2 Cor. 5.17. The Gentiles received into the Church, the Jewiſh prieſthood and ceremonies aboliſhed, &c. Dr. Hammond Annot. d.

Reign] Dominion, rule, government, 1 King. 6.1.

Remiſſion] Rom. 3.25. or paſſing over, marg.

Remnant] The remainder is ordinarily (in a Stewards account) a very contemptible low ſumme; and ſo is it that the Prophets call שׁאר, a remnant, ὑπολείμμα, that which remains of a far greater ſum, and ſo is fit to denote that ſmall number of the Jews which received the faith of Chriſt (at the preaching of the Goſpel then unto them) in proportion to, and compariſon with the far greater number that ſtood out againſt it. Dr. Ham. on Rom. 9.24. Annot. k.

Remphan] Act. 7.43. Diodorus Siculus mentions Remphis Son of Cephna, as King of Ægypt, about the time that Jacob went down thither, and ſaith of him, that he gathered an infinite maſſe of wealth, and left behind him at his death 4000000 talents; which makes it probable that he was that Prince which in the famine by Joſeph's advice got all the wealth of Ægypt, and the neighbour Countreys. This perſon was afterwards worſhipped as a God, for having preſerved Ægypt, and accordingly placed among the ſtars, and ſo the image of one of the planets, here called ἄστρον, a ſtar, ſet to ſignifie him. This ſtar it ſeems was Saturn, for ſo an old Ægyptian Alphabet which ſets down the names of the planets, for Saturn hath Ρυφαν, ῥυφὰν. Of this perſon, that tradition in Suidas is very intelligible, where of Apis, the Ægyptian god, it's ſaid, that he was a certain rich man, to whom at his death they erected a Temple, in which an Oxe was fed, as being the Hieroglyphick of an Husbandman. By which alſo it appears, that this was that Calf or Bullock worſhipt by the Iſraelites, Saturn being among the Gentiles preſident of Husbandry, and therefore ſometimes worſhipt in the ſhape of that beaſt, (under the name of Apis) as being the chief inſtrument in ploughing of the ground. Dr. Ham. Annot. f.

Renowned] Numb. 1.16. or the called, that is, Statesmen, such as were men of renowne, for age and wisdome, and called to consult about matters of State. See Num. 16.2. Aynsw.

Shall never be renowned, Isa. 14.20. Hebr. shall not be called for ever; that is, it shall not last alwayes, not continue for any long time, but be cut off ere long. Annot.

Rent] The High-priest rent his cloaths, Mat. 26.65. That rending of cloaths was an expression of indignation, holy zeal and piety among the Jews, expresst on severall occasions, especially of grief in humiliation, and of anger on the hearing of any blasphemous speech, is ordinarily known by all; onely the difficulty here is, how this could be fit or proper for the High-priest to do, which is made unlawful for the Priests, Lev.10.6. & 21.10. But the answer is easie, that that prohibition in Leviticus, extends onely to the not tearing of the Sacerdotall garments, i.e. of those which are used onely in the Priests office, Exod. 28.32. & 39.23. Dr. Hamm. Annot. l.

Repentance] Which need no repentance, Luk. 15.7. The difference of μετάνοια change of minde, from λύπη grief or sorrow for sin, or dislike of what a man hath done, is sufficiently known, and as it hath place in many other passages, so eminently in this. For as he that lives a godly life, may and doth often fall into such sins as deserve his sorrow and displeasure at himself, and so cannot be said not to want that sorrow; so it is certain, that that man continuing all his life so, without any eminent fall into wilfull sin, may be said not to need that μετάνοια, that change which is here spoken of, and is required to the bringing home of a lost sheep, a prodigall to his Fathers house. So he that was washt already, had no need (saith Christ) save to wash his feet, but is clean every whit, Joh.13.10. Dr Ha. Annot. a.

No place of repentance, Heb. 12.16. or, way to change his minde, marg.

Report] To declare, manifest, make openly known, divulge, noyse abroad, Jer. 20.10. Mat. 28.15. 1 Cor. 14.25.

Reproach] I have rolled away the reproach of Ægypt, Josh. 5.9. i.e. I have freed you from that shame and dishonour which did lye upon you whilest ye were Bond-slaves in the Land of Ægypt, by receiving you into covenant with me, acknowledging you for my peculiar people, and admitting you to have this priviledge, sealed unto you by this seal of Circumcision. Some understand hereby the Ægyptians reproaches, which they cast upon them whilest they were in the Wilderness, as though God had not out of his love delivered them out of Ægypt, but rather to wear and waste them in the Wilderness, even unto utter ruine, seeing they remained there still, after so many yeers spent, till they were almost consumed, and were not brought into the Promised land. See Deut. 8.28. Num. 14.16. The which report was now taken away, by their entring into the Land, which was unto them an earnest of all the rest, and now further secured by Gods renewing his Covenant with them, concerning their full possession of it, and confirming their faith in full assurance of it, by Circumcision and the Passover, which were as seals added to the promise. Some understand hereby, the wicked religion of Ægypt, with which they were infected and corrupted by living and conversing with them; from which he now delivered them, by renewing his Covenant with them, and confirming it unto them by his seals, the Sacraments. Others, by this reproach understand the reproach which did lye upon the Ægyptians themselves, as upon all other Nations, in that being out of covenant with God, and not partakers of the seals of it, they were aliens and strangers from God, in an Heathenish and damnable condition, and were so reputed and had in abomination with the Church and people of God, Genes. 34.16. 1 Sam. 17.26. From which reproach they were now freed by receiving the Sacrament of Circumcision. Others understand, and that very probably, the reproach which the Israelites themselves had contracted in Egypt, when as living among them for above 200 yeers, they imitated their evill manners, and were tainted with their superstitious and false worship, Exo. 32.1. neglecting Gods sincere worship and service; and hereby, as also by their late rebellion, had left this reproach upon their children, through the just judgement of God, that they had not the Sacrament of Gods covenant, but had their foreskin still upon them all the while they lived in the Wilderness, Numb. 14. 34, 35. From which wicked Nation they were now differenced, in that they did by Circumcision take upon them, and wear Gods livery and cognizance. Annot.

See Roll, where this is more briefly set down.

Reproach] To shame, Ruth 2.15. marg. To blaspheme and dishonour, 2 Ki. 19.4, 16

To

To caſt aſperſions upon, Neh. 6. 13. To diſgrace, and ſpeak contumelioufly of, Job 19. 3. To upbraid, Luk. 6. 22.

Reproachfully] To ones diſgrace, Job 16. 10. 1 Tim. 5. 14.

Reprobate] The word ἀδόκιμος hath two notions eſpecially, one among the Metallifts, the other belonging to the Agones; any metall that will not bear the δοκιμή, or tryall; or, which being tryed, betrayes it ſelf to be adulterate, is ἀδόκιμος, reprobate. But the notion that ſeems moſt peculiarly to belong to it in the New Teſtament, is the other, taken from the Agones, whereas he that ſtrives as he ought, and conquers, is δόκιμος, approved, 2 Tim. 5. 15. & Jam. 1. 12. So he that loſes the game and prize, that doth not run or ſtrive, νομίμως, according to the laws of the game, and ſo overcome, is ſaid to be ἀδόκιμος, to miſcarry in the race, and ſo to loſe the reward of it. Thus 1 Cor. 9. 27. it's at the concluſion of an Agoniſticall diſcourſe of running and cuffing, &c. The cloſe of which is, that the Apoſtle uſes all his moſt earneſt endevours, leſt being a κήρυξ, Preacher, Cryer, Officer in the Agones, to propoſe the laws and rewards of the Agones to others (which is to proclaim ſuch a man conquerour, ſuch a man to have loſt) he himſelfe ſhould ἀποκηρυχθῆναι be rejected, found uncapable of the reward by all aſpired to, i. e. fail of that crown of eternall life. So 2 Tim. 3. 8. ἀδόκιμοι περὶ τὴν πίστιν, in the matter of faith, ſuch as were found unworthy of reward by God, propoſed to Chriſtians. So Tit. 1. 16. ἀδόκιμοι, to every good work, that do nothing fit to be approved by God or man. Dr. Ham. on Rom. 1. 28. Annot. g.

Reproof] Applyed, 1. unto God, Job 26. 11. (whereby ſome underſtand the ſignes of Gods indignation; others, the thunder; others, earthquakes. Annot.)

2. Unto the Scripture, being profitable for reproof, 2 Tim. 3. 16. that is, to convince the enemies of the truth.

3. Unto wiſdome, (of which when we come to the Word) Prov. 1. 20. whoſe reproofs as they are intended for the converſion of a ſinner, Prov. 1. 23. and very advantagious unto ſuch as give ear unto them, Prov. 13. 18. & 15. 5, 31. arguing that they are wiſe, Prov. 17. 10. (and indeed the rod and reproof give wiſdome, Prov. 29. 15.) So to ſleight, contemne, or deſpiſe the ſame is very harmfull, and fearfully puniſhed, Prov. 1. 25--30. & 10. 17. & 12. 1. & 15. 10. 32.

Reprover] A wiſe reprover, Prov. 25. 12. One that is adviſed and diſcreet in adviſing, admoniſhing, counſelling, reproving; obſerving time, place, the nature and diſpoſition of the parties to be reproved, the fault for which, and the like circumſtances.

A reprover, Ezek. 3. 26. Heb. a man reproving. Annot.

Repute] Reputed vile, Job 18. 3. Hebr. polluted or unclean, and therefore fit to be rejected. Annot.

Reputed, Dan. 4. 35. Thought, held, eſteemed, accounted.

Requeſt] To demand, deſire, pray, intreat for, Judg. 8. 26. 1 King. 19. 4. 1 Chr. 4. 10. Dan. 1. 8.

Reſemblance] This is their reſemblance, Zech. 5. 6. or, this is their eye. Hereby is meant Gods univerſall providence, which is preſident over his judgements, and ſees in the Church the whole bulk and body of wicked men. Others thus, this reſembles them and their wickedneſſe bounded in, and circumſcribed by Gods all knowing and all-diſpoſing providence, who ſees how every ones ſins fill up the common meaſure. Annot.

Reſiſt not evil] Matt. 5. 39. The word ἀντῆναι, may here ſignifie (in a notion wherein ἀντὶ in compoſition imports vicem referre) repayment of injury, violence, &c. And it's obſervable that the word is applyed in the Old Teſtament to impleading or proſecuting at Law, as Jer. 49. 19. where the Heb. reads עמד, diem dicere, to implead, the Gr. have τίς ἀντήσεταί μοι, who ſhall reſiſt me? And ſo the word עמד, when it's rendred ἀντῆναι, to reſiſt, Iſa. 5. 8. it ſignifies impleading in judgement, & Obad. 11. to uſe violence againſt any. So ענה, which ſignifies any kinde of return to another in word or action, is rendred ἀντῆναι, to reſiſt, as Deu. 19. 18. Iſa. 3. 9. & 59. 12. Jer. 14. 7. By which (as it's here ſet in oppoſition to the lex talionis, law of retaliation, the eye for eye, verſ. 38.) it will appear, that in caſes of this nature (a light contumely, &c.) not onely private revenge is interdicted Chriſtians, but alſo the exacting of legal revenge before the Magiſtrate. But beſide this, ἀντῆναι ſignifies ordinarily violent and armed reſiſtance, Rom. 13. 2. and then the matter of precept will be, that in injuries (of this nature again) we may not for the ſecuring of our ſelves from more, flie to any violent reſiſtance. Patience at the preſent, and depending on Gods providence for the future doth much better become a Chriſtian. See Jam. 5. 6. Dr. Hamm. Annot. q.

Reſpecter] God is no reſpecter of perſons, Act. 10 34. Or, hath no regard in his acceptance, to the externall condition of the perſon, as of what nation, family, name, or quality he be of. He ſpeaketh here of thoſe following degrees of grace, faith, and obedience, which where ever they are found, it's evident they are acceptable to him. Annot.

Reſt] The reſidue, remainder, other part, others, ſpoken of and applyed unto divers things, Gen. 30. 36. Levit. 5. 9. Numb. 31. 8, 32. Judg. 7 6.

Reſtore] Gal. 6. 1. The word καταρτίζειν, which we render reſtore, ſignifies properly to put in joynt any member of a body which is diſlocated, and ſo fitly belongs to the reſtoring an excommunicate perſon to the ſociety and peace of the Church. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

And reſtore all things, Mat. 17. 11. Ἀποκαταστήσει, the word here uſed is rendred by Heſychius and Thavorinus, to finiſh or perfect. According to this notation of the word, this would be the importance of the place, he ſhall finiſh or perform, eſtabliſh, ſettle all things; both perform all that was propheſied of Elias, at his coming, and cloſe and ſhut up the firſt ſtate of the world, that of the Moſaicall œconomy, making entrance, as an harbinger; on the ſecond, that of the Meſſias. In this ſenſe it is that it is ſaid, that the Law and the Prophets were untill John, noting him to be the concluſion and ſhutting up, finiſhing and cloſing that ſtate, and that was to be the office of Elias, under whoſe name John was prefigured. And thus the word ἀποκαταστάσεως clearly ſignifies, Act. 3. 21. But it's alſo certain that this word hath another ſignification belonging to it, to reſtore or reduce, Act. 1. 7. So for this place in St. Matth. it muſt be obſerved, that Mal. 4. 8. where Elias's coming it's there added in the Septuagint, in ſtead of השיב לב, he ſhall turn the heart of the Fathers (not to, but) with the children, ἀποκαταστήσει καρδίαν (the word here uſed) he ſhall reduce or reſtore the heart. And it's evident, that this place refers to that, though it repeat not the remainder of that verſe, but onely πάντα in ſtead of it; and doing ſo, it muſt then ſignifie John Baptiſt's preaching of repentance (which is the ſignification of תשובה, and the importance of that verſe in Malachi) and by that means converting them to the faith of Chriſt, i.e. by his preaching, endevouring, though not very ſucceſſefully, to do ſo. This then being the meaning of that propheſie in Malachi, of a ſpiritual reſtoring, bringing them to repentance, or preaching the doctrine of repentance to the Jews, they underſtood it in a more carnall ſenſe, of reſtoring them to their ſplendid ſtate again, which they enjoyed before their captivities, and late conqueſt of the Romanes over them. Dr. Ha. Annot. b.

Reſtorer] A reſtorer of thy life, Ruth 4. 15. i.e. He ſhall comfort and revive thee, reſtoring thee as it were to a new life. See Pſal. 19. 8. & 23. 3. Lam. 1. 11. Annot.

The reſtorer of paths to dwell in, Iſa. 58. 12. That is, the cleerer of thoſe wayes, by which men may return to thoſe places, where they are to inhabit, whereas they were formerly neglected and diſuſed, and conſequently overgrown, either through want of people to travel, or of ſafety to travellers, Judg. 5. 6, 7. Lam. 1. 4. Or, the returner of thoſe places that were made paths of before, by the enemy paſſing to and fro over them, having ruined the buildings, and flatted the foundation of them, to be places for men to inhabit again. Annot.

Reſtraint] There is no reſtraint to the Lord, 1 Sam. 14. 6. that is, he is in himſelfe ſo omnipotent and all-ſufficient, that it is all one with him to ſave with few as with many. So 2 Chr. 14. 11. Annot.

Reſurrection] Matt. 22. 31. Ἀνάστασις, of which the Sadducees ask, v. 23. and ἀνάστασις ἐκ νεκρῶν, which Chriſt undertakes here to demonſtrate, doth not peculiarly ſignifie the reſurrection of the body, but denotes another life (beſides this, and after this) a continuing or being kept alive by God after departure out of this life; as that which is call'd, Rom. 9. 17. raiſing up (and in Luke the phraſe is ἐγείρεται, the ſame that there) is in the Hebr. from whence it's cited, Exod. 9. 16. to make to ſtand, and is rendred by the Septuagint, keeping alive, or ſafe. And the literall notation of the word ἀνάστασις goes no farther; for στάσις is ſtanding, or ſubſiſting, and ἀνὰ in compoſition ſignifies re, or again. So ἀνάστασις νεκρῶν, is the reſubſiſtence, or ſecond ſtate of men, that after this life, consisting first of the immortality and continuance of the soul in state of separation, and at length in the reunion of the body to it, whereby it becomes perfect. It's true, it sometimes signifies the resurrection of the body distinctly, but that is, when it's joyned with the word σαρκὸς of the flesh, or σώματος of the body, or νεκρῶν of the dead, in the neuter, (as νεκρὰ signifies cadavera, or dead bodies) or when without any of these, the context of the Authour doth appear to restrain it to that sense; but here τῶν νεκρῶν, is the masculine (as appears by comparing it with the story in St. Luke distinctly νεκροὶ in the parallel) and the context doth not so restrain it, but rather enforceth the enlarging of it; in like manner, as οἱ λέγοντες μὴ εἶναι ἀνάστασιν, ve. 23. may be the character of the Sadduces, who denyed all future life, or subsistence of soul or body after death. And thus ἀνάστασις τῶν δικαίων seems to note Luk. 14.14. the reward there spoken of, being that which is opposed to our rewarding one another in this life; and so the phrase denoting all, which is not of this life, i. e. that blisse which the just enjoy after this life. And the phrase which the Jews used to signifie this, is the age or world to come, which these Sadduces distinctly denyed, and the Pharisees believed and affirmed. And sure St. Paul, one of those Pharisees christianized, did reckon of this continued life of the soul, contrary to the mortality or sleeping of it, when Phil. 1.23. he saith, that he desires ἀναλῦσαι (which sure is a phrase to expresse the separation of soul and body) and to be with Christ, which I suppose most conclude a being of the soul, and that a happy one, unlesse Christ be imagined still to be asleep; and so again, when he calls travelling out of the body, a travelling to the Lord, 2 Cor. 5. 8. Dr Ham. Annot. d.

Resurrection from the dead, Rom. 1. 4. Ἀνάστασις νεκρῶν, is the general word which contains under it the rising again of every dead body, and is applyable to every such particular that riseth, and so here denotes the resurrection of Christ, being by the context particularly determined to that, as in other places, it may denote the resurrection of any one or more men, as the context shall enforce. Id. Ann. a.

Reveal] When the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven, 2 Thess. 1. 7. The revelation of Christ, as the coming of Christ, is a phrase of a doubtful signification; sometimes signifying the coming to the finall doom; sometimes also that coming that was described, Mat. 24. and was to be within that generation. And so sure it signifies in several places of St. Peter, 1 Pet. 1. 7, 13. & chap. 4. 13. and the deliverance ready to be revealed in the last time, ch. 1. 5. The destruction of the Jews, being the time of the deliverance and escaping to the Christians that were persecuted by them (See Rom. 13. 11.) So again, 1 Pet. 5. 1. where St. Peter saying of himself, that he was a witnesse of the sufferings of Christ, addeth, he was also partaker of the glory that should be revealed, i. e. present at the transfiguration, where by Moses and Elias were represented and declared the glorious consequents of his crucifixion, i. e. the destruction of his crucifiers, and deliverance of his faithful disciples. And so here it most probably signifies, where the vengeance on the oppressors, i. e. the crucifiers of Christ, and persecuters of Christians is described, and an appendix of that, rest and release to the oppressed, which is the deliverance so oft promised to them that persevere, and endure, and outlast those persecutions, and that v. 10. in that day, which is the notation of that time of vengeance upon the Jews. Revelation] Hath a revelation, 1 Cor. 14. 26. That Ἀποκάλυψις doth not always signifie a vision; or passively, a receiving a revelation by extasie or dream from God, but onely a sense or notion, a meaning or interpretation of a piece of Scripture, that through some figure (or the like) hath much difficulty in it, may appear by vers. 6. where in opposition to the miraculous speaking of tongues, those four wayes of expounding in the Church are set down; and the first of them Ἀποκάλυψις, revelation, or expounding of sacred figures, &c. So vers. 26. Ἀποκάλυψιν ἔχει, hath a revelation, as hath an interpretation, is of him that can expound any such figure; as the other is he that can interpret a strange language; and so here in this verse, that which is here hath a revelation, must be expounded by the Prophets speaking, vers. 29. For thus it lyes, Let the Prophets speak two or three; i. e. so many in a meeting, If another that sitteth by have any revelation; i. e. if whilest one is speaking, another be, or conceive himself able to expound the difficulty, then let the first, i. e. the Prophet, then a speaking, hold his peace, give way to him; whereas the Prophets speaking, is all one with having a revelation; so the thing thus delivered being to be judged of by others, others, whether it be right, or no, let others judge, v. 29. is concluded not to be any speciall revelation from God. For if it were ſuppoſed ſuch, it ought not to be ſubject to others judging of it. Dr. Ha. Ann. b.

Ezek. 21. 15. Lawfull, 2 Cor. 7. 11. What revenge, either taken upon the inceſtuous perſon, by the cenſure of Excommunication pronounced againſt him, or againſt your ſelves, by the great grief you expreſt for having been ſo negligent before, puniſhing your ſelves for not having puniſhed him. Annot.

Revenger] Put for the perſuer of a murtherer, Numb. 35. 19. and for the Magiſtrate, Rom. 13. 4.

Reverence] To have in honour and reverence, and that both inwardly & outwardly, which the Jews ſhould have performed toward Chriſt, Mat. 21. 37. and the Wife is to perform towards her Husband, Eph. 5. 33. which Mordecai would not perform towards Haman, though others did, Eſt. 3. 2.

Reverence my Sanctuary, Levit. 19. 30. or fear my Sanctuary, unto which they were to come on the Sabbaths, Ezek. 46. 3. which Sanctuary was now the Tabernacle, afterwards the Temple. This fear was for the preſence of God therein. See Gen. 28. 16, 17. & Eccl. 5. 1. And as the Sanctuary of God was chiefly a figure of the body of our Lord Jeſus, Joh. 2. 19, 21. Heb. 9. 11. So this precept hath chiefeſt reſpect unto him whom all ought to reverence, and to honour the Son, even as they honour the Father, Joh. 5. 23. who when he bringeth in the firſt-begotten into the world, he ſaith, And let all the Angels of God worſhip him, Heb. 1. 6. Aynſw.

Reverend] Pſal. 111. 9. or fearfull. Aynſw.

Reviler] A railer, one that ſpeaketh foul words to ones rebuke or reproach, 1 Cor. 6. 10.

Revilings] Iſa. 51. 7. or ſpirituall taunts. Annot.

Revolt] Iſa. 59. 13. Apoſtaſie from God. An.

Revolter] Grievous revolters, Jer. 6. 28. Hebr. revolters of revolters, or refractory ones, that is, grievous revolters, or extremely refractory. Annot.

And the revolters, Hoſ. 5. 2. Terms taken from ſuch as are high-way-robbers, which turn aſide or lie in ambuſh for mens eſtates and lives. Others take them for revolters from the right religion of Judah at Jeruſalem. Annot.

Reward] Spoken I. of God, and that, 1. With relation unto his owne children, Matt. 6. 4. which yet is wholly of Mercy, in reſpect of us, or our deſerving; but of Juſtice, in reſpect of his promiſes, and Chriſts merits, unto which is rendred and repayed that which he deſerved for us. The Crown is due debt, becauſe it is promiſed to us for Chriſts ſake, not becauſe any works of ours are able to purchaſe it. It's a juſt retribution, but withall a gift of favour. (See Leigh Crit. Sac. in ἀνταπόδομα.)

2. With relation unto his and his Peoples enemies, Deut. 32. 41. 2 Sam. 3. 39. Pſal. 54. 5. & 31. 23. Prov. 26. 10. He by his juſtice owes them puniſhment for their oppreſſion, and he will pay it.

II. Of ſuch as reward evill for good, 2 Chr. 20. 10, 11. 1 Sam. 24. 17. Pſal. 35. 12.

III. Of ſuch as [illegible]d evill to themſelves, Iſa. 3. 9.

IV. Of ſuch as [illegible]be inſtrumentall in the deſtruction of the Churches enemies, Pſal. 137. 8.

V. Of ſuch as give a good reward for things evill done, 1 Sam. 24. 17. See Annot. on Job 21. 19. He rewardeth him; where's ſhewed, that this word ſometimes ſignifieth to give a good reward for things well done, as Ruth 2. 12. 1 Sam. 24. 19. And ſometimes an evill reward for evill deeds, as verſ. 31. of that chap. Judg. 1. 7. 2 Sam. 3. 39. Jer. 32. 18.

Rewarder] Heb. 11. 6. See the Dict. there.

R I.

Richly] Plenteouſly, abundantly, Col. 3. 16. 1 Tim. 6. 17.

Rider] A horſe-man, or one that maketh uſe of an Horſe, Mule, Camel, Dromedaries, &c. whether for fight, or travail, Gen. 49. 17. Exod. 15. 1, 21. Eſt. 8. 10.

Right early] Pſal. 46. 5. At the looking forth of the morning very early. Aynſw.

Right forth] Jer. 49. 5. Not daring either to ſtand ſtill, or look back. Annot.

Right on] Prov. 4. 25. Let thine eyes look right on; look to thy wayes like a traveller, and look not aſide, weigh thy actions beforehand by Gods Word; keep the mean, and avoyd both extremes. Annot.

Right well] Pſal. 139. 14. Very well. Aynſw.

Righteous] One righteous ſeemingly, in his owne eyes, or in the eyes of others; outwardly, though inwardly an hypocrite, Ezek. 3. 20. & 18. 24. Annot.

Righteous acts, 1 Sam. 12. 7. Hebr. righteouſneſſes, or benefits, marg.

Righteouſly] Applyed, 1. To judging, both God's, Pſal. 67. 4. & 96. 10. Jer. 11. 20. and the Magiſtrates, Deut. 1, 16. who are to judge righteously, or judge justice, that is, just and righteous judgement, which is opposed to judging according to the appearance, Joh. 7. 24. Aynsw.

2. To living, Tit. 2. 12. which concerneth our carriage towards our neighbour, as godly relateth to God, and soberly to our selves.

3. To walking, Isa. 33. 15. which concerneth our life and conversation, being in Scripture compared to a way and a walk, Psal. 1. 6. Eph. 2. 10. & 4. 1. 17. & 5. 8. We must walk righteously, Hebr. in righteousnesse, in a continued course of righteousnesse and just dealing of all sorts, Psal. 106. 3. & 56. 1, 2. Annot.

Righteousnesse] Rom. 1. 17. Δικαιοσύνη, righteousnesse, signifies not alwayes the virtue of just dealing; but sometimes by a Metonymie, the matter about which that is conversant; the things which by law are required of any, and in performance of which his righteousnesse consequently consists, Mat. 3. 15. Phil. 3. 6. Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

Rightly] Fitly, Gen. 27. 36. Well, with good reason, Luk. 7. 43. Rightly dividing the Word, 2 Tim. 2. 15. Cutting the Word aright. The Gr. term ὀρθοτομέω, is taken from the laying straight of high-wayes; or, from drawing the lines of Geographicall maps; or, from distribution of food at a table, to signifie faithfull dispensation of Gods Word. It is a Metaphor taken from the Levites, who might not cut the members of the Sacrifices without due consideration. Leigh Crit. Sac.

Riotous] Is a companion of riotous men, Pro. 28. 7. or, feedeth gluttons. Annot. One that lavishly, dissolutely, prodigally wastes his means, Luk. 15. 13.

Risen] Gen. 19. 23. Heb. gone forth, mar.

R O.

Robber] Ezek. 18. 10. or Breaker up of an house, marg.

Rod] 1 Cor. 4. 21. The ῥάβδος, or rod here is the power of inflicting punishments in the Apostles of death it self, as on Ananias; of diseases, as on Elymas; and so the Hebr. word מַטֶּה, for ῥάβδος, is rendred πληγὴ, a stripe, Isa. 10. 24. and is all one with μάστιξ, scourge, Mar. 3. 10. And contrary to this is the spirit of meeknesse that followes here, mercifulnesse in not inflicting that sharpnesse on them, upon sight of their speedy reformation, which by threatning here he desires and hopes to produce, before his coming to them personally. Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

The rod of thine inheritance, Psal. 74. 2. or the Tribe, marg.

Robers] 1 Chr. 12. 21. The word is not in the Hebr. text.

Robber] Thy rowers have brought thee into great waters, Ezek. 27. 26. The ruin of Tyre. Thou hast been like unto a well furnished ship, brought into the main Sea of greatnesse, riches, and power by thy Governours, and there left to suffer shipwrack. Annot.

R V.

Rudiments] After the rudiments of the world, Col. 2. 8. Hereby may be understood those imperfect wayes of piety and virtue, which either the Jews or Gentiles adhered to before Christ, or before receiving the faith of Christ, especially the Gentile doctrines noted by Philosophy at the beginning of the verse, and the worshipping of Angels, vers. 18. but with all the Jewish abstinencies and observations, vers. 14, & 16. For it is certain that the Gnosticks Divinity, which through this whole chapt. is peculiarly noted, was a composition of Judaisme and Heathenisme both, and those doctrines of theirs, which they laboured to impose on Christians, are here expresst by the rudiments (or elements) of the world, and so vers. 20. though Gal. 4. 3, 9. where the matter confines it to the Mosaicall Law, it fitly belongs to that onely. Dr. H. Ann. b.

Ruine] Jerusalem is ruined, Isa. 3. 8. Brought to ruine, come to confusion. Or, as some, hath stumbled, as Psal. 27. 2. & 8. 15. According to that of the Apostle, Rom. 9. 32. & 11. 11. See Annot.

Ruinous heaps, Isa. 37. 26. or heaps overgrown, with grasse, weeds, shrubs, and other like trash, as waste places are wont to be. Annot.

Rule] Let us walk by the same rule, Phil. 3. 16. Κανὼν in the Stadia signified the white line that marked out the path wherein they were to run, and so αὐτῷ στοιχεῖν κανόνι here, is to go or run by the same line in that path, never stepping over, or out of it, lest they lose all. And thus are they most concerned to doe, that are before other men; and if they have but this one care, are not likely to miscarry by any thing else. That which is most contradictory to this in our Christian race, is dividing into factions and sides; peace, unity, and charity being the white, within which they are commanded to walk; and therefore it follows, that they should τὸ αὐτὸ φρονεῖν, minde the same thing, live in unity and amity, run all the same way, to the same end, and be all fellow-followers of the Apostle, vers. 17. Dr. Ham. Annot. k.

Ruler] A certain ruler, Mat. 9. 18. There was among the Jews the lesser or the greater Sanhedrim or Consistory, Matth. 5. 22. The former consisting of 23 Judges in every City, the latter of 72 in Jerusalem. The greater Sanhedrim was made up of the chief Priests, and Elders, or Presbyters of the people (call'd oft the Elders of Israel) and the Scribes of the people, Judg. 5. 11. (or in the Chald. Par. the Scribes of Israel.) They of the lesser Consistory were call'd Rulers, as here. Dr. Ham. Annot. g.

One of the Rulers of the Synagogue, Mar. 5. 22. Συναγωγῶν here signifies the lesser Consistory, among the Rulers whereof, though there was generally one chief in learning, and proportionably in authority, yet because the rest had power of judicature there, with and under him; therefore not onely he, but the rest also are all contained under the common name of Rulers of the Synagogue, both here, and Act. 13. 15. A difference there is between the Rulers of the Synagogues, and those that are called the Rulers of the people; but no more then this. The former are those in particular Cities, but the latter those of the Sanhedrim in Jerusalem. Both of them are in other places called simply Rulers, as Matth. 9. 18. 23. Luk. 18. 18. and in other places, when the context belongs to Jerusalem, as Luk. 23. 13, 25. Joh. 7. 26, 48. it's clear that the Rulers called so simply, must be those of the great Sanhedrim. Idem Annot. c.

Rust doth corrupt] Mat. 6. 19. Not that which Iron is subject to, but that which spoyls Corn, and is called smut among us. And in a greater latitude, it may belong to all other vermine which devour Corn in the Barn or Garner; yea, and the Caterpillars that eat up plants, and all other fruits also. Dr. Ham. Annot. k.

Sabbath] The next Sabbath, Act. 13. 42. or in the Week between, or in the Sabbath between, marg.

Sack] Gen. 42. 25. Mr. Aynsw. renders it Vessels, as in Lev. 11. 32. Sackcloth, which was made (saith he) of threads of hair, braided like a chain, or woven as cloth, and made either of Goats hair, or of Camels hair, or Horse tails, or the like. Whence we may observe that John Baptist's garment of Camels hair was Sackcloth, opposed to soft and Princely clothing, Mat. 3. 4. & 11. 8. And such the Prophets of old used for to wear, as Elias (in whose habit, and power, and spirit John Baptist came, Luk. 1. 17. (2 Ki. 1. 8. and Isaiah, Isa. 20. 2. and others, Zech. 13. 4.

Sacrifice] 1 Sam. 9. 12. or Feast, marg. Prov. 17. 1. or good cheer, marg.

Offered sacrifice, Gen. 31. 54. or killed beasts, marg. The sorts of Sacrifices were,

1. Patriarchall, such as holy men did offer from Adam's restauration to the Law, Gen. 4. 4. & 8. 20. & 46. 1.

2. Mosaicall, such as God appointed under Moses unto Israel, after their deliverance out of Egypt; whereof both the kinds, place, time, manner, by whom, for whom, for what sins, with the benefit, are particularized.

3. The Christian, Evangelicall, reall sacrifice, which is Jesus Christ, Ephes. 5. 2. Heb. 10. 10, 12, 14.

4. Spirituall sacrifice, performed in thankfulnesse to God, 2 Pet. 2. 5. particularized in Psal. 51. 17. Rom. 12. 1. & 15. 16. Phil. 2. 17. & 4. 18. Heb. 13. 15, 16.

5. Profane, Eccl. 5. 1.

6. Diabolicall and Heathenish, Exod. 34. 15. 2 King. 5. 17. Psal. 106. 37, 38. Act. 7. 41. 1 Cor. 10. 20.

Sad] Sorrowfull, pensive, troubled, Gen. 40. 6. The Gr. translated troubled, and so the Hebr. importeth an eagerly discontent, and fretfull trouble of minde, Prov. 19. 3. with a sad and lowring countenance, Dan. 1. 10. Aynsw.

And are ſad, Luk. 24.17. σκυθρωποὶ is properly the look of a wilde beaſt, a Lion or a Bear robbed of their Whelps, grim and gaſtly, one would be affraid to look on them. Leigh Cr. Sac.

As Abraham being ſpoken to of God to ſacrifice his Son, roſe early in the morning, and ſaddled his Aſſe, &c. ſhewing his readineſſe to obey the Will of the Lord, though with the loſſe of his onely Son, whom he loved: So Balaam here riſeth in the morning, ſaddleth his Aſſe, &c. ſhewing his greedineſſe to get preferment, and the wages of iniquity, which he loved, though with the loſſe of the favour of God, (and in the end) of his owne life. Gods children run not ſo faſt in the way of his commandements, when he enlargeth their heart, Pſal. 119. 32. but the children of Satan run as faſt to evill, and make haſt to ſhed innocent blood, Iſa. 59. 7. Sailer] Rev. 18. 17. See the Dictionary thereof.

Saints] Fellow-citizens with the Saints, Eph. 2. 19. That ἅγιοι, Saints, here ſignifies the Jews, will appear by the oppoſition to ξένοι, ſtrangers before, for in reſpect of the Jews it was that they were called ſtrangers, they being the onely people of God before, and now the Gentiles that were but גֵּרִים, ſtrangers (vulgarly known by that name) being received in to be συμπολῖται, fellow-citizens, With whom? Why with the ſame, to whom they were ſtrangers, i. e. the Jews. Dr. Hamm. Annot. b.

Salt ſea] Gen. 14. 3. or ſea of ſalt; meaning, that this goodly Valley, after it was burnt from heaven, became a ſalt ſea, and ſo barren and fruitleſſe, that no living thing, fiſh or other, was found therein; for ſo all Hiſtories teſtifie of that ſalt and dead ſea, as it was alſo called. Aynſw.

Salvation] Pſal. 144. 10. or Victory, m. Having ſalvation, Zech. 9. 9. or ſaving himſelf, marg.

Our ſalvation is neerer, Rom. 13. 11. Salvation here ſignifies the deliverance of the believing Jews, or Chriſtians, out of perſecutions, which (after the example of Chriſt) befell them in the firſt age, and from which they were delivered, partly by the great act of vengeance from Chriſt upon the Jews the crucifiers of him, and perſecuters of his followers; and partly by their departing generally out of Judea, before that deſtruction befell the Jews; and partly by the halcyonian dayes which under Veſpaſian were allowed the Chriſtians after this time in all places. Dr. Ham. Ann. c.

Now is the day of ſalvation, 2 Cor. 6. 2. Now the time is approaching, that the true pure Chriſtian profeſſion, thus long perſecuted by the Jews and Gnoſticks ſo ſharply (by which means it comes to paſſe that many daily fall off to ſave themſelves) ſhall ſuddenly have reſpite by the deſtruction of the enemies every where. Idem Ann. a.

Samaritan] Joh. 8. 48. This title of Samaritan here, is by way of reproach affixt on Chriſt, not that they thought him ſo, but becauſe this was an odious name among the Jews; ſo as Idolaters, Levit. 25. 47. are called Arames, or Syrians, becauſe the Syrians were anciently ſuch; and thus all cruell men we call Turks; and covetous, Jews; not that we think they are ſuch naturally, but that they are like unto them. Or elſe, becauſe Chriſt had converſed with the Samaritane woman, which was againſt the Jewiſh rule, Joh. 4. 9. He is thought to be a Deſertor of the Jewiſh law, and ſo to be one of them. Dr. Ha. Annot. d.

Samuel] Yea, and all the Prophets from Samuel, Act. 3. 24. The account of the Prophets is here begun from Samuel, becauſe the ſchools of the Prophets were firſt inſtituted and erected by him, and not that there was no Prophet before him, 1 Sam. 19. 20. as after, Elias was, 2 King. 2. 3, &c. and after him Eliſha. Theſe Sons of the Prophets ſpent their time in ſtudying the Law, and praiſing and ſerving of God; and of them, becauſe (though ſome were, yet) all were not call'd by God to the Prophetick office, ſent of meſſages to the people, therefore it's here added, as many as ſpake, i. e. as many as out of the ſchools of the Prophets were by God call'd to that publick office, foretold what was now come to paſſe. Sabe] God ſave the King, 1 Sam. 10. 24. Heb. let the King live, marg. Saving ſtrength, Pſal. 28. 8. Heb. ſtrength of ſalvations, m.

Are there few that ſhall be ſaved? Luk. 13. 23. σωζόμενοι is equivalent to the Heb. שׂרִיד, reſiduus, remnant, which therefore is rendred by it, Jer. 42. 17. & 44. 14. From this acception of the word for that remnant which ſhould eſcape of the Jews, out of the common deſtruction and ſlaughter that fell upon that people, call'd ἐκλεκτοὶ ſometimes, ſometimes καταξιωθέντες ἐκφυγεῖν, Luk. 21. 36. They that have the honour or favour to eſcape; another acception there is of it, for thoſe which ſhould believe in Chriſt, receive and imbrace him at his coming; and having done ſo, adhere and cleave faſt unto him. So when Iſa. 10. 22. it is propheſied that the remnant of Iſrael ſhall return; the Apoſtle Rom. 9. 27. applyes that place (literally ſpoken of the return from the Babyloniſh captivity) by way of accommodation to their receiving the faith of Chriſt, a remnant ſhall eſcape out of that Epidemicall unbelief, and receive Chriſt. So Luk. 19. 9, 10. 1 Cor. 7. 16. & Rom. 11. 14. And ſo here the σωζόμενοι ſhal be thoſe eſpecially the Jews that believed in Chriſt, and adhered to him; according to the importance of that, Act. 11. 17. And then the clear meaning of this uncertain mans queſtion will be this, Whether this doctrine or faith of Chriſt, ſo contrary to the humour and paſſions of the world, ſhould be able to propagate it ſelfe, and prove ſo ſucceſſefull as to be received by many, or whether it ſhould be contained and incloſed within a narrow pale, that ſo he might either reſiſt Chriſt with the many, or have the honour of being one of the few ſingular perſons that received him. Dr. Ha. Annot. b.

He ſhall be ſaved, yet ſo as by fire, 1 Cor. 3. 15. He ſhall eſcape as one eſcapes out of the fire; i. e. as one that, when in the midnight his houſe is ſet on fire, wakes and leaps out of the bed, and runs naked out of dores, taking nothing that is within along with him, taking care onely that he may ſnatch his owne body out of the flame; and it's a common obſervation, that to be ſaved as by fire, is a proverbiall ſpeech for thoſe that get hardly out of a great danger, as a brand ſnatcht out of the fire, Amos 4. 11. and ſo Jude v. 23. Idem Ann. b.

Save when there ſhall be no poor among you, Deut. 15. 4. or, to the end there be no poor among you, marg.

Sabiour] Act. 5. 31. One that leads and rules them, manages their Military affairs, to the avenging them of their enemies, and preſerving them ſafe and quiet. Such an one was Chriſt to be unto the people of God, and was ſent to be ſuch particularly to the Jews, but this not in that manner that they expected, but (as his Kingdome was not of this world) in a ſpirituall manner, to go in and out before them, againſt their ſpirituall enemies, Satan and Sin. To which end it was, that after his exaltation and inſtalment to his Regall office, the firſt thing was his ſending of his Spirit, thereby giving them (as here it follows) place of repentance, if upon the preaching of the Apoſtles, they will come in, and believe on him. In this ſenſe is it that Heb. 2. 10. Chriſt is call'd the Captain of ſalvation, or deliverance; i. e. a Captain deſigned on purpoſe to ſave or deliver them, to lead them (as it's there) through ſufferings to bliſſe, through the Wilderneſſe, and the Land of the Anakims, to Canaan, as Moſes and Joſhua, the Captains and the Saviours of the Jews did. Dr. Hamm. Annot. e.

Sabiour] Thou ſavoureſt not the things that be of God, Matt. 16. 23. The words are by B. Hall thus paraphraſed, Theſe motions of thine argue a minde that is fleſhly and ſenſuall, and not holy and rightly informed in, and diſpoſed to the things of God, who by my ſufferings and death hath hath graciouſly purpoſed the redemption of mankind. By Dr. Hamm. thus, Thou moveſt me to that which were a ſin, if I ſhould yeeld to it, and contrary to the will, courſe, and commandement of God my Father. Thou mindeſt not, judgeſt not aright, perceiveſt not, art not well adviſed, underſtandeſt not. Scholar] The learner, 1 Chr. 25. 8. Mal. 2. 12. or him that anſwereth, mar.

Scoffe] To deride, make a mock of, Hab. 1. 10.

Scoffers] 2 Pet. 3. 3. Ἐμπαῖκται here, and Jude v. 18. is anſwerable to the Hebr. לצים, very frequent in the Old Teſtament, which denotes the higheſt degree of defection from, and renouncing of piety. So Pſal. 1. 1. of the three degrees of ungodly men, לצים, irriſores, ſcoffers, or Scorners are the laſt. By theſe therefore are fitly here noted the Chriſtians which at this time in great numbers fell off to the Gnoſtick hereſie, and by ſo doing, complyed and joyned with the perſecuting Jews, and fell into all the villany in the world; expreſt here by κατὰ τὰς ἰδίας αὐτῶν ἐπιθυμίας πορευόμενοι, walking, i. e. going on habitually, as in a courſe, according to their own deſires; or (as when there was no King in Iſrael) every one doing that which was right in his own eyes, without any reſtraint of Law, of Nature, of Chriſt, &c.

Scorn] It's in effect the ſame with, To laugh to ſcorn, and ſhake the head at, 2 King. 19. 21. To deride, and ſcoffe at, Hab. 1. 10.

Scornfull] Pſal. 1. 1. Proud rhetoricall mockers, Loſels. The word importeth pride, as the Lord ſcorneth the ſcorners, Prov. 3. 34. that is, reſiſteth the proud, Jam. 4. 6. 1 Pet. 5. 5. It implyeth alſo eloquence, often uſed in mocks, Job 16. 20. The Gr. tranſlateth them peſtilent; they are of the worſt ſort of ſinners, which admit of no reproofe; therefore it is ſaid, Rebuke not a ſcorner leſt he hate thee, Prov. 9. 8. Aynſw.

Scourge] To beat with rods, whether juſtly, Lev. 19. 20. or unjuſtly, Mat. 10. 17. To chaſtiſe as God doth his children, Heb. 12. 6.

Touching the ſcourging of Jeſus, mentioned, Mat. 27. 26. Mar. 15. 15. Joh. 19. 1. To what the infliction of this ſort of puniſhment on him belonged is matter of queſtion.

1. That which is ordinarily ſaid, is that flagellation was among the Romans a ſolemne preparative to crucifixion; but this is not the notion that here we muſt have of the ſcourging of Chriſt, for then it muſt be part of his ſentence of death, which by Joh. 19. 1--6, 9, 12--16. it appears it was not.

2. The learned H. Grotius applyes this ſcourging to that other ordinary uſe of it, for examination, ſuch as Act. 22. 24. But there is no ground in any of the Goſpels for this conjecture.

3. A third ſort of ſcourging there was for capitall crimes, whipping to death, with the head faſtened to the furca, which was the old Romane puniſhment; but this belongeth not to this place.

4. That which will reconcile all the difficulty, and it ſelf be ſubject to none, is that Pilate willing to deliver Ieſus from capitall ſentence, appointed this of ſcourging to be inflicted on him. He propoſed to the Iews the ſcourging of him, as a lighter puniſhment, proportionable to his crimes, and then that he may releaſe him. So that the notion of his ſcourging, was that of a lighter puniſhment, to releaſe him from a greater, though when that was done, he was fain to gratifie them by delivering him up to their fury to be crucified alſo. Scrabled] 1 Sam. 21. 13. or Made marks, marg.

Scribe] Matth. 13. 52. The γραμματεὺς, Scribe, here ſet oppoſite to μαθητὴς, Diſciple, ſignifies him that is skilful in the Moſaical law (as the Diſciple is he that hath thereto ſuper- added the knowledge of the Gospel) or any man considered as furnished with sacred instructions and observations out of the Law, and the Prophets, and their ἀνταγώσεις, any skill in the mysteries of the Old Testament, or Iewish religion, who when he becomes a Disciple, or turns Christian, he becomes furnisht with the mysteries of the New Testament. Dr. Ham. Annot. g.

The γραμματεῖς, Scribes, were they that had been taught γράμματα, Joh. 7. 15. the books or writings of the Law, ἱερὰ γράμματα, 2 Tim. 3. 15. the holy writings, or Scriptures, and instructed in the meaning of them; those that had been the Sons of the Prophets, i. e. brought up in their Schools, but having not obtained the spirit or mission of Prophets at Gods hands, were sometimes thought fit to be chosen into the Sanhedrim. These (I say) are called Scribes, and wise men; and accordingly the Iews have an ancient saying, that After the age of the Prophets (i. e. when the spirit of propheſie was no more given) succeeds the age of the Scribes. Though of these some onely did keep school, and teach the Law; and then are styled simply γραμματεῖς, Scribes; whereas the others that were taken into the great Sanhedrim, are called Scribes of the people, Matt. 2. 4. Idem on Mar. 5. Scrip] Mat. 10 10. As the making provision of money for their journey, as they that go on their owne busineſſe are wont to do, is forbidden the Apostles, who going on Christ's errand, are to expect and confide to be provided for by him; so also for victuals, which sure is here meant by πήραν, the scrip, which was usuall for travellers or any to carry victuals in. Thus 2 King. 4. 42. that which we read ears of corn in the husk, the Gr. reads παλάθας ἐν τῇ πήρᾳ αὐτοῦ, ears in his scrip or sachel, thus rendring the Heb. צקל, which some taking for a vestment, rendred it there a husk, as a garment of the corn, but surely not rightly, for that was sufficiently said in the ears of corn precedent. The Hebr. צקל, is directly our English, sachel, and there ears of corn were brought in the sachel, and the bread (the twenty barley leaves) some other way. So Mar. 6. 8. (the place parallel to this here) it's set distinctly, μὴ πήραν, μὴ ἄρτον, neither sachel nor bread, neither other kind of victuals in the scrip, nor so much as bread. In Iudith ch. 10. 5. & 13. 10, 17. it notes a portage for victuals carried out with them. Dr. Hamm. Ann. e.

Sea-monsters] Lam. 4. 3. Monsters are properly such as either have some strange deformity, beside the naturall and ordinary course of their kinde; or grow to such an enormous bigneſſe and stature, as far exceedeth the common proportion of others of the same kinde; but no kinde of creature simply considered can properly be tearmed a Monster; nor can it be said, that God made any Monsters in his first work of Creation; Sea-monsters therefore is not proper here, and Sea-calves seems too narrow; Seals might do well; if that particular kinde were aimed at, which would include as well Sea-horses and Sea-hounds, as Sea-calves, all covered with a rough and hairy skin: But I see not why the word should not here be rendred as in the story of the Creation it is, Gen. 1. 21. & Job 7. 12. and as it would be, Psal. 44. 19. & 74. 13. Whales, for even Whales also as well as Seals bring forth young, have teats, and give suck to their young, which the Heb. here tearmeth whelps. Annot.

Seal] And Priests seal unto it, Nehem. 9. 38. Heb. are at the sealing, or sealed, mar.

Whereby ye are sealed, Ephes. 4. 30. The speciall use of a Seal, and that which in this and other places of the Scripture is most commonly referred to, is that of a mark or character set upon wares or commodities that are bought by any; and because men were as ordinarily bought as any other commodity, nothing was more ordinary then to set a seal or mark upon them, either in their forehead, or some other part, to distinguish them from all others. Thus Rev. 7. 3. the sealing is there accommodated to the servants of God, who are there supposed ſuppoſed to be bought, and are now farther to be reſcued out of the temporall inſuing danger; and as a token of that ſealed in the forehead, as Servi, Servants, in reſpect of the originall of the word, à ſervando, is all one with σωζόμενοι, who being ſpiritually reſcued and ſaved already from the pollutions of the world, are now to be delivered from the approaching deſtruction; when without that mark of diſcrimination, the good and ill might all be involved in the ſame calamity. Thus when Joh. 6. 27. it's ſaid, that God the Father hath ſealed Chriſt, the meaning is clear, that by the miracles which he did, and eſpecially by the holy Ghoſt's deſcending upon him, with this is he, he had owned him his ſervant, Iſa. 42. 1. and demonſtrated it as punctually as if he had mark'd him in the forehead, that this was his anointed ſpeciall ſervant, ſent by commiſſion from him, diſcriminated from all others; and that, whatſoever he ſaid, was the will and pleaſure of God. In reference to what was there ſaid, of God's ſealing Chriſt, is that which is here ſaid to be underſtood alſo; for there the Spirit's coming down upon Chriſt, was the ſealing of him, the ſignifying that he was Gods ſervant, ſent on his meſſage to the world; and here in like manner the Epheſians are ſaid to be ſealed by the Spirit to the day of redemption, i. e. by the preaching of the Goſpel, and ſetling of a Church among them, which is an effect directly of the Holy Ghoſt's deſcending on the Apoſtles, (as before upon Chriſt) and an act of the office of the Holy Ghoſt, by which the Epheſians that were believers, were demonſtratively pointed out to be by God deſigned to his ſervice, to a gracious Chriſtian life; and nothing ſo contrary, ſo grievous to his holy Spirit, as their neglecting and contradicting theſe deſignes of God, living unchriſtianly, verſ. 29. Shall ſee God, Matth. 5. 8. The ſeeing God here, may perhaps not look ſo far off, as the beatificall viſion in another world, but be firſt fulfill'd in the work of grace, in opening our eyes to behold the wonderfull things of Gods Law, for this belongs peculiarly to the purity of heart, as that excludes both hypocriſie and uncleanneſſe, filthineſſe of the fleſh and ſpirit. Thus God did exhibit himſelfe to be ſeen of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, not to the eyes of their bodies, but to the pure heart. Dr. Ham. Annot. c.

To be ſeen of them, Mat. 6. 1. When they ſhall ſeparate you, &c. Luk. 6. 22. The word ἀφορίζειν denotes the firſt ſort of excommunication among the Jews. That they called נדוי, Remotion, or Separation, to the diſtance of four paces, for thirty dayes, and that (though not totally, yet) in that degree, from civill, and domeſtick, and ſacred commerce, there being a gate into the Temple, called the gate of mourners, by which theſe ware were to enter, to diſcriminate them from other men. And that Hebr. word cannot be more literally rendred in Gr. then by ἀφορισμὸς. This did lay a reproach on him that was under it, and therefore that which is here added of ὀνειδίσωσι, reproach you, may perhaps be but an appendix or conſequent of that. Dr. Ham. Ann. e.

Who ſeparated me, Gal. 1. 15. ἀφορίζειν, to ſeparate in this place, ſignifies in the ſame manner, as Act. 13. 2. (ſpoken of this Apoſtle) a conſecration to the Apoſtolicall office, onely with this difference, that there it is ſpoken of as inſtantly to be performed by the miniſtery of men, here onely in the deſignation or decree of God, which is therefore ſaid to be ἐκ κοιλίας, from the wombe, to denote the no contribution made by him towards this decree of giving him a commiſſion to be an Apoſtle; or the no merit conſidered in him by God, when he deſigned him to this office. This farther includes a purpoſe of Gods to call him from heaven, in the midſt of his madneſſe againſt Chriſtians (which mercy of Gods to him, was founded in his doing of it ignorantly, 1 Tim. 1. 13) and his foreſight, that he would immediately convert upon that call; which two being firſt ſuppoſed (in Gods eternall purpoſe and preſcience) it muſt needs follow to be an act of his unmerited free choyce from all eternity, that God purpoſed to make uſe of him for the converting of others, who had himſelf been wonderfully changed from ſo proteſt an enmity to the faith, to ſo perfect an obedience unto it. Id. Annot. c.

Servant] I made my ſelf ſervant to all, 1 Cor. 9. 19. Servants, or δοῦλοι, bond-men or ſlaves, were wholly in the power of their Maſters; they had power of life and death over them, much more of their bodies for labour, without giving them any wages or reward. To do all that they are commanded is but the due debt to their Maſters, which if they perform they are not praiſed, but puniſhed if they do it not; whereas they that are free, if they do any office for any, they may in reaſon expect to be paid for it. So here St. Paul being a free-man, no ſlave to the Corinthians, i. e. under no obligation to preach without maintainance, verſ. 1. might in reaſon expect from them reward for all his ſervice, his preaching, &c. but he did all this for nothing, and that he calls, ἐδούλωσα ἐμαυτὸν πᾶσιν, his ſerving them as a ſervant doth, without any wages, or as though he were a ſervant. 2. In thouſands, and applyed unto ſuch as died of the plague, 2 Sam. 24. 15. ſuch as were ſlain by the Jews, Eſt. 9. 16. Sheep, Numb. 31. 32.

Seventy and ſeven-fold, Gen. 4. 24. that is, If he that killeth Cain ſhall be puniſhed ſeven fold, then he that killeth me ſhall be ſeventy ſeven fold. It ſeemeth to be an inſolent contempt of Gods judgement, and abuſing of his patience towards Cain, verſ. 15. See Eccleſ. 8. 11. Aynſw.

Some take the words for ſeventy times ſeven, which make up four hundred and ninety times; but it is ſeventy times, and ſeven times, as Gen. 7. 2. According to the Hebr. the words are, of every clean beaſt thou ſhalt take thee ſeven ſeven, that is, not ſeven times ſeven, nor two ſevens, though the word be doubled; but it is (as it is well rendred in our Tranſlation) by ſevens. So Mar. ch. 6. verſ. 7. when our Saviour ſent out the the twelve by two and two, he ſent them not by fours, but by ſeverall twos. The meaning of Lamech's words may ſeem to be this, that Cain's impunity might be his ſecurity, ſince though he had had his hands in blood, it was not the blood of his naturall brother, nor with contumacy againſt God, after the manner of Cain; and therefore if any one ſhould kill him, he ſhould be puniſhed much more, ſeventy and ſeven fold; a certain number put for an uncertain, as verſ. 15. Thus a wicked man turns the divine patience into humane preſumption. Annot.

Severally] 1 Cor. 12. 11. in particular.

Shadow] In the ſhadow of death, Luk. 1. 79. As the valley of the ſhadow of death, Pſa. 23 4. ſignifies, a gloomy vale of danger, of the utmoſt evill (there being leſſe warmth or light (as being ſhaded by the hills) and more ſubject to the incurſion of wolves, then the hills) ſo proportionably here (in a ſpirituall ſenſe) the ſhadow of death is a ſtate of ſin and ignorance, want of light or knowledge, and want of warmth or grace; the deſcription of the ſtate under the Law, which afforded neither of theſe in any proportion to what is now done by Chriſt, and ſo left men in a dangerous condition, till Chriſt was thus pleaſed to ſhine upon them, and thereby to reſcue them out of it. Dr. Ham. Annot. ſ.

It's when a man turneth within himſelf, for that they who are aſhamed turn their face from them whoſe look they cannot abide. Leigh Cr. Sac.

And ſhame them, 1 Cor. 11. 22. or make to be aſhamed, as the originall καταισχύνω is rendred, Luk. 13. 17. Rom. 5. 5. or confounded, Rom. 9. 33. marg.

Ἀποτόμως ſignifieth a cutting off, and (as ſome Interpreters do note) is uſed by Paul as alluding to Chirurgions, who cut away the dead fleſh which feſtereth corruption in wounds. Or, the Metaphor may be taken from a Gardiner, who with a Pruning knife cuts off dead boughs, or luxuriant ſtems. Leigh Crit. Sac.

The ſhekel was divided into leſſer coyns, which had their denomination from the parts thereof. Thus we read of the half ſhekel, Exod. 30. 13. The third part of a ſhekel, Neh. 10. 32. The quarter of a ſhekel, 1 Sam. 9. 8. Goodwyn's Moſes and Aaron, p. 327, 328.

Shew] A vain ſhew, Pſal. 39. 6. Hebr. image, marg.

Shew of their countenance, Iſa. 3. 9. or tryal, as ſome, for it comes from a word that ſignifies to acknowledge, Prov. 20. 11. or ſtrangeneſſe as others, becauſe the ſame word ſometime ſignifieth to eſtrange, 1 Ki. 14. 5, 6. Or, as others, hardneſſe, from a word that ſignifies to harden, Job 19. 3. and the word in Arabick is ſaid to be ſo uſed. Nor is it unuſuall in the Latine tongue, to ſay, one of an hard face, for an impudent man. However, the ſenſe is certainly this, that their very looks alone were evidence enough, without further proof to convince them, how they ſtood inwardly affected; the diſpoſition of their heart therein, as evidently offering it ſelf to view, as if it were even enſtamped on their faces, or engraven on their foreheads; and that their extreme impudency is implyed, the ſequel ſhews. See Jer. 3. 3. An harlots forehead. Annot.

And for a ſhew make long prayers, Luk. 20. 47. The word προφασις for the moſt part is uſed of a falſe or faigned cauſe, yet ſpecious, and having the ſhew of truth, when one pretends ſomething as a cauſe, when in the mean time he hideth the true cauſe, as here. Leigh Cr. Sac.

To make a fair ſhew, Gal. 6. 12. Gr. good face, or fair countenance. A fair ſhew againſt the truth, in keeping carnall rites and ceremonies; they urge Circumciſion upon you, not out of any affection and zeal that they bear to the Law; but onely for this purpoſe, that they may purchaſe themſelves favour among thoſe of their owne ſort, and eſcape the malice and perſecution of the Jews. Annot.

Shihor-libnah] A City, Joſh. 19. 26.

Shillemites] A family that came of Shillem, Numb. 26. 49.

Shiloh] Untill Shiloh come, Gen. 49. 10. The word is derived from Shalah, which ſignifieth to ceaſe, and be quiet, and peaceable; and the ſame is taken not onely in a paſſive ſenſe to be ſo, but in an active to make ſo; and ſo it is put for a proſperous or ſafe maker or Saviour, the Authour of quietneſſe and ſafety to others. It is taken alſo for the tunicle or skin in which the childe is wrapped in the Mothers belly, becauſe there the childe lyeth in peace and quietneſſe. Whence by an uſuall Metonymie, or figurative taking of the Continent for the thing contained (as the cup for the liquor in the cup, the houſe for the people in the houſe) it is taken for the childe that was wrapped in it. In both ſenſes it is applyed to Chriſt, for he was moſt quiet and peaceable, Iſa. 42. 2. & 53. 7. Heb. 12. 3. 1 Pet. 2. 23. He was alſo a Peace-maker for others, and a Saviour to others, Iſa. 53. 5. And he is Shiloh, that is, a Son of the linage of Judah, Heb. 7. 14. And as Judah is compared to a lion in the 9. verſ. of this chap. So is he called, the lion of the Tribe of Judah, Rev. 5. 5. Annot. It is by interpretation, the proſperer, the ſafe-maker; or, his Son (to wit, of a Virgin) that is, Chriſt, who was to ſpring out of Judah. Aynſw.

Hereby is meant, the practise of Christian charity and peaceableness, to supply the place of shooes, that ye may go on expeditely in the Christian course, and not fall or miscarry by the way, through the traps that Heretick and Schismatick lay to wound and gall you, and hinder your progresse. Dr. Ham. Paraph.

The shooes here mentioned among the Armour, were ordinarily of brasse. The use of these was to defend their feet against the gall-traps, which were wont to be thrown in the fields or wayes to stop their marches. Sharp stakes sticking up to wound or gall their feet, and make them that had fain upon them, unable to go afterward. This use is here referred unto, Idem Annot. h.

The use of a sieve ordinarily is to shake out the drosse, or lesser and lighter seed, and retain the full and weighty grain, Amos 9. 9. But this here is such as did shake to and fro (so sift is in the Hebr.) what was sifted in it, till it came even to nothing; to drive them to nothing, by that whereby he onely purgeth his own people, chap. 27. 8, 9. Or, to sift them in such a sieve as retaineth nothing, but letteth it run thorow, thorow, to make an utter riddance of them. The word rendred a ſieve, is no where elſe found in Scripture. The word is oft found thus uſed in the Jewiſh Doctors, as in that of one of them concerning foure ſorts of ſcholars or hearers; ſome like to a ſponge, that ſucketh all in alike; ſome like an hour-glaſſe or water-glaſſe (ſuch as anciently they were) that taketh in at the one end, and putteth out at the other (alluded to Heb. 2. 1.) Some like a wine-bag, that letteth go the wine, and keepeth onely the dregs (he might as well have ſaid a bolter, that bolteth out the flour, and keeps in the bran.) Some to a ſieve, that letteth go the traſh, and keepeth in the corn. Annot.

Signification] 1 Cor. 14. 10. or dumb, or mute, marg.

Sihor] Iſa. 23. 3. It's no other then Nilus. The Hebr. name Shichor hath a notion of blackneſſe in it, as appears by the common uſe of the fountain, whence it ſprings, and other the iſſues of it, Lev. 13. 31, 37. Job 30. 30. Cant. 1. 5. & 5. 11. Lam. 4. 8. Zech. 6. 2, 6. And it was anciently by the Greeks called Melas, which ſignifies black, and thence by the Latines in old time, melo. Annot.

Silence] Job 4. 16. or a ſtill voyce, marg.

Silent] Not to ſpeak a word, 2 Sam. 19. 10. Comp. the text with the marg. To be quiet, Jerem. 8. 14. To be cut off, Pſal. 31. 17. marg.

Silver] Pieces of ſilver, Joſh. 14. 32. or lambs, marg.

Silver cord] By the ſilver cord, Eccl. 12. 6. ſome [underſtand the marrow or pith of the back, continued from the brain, as it were in a cord or ſtring unto the bottome of the back bones, and for the white colour of it compared to ſilver. It may alſo be applyed unto all the other ſinews and ligaments of the body, which from the head as the fountain, convey ſenſe and motion upon the other parts. Hereby alſo may not unfitly be underſtood, the chain and ſweet harmony of the elements and humours in the body, which being preſerved in its due proportion, the body doth receive life from the ſoul, which is the ſpring thereof, but being once diſſolved, life preſently faileth. Annot.

Since] Since my coming, Gen. 30. 30. Heb. at my foot, marg. that is, by my natural ſervice. So the foot is uſed to ſignifie laborious ſervice, Deut. 11. 10. and the coming or preſence of any, Hab. 3. 5. The Chald. tranſlateth it, for my ſake. Aynſw.

This word referreth unto a former time, longer or ſhorter, continued until that very time, and is in effect as much as from the time, or during the time, all the while, 1 Sam. 29. 3. Ezr. 5. 16. Sometimes it's all one with, seeing, for that, inasmuch as, Gen. 46. 30.

Sincere] That ye may be sincere, Phil. 1. 10. Εἰλικρινεῖς. It signifieth properly something tryed by the light of the Sun, and it is a Metaphor (as some suppose) taken from the custome of the Eagle, whose manner is (say Aristotle and Pliny) to bring their young ones out of the nest before they be full fledged, and to hold them forth against the full sight of the Sun; the light whereof those of them that can with open eye endure, she retaineth and bringeth up as her own, the rest that wink at it, she rejecteth as a bastardly brood. Others think it rather taken from the usuall practise of Chapmen, in the view and choyce of their wares, that bring them forth into the light, and hold up the cloth against the Sun, to see if they can espy any default in it. Pure as the Sun. As the Sun discovers motes and atomes, so let your hearts be genuine, that the inwardest light may not discover motes that appear in others. Or, pure, viz. from any leaven of corruption in doctrine, life, or manners; for so the word signifies, such as are cleer, and free from all mixture of corruption, as white wool never died, fine flour never leavened. Leigh's Crit. Sac.

Sincerely] Truly, justly, uprightly, gracefully, Judg. 9. 16, 19.

Sing] Psal. 104. 12. Heb. give a voyce, marg.

Singed] Spoken of the hair of the heads of the three children, whereon (though there's nothing more apt to take fire) the fire had no power, Dan. 3. 27. So that the least hurt cannot come to those whom God will preserve, 1 Sam. 14. 45. Isa. 43. 2. Matth. 10. 30. Act. 27. 34. Annot.

Singers] Of them there were Singing-men also Singing-women, Ezr. 2. 65. Neh. 7. 67.

Single] If thine eye be single, Matt. 6. 22. As by the evill eye is meant the covetous, envyous, injurious, malicious, illiberall and niggardly eye, so by single eye is meant the good liberall eye. Dr. Hamm. Paraph. & Annot. ib.

Singular] Shall make a singular vow, Lev. 27. 2. or shall separate a vow, in Gr. vow a vow. The word separate signifieth to exempt after a singular manner from common use. Aynsw.

Sin] He hath made him to be sin for us, 2 Cor. 5. 21. The word ἁμαρτία is taken for a sacrifice for sin, Lev. 4. 3, 29. & 5. 6. & Psal. 40. 7. and so peccatum in Latine is both a sin, and a sacrifice of Expiation, or the person that is so sanctified, and so the Hebr. חַטָּאת, signifies primarily sin, and legall uncleanesse, and secondarily a sacrifice of propitiation for sin, and of purification for uncleanesse. So in Rom. 8. 3. περὶ ἁμαρτίας, for sin, is the sacrifice of propitiation (by a sacrifice for sin, saith the mar.) And so Heb. 10. 6. & 13. 11. and so here, though without περὶ. The opposition also of ἁμαρτία sin, to δικαιοσύνη righteousnesse, in the end of the vers. doth also cleer this; for as our being righteousnesse, signifies our being sanctified first, and then accepted by God, justified; so his being sin signifies his being condemned, i. e. consecrated, as a sacrifice is wont to be devoted for the sins of the people. Dr. Hamm. Annot. c.

That man of sin, 2 Thess. 2. 3. This is here the denotation of a very wicked sort of people, and though it be in the singular number, must not yet in any reason, be confined to a single person, but to some one or more ring-leaders, and their followers. Thus we know Χριστὸς, Christ, signifies him, as he is the head of his Church, and is used sometimes to signifie the whole society of Christians: And so Ἀντίχριστος, Antichrist, is sure no single person considered alone, but in conjunction with his followers; and so here the ἄνθρωπος ἁμαρτίας, the man of sin, signifieth more then one single person, viz. Simon and the Gnosticks. Id. Ann. c.

There is a sin unto death, 1 Joh. 5. 16. As he that set at nought Moses's Law dyed without mercy, upon a sufficient proofe of it, Heb. 10. 28. So he that useth the Son of God now under the Gospel, after that manner, treading or trampling upon the Son of God, vers. 29. setting his commands and terrors at nought, as there he is thought worthy of sorer punishment, so here his sin may fitly be said to be unto death. Now this contempt, this sin unto death, is to continue unreformed, and incorrigible after all the admonitions and censures of the Church; of which as there were severall degrees, so he that did not reform upon the first, was within some time to be put under the second, or higher, and not reforming then, was to fall under the third, which was wont to be called by the Jews, Schammatha, which signifies, there is death a punishment proportioned to this sin, and from the title thereof, this seems to be called here, a sin unto death. Not that every deliberate or wilfull sin is here so styled (though that also be mortiferous without repentance) but the phrase peculiarly belongs to a wilfull sin (to which without repentance or reformation, eternall perdition is denounced, heightned and aggravated farther, with the addition of obſtinacy againſt all perſwaſions and means of melting, which renders him hopeleſſe, and owned to ruine, and there is nothing left for him, but a fearfull looking for of judgement, and fiery indignation, which ſhall devour the adverſaries; thoſe that walk thus contrary to God, reſiſt his admonitions, his grace, all his methods of reducing them. Dr. Hamm. Annot. c.

Sin] Job 5. 24. or erre, marg. He that committeth ſin, &c. 1 Joh. 3. 8. ἁμαρτάνειν to ſin, and ἁμαρτίαν ποιεῖν to do or commit ſin, which appear to be directly the ſame, by comparing verſ. 6. & verſ. 8. and ſo ἁμαρτίαν ἔχειν, ch. 1. 8. to have ſin all one with having ſinned, verſ. 10. have a ſpeciall energie in the writings of this Apoſtle, to denote a deliberate, preſumptuous commiſſion of ſin, not every ſin of ignorance, incogitancy, frailty, but after deliberation, an adviſed commiſſion of it. And though he that lives impenitently in any habit of known ſin, be moſt eminently ſaid to ſin, and commit ſin, yet he that is guilty of any one deliberate act, is here primarily meant by theſe phraſes. Dr. Ham. Ann. a.

Sinfull] An encreaſe of ſinfull men, Numb. 32. 14. or a crew (a multitude) of men ſinners, that is, bred and brought up of men moſt ſinfull, of men given unto ſin, notorious wicked ones, Gen. 13. 13. 1 Sam. 15. 18. Aynſw. Addicted and given wholly to ſin, and to looſeneſſe of life. Annot. on Iſa. 1. 4. That ſin might become exceeding ſinfull, Rom. 7. 13. That ſin might ſhew it ſelfe to be ſin, and ſpit forth (as it were) all its venome. Annot.

Sinner] A woman in the City which was a ſinner, Luk. 7. 37. This may be taken in the notion wherein we finde, ἁμαρτωλοὶ ἐξ ἐθνῶν, Gal. 2. 15. Sinners of the Gentiles, and ſo ſignifies no more then a Gentile woman. Thus the word ſeemeth to ſignifie, ch. 6. 32, 34. comp. with Mat. 5. 46. or, ſeeing Publicans and Harlots are put together, Mat. 21. 32. which ſeems to refer to the baſeneſſe and unworthineſſe of thoſe two infamous callings, ἁμαρτωλὸς ſinner, as it is of affinity of ſignification with theſe, may perhaps ſignifie one that had been a whore, that vice or trade of proſtitute whores, being among the Gentiles ſo ordinary. And ſo this woman if ſhe were a whore, was either a Gentile alſo; or becauſe guilty of that Gentile ſin, called by this common name of Gentiles, ἁμαρτωλὸς a ſinner. But whoſoever ſhe was, it was not Mary Magdalen (which our Author proveth at large.) Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

He could well be content they might all periſh, ſo he might eſcape. Or, skin upon skin, 2 King. 4. 5. He will give the skins of all that belong him, rather then he hurt himſelf. Smoaking] Smoaking flax ſhall he not quench, Matth. 12. 20. Iſa. 43. 17.) is the man again, the ſmoaking flax is when the flame is out, or burns darkly for want of oyl, and yet there remains ſome fire in the flax, and that ſmoaks or ſhines dimly in ſtead of flaming; and anſwerable to that is the man in whom grace is decayed, but yet not deſperately or irrevocably gone out, ſome ſparks of good being ſtill left in him; and this perſon in this eſtate, Chriſt is ſo far from deſtroying or triumphing over, that he doth moſt tenderly cheriſh, and labour to reſtore ſuch an one in the Spirit of meekneſſe, to a firm habit of Chriſtian practiſe again. Dr. Hamm. Annot. d.

Smooth] To poliſh, or make ſleek, Iſa. 41. 7.

S N.

Snare] Leſt thou be ſnared therein, Deut. 7. 25. By ſnared is meant falling into ſin, and ſo into deſtruction. Aynſw.

Leſt thou be ſnared, Deut. 12. 30. Leſt thou be enſnared, that is, deceived in thy minde, and ſo fall into ſin and deſtruction by following their Religion. The Gr. tranſlateth, that thou ſeek not to follow them. Idem.

Snow-water] If I waſh my ſelf in ſnow-water, Job 9. 30. with the cleereſt water like to ſnow; or, it may be ſome might uſe Snow-water in their Ceremoniall ablutions, as cleereſt water falling from heaven, and having no earth mixed with it. Annot.

Snowie day] When ſtore of ſnow fell, 1 Chron. 11. 22. There are two reaſons why this circumſtance is added. One, the more to amplifie the valour of Benaiah, for in ſnowie weather beaſts uſe not to be abroad, ſo as this Lion muſt needs be the more hunger-bit at that time for want of a prey, and in that reſpect the more fierce. The other, to ſhew the occaſion of his being in the pit, for the ground was then covered with ſnow, ſo as Benaiah could not ſee the pit, but unawares fell into it, and there finding a Lion, ſo defended himſelf that he ſlew it. Annot.

And to this end the Lord hath Diſcipline in his Church, and Diſputations, ſo to cleer, when obſcurity groweth, and to ſet things right that went awry. Though our gifts be not ſuch as to ſet us high in the Tabernacle, yet are we not utterly unprofitable, unfit, or rejected of God, if we may be among the meaneſt veſſels of his Sanctuary, and of his Church, as to be but Snuffers, or Snuffe-diſhes, &c. Babington.

S O.

So be it] Jer. 11. 5. Hebr. Amen. Annot. By the words prefixed and annexed unto So, as do, great, long, much, that, &c. the meaning thereof may be plainly ſeen. And in many places where it's found it expreſſeth quality, as Deut. 22.26. Pſal. 1.4. Jam.2.12. quantity, as Joh. 3. 16. number, as Gen. 15. 5. and manner, as Act. 24. 14.

So to me, 1 Sam. 9. 21. Heb. according to this word, marg.

So that, 1 King. 8. 25. Hebr. onely is, marg.

Sober] Tit. 1.8. The originall word is σώφρων, which the Papiſts out of their Vulgar tranſlation abuſe, to reprove the marriage of Miniſters, and moſt improperly tranſlate it chaſte, or continent, whereas the word properly ſignifieth a man of a ſound minde, that is, prudent, and circumſpect, of σώω keep, and φρὴν minde, or φρόνησις wiſdome. Leigh Cr. Sac. One that carrieth a continual conſultation within himſelf for the guiding of his whole courſe in ſuch moderation, as wiſdome may appear in his ſpeeches, geſture, countenance, and whole life. Taylor on Tit.

Be ſober, Tit. 2. 2. or vigilant, marg. In this precept of Sobriety, older perſons are enjoyned to watch againſt the immoderate uſe of meat, and drink eſpecially, and in the uſe of theſe (wine and ſtrong drink eſpecially) to moderate themſelves within the confines and precincts of Sobriety. Idem.

To be ſober, Tit. 2. 4. or wiſe, marg. or ſober-minded, that is, to become wiſe in the performance of all the duties of their ſeverall places. Idem.

Soberly] Wiſely, diſcreetly, temperately, Tit. 2. 12. This is to moderate the minde, and contain it in due compaſs both in all the affections of the ſoul, and the actions of life which it turneth unto. Taylor on Tit. Under the three adverbs in this verſ. all the Affirmative precepts of the Law are compriſed; which have a threefold reference; the firſt to our ſelves, ſoberly; the ſecond to our neighbours, righteouſly; the third to God, godly, or holily.

Hæc tria perpetuò meditare adverbia Pauli,
Hæc tria ſint vitæ regula ſancta tuæ.

That is, Meditate alwayes on theſe three adverbs of Pauls, let theſe three be the holy rule of thy life. Annot.

Theſe are the three Graces which go hand in hand, and every one looking at another. Sobriety keepeth the owne houſe, and moderateth the minde at home; righteouſneſſe looketh forth, and giveth every man his due abroad; piety looketh up unto God, and giveth him his right. Sobriety preſerveth, and is content with its owne eſtate and portion. Righteouſneſſe preſerveth, and is content that other men enjoy their eſtate and portion. Piety preſerveth, and is willing that Gods part be reſerved to him. Again, ſobriety muſt go before as a nurſe of the other two; for he that dealeth not ſoberly, cannot deal juſtly, but depriveth the Church, the Common-wealth, and the family of their due; righteouſneſſe without godlineſſe is but atheiſme, and a beautifull abomination; and piety without righteouſneſſe is but hypocriſie. Now as ſobriety the firſt is the Nurſe of the two latter, ſo piety the laſt is the Mother of the two former; which where it is wanting, neither of the former, nor both of them can commend a man unto God. Taylor on Tit.

Sober-minded] Tit. 2. 6. or Diſcreet, m. To get an humble heart, which will frame to an humble carriage in behaviour, ſpeech, apparel. Taylor.

Soberneſſe] Words of ſoberneſſe. Act. 26. 25. Sober words, ſuch as may evidence that I am of a ſound minde, neither mad nor diſtracted.

Socho] A covering, or bough. The Son of Heber, 1 Chr. 4. 18.

Sodden] Not ſodden at all with water, Exod. 12. 9. or any way ſod, Hebr. ſodden ſod in water. It muſt neither be ſodden in water, nor in any other liquor or juice of fruits. In ſeething, the water is mixed with the fleſh, the forbidding whereof ſeemeth to teach the ſimplicity that ſhould be in Chriſt, that we know nothing, but Chriſt, and him crucified, 2 Cor. 11. 3. 1 Cor. 2. 2. Aynſw.

Sodoma] Gen. 10. 19. The ſame with Sodome, whence Sodomite, Deut. 23. 17. and Sodomites, 1 King. 14. 24. & 15. 12. & 22. 46.

Ye Princes of Sodom, Iſa. 1. 10. Like them for wickedneſſe, Deut. 32. 32. as bad as they or rather worſe, Ezek. 16. 46, 48. and juſtly therefore deſerving to be deſtroyed, as they were. Annot.

They ſhall not drink wine with a ſong, Iſa. 24. 9. Uſe ſuch ſongs as formerly they had in their merry meetings, and their feaſts, (where ſong is put for that which was made a ſong. See Prov. 25. 20.) Annot.

Of Sons there are ſeven ſorts:

1. Naturall, of God, ſo is Jeſus Chriſt, Mar. 1. 1. Rom. 1. 4. Of Man, ſo are all others; and that either lawfully begotten, or unlawfully, as Jephtah, Judg. 11. 2.

Soon] They ſoon forgat, Pſal. 106 13. Heb. they made haſte, they forgat, marg.

Soothſayer] Joſh. 13. 22. or Diviner, m. And are Soothſayers, Iſa. 2. 6. Some will have the word to ſignifie ſuch as take upon them to tell future events by the view of the skie, and the poſture of the ſtars and planets, ch. 47. 13. And they deduce it from a word that ſignifies to eye or obſerve, 1 Sam. 18. 9. From whom thoſe ſwerve not much, who would have the tearm uſed of ſuch as raiſe their conjectures from the various figures and motions of the clouds in the sky; or from the flight of fowls that fly in the sky toward the clouds, Gen. 1. 20. Deut. 4. 17. Prov. 23. 5. And they derive it from a word that commonly ſignifies a cloud. Others, ſuch as by Magicall skill delude mens ſight; as drawing a cloud, and caſting a miſt (as we uſe to ſay) before mens eyes, whereby things are made to appear other then in truth they are. So it is thought the Magicians in Ægypt did, Exod. 7. 11, 12. And of theſe ſome deduce it from a word that ſignifies an eye, others from a verb that ſignifies to cloud, Gen. 9. 14. Others underſtand by it, ſuch as give anſwers to thoſe that repair to them for advice and direction concerning their affairs, and ſucceſſe of them; deriving it from a word that ſignifies to anſwer. Others, ſuch as obſerve dayes and times; as good or bad, lucky or unlucky; ſuch as thoſe that caſt lots before Haman, Eſt. 3. 7. fetching its originall from a word which ſignifies (as they ſuppoſe) a ſet time, Exod. 21. 10. But that word ſeems rather to bear another ſenſe. The firſt and ſecond are moſt probable. Annot.

Soothſaying] Divining, propheſying, or foretelling things to come, Act. 16. 16.

Sophach] (called alſo Shobach, 2 Sam. 10. 16. Powring, or powred forth, or a vain

viall. The Captain of the hoſte of Hadarezer, 1 Chron. 19. 16. called Shophach, verſ. 18.

Sorcerer] Act. 13. 6. The Originall μάγος, is a Perſian word, and ſignifieth wiſe; but becauſe the Chaldeans and Ægyptians were given to deviliſh arts, now it is taken in the ill ſenſe, as one given unto magicall arts. Leigh Crit. Sac.

Sorcerers] Exod. 7. 11. or Witches. Such as do bewitch the ſenſe and mindes of men, by changing the forms of things to another true. And from the Hebr. Caſhaph (which hath the ſignification of changing or turning) the Greeks have formed their verb Baſcaino, and the Latines Faſcino, which is to bewitch; and it is uſed for unlawfull deviliſh arts and Artizens, ſuch as Gods law condemneth and puniſheth with death, Ex. 22. 18. Deut. 18. 10. and applyed to falſe Teachers, and their crafts, Gal. 3. 1. Rev. 18. 23. Aynſw.

Sorcereſſe] Iſa. 57. 3. or Witch. It ſignifieth properly one that dealeth with lots, and by them divineth; coming from a Latine word that ſignifieth a lot. The maſculine is rendred a Soothſayer. The word Witch may ſeem to ſuit better, and the rather becauſe it is here a feminine, in which form it is no where elſe found. Annot.

Sorcery] Uſed ſorcery, Act. 8. 9. exerciſed the Black Art, Magick.

Sorceries, Iſa. 47. 9. or witchcrafts, (for thence is the word for a Witch, Exod. 22. 17.) Whereby is underſtood as well Babylons politick devices, wherewith ſhe circumvented or deluded, and ſo either won to her, or kept with her, great Princes and potent people, as if they had been bewitched and enchanted by her; but her Magicall arts, and practiſes alſo, wherein that State abounded, v. 12, 13. therein trading and tracing the ſteps of Nineveh, by whoſe ruine ſhe roſe, called a Miſtreſſe of witchcrafts, Nah. 3. 4. As alſo the Spirituall Babylon, that ſucceeded the Secular, did herein alſo not come ſhort of either. See Rev. 17. 2, 3. & 18. 23. Annot.

Sore] Deut. 6. 22. Heb. evill, marg.

Sorely] Bitterly, Gen. 49. 23. Aynſw. Iſa. 23. 5. Sorely pained. The word properly ſignifies Womens travell, wherein trembling and pain concur, Pſal. 48. 6. See ch. 13. 8. The word is indefinitely here uſed; they ſhal be in pain; that is, there ſhall be much pain, or men ſhall be much pained. Annot.

Sorrow] Eccl. 7. 3. or anger, marg. Iſa. 5. 30. or diſtreſſe, marg. Lam. 3. 65. or obſtinacy, marg.

Sorrows, 2 Sam. 22. 6. or cords, marg. The word in the Originall importeth the pains of a woman in travell, marg. The word λύπη (being all one with πόνος) ſeems to ſignifie the cenſuring of impenitent ſinners, 2 Cor. 2. 1. ἐλθεῖν ἐν λύπῃ, to come with intention to cenſure and puniſh. So 2 Cor. 2. 3 λύπην ἔχω, I have ſorrow, ſignifies to be conſtrained to uſe ſeverity of cenſures, to which this mourning or ſorrow belongs, and λυπᾶσθαι, verſ. 4. to be under thoſe cenſures, and verſ. 5. λυπεῖν to offend and commit that wch S. Paul was conſtrain'd to puniſh with the cenſures of the Church. So ch. 7. 8. εἰ καὶ ἐλύπησα ὑμᾶς, is, if I inflicted the cenſures of the Church upon you; and in the end of the verſ. I ſee that that Epiſtle, though written for that ſeaſon, ἐλύπησεν ὑμᾶς, brought the cenſures of the Church upon you, v. 9. & οὐκ ὅτι ἐλυπήθητε, not that you were put under the cenſures, ἀλλ' ὅτι ἐλυπήθητε εἰς μετάνοιαν, but that thoſe cenſures produced that effectuall change in you, ἐλυπήθητε γὰρ κατὰ θεόν, for ye were dealt with according to the diſcipline ordained by God or Chriſt in the Church. There is no ſoundneſſe, Iſa. 1. 6. or as ſome, there is no ſhape of a man; for ſo is the word taken, Judg. 20. 48. He compareth the Jewiſh State to a mans body, ſo generally poſſeſt with ſome malignant diſeaſe, that no part of it is ſound or free, either from the inward taint, or the outward ſymptomes thereof; or, to ſuch a body as either by the like malignity, or by ſore and oft ſcouring, or evill uſage otherwiſe, is with tumors, and ulcers, ſo overſpread, that no ſhape, or figure of a man, almoſt, appears on it. Annot.

Received the ſpies, Heb. 11. 31. The ſcouts, or ſuch as were ſent to ſearch the land.

Spikenard] Mar. 14. 3. This nard is reckoned among the σωτὰ, the oyntments that do diſtill out of reeds, either of their owne accord, or when they are cut and bruiſed, and with which nothing is wont to be mixt, that ſo it may remain a pure, ſimple, liquid and noble juice. Hence it is called ſpicata nardus, ſpicknard, becauſe it thus diſtills ex ſpicis, vel ex ariſtis, out of canes or reeds. And it is very poſſible that that may be the importance of the word שׁבלת here, lightly varyed from the Latine ſpicata. Some have thought it to come from the name of a place Biſt, or Piſt, whether that be the Metropolis of Carimania, or of the region of Cabul in India. Others, that שׁבלת like שׁבט, may ſignifie ſincere, unmixt, as the Latine ſincerus, is ſaid to be made of ſine cera, without mixture of wax (contrary to the Cerema oyle and wax together, uſed by the Athletæ) and ſo it's generally called pure nard, and ſuch are commonly the more chargeable, as this here in St. John, coſtly or precious. But ſeeing there are in the New Teſtament Writers many Latine words, and thoſe a little diſguiſed by turning into Greek, as λίτρα for libra, &c. Here ſpicata may be turned into σπικὴ, which is as it were the anagram of it, the miſplacing, but yet retaining all the conſonants in it. Dr. Hamm. Annot. a.

Spirit] Ye know not what manner of ſpirit ye are of, Luk. 9. 55. The word πνεῦμα ſpirit, is very diverſly taken in the New Teſtament.

1. Sometimes (with the addition of θεοῦ God, or χριστοῦ Chriſt, and ἅγιον or holy, or ſometime without it) for the eternall Spirit of God, the holy Ghoſt, the third Perſon in the ſacred Trinity.

2. For the graces and gifts of that Spirit, whether thoſe that are of uſe to all ſorts of men, as Zech. 12. 10. Eph. 5. 19. or, whether thoſe which belong not to all, but onely to thoſe which are thus to be qualified for any office, whether Regall, or Prophetick, or Evangelicall, as Act. 2. 18. 1 Cor. 14. 12. & verſ. 2. & v. 3, 14, 19, 23.

3. For an Angel, whether good, as Rev. 1. 4. or bad, as Mar. 1. 23. & 5. 2. From the ambiguity of which it is that πνευματικὰ, 1 Cor. 12. 1. is taken in the latitude both for thoſe that are acted with an evill, and which are inſpired with a good ſpirit, the Spirit of God, which is looked on as a fountain of all ſupernaturall revelations, 1 Cor. 2. 22. and oppoſed there to the ſpirit of the world, that which the world knows or can reveal to us. And to this another notion may be reduced not far diſtant, wherein the word ſpirits ſignifies teachers, pretenders to inſpiration from God, whether truly or falſly, 1 Joh. 4. 1, 2, 3, 5, 6. 1 Tim. 4. 1. 2 Joh. 7.

4. For an apparition, the ſhape or ſeeming of a body, without any reall corporeity in it, Luk. 24. 37, 39. comp. with Matth. 14. 26. & Mar. 6. 49.

5. For the ſpirit of man, the ſupreme diviner faculty, oppoſed to the body or fleſh, Gal. 5. 17. 1 Theſſ. 5. 23. and ſet higher then ψυχὴ the ſoul, common to man, with other ſenſitive creatures. So 1 Cor. 2. 11. 1 Pet. 3. 19. So Joh. 6. 63. The Spirit that enliveneth is the ſoul that animates the body (as Jam. 2. 26.) and from thence in the end of that verſ. where he ſaith that the words which he ſpake unto them were ſpirit and life, the meaning muſt be that Chriſt ſpake not of a carnall groſſe but an immateriall ſpirituall eating, i. e. receiving and laying up his doctrine in their hearts and ſouls, and amending their lives by it, which is alſo the true, durable, profitable eating, far beyond the corporeall externall, as Chriſt and his doctrine are the true Manna, verſ. 55. So Joh. 4. 23. the true worſhippers ſhall worſhip the Father in ſpirit, i. e. the ſervice and worſhip of God now under the Goſpel, ſhall not conſiſt in the externall legall performances, but extend to the heart and ſoul, thoſe duties of reall purity and piety which were typified by thoſe legall ſhadows; ſo when the ſpirit ſignifies the Goſpel, as that is oppoſed to the Law under the title of the fleſh, Gal. 3. 3. and in many other places this is taken by analogie from that acception of the ſpirit for the ſoul, as that is the principle of life, and that an inward principle.

6. For a way of diſpenſation or œconomy, a diſpoſition or courſe of things, as when the Law is called the Spirit of bondage, Rom. 8. 15. i. e. the way of dealing with men, as with ſervants (as it was with the Jews) and on the other ſide the Spirit of adoption, the more ingenuous way of dealing as with Sons now under under the Goſpel. And ſo here, when they would as Elias had done, have called for fire on the Samaritans, Chriſt tells them, they know not of what ſpirit they are, i. e. they conſidered not under what diſpenſation they were, Chriſt came to ſave, &c. The courſe or way of proceedings which the Goſpel brought in, or was meant to teach men, was very diſtant from that which had been obſervable in Elias under the Old Teſtament, and conſequently they muſt not do, as Elias had done. So 1 Pet. 4. 14. The Spirit of God, i. e. the ſame way of œconomy which was uſed toward Chriſt incarnate, reſteth on you, is uſed among you.

7. It ſignifies affection, temper, diſpoſition of any, (which is a ſenſe lightly varied from the former) Luk. 1. 17. 1 Joh. 3. 24. Rom. 4. 9, 11, 14. And ſo the ſpirit of fear, power, love, &c. 2 Tim. 1. 7. are thoſe affections of fear on the one ſide, cowardiſe and timidity; and of courage, and conſtancy, and adherence to Chriſt (ſuch as was exemplified to us in Chriſt, in declaring and aſſerting his Fathers will) on the other ſide. In the Old Teſtament, it's farther uſed, ſometimes for skill and abilities, Exod. 28. 3. & 31. 2. Sometimes for zeal, 1 Sam. 11. 6. Sometimes for a commiſſion to an office or employment, Judg. 3. 10. & 6. 34. & 11. 29. & 13. 25. but this ſtill joyned with extraordinary abilities, for the diſcharge of the office, and with particular incitation to ſome extraordinary things, which might teſtifie to men this their commiſſion from God; or to themſelves that they are thus deſigned and qualified for it, Judg. 14. 6, 19. Numb. 11. 17, 25, 26. 1 Sam. 10. 6, 10. Dr. Hamm. Annot. d.

Then the Spirit ſaid unto Philip, Act. 8. 29. It may be here queſtioned what is meant by the Spirits ſaying unto Philip, which, as it was not in any dream or viſion, as chap. 10. 3. ſo that it was by voyce from heaven, (as Matth. 3. 17. Act. 9. 6.) doth not appear probable by any argument diſcernible in the Story, and therefore it is moſt likely that it was by afflation of the Spirit of God, after the manner that Prophets received revelations, as chap. 10. 19. & 11. 11. & 13. 2. Dr. Hamm. Annot. f.

And I pray God in your whole ſpirit, 1 Theſſ. 5. 23. The all or whole, the intire and compleat man is here divided into three parts, ſpirit, ſoul, and body. There ſeems to be particular mention of each of theſe in the Creation.

1. Gen. 2. 7. The duſt of the earth, that viſible maſſe, the fleſh or members, i. e. the body.

2. The living ſoul, the animall or ſenſitive faculty, common to man with beaſts and other ſenſitive creatures, and that is ψυχὴ, the ſoul, which therefore in the New Teſtament ordinarily ſignifieth the life, Luk. 12. 20. Mat. 10. 39. & 16. 25, 26.

3. The breath of life, the rationall faculty, capable of divine illumination, and called the Spirit, or that which was at firſt breathed into man by God, and returns immortall into his hands again. And ſo this may be the full meaning of the words, your ſpirit, ſoul and body, i. e. your rationall immortall ſpirit, your ſenſitive mortall ſoul, and your body the place of reſidence of both, which three make up the whole man. Idem Ann. f.

In the ſpirit of meekneſſe, Gal. 6. 1. It's the milder part of the Apoſtolicall office, which is to precede the more ſevere.

1. Admonitions and reprehenſion, which if prevail, there is no need of proceeding any farther. And 2. admiſſion to penitence (in caſe the cenſures have paſt upon him) without proceeding to any higher degree of cenſures, as in caſe of obſtinacy might be ſeaſonable. And to this the word καταρτίζειν inclines, which we render reſtore, but ſignifies properly to put in joynt any member of a body which is diſlocated, and ſo fitly belongs to the reſtoring an excommunicate perſon to the ſociety and peace of the Church. Dr. Hamm. Annot. a.

But in demonſtration of the Spirit and of power, 1 Cor. 2. 4. Spirit and power may here ſignifie:

1. The ſame thing, as it's ordinary for two words or phraſes to be conjoyned, the one onely to explain the other.

2. Spirit, the propheſies of the Old Bible, inſpired by the ſpirit of God; and power, the miracles done by Chriſt.

3. The deſcent of the Spirit of God on Chriſt, joyned with that voyce from heaven, Matt. 3. which may here fitly be called the demonſtration of the Spirit, an evidence afforded by God immediately from heaven of the truth of the Goſpel, which being joyned with the power of Chriſt, both in reſpect of his doctrine and miracles, were two heads moſt fitly to be inſiſted on by St. Paul, for the confirming the truth of the Goſpel.

4. The deſcent of the Spirit upon the Apoſtles, and by their impoſition of hands, the holy Ghoſts coming down upon others alſo, Act. 18, 18. And this together with their power of doing miracles, may well be their demonſtration of the truth of the Goſpel, and be the thing that is meant here. Id. Annot. e.

Spiritual]

Spirits] Zech. 5. 6. or winds, marg.

Spirituall] Gal. 6. 1. The Governours of the Church, in whom the power of the Keys is vested, for the word Spirit, signifies not onely the Spirit of God, whereby men are reformed, and the deeds of the flesh mortified, but also the χαρίσματα, the powers and gifts which were bestowed on men, the Church, in order to Ministeriall functions, and offices there. So that spirituall are here thus to be understood in proportion to, and by analogie with these. Idem Annot. a.

Of spirituall gifts, 1 Cor. 14. 12. Gr. of spirits, marg.

Spirituall wickednesse, Eph. 6. 12. or wicked spirits, marg.

Spittle] Nor let me alone till I swallow down my spittle, Job 7. 19. Some take it to be a proverbiall and hyperbolicall speech, intimating, that God gave him not so much time of ease as a man may swallow his spittle in, which may be done in lesse then a minute. God gave him not a breathing time, ch. 3. 24. & 9. 18. Others take it to have respect to Job's pain, whose sorrows grew on him so fast, that they had like to choak him, and God gave him not power to spit out the corrupt matter that run down his throat, nor time to swallow it. Annot.

Spokes] Such pieces of a wheel as are joyned the one end to the nave, and the other to the felloes, 1 King. 7. 33.

Spokesman] Exod. 4. 16. A mouth; or, as the Chald. saith, an Interpreter. In Exod. 7. 1. Aaron is called Moses's Prophet. Aynsw.

Spot] Heb. 9. 14. or fault, marg.

Spotted] Hating even the garment spotted by the flesh, Jude v. 23. As cleanly persons cannot endure spots of grease on their garments, vers. 12. Or, as God in the Law would not accept a spotted Peace-offering: so do not ye onely hate their sinfull lusts, vers. 8. but also come not in their company. Or, avoyd not onely grosse sins, but also the very signes and tokens of them, 1 Thess. 5. 22. Annot.

Spoyl] Judg. 14. 19. or Apparel, marg. Ezek. 25. 7. or Meat, marg.

To make waste of, Prov. 24. 15. To destroy, make havock of, Cant. 2. 15. To rifle, Isa. 13. 16. The word συλαγωγέω translated spoyl, in Col. 2. 8. is various in signification, as, To make bare, to prey upon, to circumvent, deceive, drive away as a prey, lead away bond and captive. Byfield on the Colos. The speech is taken from theeves, who come secretly to carry away a sheep out of the fold, to whom the Apostle compareth vain Teachers. The word signifieth, To drive away as a prey taken in war. Leigh Crit. Sac. The word ἀπεκδυσάμενος translated spoyled in Col. 2. 15. properly signifieth stripped, or made naked, and being there applyed to enemies overcome by Christ, it signifieth, that he disarmed them, pulled off their armour, took from them all their weapons, and left them naked and spoyled of all power to hurt. Idem.

Spoyler] Isa. 16. 4. The word is commonly used for a Plunderer or Waster. Annot.

Springs of the sea] Job 38. 16. The bottome of the Sea, where the waters abundantly come out of the earth. Spring signifies weeping, for springs pour out water as eyes do tears. One word in the Originall signifies an eye and a spring. Annot.

Springs of water, Josh. 15. 19. Land wherein there are springs of water. Annot.

All my springs are in thee, Psal. 87. 7. that is, all gifts and graces, which the Scripture noteth by lively fountains of waters, wherewith they are refreshed that serve God in his Temple day and night, Rev. 7. 15, 17. and well-springs of salvation, Isa. 12. 3. And as Christ is called a fountain, so is his Church, Cant. 4. 15, 12. Aynsw.

The upper springs, and the nether springs, Josh. 15. 1. i. e. Land, which though it did lye high, had springs of water in it, and so might the more easily be drained, and derived to other dry and barren grounds that did lie lower then they; and lower springs, which made the grounds in which they were, fruitfull, as being level with them. Annot.

Sprinkle] To strew, scatter, cast here and there. Spoken of Ashes of the furnace, Exodus 8. vers. 10. So ſhall he ſprinkle many Nations, Iſa. 52. 15. Ours expound the words thus, That Chriſt ſhould bedew many Nations with the Doctrine of the Goſpel, by the Miniſtery of his Apoſtles, and thereby convert them to the Faith, through the efficacy of the Spirit, accompanying the ſame, and working faith in them, ch. 59. 20, 21. Mat. 28. 18. Act. 2. 33, 38, 41. Rom. 10. 17. 2 Cor. 3. 6. Or, which comes all to one, That he ſhould ſanctifie and cleanſe them with his Spirit, imparted to them by the Word, and with his blood by faith applyed unto their ſouls, Ezek. 36. 25, 27. Joh. 15. 3. & 17. 17. Act. 15. 9. Gal. 3. 2. Eph. 5. 26. 1 Pet. 1. 2. 1 Joh. 1. 7. Rev. 1. 5. & 7. 14. An alluſion, as ſome think, to the water and waſhing with it, uſed in the Evangelicall Baptiſme, Mat. 3. 11. Joh. 3. 5. Act. 2. 38. & 22. 16. 1 Pet. 3. 21. As others, to the Legal baptizings or ſprinkling with water, or blood, or both mixt together, for the ſanctifying of ſome, and cleanſing of others that were legally unclean, Exod. 24. 6, 8. & 29. 4, 20, 21. I will ſprinkle clean water, Ezek. 36. 25. I will largely communicate my grace unto you, and grant you pardon for all your ſins, purchaſed with the price of my Sons blood which was ſhed for the ſins of the world, Iſa. 44. 23. Eph. 5. 26. Heb. 9. 14. 1 Pet. 1. 2. 1 Joh. 1. 7. Annot.

Staffe] A walking ſtaffe, Gen. 32. 10. & 38. 18. A ſtay in ones hand to lean upon, Exod. 21. 19. A cudgell, 1 Chron. 11. 23. The means of rule and defence, Pſal. 23. 5. The Paſtorall office, Zech. 11. 10. Some make the two ſtaves (or ſheephooks, or ſhepherds ſtaves) mentioned verſ. 7. a figure of the two wayes that Chriſt uſeth at all times in feeding of his Church; The one, by guiding them lovingly by his Word and Spirit; The other, by ſeverely puniſhing them by the cruell hand of their enemies. See Pſal. 2. 9. & 23. 1, 2, 3, 4. & 89. 32. & 110. 2. Mic. 7. 14. Annot.

Nor yet ſtaves, Matth. 10. 10. The ſtaffe here is lookt on, not as the character of a poor man or begger, but as an inſtrument of defence or offence, to ſecure them from after aſſaults or dangers by the way, from which, God is to be truſted to defend them, without any proviſion on their part. But though they were not like ſollicitous perſons to carry ſtaves for defence, yet walking ſtaves they might. Mar. 6. 8. Dr. Ham. Ann. e.

Stalled] Prov. 15. 17. Fatted.

Stammerers] Iſa. 32. 4. There is in the word here an alluſion, either unto thoſe that out of a naturall defect, cannot ſpeak without ſtammering; or to thoſe that ſpeaking in ſome barbarous language, ſeem ſo to do unto thoſe that underſtand them not, 1 Cor. 14. 11. Annot.

Stammering lips] Iſa. 28. 11. Heb. mocks or ſcoffs of lip; lip for language, as Gen. 11. 1. Zech. 3. 9. That is, as ſome, ſtammering, ſtuttering, or liſping language, becauſe ſuch language men are wont to uſe in mocking, and ſuch kind of language is ſubject to deriſion. Or, as others, ſtrange language, which to thoſe that underſtand it not, ſeems ridiculous; and they are wont therefore to deride and deem as barbarous, Pſalm 114. 1. 1 Cor. 14. 11. and this latter way, both the words following carry it, and the Gr. alſo, 1 Cor. 14. 21. Annot.

Pray ſtanding, Mat. 6. 5. The word עמידה, may poſſibly refer to that particular poſture of ſtanding, which was uſuall in prayer, as among the ancient Chriſtians, ſo among the Jews before them, whence it is that עמידה, ſtatio is reckoned by them, as one of the ſeven names of prayer. So Manahem ſpeaks of Abraham's ſtanding, i. e. (ſaith he) praying before the Lord. And thence is the proverbiall ſpeech of Rabbi Judah, without עמידה, ſtation, the world could not ſubſiſt. And beſides the posture of standing might be more convenient for their turn, of being more and farther seen by men. But both the Greek ἑστὼς, and the Hebr. belong promiscuously (not to standing onely, but) to every or any posture of the body. Dr Hamm. Annot. c.

There are severall words annexed hereunto, as abroad, against, aloof, back, before, by, fast, forth, here, in, on, out, perfect, still, strong, there, together, up, upon, upright, with, without, the meaning whereof by the context is easily found.

The stay and the staffe, Isa. 3. 1. All means, one and other, whereby as with a staffe, mans life is sustained, vers. 1. or a State is supported, vers. 2, 3. The words in the Originall do both signifie one and the same thing; to wit, such a staffe, wherewith men weak through sickness, Exod. 21. 19. or age, Zech. 8. 4. or for ease in journey. Mar. 6. 8. are wont to stay themselves. They differ onely herein, that the one is a masculine, the other a feminine form. Annot.

Steadfastly] She was steadfastly minded, Ruth 1. 18. Heb. strengthened her self, marg.

Stiff-hearted] Ezek. 2. 4. When judgements, mercies, miracles, will not move or mollifie them, Exod. 32. 9. Deut. 9. 6. Isa. 48. 4. Annot.

According to a rule in Physiognomy, that those that have necks that do not easily bend, are such: But I suppose that the meaning of St. Stephen is to be fetcht from the Metaphor of Beasts, Oxen, &c. that till they be disciplined and accustomed to the yoke, are not willing or patient to bend downe unto it. And so hard or stiff-neck'd signifies no more then refractary, disobedient, undisciplinable; and so it's here set to denote them, that that do alwayes reſiſt the holy Ghoſt, in all God's methods towards them, walk contrary to him. Dr. Hamm. Annot. h.

Still] To quiet, pacifie, appeaſe, aſſwage. Applyed unto people, Numb. 13. 30. Neh. 8.11. The tumult of the people, Pſal. 65.7. The noyſe of the Seas, Ibid. and the waves thereof, Pſal. 89. 9.

There ſhall not be left here one ſtone upon another, Mat. 24. 2. The full completion of this Propheſie, is very remarkable in Story, which tells us that Turnus Rufus did with a plough-ſhare tear up the foundations of the Temple, and ſo not leave any part of it under ground undiſſolved, not one ſtone upon another. Dr. Hamm. Annot. a.

Stone-ſquarers] 1 King. 5. 18. or Giblites, marg. Theſe were inhabitants of Gebal, (Ezek. 27. 9.) neer to Sidon, and were artificiall Stone-cutters. The Hebr. word from whence Giblite is derived, ſignifieth to terminate or limit a thing. Now Maſons uſe to limit their ſtones to ſuch a proportion as they be even one with another in a building. The Tranſlators therefore taking the word appellatively, tranſlate it Stone-ſquarers; others, Maſons. In the Syr. the word ſignifieth to form or faſhion, which in generall makes to the ſame purpoſe. Theſe Giblites, as the Sidonians before mentioned, were Heathen, yet becauſe they were skilled in their workmanſhip, they were uſed about the holy Temple. Thus abilities of men out of the Church, may lawfully be uſed for helping on the good of the Church. Annot.

To bury ſtrangers in, Matth. 27. 7. The ſtrangers here may be either,

1 Men of other Nations; and then the thing from hence obſervable is, that they would not have commerce with them, even when they were dead, and therefore provided a ſeparate place for them. Or,

2 (which is more likely) the Jews, which coming from far to Jeruſalem, to ſacrifice, &c. dyed there before their return, and ſo the Prieſts took this care to provide a burying place for them. Theſe perhaps are thoſe Jews that travelled from Rome thither, Act. 2. 10. Dr. Ham. Annot. c.

Stringed inſtruments] Iſa. 38. 20. or Hand-inſtruments, rather; for the word is more generall. We find in Scripture their ancient Muſicall inſtruments reduced to two heads; the Nechiloth, Pſal. 5. and the Neginoth, Pſal. 6. The Nechiloth were Wind-inſtruments, ſuch as were managed by wind or breath, as Pipes, Fifes, Flutes, Trumpets, Cornets, and the like; ſo called, becauſe they are pierced or bored thorow, and made hollow, to receive and tranſmit the wind or breath, that produceth the ſound. The Neginoth were Hand-inſtruments, ſuch as were managed by the hand; not the ſtringed only, whether touched with the fingers, as Lute and Harp; or ſtruck over with a quill, as the Cittern; or with a bow, as the Violl; but ſuch alſo as are ſhaken to and fro, as the Cymball; or beaten, whether with the hand or ſtick, as the Timbrell; ſo called from the forementioned word, which ſignifieth to touch, ſtrike, or play upon any ſuch kinde of Inſtrument, whether without ſong or ſinging thereunto, 1 Sam. 16. 16, 17, 23. 18. 10. & 19. 9. 2 King. 3. 15. Pſa. 68. 25. and the word here uſed is ſometime therefore put for a ſong that is ſung thereunto, as Job 30. 9. Pſal. 69. 12. & 77. 6. Lam. 3. 14, 63. which may help to juſtifie our Verſion that here ſo rendreth it. Annot.

Strive not about words, 2 Tim. 2. 14. Not to strive about words onely, when the controversie is meer verball, or nominall, and no wayes reall, or not at all importing faith or good manners; or strive not with words, bandying contumelious speeches, or bringing no better proof then vaunting words and boastings. Annot.

Strivings] Contentions, Psalm 18. 43. Strivings about the Law, Tit. 3. 9. Those hot contentions and brawlings, which yet many Jews and Judaizing Teachers did trouble the purity of Religion withall, striving still to bring back again the observation of Jewish Ceremonies, such as was Circumcision, differences of Meats, and Days, and Garments, as though Christ were not yet come; wherewith the Church in that tender age was much molested. Taylor on Titus.

Stroke and stroke] Deut. 17. 8. or plague and plague, which the Chald. translateth, plague of leprosie, and plague of leprosie, wherein there might be difficulties that the Priests could not easily judge. See Lev. ch. 13. & 14. But by plague or stroke may also be meant strokes and wounds, that one man gave unto another. Aynsw. A blow, Deut. 19. 5. Revel. 2. 14. Aynsw.

And I lay a stumbling block before him, Ezek. 3. 20. Do by my just and provident administration turn against him his owne iniquity, whereby he shall fall as by a stumbling-block; or lay that before him which he will make a stumbling-block to himselfe; not infusing any corruption into him, but for his former sin leaving him to himselfe, delivering him up to his owne vile lusts, giving Satan leave to tempt and seduce him, and keeping back my assistance, and withdrawing my grace; and thus in justice punishing one sin with the occasion or commission of another, Rom. 1. 24, 26, 28. 2 Sam. 16. 21, 22. 1 King. 22. 22. 2 Thess. 2. 11. Annot.

Hebr. a stone of striking, smiting. Such as lying in the way the foot may smite or strike against, and a man receive some hurt or harm, some maim or mischief thereby, Psal. 91. 12. Prov. 3. 23. This is applyed in the Gospel to our Saviour, whose mean condition, to outward appearance, made many to refuse and reject him, to their owne ruine. Annot. Christ is a stone of stumbling not actively, but passively; he doth not make them stumble, but they through their ignorance (walking in darknesse) or through their precipitation running headlong in things, or through the poyson of some beloved sin, which hath altogether corrupted their taste, do fall at the doctrine of Christ, or turn the precious things of Christ into poyson, by reason of the venome lying in themselves. Byfield on 1 Pet. 2. 8. p. 305.

The Gr. tranſlateth, judge for him. The Chald. execute vengeance for him on them that hate him. Aynſw.

Sufficiently] To eat ſufficiently, Iſa. 23. 18. Hebr. to eat unto ſatiety, or fulneſſe, as Levit. 25. 19. & 26. 5. Prov. 13. 29. That Gods Miniſters may have food ſufficient, even to the full, 2 Chron. 13. 10. Matth. 3. 10. Annot.

Superſcription] Mar. 14. 26. It was the Romans cuſtome to write the crime for which any man ſuffered death in a table, and carry it before him to execution. And as of other kindes of death, ſo particularly of thoſe that are crucified. Whence appears the propriety of all theſe expreſſions in the ſeveral Evangeliſts, ἐπιγραφὴ τῆς αἰτίας, the ſuperſcription of the cauſe, or of his crime, as here in St. Mark, ἡ αἰτία ἐπάνω τῆς κεφαλῆς γεγραμμένη, the charge or cauſe written over his head, Matt. 27. 37. and ſimply ἐπιγραφὴ, inſcription, Luk. 23. 38. Suretiſhip] Prov. 11. 15. Hebr. thoſe that ſtrike hands, marg.

The word therefore would rather be rendred, I have entituled or ſtyled thee; or, I have given thee an honorable ſtyle or title, to wit, in calling thee Cyrus my ſhepherd, chap. 44. 28. and Cyrus mine anointed; for that is the ſtyle, and thoſe the titles that God here faſteneth upon him. Annot.

Suſtenance] Proviſion, or things neceſſary to live by, as meat, drink, &c. Judg. 6. 4. 2 Sam. 19. 32.

No ſuſtenance, Act. 7. 11. Not enough to keep them alive, or ſatisfie nature.

Swearing, Jer. 23. 10. or curſing, marg.

Whoſoever ſhall ſwear by the Temple, &c. Mat. 23. 16. It ſeems by that which Chriſt here affirms of the Phariſees, that they had a tradition, that thoſe oaths onely were obligatory which were conceived by God, or ſomething immediately conſecrated to him; meaning thereby not the Temple and Altar, which had onely an univerſall conſecration (being ſet apart to his ſervice) but other particular oblations and gifts, which were by the voluntary piety of men devoted to him. Of this ſort is the gold of the Temple, and the gift on the Altar, wherein it ſeems they placed a more eſpecial ſanctity then in the other. This Chriſt looks on as a pityfull nice piece of deceit, either to fruſtrate the obligation of ſome oaths, or to make a nice diſtinction of ſanctity, where indeed there was none, the whole ſanctity of the gold or gift flowing from the Temple or Altar, to which and the God in it, they were conſecrated. What ſhould be the colour or pretence of this doctrine of theirs, it would be hard to gueſſe; unleſſe perhaps it was, that they conceived the Temple by its having been demoliſht, to have loſt its ſanctity, and not to have recovered it at its rebuilding, and increaſe by Herod; whereas the gold or the gift which the piety of the Jewiſh Donour had conſecrated, might be allowed by them to have that ſanctity; but this being ſo weak a reaſon, leaves it lyable to the cenſure of hypocriſie, which Chriſt here layes upon it, the true cauſe ſurely being that by perſwading men that the gold and gifts brought to the Temple, where the holieſt things in the world, holier then the Temple, or Altar it ſelf, they might bring men to great liberality that way, and ſo make gain of their doctrine. Dr. Hamm. Annot. e.

Swearer] Falſe ſwearers, ſuch as ſwear falſly. Againſt theſe, ſee Levit. 19. 12. 1 Tim. 1. 10. where they are tearmed perjured perſons.

Synagogue] He ſhould be put out of the Synagogue, Joh. 9. 22. συναγωγαί, the Synagogues of the Jews ſignifie all manner of Aſſemblies. Agreeably the ἀποσυναγωγία, removing or turning out of the Synagogues, is the ſeparating any offender from ſuch Aſſemblies, ſetting a mark of reproach upon him, that he might not be familiarly convers'd with by any, which is ἀφοείζειν, Luk. 6. v. 22. the Nidui ſo known among the Jews. This was alwayes done with circumſtances of contumely, and ſo hath ὀνειδίζειν added to it, contumelious uſage, Luk. 6. 22. And ſo verſ. 35 of this chap. Their caſting the man out of their Synagogue, ſignifies that ceremony of reproach, the officers of the Court taking him that was condemned, and thruſting him out of the Aſſembly. What thus belonged to excluding him out of the Aſſembly, though it belonged to civill commerce, yet certainly excluded him out of the ſacred Aſſembly alſo; for the loweſt degree of Excommunication among the Jews, being to the ſeparating for the ſpace of four paces; this muſt needs belong to all kindes of Aſſemblies, as well ſacred as civill. Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

Syriack] Dan. 2. 4. or the Babylonian tongue. So Iſa. 36. 11. Yet now the Syriack and Chaldee tongue do much differ; and did in the dayes of our Saviour, who uſed the Syriack tongue, as the Jews did in his time. This appears by many Syriack words in the New Teſtament, which yet are called Hebrew, becauſe that was the ancient and Mother language, and the Syriack but a corruption of it. See Joh. 5. 2. & 19. 13, 17, 20. Act. 21. 40. & 22. 2. Rev. 9. 11. & 16. 16. Annot.

Tablets] Iſa. 3. 20. Hebr. houſes of the ſoul, or breath; ſoul for breath, as Gen. 6. 17. & 7. 22. and ſo ſome take it not amiſſe, Jam. 2. 26. By theſe houſes or receptacles of breath, ſome underſtand pomanders or boxes wherein they carryed ſweet odours about them; with ſmall holes pierced in them (not unlike the Myrrhe-boxes by ſome thought to be mentioned, verſ. 19.) by the ſent thereof to refreſh their ſpirits when they pleaſed. Others, masks or mufflers, or the like, that covering the mouth, receive or keep in the breath. Annot.

Tabring upon their breaſts] Nah. 2. 7. Beating their breaſts as if they had been a Taber, thus expreſſing their inward grief.

Talk]

Talk] To ſay, ſpeak, conſer, commune, Gen. 45. 15. 2 King. 18. 26. To meditate, that is, ſpeak advitedly, and after due meditation, Pſal. 71. 24. Αγνσω. To diſpute or reaſon, Act. 20. 11.

Let me talk with thee, Jer. 12. 1. or, let me reaſon the caſe with thee, marg.

Talkers] Ye are taken up in the lips of talkers, Ezek. 36. 3. or, ye are made to come upon the lip of the tongue, marg.

Talking] He is talking, 1 King. 18. 27. or he meditateth, marg.

Tall] 2 King. 19. 23. Heb. tallneſſe, mar.

Tamed] Hath been tamed, Jam. 3. 7. δαμάζειν, to tame, may (as ordinarily it doth) ſignifie cicurare, to take off from wildneſſe, and ſo to make tame and familiar, to bring to hand; and that may be very applyable both to θηρία & πετεινὰ, beaſts and birds, which are by men thus tamed, and made ſerviceable to us. But becauſe this is not ſo commonly practiſed in ſerpents and fiſhes, and yet theſe are here named indifferently with the former, it is more reaſonable that another notion of the word ſhould here be pitched on, which may indifferently be applyable to all the kindes here mentioned, and that is the notion of ſubduing, maſtering, getting power over them, that they ſhall not be able to offend or hurt. And then this will be of a larger extent, belong to all hurtfull creatures, which by horns, or teeth, or heels, or by their poyſonous nature are able to hurt us; and to all the ſeverall wayes and inventions that men have to avoyd and reſtrain theſe, by taking them, depriving them of their weapons of offence, their ſtings, their teeth, or when they have bitten or poyſoned any man, by curing that wound, overcoming that poyſon. And this laſt of poyſon, if it be not primarily here meant, is certainly to be taken in, as may be gueſſed by the Antapodoſis, or ſecond part of the ſimilitude, verſ. 8. where the tongue that no man can ſubdue or reſtrain, is ſaid to be full of deadly mortiferous poyſon, whereas the poyſon of other things is conquerable, curable. Dr. Ham. Annot. e.

Taxation] A rate or ſum which Jehoiakim with his officers laid on every one, 2 King. 23. 35. Annot.

Taxed] Luk. 2. 1. The ἀπογραφὴ is here literally deſcriptio, and that is (not an exacting of tribute or taxation, but) a ſetting down, or enrolling every perſon, according to their families and eſtates. It ſignifies the numbring of the people, or declaring how many, or what kind of people they are. Each man was ſent for to make known what and how much they had, and whence his eſtate came to him. They when to tell what they were worth. This enrolling was, that all the differences of patrimony, dignity, age, craft, office, might be recorded. Dr. Hammond Annot. b.

Taxes] A raiſer of taxes, Dan. 11. 20. Hebr. one that cauſes an exactor to paſſe over. An exactor of tributes and taxations. Annot.

Teach] Prov. 16. 23. Hebr. make wiſe, marg.

Teaching in thy Synagogues, Mat. 9. 35. It was the manner among the Jews for divers men to contribute their Talents, to the expoſition of the Leſſon that was read. This ordinarily belonged to the Sons of the Prophets, who were brought up in learning the Law, and at thirty yeers old might be made Doctors (at which time, being then of Doctors ſtanding (ſaith Irenæus) Chriſt began to preach, and not before; and proportionably Presbyters were not made in the Ancient Church till that age) and continued in that notion, or the other of Scribes, till they obtained the Spirit of Propheſie at Gods hands, till which time they did ordinarily expound Scriptures, though not by revelation. Anſwerable to which, was that cuſtome or practiſe among Chriſtians, mentioned 1 Cor. 14. 29. And thus might Chriſt, without pretenſion to any extraordinary power or authority, expound in their Synagogues, which being the Doctors work, is here called teaching, and differs (in the Chriſtian uſe of the word in the New Teſtament) from κηρύσσειν preaching (which follows) and εὐαγγελίζειν, publiſhing or preaching the Goſpel, and μαθητεύειν, parallel with it (as appears by comparing Mat. 28. 19. with Mar. 16. 15.) gathering of diſciples, in other places. All theſe being the publiſhing ſomewhat to thoſe to whom 'twas news (as here the Goſpel of the Kingdome, i. e. the doctrine of Chriſtianity) the other διδάσκειν, inſtructing congregations that already profeſt that doctrine, which is therefore onely by the Doctor farther explained to them. Dr. Ham. Annot. l.

Teachers] Iſa. 43. 27. Hebr. Interpreters, marg.

Tear] He teareth him, Mar. 9. 18. ῥήσσει, which which ſignifies to break, or rend, Mat. 7. 6. & 9. 17. Mar. 2. 22. Luk. 5. 37. (and to break out, Gal. 4. 27. i. e. to ſpeak) ſignifies alſo to beat or throw down, upon or againſt the ground, which Tertullian rendreth by evertere, to throw down, Matt. 7. 6 (though the context in that place ſeems not to own it, the treading under foot, going before, not following it.) Thus is προσέρηξεν ὁ ποταμὸς, the river being ſwelled into a torrent, beats upon the houſe, Luk. 6. 49. and upon it follows in the next words, preſently it fell. In ſtead of it in the parallel place, St. Matthew reads προσέπεσεν, & προσέκοψαν, fell upon, Matth. 7. 25, 27. Thus doth Heſychius render the word ῥῆξαι, not onely διελεῖν to divide or break in pieces, but καταβαλεῖν alſo, to throw down. Thus in this place the Syr. and the Old Latine took it; and ſo the Heb. הרס, that is by the Septuagint rendred ῥήγνυμι, is καταβάλλειν alſo, Job 12. 14. Ezek. 26. 4, 12. and καταστρέφω and καταπάω, to ſubvert and caſt down; and ſo נטש, καταβάλλω, Eze. 29. 5. & 31. 12. and ἐδαφίζω, to lay on the ground, or daſh againſt the ground, Ezek. 31. 12. and σφάλλω ἐπὶ γῆς, to throw on the ground, Amos 5. 6. is ῥήγνυμι, Iſa. 33. 2, 3. and ἐδάφω, Jer. 23. 33, & 39. Dr. Hamm. Annot. b.

Temperate] ἐγκρατὴς, Tit. 1. 8. The Papiſts to maintain their error of a ſingle life, tranſlate this word continentem, but the word is more generall then ſo; it properly ſignifieth one that hath any thing in his power, is Lord over himſelf, and his luſts, affections, appetite, who enjoyeth theſe, and is not theirs; who keepeth the command of theſe, & they have not him at command; requiring that the Miniſter ſhould be a man that can curb and bridle himſelf in his Will to overmaſter it; in his affections of deſire, revenge, mirth, ſorrow, &c. to moderate them, that they exceed not the mean and due meaſure; in his appetite of meat, drink, ſleep, recreation, that it be not inordinate; yea in all his parts, his hands, his eyes, his tongue, &c. So order himſelf as that no unſeemly kind of geſture, faſhion, word, or dealing proceed from him which may diſgrace his calling; but to carry himſelf in ſuch a temper as becometh holineſſe. For even the word hath affinity with that which we call a right temperament or conſtitution, whether of humours in the body, or affections in the ſoul; which is, when none is predominant, but one of them is equally mixed and qualified by another, as ſtrong wine is tempered and allayed with water; and implyeth that the Miniſter by reaſon, wiſdome, and religion eſpecially, muſt either allay, or break off the headineſſe and violence of thoſe troubleſome luſts and affections which may otherwiſe moleſt him, and exceedingly prejudice him in the works of his Calling. Taylor.

Temperate] Tit. 2. 2. or diſcreet, moderate. This word principally intendeth a moderation of all fleſhly concupiſcences, and deſires, and alſo extendeth it ſelf to all the parts of the life; requiring that all the affections, ſpeeches, and actions be carryed levell, not according to the ſtrength of will or paſſion, but according to the rule of prudence, both in forbearing that which is evill and unſeemly, and in chooſing and practiſing that which is good and decent. Idem.

Tempeſtuous] Came out as a whirlewind. Hab. 3. 14. Comp. the text with the marg. It ſhall be very tempeſtuous, Pſal. 50. 3. or a ſtorm ſhall be moved vehemently, a tempeſt raiſed, which maketh fire the more fierce and forcible. And theſe things ſignifie Chriſts judgements againſt hypocriticall carnall worſhippers. See Mal. 3. 1, 2, 3. Matth. 3. 12. Aynſw. It's applyed unto the Sea, Jonah 1. 11, 13. Wind, Act. 27. 14.

Temple] Captains of the Temple, Luk. 22. 52. The Captains of a band or bands of Romane Souldiers, ſet at the porches of the Temple, to guard and keep peace, that there might be no ſedition raiſed in the City at the aſſembling of the Jews at the Temple. See Act. 4. 1. & 5. 24. Dr. Hamm. Annot. f. The houſe, 1 Chr. 6. 10. marg.

Tempt] Thou ſhalt not tempt the Lord thy God, Mat. 4. 7. The phraſe of tempting God ſignifies not too much, but too little confidence, a diffidence, and incredulity. Thus the Iſraelites tempting of God in Exodus and Deuter. is generally doubting of Gods care, and providence, and power, and wiſdome, of which they had had ſo many arguments, aſſurances, and promiſes from him. See Numb. 14. 9, 11, 12. Pſal. 78. 18, 19, 20, 21, 42, 43, 44, 57. So Iſa. 7. when Ahaz ſaith, he will not tempt the Lord, the words ſignifie, that he needed no farther arguments to aſcertain him of the truth of what was there promiſed. Where yet Ahaz ſeems to have ſpoken ironically, he will ask no more ſignes, believing the thing impoſſible, & is therefore reprehended by the Prophet for incredulity and wearying of God, and making it neceſſary for him to give a ſigne, verſ. 13, 14. And thus clearly the phraſe is uſed in this place, where the Devill perſwading Chriſt by caſting himſelf ſelf downe from the battlement, to make tryall whether God would deal with him as a Son, i. e. preſerve him or no; Chriſt that needed no ſuch evidences of his being the Son of God, Mat. 3. 17. replyes, that this is that tempting of God, which is forbidden, Deut. 6. 16. See Mat. 16. 1, 4, 5. Luk. 11. 16. Sometime this phraſe is uſed in a notion a little different from this, not in relation to any promiſes of God, but of any other part of his Will revealed, and notes any act of infidelity, any contrariety to the revealed Will of God, whether in point of doctrine, as Act. 15. 10. or practiſe, 1 Cor. 10. 9. Mal. 3. 15. comp. with 2. 17. So Act. 5. 9 Dr. Hamm. Annot. c.

Have tempted you, 1 Theſſ. 3. 5. It is ordinary in the Scripture-dialect for verbs to ſignifie beſide the action or paſſion noted by them, the effect which is conſequent thereto. Of actives we have an example in this word πειράζειν, for to tempt doth ordinarily ſignifie no more then to offer temptations, to propoſe or ſuggeſt thoſe objects, which if the man reſiſt and reject, are matter of virtue in him, but having tempted here, ſignifies evidently having brought them into ſin, i. e. wrought upon them, corrupted them by temptations, for otherwiſe his labour in preaching the Goſpel to them would not become vain by that means. So when God is ſaid to give men to Chriſt, Joh. 6. 37. the meaning is, that by Gods preventing and preparing grace, they do effectually come to Chriſt, receive and embrace the Goſpel. Idem Ann. a.

Temptation] And lead us not into temptation, Mat. 6. 13. To enter into temptation ſignifies to be ſo involved in ſtraights or difficulties, as that one cannot extricate himſelf, chap. 26. 41. And proportionably here εἰσφέρειν εἰς πειρασμὸν, is to bring men, or ſuffer them to be brought into ſuch an eſtate, contrary to which is Gods promiſe, 1 Cor. 10. 13. of giving a way of eſcaping, or getting out together with the temptation; and that it is which we here pray for, in aſſurance of Gods fidelity in performance. Dr. Hamm. Ann. g.

Pſal.

Pſal. 25. 6. (Heb. bowels, marg.) Plant, Iſa. 53. 2. Solomon, 1 Chr. 22. 5.

Tender-hearted] 2 Chron. 13. 7. that is, ſoon daunted. This is oppoſed to courage and magnanimity. He wanted ſtoutneſſe of ſpirit. Annot. The originall εὔσπλαγχνοι, in Eph. 4. 32. is rendred tender-hearted, but being derived of εὖ well, and σπλάγχνα bowels, it's as much as well of bowels, or rightly bowelled. One that is affected with the miſeries of others, and pityeth them from his very heart; who is prone to mercy, whoſe heart moveth to compaſſion. See Leigh Crit. Sac.

Tenderneſſe] Delicateneſſe, niceneſſe, Deut. 28. 56.

Tent-makers] Act. 18. 3. Their trade was to make tents of skins, then much in uſe in thoſe hot Countreys. Herein Paul wrought, in reſpect of his preſent neceſſity, and that he might not diſadvantage the Goſpel by being burthenſome to any, chap. 20. 34. 2 Theſſ. 3. 8. Annot.

Terribleneſſe] Deut. 26. 8. or terror. This the Greek and Chaldee tranſlate viſions. Aynſw.

Thy terribleneſſe hath deceived thee, Iſa. 49. 16. Some render it thine idoll, becauſe a word from the ſame root, differing onely in a miniſteriall letter, is uſed for an idoll, ſo tearmed, becauſe the worſhippers of ſuch dread them, 1 King. 15. 13. 2 Chr. 15. 16. Others, pride or arrogancy, ſo ſome of the Jewiſh Maſters, whom the old Latine followeth, and they ſay pride is ſo tearmed, either by a contrariety of ſpeech, becauſe proud perſons are fartheſt from fear, or becauſe they affect to be frightfull to others, Job 40. 10--12. The Chaldee rendreth it fatneſſe, or fatuity, folly; for the word he uſeth may ſignifie either, and they go freqnently together, as the Gr. Proverb informeth us. A learned Interpreter, horrour or roughneſſe, as having reference to the roughneſſe of thoſe mountains, on which having expelled the Horites, Edom ſeated himſelfe, called from their roughneſſe (ſaith he) the mountains of Seir, Deut. 2. 12. But the beſt and plaineſt is to take the word in a notion of terror, thereby underſtanding not the terror wherewith Edom was affected himſelf, but the terror that he ſtruck into, and wherewith he was wont to affright others; as the like is ſaid of other great States, Iſa. 14. 16. Ezek. 32. 23--27. Annot.

Terribly] To ſhake terribly the earth, Iſa. 2. 19. When he comes to make a terrible earthquake in the State, Pſal. 75. 3. Great commotions and concuſſions in a State, are compared to great earthquakes that overturn houſes and buildings, and ſwallow up ſometimes whole Cities. Annot.

Terrifie] Neither be ye terrified, Deut. 20. 3. or broken, diſcouraged, daunted with terror. The Gr. tranſlateth, decline not from their faces. Aynſw. Things that affright, terrifie, or make afraid, are Adverſaries, Phil. 1. 28. The blackneſſe of the day, Job 3. 5. (let the blackneſſe of the day terrifie it, or let them terrifie it as thoſe who have a bitter day, marg.) Fear, Job 9. 34. Letters, 2 Cor. 10. 9. A multitnde, Job 31. 34. Spirits, Luk. 24. 37. Viſions, Job 7. 14. Wars and commotions, Luk. 21. 9.

Terriſes] 2 Chr. 9. 11. or Stairs, Hebr. his wayes, marg.

Terrour] Ezek. 32. 23. or Diſmaying, marg.

Teſtament] The word διαθήκη in the New Teſtament doth every where ſignifie a covenant, as Mat. 26. 28. Mar. 14. 24. Luk. 22. 20. (and ſo the Hebr. ברית, which is rendred by διαθήκη ſignifies a Covenant, but never a Teſtament) 2 Cor. 3. 6. Gal. 4. 24. excepting onely in Heb. 9. 16, 17. where it infallibly ſignifies a Will or Teſtament, which yet is taken in by way of accommodation, as a ſecond ſenſe of the word ſuperadded to the former of a Covenant, in which it is uſed, v. 15, 18, 19, 20. for there the διαθήκη which was ſaid to be conſecrated with blood, was the Tables of the Law, the Commandements, v. 19. and will be fitly rendred there Covenant not Teſtament, v. 20. It being the conſtant cuſtome and practiſe of the Eaſtern Nations to uſe blood in the ſtriking of any pact or covenant, but not in making every Will or Teſtament, and to that the expreſſe teſtimony of Exod. 24. 6. which is there cited, doth belong, the ſprinkling of blood being the ceremony following Moſes's rehearſing the Commandements to the people, Exod. 20. & 21. & 22. & 23. as the ſanction of a Covenant. Dr. Hamm. Annot. p. 1, 2.

Teſtified] 1 Tim. 2. 6. or a Teſtimony, marg.

T H.

Thank] What thank have ye? Luk. 6. 32. What reward can ye expect from God? It is no good work which onely ſelf-love, carnall reſpects, or deſire of like favours from others cauſeth. Annot.

Give thanks, Pſal. 18. 49. or Confeſſe, m.

Thanked] 2 Sam. 14. 22. Hebr. bleſſed, marg.

Thank-

Thank offerings] 2 Chr. 29.31. Sacrifices were for the expiation of their ſins. Thank-offerings were to teſtifie their gratefull acknowledgement of Gods mercy to them. Annot.

Thankfull] Col. 3. 15. Gratefull one to another, as well in conferring as in receiving benefits. Some render it amiable. See Leigh Crit. Sac. in the word Εὐχάριστος.

Thankfulneſſe] With all thankfulneſſe, Act. 24.3. There's thankfulneſſe in words; it may alſo contain gratuities, that is, tokens of good will, whereby we endeavour indeed to recompenſe good for good. It's ſometimes in deſire, for it's true thankfulneſſe unfaignedly to deſire opportunity to ſhew it. It may be due not onely to godly men, but alſo to wicked men; yea ſuch as turn to be our enemies. We ſhould watch to the opportunities of doing them good, though they be evill. Byfield on Col. 3.15. p. 90.

Thanks] But rather giving of thanks, Eph. 5. 4. Εὐχαριστία ſignifies ordinarily thankſgiving, and that belonging eſpecially to God (from whom all mercies are received, and to whom all thanks are due) may be meant here by the word, though no mention of God be added to it, and ſo the context may well bear, let there be no unclean ſcurrilous jeſts uſed among you, but rather giving of thanks, i. e. let the Chriſtians way of mirth be far from that of obſcene wit, the recounting the mercies of God in Chriſt, calling you from darkneſſe to his marvellous light, will far better become a Chriſtian. But ſeeing χάρις (of which this word is compounded) is taken ſeveral times in the Epiſtles for piety, chriſtian virtue in generall, chap. 4. 29. Col. 3. 16. & 4. 6. and agreeably to this notion of χάρις, we have γυνὴ εὐχαρίστος, a gracious pious woman, Prov. 11. 16. perhaps εὐχαριστία may ſignifie in this place, gracious, pious, religious diſcourſe in generall, being ſet oppoſite to the filthy, obſcene diſcourſe preceding, and not to be reſtrained to one ſpecies of it, recounting the mercies of God. Dr. Ham. Annot. c.

Thankſgiving] Neh. 12. 8. that is, the Pſalms of thankſgiving, marg.

Thank-worthy] That which is commendable, and deſerveth to be praiſed, 1 Pet. 2. 19.

Thee] hath relation unto the party ſpoken unto, and by the words prefixed, above, about, after, againſt, at, before, behinde, beſides, between, beyond, by, concerning, for, from, in, into, of, off, on, over, through, to, towards, under, unto, upon, with, within, without, alſo teach, tell, &c. the meaning is eaſie.

Theeves] A den of theeves, Matt. 21. 13. By λῃσταί, theeves, here is meant thoſe that by merchandiſe make gain of others, not thoſe that are robbers indeed. So Joh. 2. 16. it's οἶκον ἐμπορίου, a houſe of merchandiſe. Dr. Ham. Annot. c.

Theirs] Spoken of things belonging to others, Gen. 34. 23. Num. 16. 26.

Them] Againſt them, 2 Pet. 2. 11. Some read againſt themſelves, marg. By the words prefixed, above, after, againſt, among, amongſt, at, before, behinde, beſides, between, by, concerning, for, from, in, into, of, on, one of, over, ſay to, through, teach, to, towards, wo to, under, unto, upon, with, without, the meaning is plain.

Theophilus] Luk. 1. 3. It's not certain that Theophilus here was the proper name of a particular man, but perhaps a faigned title to ſignifie every Chriſtian, every one that loved God, to whom he addreſſes his diſcourſe; and then κράτιστος, moſt excellent, will be no title of honour, nor any more then Optimus in Latine, a form of civility onely. Dr. Ham. Annot. c.

Thereabout] Luk. 24. 4. About not finding the body of the Lord.

Through the land of Ægypt, Psal. 81. 5. or against, marg. This particle hath divers other significations, but by the words joyned therewith, the same may be plainly perceived.

Throughout] This particle in most places may be rendred by in, as Gen. 41. 29. & 25. 8. Exod. 5. 12. & 7. 19, 21, &c.

Throughout all the East land, 1 Chron. 5. 10. Hebr. upon all the face of the East, marg.

With throwing a stone, Numb. 35. 17. Heb. with a stone of the hand, marg.

Threw in, Mar. 12. 42. Did contribute, or gave into. This in the Diction. is joyned with throw down, without any distinction to difference it therefrom.

Thrust] To presse, Numb. 22. 25. To beat, or cast down, Numb. 35. 20, 22. To make to erre, Deut. 13. 5, 10. To squeese, Judg. 6. 38. To put, Joh. 20. 25, 27. To resist, Act. 7. 39.

Thrust down, Job 32. 13. Drive from one affliction to another, as the wind doth the leaf. Annot.

Thunder] Hearing a voyce, or hearing indeed the voyce or thunder, Act. 9. 7. What is here said of those that were with Paul, that they heard the voyce, seems directly contrary to what's affirmed, ch. 22. 9. they heard not the voyce. The onely way of reconciling the difficulty is by observing the notion of the word קול, in Hebr. which signifies φωνὴν & βροντὴν, a voyce and thunder, and those promiscuously taken the one for the other. So Hebr. 12. 26. Whose voyce shook the earth, i. e. whose thunder, and lightnings, and voyce of a trumpet exceeding loud, Ex. 19. 16. and so Luk. 9. 35. the voyce of a cloud saying, was the thunder with a voyce in it, a revelation from heaven given in thunder. So Mat. 3. 17. a voyce from heaven saying, i. e. a thunder from heaven sending forth this voyce, which therefore was wont to be called בת קול, the daughter of voyce, or a voyce coming out of it; or as the voyce from heaven, Joh. 12. 28. is expresst by the by-standers, by βεβρονθηκεναι γεγονέναι, that it thundred, and an Angel spake to him, which is explained distinctly by St. John, Rev. 4. 5. where βρονταὶ and φωναὶ both are named, and ch. 10. 3. the seven thunders delivered their voyces. By this the difficulty will be cleered, for here chap. 9. the voyce ought to be rendred thunder, which was here joyned with lightening, which shone or flasht about him, vers. 3. As for the voyce of him that spake to me, chap. 22. 9. that was the voyce of the Angel speaking out of heaven, or out of the cloud. Both which put together signifie no more then this, that St. Paul's companions companions at that time, ſaw the light of the lightning, and heard the noyſe of the thunder, (which is the importance of the place here) but heard not the articulate voyce that came out of the thunder, i. e. the Saul, Saul, &c. the voyce of the Angel ſpeaking to him. Dr. H. Annot. b.

Thunder] To make a great ſound, or terrible noyſe, which the Pſalmiſt expreſſeth thus, The higheſt gave his voyce, Pſal. 18. 13. This none can do but God. Canſt thou thunder with a voyce like him? ſaid the Lord himſelf unto Job, Job 40. 9.

The God of glory thundereth, ſaith the Pſalmiſt, Pſal. 29. 3. and that with a great thunder, 1 Sam. 7. 10. with the voyce of his excellency, Job 37. 8. and marvellouſly, Ib. 5. This is a ſigne of Gods anger, 1 Sam. 2. 10. & 7. 10. Iſa. 29. 6. and of his power and glory, Job 26. 14. & 37. 4, 5. & 40. 4. Pſal. 29. 3. & 77. 19. Aynſw. on Pſal. 18. 14.

Thunderings] Mighty thunderings, Exod. 9. 28. Heb. voyces of God, marg.

Thus] Numb. 11. 28. Heb. theſe, marg.

Thus and thus] Spoken of ſuch things as have been ſaid or done by one, 2 Sam. 17. 15. Joſh. 7. 20. or ſaid and done by others, 2 King. 5. 4. & 9. 12. Judg. 18. 4.

T I.

Tiberias] Joh. 6. 1, 23. This City was called of old Cinnereth, whence the Latine word canere, to ſing, כנור, cinnor ſignifieth a Muſicall inſtrument. Junius rendreth it, an harp, whence haply the old Cinnereth had its name. Paſor Etym.

Tiberius] Luk. 3. 1. The name of a Romane Cæſar, as Nero was alſo called, who in reſpect of his drunkenneſſe, was by ſome in ſtead of Tiberius Nero, tearmed Biberius Mero. He was thus denominated from the river Tiber, as being born beſide the ſame. Idem.

Tidings] Bear tidings, 2 Sam. 18. 20. Be a man of tidings, marg.

Tile] Ezek. 4. 1. Whether unburnt, or burnt in a kill is not expreſſed. Others ſay the Hebr. word will bear a table or tablet, ſmooth, and ſquare, and ſomewhat large, and ſo fitter for the Prophets pencil. Annot. Tiles were uſed to cover the roofes of houſes, to which they are yet employed.

Tiling] Let him down through the tiling, Luk. 5. 19. Διὰ τῶν κεράμων, through the pavements; for their houſes were flat roofed, and railed or battlemented according to the Law, Deut. 22. 8. to ſecure them from falling off; theſe pavements laid with tarrice, or the like materiall, might keep out all wet; theſe they digged, or brake through, Mar. 2. 4. Which ſetteth out the great faith of theſe men, and their confidence of Chriſt his power and will to heal their ſick. Annot.

Till] And knew her not till ſhe had brought forth her firſt born Son, Matt. 1. 25. She was therefore a pure Virgin when Chriſt was born, as well as when he was conceived, neither doth it neceſſarily follow that he knew her after, for theſe words ἕως οὗ, till, import the excluſion of all former, but not the admiſſion of a latter, as ch. 5. 26. Suidas interpreteth the Ravens not returning; עד, ἕως, untill the waters were dryed up, Gen. 8. 7. by εἰς τὸ παντελὲς οὐκ ἀπέστρεφε, never, or not at all returned. Annot. Donec (ſaith one) ita negat de præterito, ut non affirmet de futuro.

Tillage] Husbandry, whereof tillage or plowing the ground is one principall part. About this the poor ſeem to have been chiefly imployed, Prov. 13. 23. over whom, or ſuch as did the work of the field, for tillage of the ground, David had a particular officer, 1 Chron. 27. 26. Hereof the Levites had the tithes.

Tiller] Gen. 4. 2. Cain was the firſt Plough-man, a calling allowed of God, where by the antiquity of Husbandry appeareth to the great praiſe of it, and encouragement unto it. Idleneſſe was hated from the beginning, even of ſuch as had but civill honeſty, or the uſe of humane reaſon. But now tilling of the ground is too baſe for Farmers Sons, and we muſt be finer, but take heed we be not ſo fine in this world, that God know us not in the world to come, but ſay unto us, I made thee a Husbandman, who made thee a Gentleman? I made thee a Tiller of the ground (a trade of life moſt ancient and honeſt) who hath cauſed thee to forſake thy calling wherein I placed thee? Surely thou art not he that I made thee, and therefore I know thee not, depart from me thou wicked one into everlaſting fire. Babington on Gen. 4. 2.

Timbrel] Job 21. 12. It is eſteemed to be a woodden inſtrument, with parchment at both ends, to be beaten on with ſticks, much like our Drums or Tabers. Annot.

Former time, Job 30. 3. Hebr. yeſternight, m.

Time to come, Gen. 30. 33. Heb. to morrow, m. Iſa. 30. 8. Hebr. the latter day, marg.

Time was come about, 1 Sam. 1. 20. Hebr. revolution of dayes, marg.

In proceſſe of time, Gen. 4. 3. Hebr. at the end of dayes, marg. Judg. 11. 4. Hebr. after dayes, marg.

In time paſt, Deut. 19. 4, 6. Hebr. from yeſterday, the third day, marg.

The time of figs was not yet, Mar. 11. 13. The word καιρὸς literally ſignifying a ſeaſonable time, and time being of a great latitude, belonging to any part of time, an age, a yeer; and not onely a part of a yeer, though the firſt of an age cannot, yet the ſecond of a yeer may be applyable to this place, and then the meaning will be, that there was not a ſeaſon of figs, i. e. a good fig-yeer, a yeer that brought forth any ſtore of figs in that Countrey. Dr. Hammond Annot. a.

Timna] The Siſter of Lotan, Gen. 36. 22. The Son of Eliphaz, 1 Chr. 1. 36.

Timnathah] The name of a place, Joſh. 19. 43.

Timnite] A native or inhabitant of Timnath, Judg. 14. 6. See Judg. 14. 1, 2, 6.

Timotheus] Act. 16. 1. A Greek word, compounded of τιμάω to honour, and θεὸς God, q. d. a worſhipper or honourer of God. Paſor Etym. He is alſo named Timothy, 1 Tim. 1. 2, 18. & 6. 20. 2 Tim. 1. 2.

Tiras] The Son of Japhet, 1 Chr. 1. 5.

Tired her head] 2 King. 9. 30. She ſet her ſelf out in the greateſt bravery that ſhe could, whereby ſhe ſhewed her great ſtoutneſſe, as if ſhe would daunt Jehu, by ſhewing that ſhe would yet ſtil retain her royal ſtate, and not care or fear what he could do to her. Some will have it, that ſhe ſo attired her ſelfe, to entice Jehu to luſt, or at leaſt, to induce others to aid her, Jer. 4. 30. Ezek. 23. 40. Annot.

Tires] And the round tires like the moon, Iſa. 3. 18. The word is found onely here, and Judg. 8. 21, 26. where ſuch ornaments are ſaid to have been on the Camels necks that belonged to the Midianitiſh Princes. Some underſtand hereby ſome kinde of ornament about their ſhooes, ſuch as the Nobility among the ancient Romans ware, whereby they were diſtinguiſhed from the meaner ſort; or other ſuch jewels or ornaments ſhaped like the moon; as among other Nations (as Stories ſhew) have been in uſe. And they might reſemble the figure of the half-hooked or horned moon. So the word here uſed may well ſignifie ſuch jewels or ornaments as repreſented her in any ſhape, of which ſort might well be the ſilver or golden boſſes on the Camels furniture before mentioned. Annot.

Tithe] Abraham gave him tithes of all, Gen. 14. 20. The payment of tithes is ancienter then the Leviticall Law, and being paid to Melchiſedec a type of Chriſt, they are not aboliſhed by the Goſpel, but may be continued as an Evangelicall revenue for the maintanance of thoſe who exhibit Sacramentall bread and wine (the materials of Melchiſedec's benevolence) to the people, and bleſſe them in the name of the Lord, as Melchiſedec did Abraham. Annot. One of ten, ſaith the Chald. Paraphraſt. This was a ſigne of homage and thankfulneſſe to God; for as tribute is paid to Kings for their attendance to the affairs of the Common-wealth, Rom. 13. 6, 7. So tithes in the Law are called holy, and an heave-offering to the Lord, Levit. 27. 30. Numb. 18. 24. and before the Law Jacob paid them to the Lord, Gen. 28. 22. and he appointed his tithes to the Prieſts, Numb. 28. 8, 21. And Abram the tenth generation from Sem, here payeth to the Prieſt Melchiſedec (who is generally thought to be Sem) the tenth of all. The Prieſts alſo and Levites of the Law, who now was in Abram's loyns, did in him pay tithes to Melchiſedec, wherefore his prieſthood was greater then theirs, Heb. 7. 9, 10, 11.

This ſervice was alſo kept among the Heathens. Piſiſtratus tyrant at Athens, writeth to Solon thus; All the Athenians do ſeparate the tithe of their fruits, not to be ſpent unto our uſe, but for publick ſacrifices, and common profits, &c. Diog. Laert. in vit. Solonis. So among the Latines they were wont to pay tithes to their god Hercules, as Pompon. Lætus de Sacerd. & Macrob. Saturn. lib. 3. c. 12. affirm. Aynſw.

All the tithe of the land, &c. Lev. 27. 30. There are two ſorts of tithe in the Law; the firſt which (after the payment of the firſt-fruits) was given to the Levites, Num. 18. 21. The ſecond which (after the payment of the former tithe) was ſeparated and carried up to Jeruſalem, and there eaten by the Owners, Deut. 12. 6, 7, 11. & 14. 22, 23. which ſecond tithe every third yeer was given to the poor, Deut. 14. 28. Idem.

Such as would be further informed of the things which in generall were titheable, of the ſeverall kindes of them, and of the time when each ſort began to be titheable, may may have recourſe to Goodwyn's Moſes and Aaron, lib. 6. cap. 3. p. 274, &c. They alſo which ſcruple the lawfulneſſe of them, may by peruſing a Treatiſe of B. Carleton, entituled, Tithes examined, and proved to be due, &c. a Treatiſe of R. Eburn, entituled, The maintenance of the Miniſtery. Another of F. Roberts, entituled, The revenue of the Goſpel is tithes. Another, The poor Vicars plea for tithes. Another, The Countrey mans Catechiſme, or The Churches plea for tithes; with ſeverall others who have writ on this ſubject, receive (if they will) abundant ſatisfaction.

To conclude, To pay or give what God appoints is not the way to impoveriſh men, but to enrich them. The Hebrews have a very elegant proverb to that purpoſe, תעשר בשביל שתעשיר that is, pay thy tithes that thou mayſt be rich. The ſame word in the Hebr. (the different placing of one little prick over one of the letters makes all the difference) ſignifies to pay tithes and to grow rich, which gave occaſion to the proverb. Annot. on Prov. 3. 10.

Tithe] To pay the tenth, Luk. 11. 42. or receive the tenth, Heb. 7. 5, 6.

Title] 2 King. 23. 17. There was ſome Graveſtone, and a ſuperſcription upon it, or elſe a pillar by the ſepulchre of the man of God, ſuch a one as Jacob ſet upon Rachels grave, Gen. 35. 20. wherein the ſtory of that man of God was engraven. See 1 Kin. 13. 30, 31. Annot.

Pilate wrote a title, Joh. 19. 19. It was the faſhion of the Ancients to ſignifie to the publick, the cauſe of any Delinquents ſufferings, either by the voyce of a Cryer, or by ſetting it up written in Capitall letters. Annot.

Neither let me give flattering titles, Job. 32. 21. He would not flatter [illegible] nor them with high titles, though they were ancienter then he, but would carry the buſineſſe by meer ſtrength of argument, not by oratoricall and rhetoricall inſinuations. Annot.

The word ἔκστασις the Gr. is תרדמה, which ſignifies either, 1. deep ſleep (and a trance of the nature of that) or 2. amazement, aſtoniſhment, and accordingly is by the Septuagint rendred ſometime ὕπνος, as Pſal. 68. 29. and δεινὸς φόβος, 1 Sam. 26. 12. and ſometime ἔκστασις, as Gen. 2. 21. where it is (though we render it a deep ſleep) of the ſame kinde with that here, a trance or extaſie, and therefore is rendred in the שנא חקימא, a ſtrong ſleep, ſignifying or intimating it to be ſomething more then that ſleep which is ordinary among men. Proportionably to theſe acceptions of the Hebrew, the word ἔκστασις in the New Teſtament ſignifies ſometime amazement and aſtoniſhment, from fear or wonder, Mar. 5. 42. & 16. 8. Luk. 5. 26. Act. 3. 10. and ſometimes a trance or extaſie, when the outward ſenſes being bound up as it were with ſleep, Gods will is inwardly revealed to the underſtanding, by way of intellectuall viſion. True laws, Neh. 9. 13. Heb. laws of truth, m.

It is true, Dan. 3. 14. or of purpose, marg.

True bread from heaven, Joh. 6. 32. As ἀληθὴς signifieth truly valuable, or durable; or truly durable, because it is durable. So here ἀληθὴς, or ἀληθὰς βρῶσις, true meat, or truly meat, is explained to be the bread of life, vers. 48. that on which he that feeds shall live for ever. So food that indures for ever, vers. 27. and opposite to Manna, on which they that feed, die, vers. 47. And this,

1. As the word ἀληθῶς, truly noteth some speciall eminency wherein any attribute belongs to the subject; and when it is applyed to resemblances, it then signifies that which is spoken of be more eminently that by which it's resembled, then that it self is; as, I am the true vine, i. e. a vine by bearing grapes (which yeeld wine) which makes glad the heart of man, is not neer so able and proper to refresh a thirsty person, as I am, as my commands and promises are. So St. John of Christ, ch. 1. 9. that he is the true light, i. e. the most excellent. So Heb. 8. 2. Heaven is the true Tabernacle, that of which the tabernacle was but a dark and poor resemblance; and so this called ἀληθινὸς ἄρτος, true bread, and vers. 55. meat indeed, or truly meat, i. e. more nutritive, and strengthening, and comforting then meat and bread is.

2. In respect of the particular matter to which it's applyed, βρῶσις, food, that which feeds one for an hour or a day (and enlargeth his life but so long) being not truly food, not worthy to be so called, at least not so in comparison with that which keeps him alive, so as life is adequately opposite to death, i. e. for ever. And so with us the word false signifies fading, transitory, that which will fail us when it were most of advantage for us to receive benefit by it. Dr. Hamm. Annot. f. and Note on Luk. 16. a.

Truly] Luk. 20. 21. or of a truth, mar.

But unto the Priests it appertained most properly to sound with Trumpets, 2 Chron. 13. 12. Annot.

Trusted] Eph. 1. 12. or hoped, marg.

Trusty] Job 12. 20. The word is by some translated eloquent, from נאם, to speak, and such men are of great use in a State; by others, such as speak truly, for such will rightly inform in publick affairs. By others, the confident, for they that speak truly and elegantly, as they are of great use in the publick, so they may well be confident in what they advise, and look to be believed. By others, the trusty, as in our Translation, for such men are most worthy to be trusted, both by Governours and people in places of greatest consequence, who can speak well, and will speak truly and confidently, as becomes Orators, Lawyers, Embassadors. And in these three last senses the word is taken, from אמן; which in some conjugations signifies to be true of speech, faithfull, confident. Such God can take away, or take those qualities from them, Isa. 3. 3. The word is translated faithfull, Prov. 25. 13. Annot.

The Hebr. אמת, signifies both truth and justice, and is rendred by ἀλήθεια and δικαιοσύνη, and here one of them is put for the other, ἀλήθεια truth, and δικαιοσύνη justice, so as on the other side ἄδικον μαμωνᾶ, the unjust mammon, is opposed to the true riches. Twofold] And when he is made, ye make him twofold more the childe of hell then your selves, Matthew 23. 15. When you have got a Gentile to your religion, by teaching him the worser part of your doctrine, that which fortifies him against the receiving of Christ, and by pressing him to that legall strictnesse (which is commanded you as Jews, but belongs not to him) you put him in a far worse and more dangerous estate, and make him more vehemently to oppose the Gospel, then your selves, or your owne children, naturall Jews. Dr. Ham. Paraph. Much worse, and so more damnable. Annot.

For the creature was made ſubject to vanity, Rom. 8. 20. Ματαιότης, vanity hath a double notion; one, as it refers to the heathen idols, which being הבל nothings are called μάταια, vain or vanities, Act. 14. 14. and ſo vanity here is all their ignorant filthy idol-worſhip, and ſo it's Eph. 4, 17. and ſo Rom. Rom. 1, 21. & 2 Pet. 2. 18. Another, as it's rendred, rendred, wretched, miſerable, and both theſe may ſeem to be here put together, as the courſe of the Gentiles, was an idolatrous, villanous, and withall an unhappy, wretched courſe, to which the Devill had brought them, and God in his juſt judgements had delivered them up, for their deſpiſing the light of nature. Dr. Ham. Annot. h.

Vapour] Job 36. 33. Hebr. that which goeth up, marg.

Variableneſſe] From the Father of lights, with whom is no variableneſſe, neither ſhadow of turning, Jam. 1. 17. The word παραλλαγὴ (rendred variableneſſe) ſignifieth aſtronomically the ſeverall habitudes and poſitions, wherein the Sun appears to us every day at the riſing in the Meridian, and when it ſets. And ſo τροπὴ (rendred turning) is alſo a like word, belonging not to the daily but yeerly courſe of the Sun, which is farther from us, or neerer to us, after the meaſure, or in the proportion, that it moves towards the Northern and Southern Tropick. And from thence it is that it caſts ſeverall ſhadows to the ſeverall people of the world, and gives Geographers occaſion to divide them into ἄσκιοι, ἑτερόσκιοι, and ἀμφίσκιοι, thoſe that caſt no ſhadows, thoſe that caſt ſhadows on one ſide, and thoſe that caſt ſhadows round about. And agreeable to this is the word ἀποσκίασμα (rendred ſhadow) caſting of ſhadow here, and being joyned with τροπῆς turning, ſignifies the variations of the ſhadows, according to the various motions of the Sun, before mentioned. Dr. Hamm. Annot. d. God is here compared to the Sun, and is therefore called the Father of lights, but yet is preferred before it, becauſe it hath ſometimes clouds caſt over it, and ſometimes is in an eclipſe; but there is no change or ſhadow of change with him. All theſe words are aſtronomicall; God is compared to the Sun, and his light is much perfecter. The Sun hath its parallaxes, in the Eaſt it looks one way, in the South and Weſt another way; and his turnings, yeerly departures from us, which we call Solſtices. God neither riſes, nor ſets, nor departs, but is alwayes neer to thoſe that call upon him. Leigh's Annot.

Vehement] Jonah 4. 8. or ſilent, marg.

Vehemently] Earneſtly, confidently, fervently, Mat. 14. 31. Sharply, eagerly, greatly, Luk. 11. 53. Stiffly, fiercely, with great contention, Luk. 23. 10.

Venome] Their wine is the cruell venome of Aſps, Deut. 32. 33. Wine here ſignifieth the corrupt doctrine and hereſies wherewith the Jews poyſoned themſelves, and their Diſciples, as the wine of fornications is the hereſies and idolatries of Antichriſt, wherewith all Nations have been made drunken. Rev. 17. 2. The cruell venome of Aſps; in Gr. incurable fury of Aſps; in Chald. as the gall of Aſps the cruell Serpents, which are venemous Serpents that will not be charmed, Pſal. 58. 5, 6. and ſo it noteth their incurable maliciouſneſſe. Aynſw.

Vertue] That hath called us to glory and vertue, 2 Pet. 1. 3. The word ἀρετὴ, vertue, beſide the ordinary known notion of it, for probity of manners among men, as the generiall word that contains all morall and Chriſtian vertues under it, (in which ſenſe it is uſed, Phil. 4. 8.) doth in this chap. ſignifie two things very diſtant from one another, and both of them differing from this. In this verſe it ſignifies the power of God which he ſhewed in Chriſt, eſpecially the miracles which he was enabled to work; and ſo it's here joyned with the glory, whether the deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt on him, and on the Apoſtles, (which is ordinarily called Schechina, and δόξα, glory) or whether the glory that ſhone in his works and doctrine be meant by it. So 1 Pet. 2 9. ἀρεταὶ καλέσαντος, the vertues (in the plural) of him that called us out of darkneſſe into this great light, i. e. his miraculous power, divine actions and words together. But then in v. 5. of this chap. the word ſeems yet to have a third notion, and belonging there evidently to men not to God, as here, it cannot yet be fitly interpreted by that word vertue, which is the generall comprehenſive title of all vertues, for many of them are after named, as continence, patience, &c. and required to be ſuperſtructed upon this of ἀρετὴ vertue, which would not be ſo proper; but it ſeems rather to ſignifie (in that notion wherein both the Gr. ἀρετὴ, and the Latine virtus, are often uſed) ἀνδρίζεσθαι, 1 Cor. 16. 13. Manhood, courage, or fortitude in adhering to Chriſt, Mat. 16. 24. which the Gnoſticks, againſt whom he arms them, would ſo fain rob them of, now in time of perſecutions. Dr. Hamm. Annot. a.

Vertuouſly] Have done vertuouſly, Prov. 31. 29. or have gotten riches, marg.

Verp] By the words annexed hereunto the meaning hereof may be plainly perceived.

Veſſel] The Potters veſſel, Iſa. 30. 14. Heb. the bottle of Potters, marg. Any inſtrument to carry things in, wet or dry, Gen. 43. 11. Mat. 13. 48. Mar. 11. 16. Ships, Iſa. 18. 2.

Mans body, 1 Theſſ. 4. 4. Earthly, fraile, ſubject to mortality, 2 Cor. 4. 7. There were veſſels of braſſe, 2 Sam. 8. 10. Clay, Jer. 18. 4. Earth, 2 Tim. 2. 20. Gold, Eſt. 1. 7. Silver, 2 Sam. 8. 10. Wood, 2 Tim. 2. 20. Yvory, Rev. 18. 12.

Victory] 2 Sam. 19. 2. Hebr. ſalvation or deliverance, marg. Prov. 21. 31. or ſafety. Comp. the marg. with the text.

Death is ſwallowed up in victory, 1 Cor. 15. 54. The Hebr. phraſe לנצח, which is ordinarily rendred εἰς νῖκος, 2 Sam. 2. 26. Job 36. 7. Jer. 3. 5. Lam. 5. 20. Amos 1. 11. doth in all of them ſignifie for ever, and is rendred εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα, Iſa. 13. 20. and εἰς τέλος, to the end, Pſal. 13. 2. and ſo it's in this place, Death ſhall be for ever (or perfectly, or finally) devoured. Dr. Ham. Annot. e.

Victuals] Jer. 44. 17. Heb. bread, marg.

View] 2 King. 2. 7. Hebr. in ſight, or over againſt, marg.

Vile] So vile a thing, Judg. 19. 24. Hebr. the matter of this folly, marg. 1 Sam. 3. 13. or accurſed, marg.

Vileſt men, Pſal. 12. 8. Hebr. זולות, vilitates, the abſtract for the concrete, as often. Annot.

Vileneſſe, or vile luxurioufneſſe, riotize. The word Zuſuth here uſed is derived from Zolel, that is, a rioter, glutton, or luxurious perſon, Deut. 21. 20. Prov. 23. 21. and conſequently, one vile, contemptible, and nought worth, oppoſed unto the precious, Jerem. 15. 19. And here vileneſſe or riotize may either be meant of the vice it ſelf, or of vicious doctrin, oppoſed to Gods precious Word, before ſpoken of, verſ. 16. or a vile and riotous perſon may be ſo called for more vehemency ſake, as pride for the proud man, Pſalm 36. 12. Aynſw.

Vile perſon, Iſa. 32. 5. The word is in Scripture commonly uſed for a fool, as Deut. 32. 6. where wiſe and it are oppoſed, or (like a withered flower, or leaf, or branch, or plant) of no reckoning or eſteem, chap. 28. 1, 4. & 64. 6. See ch. 14. 19. & 27. 11. and both fooliſh and wicked ones are perſons of no worth, Prov. 10. 20. But in this place being oppoſed to a word that hath a notion of liberality in it, it ſeems rather to import tenacity and niggardlineſſe; and our ancienter Verſions, therefore render it, one of them, a niggard; another, a fooliſh niggard. Annot.

Villages] Numb. 21. 25. Hebr. daughters, marg.

Vine-tree] Numb. 6. 4. Hebr. vine of the vine, marg. Of Vines, ſome were Choyce, Iſa. 5. 2. Flouriſhing, Cant. 7. 12. Fruitful, Pſal. 128. 3. Goodly, Ezek. 17. 8. Noble, Jer. 2. 21. Spreading, Ezek. 17. 6. Others, Empty, Hoſ. 10. 1. Undreſſed, Lev. 25. 5, 11. Waſte and dryed, Joel 1. 7, 12. Wilde, 2 King. 4. 39.

Violence] Jer. 22. 17. or incurſion, ma. Do violence to no man, Luk. 3. 14. or put no man in fear, marg.

The Kingdome of heaven ſuffereth violence, Matth. 11. 12. or is gotten by force, marg. This is a ſtrange phraſe, if it ſhould be exacted by our manner of expreſſing; but for the manner of the ſpeech it is to be referred to this Tradition of the Elders: Two men had an inheritance divided between them by equall portions; and it's ſaid of one of them, that he carryed away his owne part, and his fellows too; therefore they called him Ben-Hamſen, or the Son of violence, untill the day of his death, &c. By the Kingdome of heaven is plainly meant the Inheritance of the Saints, and the means whereby to purchaſe it. The Goſpel of the Kingdome, as it is therefore ſo called, Mat. 9. 35. Comp. with Luk. 16. 16. This Inheritance was bequeathed to, and equally divided betwixt the Jew and the Gentile, in a Chriſtian way of Gavelkin. It was firſt offered to the Jew, to take his half, but (which the Jew refuſing to doe) the Apoſtles caſt off the duſt of their ſhooſs, and turned to the Gentiles; and ſo the Gentile like a good Ben-Hamſen, or Son of violence, took his owne ſhare, and the Jews too. Mr. Gregorie's Notes and Obſerv. p. 27, 28. See Dr. Ham. Annot. f.

Violent man] Pſal. 18. 48. Hebr. man of violence, marg. Pſal. 86. 14. Hebr. terrible, m.

The violent take it by force, Matth. 11. 12. Theſe words are reſtrictive and promiſſive. The violent, and onely they, take it by force, as a Caſtle is taken by a ſtorm. Leigh's Annot. Onely they who with ardent affections, overcoming all that ſtands in their way, preſſe into it, do, and ſhall attain poſſeſſion thereof: The violent, or they that thruſt on men, marg. as in ſtorming a Town, one thruſts another to get before him into it; ſo the people were ſo encouraged by Johns preaching to come to Chriſt, that every one was ambitious to come firſt. Annot.

βιάζεσθαι notes a thing being taken by one that hath no legall acknowledged right in it. The Goſpel being firſt by appointment preacht to the Jews, the chief Cities thereof, Chorazin, Bethſaida, and Capernaum; nay, Jeruſalem it ſelf were not ſo carefull to look after it, eſpecially the principall perſons among them, Doctors and High-prieſts, &c. but continued to contradict and oppoſe it, and then the multitude and meaner ſort of the Jews, the people, which (ſay the Doctors) know not the Law, and are accurſed; and thoſe that dwelt in Idumea, Tyre and Sidon (See chap. 12. 15. comp. with Mar. 3 8) and of Galilee, ſo deſpiſed by the Phariſees, that they ſaid proverbially, No good thing comes out from thence (and beſides them the Publicans and Sinners) they carry all away, and proportionably are called here βιασταὶ, violent perſons; and the Goſpel, which primarily, and (as it was by them conceived) legally belonged not to them (and therefore it's one of the Phariſees arguments againſt Chriſts being the Meſſias, Have any of the Rulers or Phariſees believed on him? but theſe people, &c. And another, that he eat with Publicans and Sinners) is now wholly encloſed and engroſs'd by them. Dr. Ham. Annot. f.

Virginity] Maydenhead; whereof certain tokens were to be produced unto the Elders in the caſe of Slander, Deut. 22. 15.

And bewaile my virginity, Judg. 11. 37. Whereby I ſhall be deprived of poſterity. Annot.

Viſion] In the viſions of God, 2 Chron. 26. 5. Heb. in the ſeeing of God, mar. There were four ſeverall wayes of Revelations among the Jews.

1 רוח הקדוש, the holy Spirit.

2 בת קול, the daughter of voyce, or a voyce from heaven, brought by an Angel, by which any thing was made known to them.

3 אורים ותמים, Urim and Thummim, under the firſt Temple, the twelve ſtones in the Pectorall of the High-prieſt (which was called Hoſchen judicii) the irradiation of which foretold many things to the Jews. This is by Joſephus called λόγιον, the oracle, which (ſaith he) ceaſed to ſhine 200 yeers before he wrote.

4 נבואה, propheſie, which under the ſecond Temple, after the death of Haggai, Zachary, and Malachy, was taken away. This was of two ſorts, either in time of ſleep, by way of dream; or when they were waking, by caſting them into a trance or extaſie, where by way of viſion, they ſaw ſome body ſaying this or that unto them; or elſe ſeeing no ſhape, onely heard a voyce. Both which ſorts of Propheſie we have mentioned together, Joel 2. 28. Dreaming of dreams, and Seeing of viſions. Many examples of the viſion or trance we have here in this Book. Act. 9. 10, 12. & 10. 3, 10. & 16. 9. & 27. 23. See ch. 23. 11. Dr. Hamm. on Act. 23. 9. Annot. a.

Viſit] Take away life, Jer. 32. 5. Do judgement, Jer. 51. 47. Comp. the text with the marg. Avenge, Hoſ. 1. 4. See marg.

Viſitation] For this there's a Day, Iſa. 10. 3. Dayes, Hoſ. 9. 7. Time, Luk. 19. 44. Yeer, Jer. 11. 23. & 48. 44.

In the day of Viſitation, 1 Pet. 2. 12. This word Viſitation is in Scripture attributed both to Men and to God.

To men; as, 1. To ſhepherds, who when they did ſpecially ſurvey their flock, with intent to redreſſe what was amiſſe, were ſaid to viſit them, Jer. 23. 2.

2. To ſuch men as had the gathering of tribute; when they came to exact their tribute, to the great vexation of the people, they were ſaid to viſit them. So the word rendred exactors, Iſa. 60. 17. in the Originall is viſitors, or viſitations.

3. To viſit was a tearm given to the Biſhops and Apoſtles in the primitive Church, that went about through the Churches to take notice of the eſtate of the Churches, and to reform what was amiſſe, Act. 15. 36.

4. To viſit is reckoned among the works of curteſie and mercy, Jam. 1. 27. The Hebr. word in the Old Teſtament ſignifies often to muſter or number up the people, as 1 Chr. 21. 6. But in this place Viſitation is not referred to men.

To God, who is ſaid to viſit, not onely men, but other creatures; as the earth, when he makes it in an eſpeciall manner fruitfull, Pſal. 65. 9. Images, by breaking them to pieces, and confounding them (Amos 3. 14.) The veſſels of the Temple, by cauſing them to be brought again into the Temple, Jer. 27. 22. Leviathan the devil, by reſtraining his power, and diſappointing his malice, Iſa. 27. 1. But moſt uſually, Gods viſitation is ſpoken of in Scripture, as it concerneth men; and ſo God holdeth two ſorts of viſitations. The one is the viſitation of all men, which concerns either life or death. Life, in that he doth by his daily providence give and preſerve life till the appointed time, Job 10. 12. Death, when he cauſeth men to dye, at the time thereunto appointed, Numb. 16. 29. The other of some men in ſpeciall, when in a ſpeciall providence he takes notice of certain men, and comes among them to work the redreſs of ſin, and that is here meant. This viſitation muſt be conſidered according to the kindes of it, being either in juſtice (for though God may ſpare wicked men long, and ſeem to wink at their faults, yet he will finde a day to viſit them for their ſins, Iſa. 10. 3. Jerem. 50. 27.) or in mercy, and that both in temporall things (as in the caſe of bleſſings, or in the caſe of afflictions) and in ſpirituall things, revealing his marvellous and everlaſting mercies to his elect; he viſited his people when he ſent his Son to redeem them, Luk. 1. 68, 78. & 7. 16. Thus he viſited the world, when he ſent his Apoſtles unto all Nations preaching the Goſpel. If we reſpect whole congregations, the day of viſitation is, when God ſends them the powerfull preaching of the Goſpel, and doth thereby muſter and preſſe a people to himſelf; if we reſpect particular perſons, it is the day when God effectually calls them, and converts them. Byfield on Pet. p. 412, 413, 414, &c. The day of vengeance, deſolation and deſtruction, which was to come on the unquiet, turbulent, and ſeditious Jews, by the Romane Armies. The Syriack here read, in the day of temptation, i. e. of affliction, coming on the Nation, the falling of which upon the obdurate unbelieving Jews, and the eſcaping of the Chriſtians (as moſt remarkably they did by Gallus's raiſing the ſiege, and the Chriſtians going out, and flying to Pella) could not but be taken notice of by the Heathens, and ſo be means of their acknowledging of Gods good providence and mercy toward the Chriſtians, and glorifying God for this work of his. Unweighed] 1 Ki.7.47. Without weight, 1 Chr. 22. 3, 14. For it would have been too great a task to have weighed all, and too great a charge to have been accountable for all by weight; and there was ſo much of thoſe metals prepared, as they exceeded all weight. Annot.

Unwiſe] He is an unwiſe Son, Hoſ. 13.13 If this people were not fooliſh and ſtupified they would imitate little infants, who coming into the world do keep themſelves, and ſtrive to free themſelves out of the ſtraits and dangers of the birth; ſo they ſhould have endevoured to free themſelves out of their mortall dangers and travels by true repentance. To ſtay long in the birth is mortall both to the infant and mother; but this people aſtonyed in their miſeries, and obdurate in their ſins, and deſperate, ſought not to come out of them by the pangs of true repentance, and ſo be born anew to God; but fooliſhly they periſh in them. Annot.

Void] Without, Deut.32.28. Pro.7.7. & 10.13.

Volume] Pſal. 40. 7. That by the volume of the book, the Law of God, which preſcribes to all men how to live godlily (or which is the rule of godlineſſe unto all men) ſhould be underſtood, I doe not think abſurd. But nevertheleſſe I take this to be the more genuine expoſition, that David ſhould profeſſe himſelf in eorum catalogo cenſeri (ſome by this volume of the book, underſtand a ſcrol or catalogue, wherein Souldiers names were regiſtred) to be of their number, enrolled by name who yeeld obedience unto God. If by מְגִלַּת סֵפֶר there is no neceſſity the Scripture ſhould be underſtood, the words of themſelves being generall, which may as well be tranſlated, in a volume of a book, as in the volume of the book, and by סֵפֶר, any Writings, Evidences, Bills, Court-rolls, &c. may be underſtood, as Deut. 24. 1. and in divers other places, as no man makes any queſtion; then I ſee nothing why this ſhould not be thought the moſt literall and convenient interpretation; that David ſhould make here a ſolemne proteſtation of his purpoſed abſolute obedience unto God, as one that were legally bound and obliged by a written and regiſtred covenant or engagement. Neither is it unuſuall to the Scripture by mention of a Book to intimate the certainty and irrevocableneſſe of things, as alſo to deliver things with more ſolemnity. Annot.

Voluntarily] Willingly, of their owne free will, not being urged or compelled, Ezek. 46. 12, Vomit] Iſa. 28. 8. or ordure, for ſo the word properly ſignifieth, cha. 36. 12. See chap. 4. 4. An exceſſe of drunkenneſſe that makes men purge both wayes. Annot.

It's put for a loathſome and deteſtable courſe of converſation (as in the forequoted place) and for great ſorrow oppreſſing the heart, as a Surfet doth the ſtomach, being overcharg'd ſo as he falleth down upon his vomit, Jer. 48. 26.

Vow [It's made with a promiſe, Gen. 28.20. With an oath ſometime, Numb. 30. 2. Pſal. 132. 2. and with prayer, 1 Sam. 1. 10, 11, 27. Whereof God taketh notice, Deut. 23. 21. and accepteth, Numb. 21. 3. 1 Sam. 1. 19. and is carefully to be performed, being made, Deut. 23. 21. which the godly do, Pſal. 61. 8. & 66. 13.

Choyce vows, Deut. 12. 11. Heb. the choyce of your vows, marg.

Had a vow] Act. 18. 18. Had a vow here, is not to be referred to Paul, but to Aquila, for which his name is conjoyned κεκαρμένος, &c. Shaving his head, without ſo much as a comma between in ſome printed Copies. And it is not improbable, that when it is ſaid verſ. 19. that Paul went to Epheſus, and left them there, the αὐτοῦ there ſhould not denote Epheſus to which, but Cenchrea from which he came (for why ſhould his leaving them at Epheſus be immediately ſubjoyned to his coming thither?) and this on this occaſion, to purifie himſelf, and to be ſhaved, to which ſome ſtay, at leaſt ſeven dayes, was neceſſary. This vow was without all queſtion the vow of the Nazarites among the Jews, Numb. 6. 5. which was not alwayes for life, but ſometimes for a determinate time, wherein they did κόμην τρέφειν, and not ſuffer the razor to come upon them; but when that time was paſt, then one part of the vow was to be ſhaved, verſ. 18. and to offer up the hair, (called the hair of his ſeparation) to put it in the fire, which is under the ſacrifice of the Peace-

Peace-offerings, and accordingly here is ſhaving himſelf, for he had a vow. But becauſe this is here done by him at Cenchrea, and not at Jeruſalem, (where the accompliſhment of the vow was to be performed, as before at the dore of the Tabernacle, Numb. 6.13. and as we ſee it performed here, Act. 21.23.) therefore it is moſt probable that this ſhaving here, was not on the accompliſhing of his vow, but upon ſome intervening legall pollution, in which caſe he was bound to offer for a cleanſing, and on the ſeventh day to ſhave his head, and ſo begin the dayes again, Numb. 6.11, 12. This probably might be done in any City where a man happened to be polluted. But that at the completion of the vow, when the dayes of his ſeparation were fulfilled, was to be at Jeruſalem. This cuſtome was practiſed among the Heathens, who offered their hair (when it was cut) to Apollo, whom they tearmed, the nouriſher of hair. Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

Vow] To binde ones ſelf, whether by promiſe or oath, or both, to perform ſuch or ſuch a thing; which hath been done, both lawfully, as Gen. 28.20, 21. & 31.15. Numb. 21.2, 3. 1 Sam. 1.11. Pſal. 132.2. Prov. 31.2. Jonah 2.9. Act. 21.23. and unlawfully, out of raſhneſſe, Judg. 11.30. deceit, 2 Sam. 15.7, 8. to ſerve idols, Jer. 44.25. Judg. 17.3. to doe villany, Act. 23.14.

Upper] Applyed to Beth-horon, Joſh. 16.5. Chamber, Act. 9.37. Coaſt, Act. 19.1. Dore-poſt, Exod. 12.7. Lip, Lev. 13.45. Lintels, Zeph. 2.14. Milſtone, Deut. 24.6. Pool, 2 King. 18.17. Room, Mar. 14.15. Springs, Joſh. 15.19. Watercourſe, 2 Chr. 32.30.

They went into an upper room, Act. 1.13. One ſaith, that it was the ſame upper room in which they had eaten the Paſſeover. It was ſo truely an houſe of prayer, that by ſome it is taken for an upper room in the Temple it ſelf. But this upper room into which the Apoſtles went up, was appertaining to ſome private houſe, though whether that of St. John the Evangeliſt, as Evodius delivered, or that of Mary the Mother of John Mark (as others have collected) cannot be certain. The Diſciples indeed were continually (that is daily) in the Temple, Act. 2.46. Not all the day, but at the hour of prayer, Act. 3.1. At other times, and eſpecially for the breaking of that bread, that is, the Euchariſt (as the Syriack) or diſtribution of the body of Chriſt, (as the Arabick) they met together ἐν ὑπερῴοις, in theſe upper rooms, Act. 20.7. which could not poſſibly be in the Temple, for it was not at Jeruſalem. They continued daily with one accord in the Temple, (but) breaking bread, κατ' οἶκον, from houſe to houſe, or as the marg. there is, at home, Act. 2.46. The Jews were bound to worſhip in the Temple, towards the Ark; without the Temple towards that, or at leaſt towards the place whereabouts that was, at what diſtance ſoever. Thus did Daniel in his upper-chamber, Dan. 6.10. This his practiſe gave ground to that Canon, That no man pray but in ſuch a room which hath windows or holes in the wall, opening towards the Holy City. This hole in the wall (it was commonly but one) is called in Jer. 22.14. Gods window. This window, or theſe holes in the wall, Petronius calleth, ſummas cœli auriculas, the uttermoſt ears of heaven. And the Hebrew Sages call their wiſe men, Sons of the upper room. The upper rooms then in Scripture were ſuch places in that part of the houſe which was higheſt from the ground, ſet apart by the Jews for their private Oraiſons and devotions to be addreſſed toward Solomon's Temple, or the place of that which was for the conſecration, and convenience of receſſe, the Apoſtles made uſe of in the Chriſtian way. But the word Alijah doth not alwayes ſignifie in the principall and religious ſenſe, but when it doth ſo, it is alwayes ſet downe abſolutely; otherwiſe, if it be meant for an ordinary upper room, it is moſt uſually expreſſed with a note of diſtinction, as the upper room of the gate, 2 Sam. 18.33. the cooling upper room, Judg. 3.20. the upper room of the wall, 2 King. 4.8. Uprightly] He that walketh uprightly, Pſa. 15.2. that is, leadeth his life perfect, intire, ſimple, ſincere and unblemiſhed. It noteth the integrity that is before God in heart and ſpirit, according to the covenant, Gen. 17.1.

Or in a land or palce where all is plain and cleer, and nothing either to offend a man in his way, or to force him out of it, even there will he go awry, or turn aſide to crooked by-paths; there will he betake himſelf to his wonted wicked courſes, where there is nothing to preſſe him from walking uprightly, or to put him upon ſuch practiſe. Annot.

Urim and Thummim] Exod. 28. 30. Theſe words ſignifie light and perfection, according to their beſt derivation in the Hebr. tongue; and they are put in the plurall number, lights and perfections, to note the plenty as well as the excellency of divine graces. This was meant (as ſome conceive) of the ſplendor and perfection of the precious ſtones of the Breaſt-plate, which were of moſt cleer and perfect beauty. But that is not all; for beſides that, theſe words were engraven or written upon ſome of the precious materials of the High-prieſts ornaments; neither made nor placed by the inſpired Artificers, but (as ſome learned Writers rather think, by the compariſon of Exod. 39. 10. Lev. 8. 8.) made by God himſelf, and put by Moſes into the Breaſt-plate. It was called, the Breaſt-plate of judgement, verſ. 15. and the judgement of Urim, Numb. 27. 21. becauſe the High-prieſt put it on when he conſulted with God, and received from him clear and determinate anſwers in caſes of doubt; which were ſometimes made by audible voyce, ſometimes by ſecret inſpiration, which when he had told it to the people, the ſtones and letters in the Breaſt-plate (as is probably conceived, for there is nothing certain of it in the Scripture) might have an extraordinary brightneſſe appearing on them, for aſſurance that the Prieſt had ſpoken with the Lord, and received reſolution from him; as by the ſhining of Moſes his face when he came from God, with the Tables of the Teſtimony in his hand, Ex. 34. 29, 30. it was manifeſt that he had from God what he brought unto the people. And whereas David being to conſult with the Lord, called for the Ephod, 1 Sam. 23. 9. The reaſon was, for that the Breaſt-plate was faſtened to the Ephod, verſ. 28. and the Ephod to the Breaſt-plate, ſo that if he had one, he had both, Exod. 39. 21. This oraculous conſultation with the Breaſt-plate, that is, by the uſe of the Breaſt-plate, laſted no longer (as is generally and moſt probably thought) then to the Captivity of Babylon (for which ſee Ezr. 2. 63.) and after that time we finde not that the Jews had any uſe of that kind of revelation. Annot. Hereof ſee more in Moſes and Aaron, lib. 4. cap. 8. p. 203, 204. That waſted us, Pſal. 137. 3. Hebr. laid us on heaps, marg. Ib. verſ. 8. deſtroyed. Comp. the text with the marg.

Waſter] One that ſpends all, Pro. 18. 9. I have created the waſter to deſtroy, Iſa. 54. 16. I ſuppoſe that by the waſter or deſtroyer is underſtood the warriour in generall, whoſe work and employment is to waſte and deſtroy, and whoſe arms are therefore tearmed weapons or inſtruments of deſtruction, from the word here uſed, Ezek. 9. 1. Annot.

Waſtes] The old waſtes, Iſa. 61. 4. Hebr. waſtes of perpetuity, of long continuance, Jer. 49. 13. Above a Jubilee time, conſiſting but of fifty yeers at moſt, Lev. 25. 9, 10. Expreſſed by the tearm here uſed, Exod. 21. 6. Annot.

Waſtneſſe] Deſolation, Zeph. 1. 15. Where there are ſtrong expreſſions of Gods vengeance vengeance (whereof the day of waſteneſſe and deſolation is one.) It's not good for man to ſlight or extenuate the weight of his wrath. Annot.

Water-brooks] Pſal. 42. 1. Streams of waters. Aynſw.

Water-courſe] Conduits, or Water-heads, which brought water to the City, 2 Chron. 32. 20. Annot. Job 38. 25. A place to convey the rain from heaven to earth where God's will, chap. 28. 26. So here verſ. 26. It comes from a word that ſignifies to aſcend, or to be on high, for ſuch places uſe to begin on high, and carry water to lower grounds. Such are the windows of heaven, Gen. 7. 11. Annot. Iſa. 44. 4. the ſtreams or watery places. Annot.

Water-pots] Joh. 2. 6. Waters were very ſcarce in Paleſtine, fountains being there but rare, therefore the Jews kept ſuch veſſels of waters filled by them, wherewith they uſed often to waſh and purifie themſelves. (See Mar. 7. 3.) which now antiquated cuſtome of the Jews the Heretick Hebion, would have brought into the Chriſtian Church. Annot.

Water-ſpouts] Pſal. 42. 7. Pipes, ſluces, flood or water-gates, whereby the waters guſh out. The means whereby God is pleaſed that afflictions befall his people.

Water-ſpringe] Pſal. 107. 33. Hebr. goings out of the waters. Annot.

Wave them] Exod. 29. 24. That is, ſhake them to and fro, as ſome conceive, from Eaſt to Weſt, from North to South, ſignifying Gods univerſall preſence all the world over. The word ſignifies ſometime ſifting with a ſieve, Iſa. 30. 28. which may note either the ſhaking of affliction, Iſa. 10. 32. or purging by affliction, as by ſifting and ſhaking the chaff is ſevered from the grain, Mat. 3. 12. or it may note the agitation and motion of the mind, which ſhould not be idle in the performance of Gods ſervice, with this waving or wavering the Sacrifices, was alſo liſted up, verſ. 27. and thence it was called the Heave-offering as well as the Wave-offering, verſ. 28. Lev. 7. 35. To raiſe the hearts of Prieſts and people upwards towards God. But ſome take this waving to be a caſting of the portions out of one hand into the other, and the heaving to be a throwing of them upward. Annot. For wave the Gr. tranſlate ſeparate, which word Paul uſeth, ſpeaking of his deſignation to the Miniſtery, Rom. 1. 1. Aynſw.

Wave-breaſt] Levit. 10. 14. It figured the giving of our breaſt, that is, of the heart and affections unto Chriſt, in newneſſe of life, in the fellowſhip of his afflictions. See 1 Chron. 28. 9. Prov. 23. 26. Rom. 6. 3, 4, 5, 6. Phil. 3. 10. Aynſw. on Levit. 7. 30.

Wave-loaves] Lev. 23. 17. At the feaſt of Pentecoſt, every family (as ſome conceive) was to bring two leavened loaves, as the firſt fruits of their increaſe, to the Prieſts, becauſe it is ſaid, they ſhould bring them out of their habitations; but that notwithſtanding others take it, that it would be too great a proportion of bread for them, that ſo many could not be waved by the Prieſt with the Peace-offering, as is appointed, verſ. 20. Therefore it is more probable that they were a common oblation, made at the publick charge, and offered alſo in the name of all the people in covenant with God. And this was to be of the wheat of the Land of Canaan, not of a forain Countrey, where they had no habitations; and yet it might be that this common charge might by courſe be ſo diſtributed among the people, that it might rather be accounted a common or generall thing, then of particular coſt, and concernment of particular perſons. Annot.

Wave-offering] Lev. 23. 17. Hebr. bread of wavering, that is, to be waved before the Lord. Aynſw.

Waver] He that wavereth is like a wave of the ſea, Jam. 1. 6. By this ſimilitude St. James illuſtrateth the property of a wavering minded man. As the waves of the Sea through tempeſtuous winds ſometimes are carryed up to heaven, ſometimes deſcend as low as the deep. So a wavering minded man ſometimes is of this opinion and reſolution, and ſometimes of that. See verſ. 8. Annot.

Waves of death] 2 Sam. 25. 5. or pangs, marg.

Waves of the ſea, Job 9. 8. Hebr. heights, marg.

Wax] To encreaſe, grow. David waxed greater and greater, 1 Chr. 11. 9. Heb. went in growing and increaſing, marg. There are many words joyned herewith, as bold, confident, fat, great, groſſe, rich, &c. whereby the meaning may be perceived.

Way, ways] A little way, Gen. 35. 16. Hebr. a little piece of ground, marg.

Wayes may be diverſly conſidered; as,

1 With relation unto God; being put for his Works, Job 40. 19. for his Direction, Exod. 32. 8. Deut. 13. 5. his Law, Deut. 9. 16. That which he preſcribeth, Pſalm.

119. 33. Matt. 22. 16. his deep and unſearchable Counſels, Rom. 11. 13. in whoſe way of judgements his people waited for him, Iſa. 26. 8. whoſe wayes are good and right, 1 Sam. 12. 23. (and who teacheth men the good way wherein they ſhould walk, 1 King. 8. 36. Perfect, 2 Sam. 22. 31. Everlaſting, Pſal. 139. 24. Juſt and true, Rev. 15. 3. From him is the way of holineſſe, Iſa. 35. 8. of life, Prov. 15. 24. of peace, Luk. 1. 79. of righteouſneſſe, Matth. 21. 32. of ſalvation, Act. 16. 17. of truth, Pſal. 119. 30.

3. With relation both unto man in generall, Prov. 16. 2. & 21. 2, 8. Jer. 32. 19. and the godly and wicked in particular. The godly, ſo we read of the way of the meek, Amos 2. 7. of Gods people, Iſa. 57. 14. of the Righteous, Pſal. 1. 6. of the Saints, Prov. 2. 8. The ungodly, Pſal. 1. 6. Accordingly there's mention of the way of a Fool, Prov. 12. 15. of the Froward, Prov. 22. 5. of the Gentiles, Mat. 10. 5. of the Heathen, Jer. 10. 2. of Sinners, Pſal. 1. 1. of the Slothfull, Prov. 15. 19. of Tranſgreſſors, Prov. 13. 15. of the Wicked, Prov. 4. 19. And particularly of Balaam, 2 Pet. 2. 15. of Cain, Jude v. 11. of Ægypt and Aſſyria, Jer. 2. 18. whoſe wayes may be tearmed Crooked, Pſal. 125. 5. Dark and ſlippery, Pſal. 35. 6. Evil, Pſal. 119. 101. Falſe, Pſal. 119. 104. Grievous, Pſal. 10. 5. Movable, Prov. 5. 6. Pernicious, 2 Pet. 2. 2. Stubborn, Judg. 2. 19. Wicked, Pſal. 139. 24. Aberrations from Gods Commandements, Lam. 3. 40. Death, which is tearmed the way of all the earth, Joſh. 23. 24. 1 King. 2. 2.

Wayfaring-man] Iſa. 33. 8. or Paſſenger, Heb. paſſing by the way, as Job 21. 29. Lam. 1. 12. & 2. 15. Annot. Iſa. 35. 8. Hebr. one going or walking the way, or in the way, as chap. 65. verſ. 2. taken collectively. Annot.

Way-marks] Jer. 31. 21. Hebr. ſignes or monuments, 2 King. 23. 17. Ezek. 39. 19. Such are here meant, as were wont to be erected upon the high-wayes, plains eſpecially, where paths are not ſo apparent, or where many croſſe wayes meet, to direct paſſengers the right way to ſome places of note, that they may not wander by miſtake. Annot.

Way-ſide] Pſal. 140. 5. By the way-ſide, or by the paths ſide, or faſt by my path, Heb. at the hand of the path. Aynſw.

W E.

We] Who are hereby to be underſtood, is plainly ſeen in all ſuch places wherein this word We is found, as in Gen. 3. 2. by we, Adam and Evah are meant, in Gen. 44. 9. Joſeph's Brethren, in Deut. 1. 28. the Iſraelites, &c.

Weak] 2 Sam. 3. 39. Hebr. tender, marg. One civilly weak in power and ſtrength, 1 Cor. 1. 27. ſinfully weak, unable to doe good, or reſiſt ſin, Ezek. 16. 30. ceremonially weak, Gal. 4. 9.

Weak-handed] Whileſt he is weary and weak-handed, 2 Sam. 17. 2. i. e. when he and his company are tired and ſpent, with their ſudden and long march, which they have been forced unto, to get out of reach, that they might not be ſupplanted with thine Army, and have neither counſell nor courage to make any reſiſtance. Annot.

Weaken] Which didſt weaken the Nations, Iſa. 14. 12. or didſt overthrow the Nations, didſt cut down, and lay them along. Annot. It's put alſo for to hinder, make remiſſe, or diſcourage, Ezr. 4. 4. Jer. 38. 4.

Weakened in Pſal. 102. 23. is put for afflicted. Aynſw.

Weakneſſe] Applyed, 1. unto God, the weakneſſe of God, &c. 1 Cor. 1. 25. that is, that which in their eſteem is but weak, and of no power or efficacy to ſalvation, is more ſtrong and powerfull then they with all their conceited eloquence and authority. Annot.

2. Unto Chriſt, crucified through weakneſſe, 2 Cor. 13. 4. Namely, the weakneſſe of his fleſh, which was ſubject to all humane infirmities, ſin onely accepted. To infirmities, painfull Chriſt in his ſtate of humiliation here upon earth was ſubject, but no wayes to any infirmities that are ſinfull. Annot.

3. Unto the Commandement, for there is verily verily a diſanulling of the Commandement going before, for the weakneſſe and unprofitableneſſe thereof, Heb. 7. 18. Commandement, that is, of the covenant of weakneſſe, Gal. 4. 9. viz. to juſtifie, ſanctifie, and bring unto ſalvation by reaſon of the fleſh, Rom. 8. 3. that is, of us men, who are not able to fulfill the Law, by reaſon of that corruption which dwels in our fleſh, Act. 15. 10. Gal. 3. 21. And note that here St. Paul ſpeaketh of the Old Covenant, as underſtood by the Jews, viz. of fulfilling the Law; for otherwiſe the Covenant was a perfect Covenant, for thoſe times, or the nonage of Gods people, though not ſo perfectly revealed as in the time of the Goſpel. Annot.

4. The dead body, 1 Cor. 15. 43.

5. Unto Paul, 1 Cor. 2. 3. I was with you in weakneſſ; whereby may be underſtood, outward perſecutions, temptations, and afflictions. See Dr. Hammond on Gal. 4. Annot. a.

6. Unto thoſe mentioned, Heb. 11. 34. who out of weakneſſe were made ſtrong.

Wealth] Job 21. 13. or mirth, marg. Prov. 5. 10. Hebr. ſtrength, marg.

Wealthy] Pſal. 66. 12. Hebr. moyſture, m. Jer. 49. 31. or that is at eaſe, marg.

Weary] 1 Sam. 14. 28. or Faint. Comp. the marg. with the text.

Weary of my life, Job 10. 1. or cut off while I live, marg.

Wearyed] Tired, Gen. 19. 11. Burdened, Iſa. 43. 23. Worne out, Iſa. 57. The wicked weary the Lord with their iniquities, Iſa. 43. 24. with their words, Mal. 2. 17. The godly weary themſelves, becauſe of the wicked, and are by them wearyed, Jer. 4. 31. & 12. 5. The wicked think that the Lord wearyeth them, Iſa. 43. 23. Mic. 6. 3. but are wearied in the multitude of their counſels, Iſa. 47. 13. weary themſelves with lies, Ezek. 24. 12. One may come to be wearyed alſo by labour, toyl, and travel, Joh. 4. 6.

Wearisome nights] Job 7. 3. The nights that ſhould be times of reſt to me, afford nothing but wearineſſe and diſquietneſſe, ſo that I cannot ſleep. Annot.

Weaver] Exod. 35. 35. Of the weaver, which the Chald. expoundeth weaving, underſtanding by the Weaver, the Weavers work, as elſewhere the Scripture uſeth Spirit for the gifts of the Spirit, 1 Cor. 14. 12, 32. Aynſw. Of the Weavers beam we read in 1 Sam. 17. 7. 2 Sam. 21. 19. 1 Chr. 11. 23. & 20. 5. of his ſhuttle, in Job 7. 6. And that phraſe in Iſa. 38. 12. I have cut off like a Weaver my life, is taken from the Weavers practiſe cutting off his web from the loom, either when the web is woven out, as uſually, or as upon ſpeciall occaſion, at ſome times before it be finiſhed. Annot.

Web] Job 8. 14. Heb. houſe, marg.

If thou weaveſt the ſeaven locks of my hair with the web, Judg. 16. 13. That is, if thou doſt part the hair of my head into ſeven locks, or if thou doſt take them as they are already ſo divided, verſ. 19. and weaving them with the web, doſt winde them both about the beam of the loom. Annot.

Wedding] A marriage, ſuch as is between the Husband and Wife, Luk. 14. 8. or ſuch as is between Chriſt and his Church, Matt. 22. 3.

Wedding garment] Matth. 21. 11. As γάμος and γάμοι ſignifie a marriage-feaſt, ſo here the ἔνδυμα γάμου ſignifies the garment that was cuſtomary at ſuch feaſts, i. e. a better ſort of array then thoſe that were uſed upon ordinary dayes. So in the Wardrobes of great men, there were robes to put on for that uſe, mentioned by Juvenal, when he ſpeaks of the trechedipna that runs about to feaſts or entertainments. Theſe were veſtes diſcubitoriæ, fine and florid, ſuch as Trimalcio's in Petronius, in whom they are alſo called veſtimenta Tricliniaria, and in Xiphilin in the Life of Adrian, στολὴ ἑστητικὴ, the feſtivall garment, and this it ſeems ſo neceſſary (as repentance, and reformation of life, the new garment or array of the ſoul, which is here parabolically expreſt by it.) (Mr. Bernard ſaith, that This garment is the righteouſneſſe of the Saints, Rev. 19. 8, 11. & 4. 4. & 3. 5. which is by Jeſus Chriſt through faith, Rev. 7. 14. after which followeth our Sanctification accompanying the ſame, through the work of the Spirit given to the Saints, elſe none of Chriſts, Rom. 8. 9.) that without it, even they that were invited to come, were not yet permitted to taſte of the feaſt, or remain among the gueſts. D. H. Annot. a.

Week] Fulfill her week, Gen. 29. 27. The word Shebang, in Hebr. is ſometimes taken for ſeven yeers (ſo the Genevah Tranſlation hath it) ſometimes for ſeven dayes or a week, ſo here. The meaning is, that foraſmuch as the manner was to celebrate a Wedding with ſeven dayes feaſting, as Judg. 14. 12. he would accept of Leah for his Wife, and celebrate the Nuptials after the wonted manner, and that done, he would preſently give him Rachel, for whom he ſhould ſerve the next ſeven yeers after, which he did; and that he ſtaid not for Rachel untill a week of yeers, is evident by order of the Story; for Jacob ſtayed in Meſopotamia with Laban twenty yeers, ch. 31. 38, 41. At the fourteenth yeer of Jacobs ſervitude was Joſeph born, before which time Rachel had been ſome good while a barren Wife, and therefore as out of hope of iſſue by her ſelf, ſhe gave her Maid Bilhah to her husband, who by her had two Sons, before her ſelf had any, as the 30 of Geneſis ſheweth; whence it muſt neceſſarily be concluded, that Rachel was marryed before the ſecond week of yeers, or ſeven yeers ſervitude was expired, and ſo that ſhe was marryed to Jacob after a week of dayes, according to the phraſe and cuſtome already obſerved, not after the end of the ſecond ſeven yeers ſervice. Annot.

Weep] It's to draw water, 1 Sam. 7. 6. To pour out tears, Job 16. 20. and for the eyes to run downe with tears, Pſalm 119 136. Jer. 9. 18. This is manifold.

1. Naturall, Gen. 43. 30. & 45. 2. & 46. 29. & 50. 1, 17.
2. Spirituall, Ezr. 3. 12. & 10. 1. Neh. 8. 9. Jer. 50. 4.
3. Mixt, Pſal. 137. 1. Lam. 1. 2, 16.
4. Funerall, Gen. 23. 2. & 50. 10, 11. Numb. 20. 19.
5. Charitable, Job 30. 25. Rom. 12. 15.
6. Worldly, Numb. 11. 10, 11. Gen. 27. 38. 2 Sam. 3. 16.
7. Hypocriticall, Jer. 41. 6. Mal. 2. 13.
8. Helliſh, Mat. 24. 51. Bernard.

He wept, Mar. 14. 72. or he wept abundantly, or he began to weep, marg.

Rachel weeping for her children, Matth. 2. 18. The Benjamitiſh women who came of Rachel, did weep ſo bitterly for their children led into captivity, as if ſhe her ſelfe had bemoaned them out of her grave; and ſo did the women of Bethlehem now mourne for their ſlain infants. Annot.

Weight] The poyſe, and that which we do weigh a thing with, whether lead, or ſtone, or what elſe, Lev. 19. 35, 36. Deut. 25. 13. Prov. 16. 11. Alſo the heavyneſſe more or leſſe of that which is weighed by the weights, 2 Sam. 22. 30. Ezr. 8. 34. Zac. 5. 8.

All the weights, Prov. 16. 11. Hebr. all the ſtones, marg.

Divers weights, Deut. 25. 13. Hebr. a ſtone and a ſtone, marg.

Weight of glory, 2 Cor. 4. 17. The Hebr. כבד, ſignifies primarily two things, weight and plenty, and from thence two things more, either glory or riches. From hence it comes that δοξα is in the Greek of the Old Teſtament taken for multitude, or greatneſſe, that is applyed to a traine or hoſt, 1 Ki. 10. 2. & 2 King. 6. 14. & 18. 17. & 2 Chron. 9. 1. Accordingly βαρος δοξης here, will be riches, plenty, and abundance of glory, the word βαρος being the rather here uſed in oppoſition to the lightneſſe of the afflictions precedent, but not to denote the heavyneſſe, but abundance or riches of this, as Gen. 13. 2. Abraham is ſaid to be כבד, heavy, i. e. plentifull in cattle The Septuagint reads πλουσιος, rich, and ſo cap. 1. כביד ſignifies riches. Dr. Hammond Annot. d.

Welfare] Exod. 18 7. Hebr. peace, marg. Health, wealth, ſafety, Job 30. 15. Annot.

Wel-nigh ſlipt] Almoſt, but a very little lacked, Pſal. 73. 2.

Well pleaſed] In whom I am well pleaſed, Mat. 3. 17. Εν ᾧ εὐδόκησα. My judgement is ſatisfied, and my love ſetled upon him, and in him upon all believers, who were before the children of wrath, Epheſ. 2. 3. Annot.

It is an emphaticall word, implying an infinite affection to any thing men delight in. The moſt precious thing, which Paul did ever deſire to receive, he expreſſeth by this word, 2 Cor. 5. 8. and the moſt precious thing which he ever deſired to give, he expreſſeth by the ſame word, 1 Theſſ. 2. 8. When he would extoll to the heavens, that heavenly affection of the Macedonians, to relieve the poor, he doubleth this word, Rom. 15. 26, 27. to ſhew that they delighted in charity. And when God himſelfe would expreſſe his unexpreſſible affection to his Son, and in his Son to man, he doth it by this word. It ſignifieth a willing pleaſing ſelfe-propenſion, not without much contentment. Leigh Crit. Sac.

Well] As well, Deut. 1. 17. A note of compariſon. It noteth an equity, and like quality, not equality. It's as much as Even as, Act. 25. 10.

Very well] It's in effect the ſame with well, marvellous well, 2 King. 4. 23.

Well, Hebr. peace, marg.

Wilde honey, Mat. 3. 4. or field honey, μὶλι ἄγειον, is a kinde of extemporary dyet, as water out of the Spring) ſuch as was to be found in Woods, running out of trees where Bees were. So 1 Sam. 14. 25. there is δρυμὸς μελισσῶν, a wood of honey, in the Gr. which is by an Hypallage, Mel ſylveſtre, Wood-honey; the very thing that is here, μὶλι ἄγειον, field-honey, or wood-honey; agri and ſylvæ being often promiſcuouſly uſed for any places (remoter from Towns) open and encloſed, though they be not Woodlands. Dr. Ham. Annot. e.

Gen. 16. 12. He will be a wilde man. He will be a man like a wilde Aſſe; or, as the Chald. expoundeth it, a wilde Aſſe among men; the Gr. ſaith onely a wilde man. This was firſt accompliſhed in Iſmael's perſon, who dwelt in the Wilderneſſe as a Salvage, and was a warlike man, Gen. 21. 20. and the Iſmaelites mentioned in Gen. 37. 25. are there by Targum Jeruſal. called Sarkain, Saracens, that is by interpretation theeves or robbers. Aynſw.

Wilily] Craftily, ſubtilly, politickly, cunningly, Joſh. 9. 4.

Will] When to will goes before doing, as Phil. 2. 13. it doth, then it muſt be conceived to denote the reſolving of that which is after done; but when it is ſubſequent to doing, as here, then it cannot belong to that, but to ſome farther action ſtill future, either of the ſame kinde with that formerly done, or of any other which is ſpecified. That here it refers to ſome farther degree of liberality, to be ſuperadded to what they had already done, appears by the enſuing exhortation to conſummate the work, verſ. 11. and by the mention of the προθυμία τῦ θέλειν, the forwardneſſe to will, i. e. to reſolve to do more, as they ſhould be able. In which reſpect it is that chap. 9. 2. Paul ſaith he hath boaſted of them, that they had (ἀπὸ πέρυσι, as here, from a yeer agoe) made a preparation for this new ſupply, for ſo παρεσκεύασται (hath been prepared) ſignifies as paſſives are oft uſed for reciprocals. Such a worſhip of God as mans wit deviſeth to himſelfe, without any precept of God. Leigh Cr. Sac. Dr. Hammond having largely treated on this word, and the verſe wherein it's found, concludeth that there is no ill but a good character ſet on ἐθελοθρησκεία, will-worſhip. For, 1. (ſaith he) it is here joyned with two things which are confeſſedly good, 1 humility, 2 ſeverity and auſterity too, or mortifying of the body. The firſt a known Morall and Chriſtian virtue; the ſecond, an act of ſelf-denyal, which as ſuch cannot be unacceptable to Chriſt, and as a ſpecies of revenge, 2 Cor. 7. 11. will be numbred among the effects of ſorrow according to God. 2. Theſe doctrines are ſaid in reſpect of will-worſhip diſcernible in them, to have λόγον σοφίας, rationem ſapientiæ, ſomewhat of piety in them; which ſomewhat, if it be reall, then will it be the ſame that is 1 Tim. 4. 8. ſaid of bodily exerciſe, abſtinence, continence, &c. that it is εἰς ὀλίγον ὠφέλιμος, a little profitable, or profitable for a little: But if λόγος ſignifie ſpecies onely a ſhew of wiſdome or piety, yet ſtill the argument will be of force, for can any thing be ſaid to have ſo much as a ſhew of piety in will-worſhip, which is thus pretended, paſſe confeſſedly for fooliſh or impious? Dr. Hamm. Annot. i.

Windy] I would haſten my eſcape from the windy windy storm, Psal. 55. 8. I would hasten my safe escaping from the wind of driving forward, or I would speed my evasion, hasten my deliverance (2 Sam. 15. 14, &c.) from wind of driving forward, that is, from the driving stormy wind, that beareth all things away before it; meaning the storm of persecution, which forced him to fly. The Gr. turneth it from pusillanimity (or feebleness of spirit) intimating his inly fears driving him to this flight. Aynsw.

Wisdome] Prov. 10. 21. Hebr. heart, m. Wisdome is justified of her children, Matth. 11. 19. The children of Wisdome are those that receive it, that pretending least to the wisdome of the world, have yet humility enough to receive this true wisdome that comes from above, when it's offered to them. And all these, as St. Luke reads ch. 7. 35. do approve or justifie this wisdome, this counsell, these most gracious and wise proceedings of God towards them. Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

Wise-men] This title though in it self it be generall and common to all Doctors, and Teachers of the Law, yet for many yeers before our Saviours Incarnation, it was either arrogated by the Pharisees, or else by the ignorant multitude appropriated unto them, from an opinion of their extraordinary wisdome, in teaching of Traditions, which they preferred beyond the Law. The like ambition we shall find among the Grecians, all of them striving to be entituled Σοφοὶ, wise-men. Goodwyn's Moses and Aaron, lib. 1. c. 6. p. 30.

Behold there came wise men from the East, Mat. 2. 1. The Gr. μάγοι signifies not only those which in our ordinary Dialect, we call Magicians, i. e. Sorcerers, but also φιλόσοφοι, σοφολόγοι, in Hesychius, generally learned men, Students, and professors of liberall sciences, especially of Astronomy, without any ill character upon them. These were then famous among the Persians, and were both their Kings and their Priests, and so among other Nations also, but especially the Eastern, and were at that time honoured and known for the study of good learning, and so the ἀπὸ ἀνατολῶν, of or from the East, is perhaps to be joyned with μάγοι, the wise or learned men of or from the East (as οἱ ἀπὸ Θεσσαλονίκης Ἰουδαῖοι, the Jews of or from Thessalonica, Act. 17. 13.) not to the word came, as if they came from the East of Jerusalem thither. These are by an ancient Heathen mentioned under the name of Chaldeans, those so much famed for skill in Astronomy. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

Witch] Thou ſhalt not ſuffer a Witch to live, Exod. 22. 18. By Witch is here meant any one that hath any dealings with the Devil, by any compact or confederacy whatſoever. The word in the Originall is of the feminine gender, becauſe the Devils craft moſt prevails with Womens weakneſſe in that kinde; but there are Men-witches as well as Women, Lev. 20. 27. and their ſin as hainous, and their puniſhment as grievous; and it likewiſe ſignifieth one that changeth any thing before the ſight (as Jugglers do) but if it be by ſleight of hand, without diabolicall art, it is not here condemned. Annot.

The word is Mecaſhephah, which ſignifieth one which by legerdemain deludeth the eyes, caſting as it were a miſt before them. But under this kinde by a Synecdoche, all other ſorts of Witchcraft, Sorcery, Inchantment, are forbidden; as Hydromantæ, which uſe divination by water; Aeromantæ, by the air; Pyramantæ, by the fire; Capniomantæ, by ſmoak; Alectryomantæ, by the crowing of Cocks; Pſychomantæ, that conſult with the ſouls of the dead; Alphitomantæ, which divine by the inſpection of flowre; Ichthuomantæ, by fiſh; Libanomantæ, by incenſe; Cheiromantæ, by the hands; Necromantæ, diviners by the dead; Gaſtromantæ, which divine and give anſwers out of their bellies; and all other of the ſame devilliſh profeſſion. Dr. Willet on Exodus.

Witchcraft] 1 Sam. 15. 23. Hebr. divination, mar. Φαρμακία properly ſignifieth poyſoning, but Gal. 5. 20. it is fitly tranſlated witchcraft, becauſe all poyſoning is comprehended under murder, which followeth. Leigh Cr. Sac.

Among the practiſes of the Gnoſticks, φαρμακίαι, ſorceries, are here juſtly reckoned. And the grounds of that are clear, not only by the founder of them, Simon, who was a Magician; but alſo by Menander, his Succeſſor, who was ſuch alſo; being not inferiour to his Maſter in Magick, but more vainly profuſe in his portentous undertakings. Dr. Hammond on Gal. 5. Annot. d.

Wither] Pſal. 1. 3. Hebr. fade, marg.

Withhold] No thought can be withholden from thee, Job 42. 1. or no thought of thine can be hindered, marg.

Without] Jam. 2. 18. Some Copies read By, marg. There are ſeverall words annexed hereunto, as blemiſh, camp, cauſe, City, fear, him, knowledge, law, me, us, you, &c. Some alſo prefixed, as ſtand, ſtood, but by the context the meaning is plain.

Witneſſe] Judg. 11. 10. Heb. the hearer, marg. It's put for a memoriall, and as a witneſſe, Joſh. 22. 27, 28, 34. & 24. 27. for the depoſition of the witneſſe, or evidence brought in by the party witneſſing, Mar. 14. 56, 59. for the confirmation of a thing taught, Act. 4. 33. for that which is uttered, Tit. 1. 13. for ſome act which doth evidence as a witneſſe, Heb. 11. 4.

Of witneſſes the Scripture mentioneth, as unrighteous, Exod. 23. 1. and falſe, Deut. 19. 16, 18. ſo faithfull, Pſal. 89. 37. Iſa. 8. 1. true, Jer. 42. 5. and choſen, Act. 10. 41. This is ſpoken of inſenſible things, Gen. 38. 48, 52. of works which one doth, Joh. 5. 36. & 10. 25. of conſcience, Rom. 2. 15. & 9. 1. See Bernard.

Doth witneſſe, Iſa. 3. 9. Doth give in evidence againſt them, Hebr. doth anſwer; in reference to ſuch interrogatories as are wont to be adminiſtred to thoſe that come in as witneſſes againſt a party queſtioned or accuſed. So chap. 59. 12. and in the Law, Thou ſhalt not anſwer a falſe teſtimony againſt thy neighbour, Ex. 20. 16. Deut. 5. 20. Annot.

Woman] 1 Cor. 9. 5. or Wife. Comp. the text with the marg. Women may be conſidered,

1 According to their names; ſo we read of of Jezabel, a bad woman; of Mary, Martha, Lydia, Damaris, &c. good women.

2 According to their Countrey; as Canaanitiſh, Gen. 46. 10. Æthiopian, Numb. 12.1. Greek, Mar. 7. 26. Hebrew, Deut. 15.12. Iſraelitiſh, Lev. 24. 10. Midianitiſh, Numb. 25. 6. Outlandiſh, Neh. 13. 26.

3 According to their ſtate of life; ſervants, Gen. 20. 14. divorced, Lev. 21. 14. forſaken, Iſa. 54. 6. marryed, 1 Cor. 7. 34. unmarryed, Ibid. a widow, 1 King. 11. 26.

4 According to their naturall infirmities; diſeaſed, Mat. 9.20. menſtruous, Ezek. 18.6. removed, Ezek. 36. 17.

5 According to their high place, or repute; great, 2 King. 4. 8. honorable, Act. 13. 50.

6 According to their age; old, Zac. 8.4. young, Tit. 2. 4.

7 According to their fruitfulneſſe; travailing, Iſa. 42. 14. and ſterility; barren, Pſal. 113. 9.

8 According to their outward viſage and feature; beautifull, Deut. 21. 11. 2 Sam. 11. 2. comely and delicate, Jer. 6. 2. fair, Gen. 12. 11, 14. Prov. 11. 22. of a fair countenance, 2 Sam. 14. 27. odious, Prov. 30. 23. tender and delicate, Deut. 28. 56.

9 According to their naturall endowments; whether for good, as of good underſtanding, 1 Sam. 25. 3. wiſe, Prov. 14. 1. virtuous, Prov. 12. 4. or for evill; as cunning, Jer. 9. 17. which might be ſeen by their fained mourning, Ibid. fooliſh, Prov. 9. 13. ſilly, 2 Tim. 3. 6.

10 According to their tryals; thus Hannah was a woman of a ſorrowfull ſpirit, 1 Sam. 1. 15.

11 According to their different qualities, and wayes; thus as on the one ſide we read of the adulterous, Prov. 30. 20. angry, Pro. 21. 19. brawling, Prov. 21. 9. contentious, Prov. 27. 15. evill, Prov. 6. 24. imperious, whoriſh, Ezek. 16. 30. lewd, Ezek. 23. 44. perverſe, rebellious, 1 Sam. 20. 30. ſlanderers, 1 Tim. 3. 11. ſtrange, Prov. 22. 14. whoriſh, Prov. 6. 26. wicked, 2 Chr. 24. 7. (of all which it may be ſaid, that they are curſed, 2 King. 9. 34. are famous, Ezek. 23. 10.) ſo on the other, we read of faithful, 1 Tim. 3. 11. fearing the Lord, Prov. 31. 10. gracious, Prov. 11. 16. holy, 1 Pet. 3. 5. quiet, and a meek ſpirit, Ib. 4. Sober, diſcreet, chaſte, good, obedient, &c. Tit. 2. 3.

Woman-kinde] Levit. 18. 22. or a woman. Aynſw.

Wombe] From the wombe of the morning thou haſt the dew of thy youth, Pſal. 110. 3. or more then the wombe of the morning thou ſhalt have, &c. marg. Mr. Aynſw. renders them thus, of the wombe of the early morning, to thee the dew of thy youth. This place (ſaith he) is difficult, and may diverſly be underſtood, either of Chriſt himſelf, or of his people; and again, if of Chriſt, either in reſpect of his Godhead, or of his Manhood; of his Godhead, that the Father ſaith unto him, of the wombe (that is, of mine own eſſence) before the early morning (that is, before the world was) to thee was (or thou hadſt) the dew of thy youth (or birth;) ſo noting the eternall generation of Chriſt before all worlds, as is ſhewed, Prov. 8. 22, 23, 24, 25. And this ſenſe the Gr. Interpreters ſeem to follow, tranſlating, of the wombe before the morning ſtar I begat thee. If it be meant of Chriſts manhood, we may take it thus, of the wombe of the dark morning (or of the obſcure wombe of the Virgin) thou hadſt the dew of thy birth. If of Chriſts people before mentioned, it may thus be read, of the wombe of the morning to thee ſhall be (or ſhall come) the dew of thy youth, that is, thy youth (thy young or new born people) ſhall be to thee as the morning dew, which falleth ſecretly from heaven, and abundantly covereth the earth, for ſo the dew is ſometime uſed, 2 Sam. 17. 12. and unto rain, dew, ice, &c. the Scripture applyeth the names of wombe and begetting, Job 38. 28, 29. and the increaſe of the Church is by this figure deſcribed, Mic. 5. 7. This laſt ſenſe accordeth beſt with the beginning of the verſ. Aynſw. This ſenſe is alſo preferred by the Annot. on this place; where's ſhewed why theſe words are very variouſly both tranſlated and expounded.

Wonderfully] 1 Sam. 6. 6. or reproachfully, marg. Marvellouſly or excellently, Pſal. 139. 14. Aynſw.

Wonderous] Marvellous, Pſal. 72. 18. Aynſw. Such things as we cannot underſtand the cauſe of, becauſe it goes above the capacity of our naturall reaſon. The word ſignifies not onely things that we admire, as not knowing the cauſes of them, but alſo any thing hidden or above the reach of our underſtanding, Judg. 13. 18. Pſ. 131. 1. It is derived from a word that ſignifies dividing or ſeparating, Exod. 33. 16. It imports things divided from our underſtanding, as miracles are, which are above the courſe of Nature, and many things alſo in the courſe of Gods ordinary providence; for he ſpeaks not here of Creation, as appears by the inſtances following. Theſe are difficult things, and ſuch as we uſe to wonder der at, Gen. 18. 14. Deut. 17. 8. God doth moſt magnificent works, which do far exceed our ſtrength and capacity. Annot. on Job 5. 9.

Bring me word, Gen. 37. 14. Notice of, information.

Miniſters of the Word, Luk. 1. 2. Inſtruments and actors of thoſe things, which were the ſubject matter of this following hiſtory; for the word λόγος may ſignifie, as it doth in ſome other places, as verſ. 4. the matter, the thing ſpoken of. It is the opinion of ſome, that ὁ λόγος ſignifies here, as generally it doth throughout St. John's Goſpel, the Word, i. e. Chriſt incarnate. D. H. Paraph. & Annot. b.

To fulfill the Word, Col. 1. 25. πληρῶσαι τὸν λόγον, to fulfill his Word, is a phraſe that we meet with, 1 Mac. 2. 55. ſpoken of Joſhua, that for fulfilling the Word he was made a Judge in Iſrael; whereas the Word ſignifies the will and pleaſure of God, revealed unto him, ſo πληρῶσαι to fulfill it, is to perform it in a very eminent manner. But in this place ὁ λόγος being by the context confined to another notion, the preaching or publiſhing the Goſpel of Chriſt peculiarly, πληρῶν τὸν λόγον θεοῦ, to fulfill the Word of God, will be, to fulfill that preaching, i. e. to proceed as far in the preaching of it, as by all his diligence and care, by himſelf and others he could do. Thus we have a like phraſe, Rom. 15. 29. to fill up the preaching or Goſpel of Chriſt, i. e. to preach it from City to City, from Jeruſalem as far as to Illyricum. Idem Annot. e.

It is ſanctified by the Word of God, 1 Tim. 4. 5. The Word of God in this place, by which meats are ſaid to be ſanctified, i. e. reſcued and freed from all uncleanneſſe or pollution, ſo that they may lawfully be uſed and enjoyed, is certainly that Word of truth now revealed in the Goſpel, which frees the Chriſtian from thoſe obſervances; for this onely can ſatisfie conſcience, that it is lawfull to do ſo, and conſequently that it may be done with faith or aſſurance, that they doe not ſin. Idem Annot. c.

There's a threefold word.

Work] It is God that worketh in you both to will and to do, Phil. 2. 13. Workmanſhip] Art, ſcience, occupation, Hebr. work, Exod. 31. 3. Aynſw. Creation, work, fabrick. Eph. 2. 10. His workmanſhip, We are Gods workmanſhip, both in reſpect of our firſt Creation, and in reſpect of our Regeneration, which is a ſecond Creation, of which theſe words are to be underſtood; for he ſpeaketh not of us as we are by nature, but as new creatures in Chriſt, by grace. Annot.

World] Which have been ſince the world began, Luk. 1. 70. The world is divided two wayes, either into the age before the Meſſias, and the age of the Meſſias, or into the age of this world, and of the world to come, after the day of doom. Accordingly the word עולם, is uſed ſometimes for the firſt part of the firſt diviſion, for the firſt ſtate, beginning at the beginning of the world, and reaching to the end of the Jewiſh Common wealth. Thus is the phraſe, מִן הָעוֹלָם, à ſeculo ordinarily uſed, and accordingly ἀπ' αἰῶνος here, to note that generall age, from the beginning of the world, of which the Jewiſh ſtate was an eminent part, under which prophecies had been allowed by God to this people. And it being reſolved by the Jews, that there was to be another age (beſide that firſt) which they call the age of the Meſſias, or the age to come, they are wont to uſe the phraſe in ſeculum & ſeculum, to age and to age, meaning thereby both theſe ages, the then preſent, and that other then to come, the age of the Meſſias. Sometimes again the word αἰὼν ſignifies the firſt member of the ſecond diviſion, this world from the Creation, till the day of doom, as Luk. 20. 34. And ſo likewiſe for the ſecond part of the ſecond diviſion, the ſtate after this life, that of another world, ordinarily called the world to come, and that world or age it is oft called αἰὼν ſimply alſo, as Joh. 6. 51, 58. Dr. Ham. Annot. o.

The rudiments of the world, Col. 2. 8. Thoſe imperfect wayes of piety and virtue, which either the Jews or Gentiles adhered to before Chriſt, or before receiving the faith of Chriſt. And ſo it muſt ſignifie here, the Gentile-doctrines eſpecially, noted by Philoſophy at the beginning of the verſ. and the worſhipping of Angels, verſ. 18. but withall the Jewiſh abſtinencies, and obſervations, verſ. 14. & 16. Idem Annot. b.

All the world, Luk. 2.1. That οἰκουμένη doth not alwayes ſignifie, the whole world, may be concluded by Act. 11. 28. where the propheſie of the famine through the whole world, ſeems to belong to the ſame which was foretold by Chriſt, Mat. 24. 7. Thus Luk. 21. 26. the things that come upon the world, ſeem s to belong only to thoſe things that were a coming on Judea. Here the world belongs to the Romane Empire, which is often called by that title. Idem Ann. a.

Worldly] Of the world; applyed unto luſts, Tit. 2. 12. ſanctuary, Heb. 9.11.

Worſhip] Fame, glory, praiſe, Luk. 14. 10.

Worſhip] Worſhip me, Luk. 4. 7. or fall downe before me, marg. Matth. 18. 26. Worſhipped him, or beſought him, marg. The word προσκυνεῖ ſignifies to fall down, as Supplyants do to any. Dr. Hamm. on Matth. 8. 2. Annot. a. Or, as Spaniels couch and crouch before their Maſters. Leigh Crit. Sac.

Worſhipper] προσκυνητὴς, Joh. 4.23. who in the worſhip of God not onely yeeldeth the outward reverence of his body, but eſpecially uſeth religious adoration. In Joh. 9. 31. the word is θεοσεβὴς, as who yeeldeth unto God that divine worſhip which is due unto him onely. This word is alſo applyed unto Baal, and Diana, both which had their worſhippers, 2 King. 10. 19. Act. 19. 35. A worſhipper, Gr. the Temple keeper, marg.

Wrath] is applyed both unto God, and unto Man.

Unto God; whereof the cauſe is ſin, Numb. 16. 46. 2 Chr. 28. 11. Ezr. 8. 22. Pſal. 78. 31. Joh. 3. 36. Rom. 1. 18. Eph. 5. 6. for the execution whereof there's a day of wrath, Rev. 6. 17. This is tearmed ſometimes little, Iſa. 54. 8. See Pſal. 2. 12. & 78. 38. whereof yet the Pſalmiſt could ſay, Thy wrath lyeth hard upon me, Pſa. 88. 7. but uſually fierce, 2 Chron. 29. 10. great, 2 Chr. 28. 13. ſaid to be kindled, 2 Ki. 22. 17. wax hot, Exod. 32. 10. burn like fire, Pſal. 89. 46. The objects hereof are, the generation of his wrath, Jer. 7. 29. the people of his wrath, Iſa. 10. 6. and the veſſels of wrath, Rom. 9. 22. They ſhall drink of the wine of the wrath of God, Rev. 14. 10. and on them ſhall be poured out the vials of his wrath, Revel. 16. 1.

Unto man; whether a King, Pro. 16. 14. & 19. 12. or others. This is ſaid to be cruell, Prov. 27. 4. heavy, Ib. 3. proud, Prov. 21. 24. This is in ſome exceſſive, who are therefore ſaid to be full of wrath, Eſt. 3. 5. Act. 19. 28. This is a work of the fleſh, Gal. 5. 20. upon which we muſt not let the Sun go down, Eph. 4. 26. but put it off, Col. 3. 8. being ſlow thereunto, Jam. 1. 19. In Rev. 6. 16. wrath is alſo aſcribed unto the lamb. Pſal. 90. 11. Even according to thy fear ſo is thy wrath. The Pſalmiſts meaning is in oppoſition to them that maintained, that God need not be feared, quia nec poteſt iraſci, nec nocere; that is, in the Prophet Zephaniah his expreſſion, That the Lord will do no good, neither will he do any evill, Zeph. 1. 12. His meaning I ſay is, That the fear of God is no vain thing; that he hath dreadfull judgements in ſtore againſt them that fear him not, nor dread his judgements. Anno'. Or, who knoweth (or acknowledgeth) thy wrath, ſo as thy fear, teacheth men to do? meaning by fear either Gods Law, as Pſal. 19. 10. or his fearfull judgements upon ſinners, which ſhould ſtrike a fear into mens hearts, Deut. 13. 11. Pſal. 119. 120. Jonah 1. 16. Or, as thy fear, that is, ſo as to fear thee for thy wrath, and by it to depart from evil, as Prov. 16. 6. 2 Cor. 5. 10, 11. or even according to thy fear, ſo is thy wrath. The Chaldee paraphraſeth, who knoweth to turn away the ſtrength of thy anger, but the juſt which fear thee, appeaſing thy wrath? Aynſw. Or, according as men do more or leſſe tremble at thy judgements, ſo doeſt thou more or leſſe execute them. B Hall Paraph.

Wrathfull] Angry, Prov. 15. 18. Thy wrathfull anger, Pſal. 69. 24. The burning wrath of thine anger. Aynſw.

Wreath] And the two wreaths, &c. 2 Chr. 4. 12. Theſe are called net-works, or wreaths of chain-work, 1 King. 7. 17. being a very artificiall kind of work, whereby ſundry ſprigs, leaves, flowers, and fruits, were curiouſly interlaced and wreathed together. Annot.

Wreathen] Applyed to the two chains of pure gold which were to be faſtened to the Ouches, which were to be placed on Aaron's Ephod, Exod. 28. 14. and to the work about the Chapiters of the two braſen Pillars in Solomon's Temple, 2 King. 25. 17.

Wretchedneſſe] And let me not ſee my wretchedneſſe, Numb. 11. 15. or mine evill; that is, my miſery and affliction. By ſeeing evill, is meant the feeling & ſuffering of miſery; as, to ſee death, is to dye, Luk. 2. 26. Pal. 89. 49. and as on the contrary, to ſee the ſalvation of God, meaneth the fruition or enjoying thereof, Pſal. 50. 23. & 91. 16. Aynſw.

Write] Iſa. 10. 19. Heb. number, marg.

Writer] Judg. 5. 14. Even Scribes and Scholars addicted to their ſtudies, with unanimous conſent joyned with the reſt in taking up arms to fight Gods battles, and help their brethren. Annot.

Of a ready Writer, or of a ſwift (a ready) Scribe. So Ezra was called, not onely for Writing, but alſo for Interpreting the Law, Ezr. 7. 6. Scribes were both Scriveners or Notaries, 2 King. 12. 10. & 22. 3. and Expoſitors of the Law, or Counſellers, 1 Chro. 27. 32. Mat. 23 2. Aynſw.

Wrong] 1 Chr. 12. 17. or violence, ma. Hab. 1. 4. or wreſted, marg.

Wrong] We have wronged no man, 2 Cor. 7. 2. have not dealt unjuſtly, have not hurt or harmed others.

Wrongfully] Injuriouſly, Job 21. 27. Pſal. 35. 19. Hebr. falſly, marg. Without cauſe, Pſal. 38. 19. & 119. 86. Without right, Ezek. 22. 29. marg.

Wrought] 2 Chron. 3. 14. Heb. cauſed to aſcend, marg. Pſal. 78. 43. Hebr. ſet, marg. Matt. 20. 12. or continued, marg. (where note that the word μιᾶν in the New Teſtament, when it's joyned with words that denote time, is to be rendred to ſtay, or to ſpend, as Act. 5. 34. & 15. 33. & 18. 21, 23. & 20. 3. So here, it notes the ſpace of their being and labouring in the vineyard, though it is not improbable that the right reading might be ἐπονήσαν, laboured, which is very little diſtant from it. Dr Ham. on Mat. 20. An. a.) 2 Joh. 8. or gained, marg.

After the yeer was expired, 2 Sam. 11. 1. Hebr. at the return of the yeer, marg.

A few yeers, Job 16. 22. Hebr. yeers of number, marg.

And intreat them evill four hundred yeers, Act. 7. 6. So Gen. 15. 30. but in Exod. 12. 40 it's ſaid, the ſojourning of the children of Iſrael, who dwelt in Ægypt, was four hundred and thirty yeers. The accord muſt be by diſtinguiſhing of the beginning of the account, which if taken from Abraham's leaving of Chaldea, and receiving the firſt promiſe of Canaan, when his ſojourning did begin, then it falls right to be four hundred and thirty yeers, as it is in Exodus; but if it be taken from Abraham's ſeed, i. e. from the birth of Iſaac, which was in the hundreth yeer of Abraham's age, and ſo thirty yeers after his departure from Chaldea, then it muſt conſequently be thirty yeers leſſe from thence to the departure out of Ægypt; and ſo that will accord exactly with the four hundred yeers here, and in Geneſis, which are aſſigned to his ſeeds ſojourning in a ſtrange land; by this ſtrange land both Canaan and Ægypt being to be underſtood; for the Chaldee Paraphraſt, and the generality of the Jews, determine determine the ſpace wherein they ſojourned in Ægypt, to be but two hundred and ten yeers, onely Joſephus defineth it to be two hundred and fifteen. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

Yeer after yeer] 2 Sam. 21. 1. The ſecond after the firſt, and third after the ſecond.

Yeer by yeer] Deut. 14. 22. So the Gr. alſo interpreteth the Hebr. phraſe, yeer yeer, which is elſewhere written yeer by yeer, Neh. 10. 35. and Jonathan in his Thargum explaineth it, every yeer and yeer, whereto he addeth, and not the fruits of (one) yeer, with the fruits of another yeer; meaning, that they muſt ſeparate their tithes yeerly, and not put two yeers tithe into one. Aynſw.

Yeer to yeer] Exod. 13. 10. Hebr. from dayes to dayes; but dayes often ſignifie a full yeer. The Chald. tranſlateth from time to time. The Gr. keeepeth the Hebr. phraſe, wherefore dayes are prophetically uſed for yeers in the Gr. of the New Teſtament, Rev. 11. 3. Aynſw.

Yeerly] Judg. 11. 40. Hebr. from yeer to yeer, marg.

Yeſterday] Mic. 2. 8. or even of late. Comp. the text with the marg.

Yeſternight] The laſt night, or night preceding the time wherein a thing is ſpoken, Gen. 19. 34. & 31. 29. 42.

Ynknowen] Ezek. 9. 2. What this is, who knoweth not? It was to mark them in the forehead that mourned for the ſin of the City, verſ. 3. that they might be kept ſafe. That falleth out in Jeremy, Baruc, Ebedmelech, and ſuch godly perſons. Yoked] Be not unequally yoked, 2 Cor. 6. 14. Gr. diverſly yoked. The Original ἑτεροζυγοῦντες, may be diverſly interpreted, either draw not down the beam, or any way incline to the part of the Infidels; or, be not unequally yoked, as when beaſts of divers kindes, or of the ſame kind, but of divers ſtature and bigneſſe, draw together. Or it may be rendred, draw not the other part of the yoke with Infidels; that is, be not any ways coupled with them. Annot.

Yoke-fellow] Phil. 4. 3. The Apoſtle hereby underſtandeth not his Wife, as ſome of the Ancients imagined, for he had no Wife when he wrote his firſt Epiſtle to the Corinthians, as appears, 1 Cor. 7. 7. and we read not that ever he marryed afterwards; but either he underſtandeth the Husband of one of the Women he mentioned before, or ſome chief and principall Paſtour, to whom the Epiſtles of the Apoſtles were uſually addreſſed, and by them afterwards read before all the Congregation. Annot.

Let him be as the younger, Luk. 22. 26. As they that were Rulers among the Jews, or Judges in their Sanhedrin, were called Elders; ſo others, their Officers eſpecially that attended them, are commonly ſtyled by way of diſtinction from them, Νεώτεροι the younger. And proportionably in the Church, as Πρεσβύτεροι are they that preſide and govern in it, called Μείζονες, greater, ſuperior to others, ſo they that are under them, are here called Νεώτεροι. See Act. 5. 6. 1 Tim. 5. 1. Tit. 2. 6. Dr. Hamm. Annot. d.

Young children] Job 19. 18. or the wicked, marg.

The young men laid hold on him, Mar. 14. 51. Νεανίσκοι, young men, is a title here of the Romane Souldiers, as in Polybius, νεανίσκων συντάγεσιν, the muſtering of ſouldiers. So Joſh. 6. 22.

Zacharias] Son of Barachias, whom ye ſlew between the Temple and the Altar, Matth. 23. 35. Who this Zacharias was, is queſtioned among learned men, and it falls out there were very many of the name, to each of whom ſome part of this character here ſet is competible. There was Zachary the Prophet, the Son Barachiah, Zac. 1. 1. A ſecond Zacharias was the Father of John the Baptiſt. There was a third, and he a Prophet, and ſlain by the people, at Joaſh's command, 2 Chro. 24. 19, 20, 21. There is yet a fourth Zacharias, and he (ſaith Joſephus lib. 4. c. 18.) ὁ τοῦ Βαρούχου, the Son of Baruch, which might well be all one with Barachias, as we know Ananus is with Ananias, and he was ſlain by the Jewiſh Zelots, ἐν μέσῳ τῷ ἱερῷ, in the midſt of the Temple, and that ſo immediately before the ſiege of Jeruſalem, that as Chriſt mentions Abel the firſt that was ſlain, ſo he might very fitly mention this Zacharias alſo, as the laſt inſtance of their bloodineſſe upon holy and eminent men. This I find to have been pitcht on in the Spaniſh Bible of Cypriane de Valera, where upon this verſe is this note, whom ye killed, i. e. ſhall kill; He foretelleth the hiſtory of Zacharias the Son of Baruch, which Joſephus de bello Judaico deſcribeth, whereby the meaſure was filled up, verſ. 32. for which Jeruſalem war deſtroyed. The onely objection againſt this, is the ὃν ἐφονεύσατε, whom he ſlew, whereas this man was not now ſlain at the time of Chriſts ſpeaking. But this is readily anſwered:

1 That the Aoriſt may fitly be rendred, whom ye ſhall have ſlain; and that it muſt be ſo, becauſe the blood of Chriſt, and Stephen, James, and all that ſhould fall by them in thoſe forty yeers, was contained in the πᾶν αἷμα δίκαιον, all the righteous blood, here mentioned, as ingredients in that judgement on the Jews.

2 It's ordinary in prophecies to uſe the time paſt for the future. And ſo Rev. 2. 19. when Antipas is mentioned, ὃς ἀπεκτάνθη, who was kill'd (who yet was not kill'd till after the time of that viſion) it's clear it muſt be ſo taken. So 1 Theſſ. 2. 16. ſpeaking of the deſtruction of the Jews, v. 15. which was not then come at the writing of that Epiſtle, he ſaith ἔφθασε in the Aoriſt, the wrath of God overtook them, or came haſtily upon them, εἰς τέλος, to a finall utter deſtruction, i. e. their meaſure of iniquity is filled up, and ſo this deſtruction ſecured to them, as if it were already faln on them. And this is the moſt full interpretation of the place, and clear from all difficulty. Dr. Ham. Annot. g. See more hereof in the word Zechariah.

Zelotes] And Simon called Zelotes, Luk. 6. 15. In Matth. 10. 4. he is tearmed, the Canaanite. Many Greek Copies have Κανανίτης, others Καναναῖος, and Κανναῖος. The word comes not from the name of a place, as a πατρωνυμικὸν, but from קנה, and קנאה, zeal, from whence is Κανναῖος, which with the Greek termination ος, is directly Καναναῖος, a zelote. The Syriack hath קנגי, Kenogo, which ſeems to be the verſion of Καναναῖος. The matter is clear, that this Simon, Luk. 6. 15. & Act. 1. 13. is called Ζηλωτὴς, the Zelote, and Κανανίτης and Ζηλωτὴς are as perfectly the ſame as Cephas and Πέτρος, Tabitha and Δόρκας, and the like. Of theſe Zelots ſo famous among the Jews, many mentions we have in ſacred Writ. Phinees is looked on as the firſt to whom that name was competible, for his ſlaying the unclean pair in the very fact, which Mattathias in his dying ſpeech cals his ζηλῶσαι ζῆλον, having zeal, 1 Mac. 2. 54. And after him Elias in his apprehending the Prophets of Baal, and ſlaying them, 1 King. 18. 40. which again Mattathias calls ζηλῶσαι ζῆλον νόμυ, having zeal of the Law, verſ. 58. And ſuch was this Mattathias, and his Son Judas, &c. which without any externall calling took upon them to deſtroy the profaners of the Temple, and were thereupon call'd Maccabees, which ſignifies Zelots. In after times, from theſe beginnings, great diſtempers and flames broke out; a multitude of men under pretence of being zealous for the Law, and honour of God, under the name of Ζηλωταὶ, Zelots, committing all the riots and bloodineſſe imaginable, as Joſephus mentioneth. Theſe impoſed this name of Zelot upon themſelves, as if their undertaking were good and honorable, and not (as indeed they were) emulous of the worſt deeds immaginable, and even out-ſtripping all. Theſe (as a Sect having its Originall from Judas Gaulonita, and Sadduchus) were pernicious to the Jews, and did not onely accelerate their totall deſtruction, but withall made it ſo miſerable and calamitous, when it came. There is little doubt, but that this Simon was himſelf one of this Sect, and ſo called [by that name Simon the Zelot. Dr. Ham. on Mat. 10. 4. Ann. c.

To

To the Reader of SOLOMONS SONG, Knowledge with Holineſſe.

WHat the Apoſtle Peter writeth of his Brother Paul's Epiſtles, that therein are ſome things hard to be underſtood, which they that are unlearned and unſtable wreſt, as they do alſo the other Scriptures, unto their owne deſtruction; [2 Pet. 3. 16.] may be truly affirmed of this Song, there being not onely ſome things but many things, moſt things herein hard to be underſtood, which have been wreſted, not onely by the unlearned and unſtable, but even by ſome well commended for learning.

1. That it is hard to be underſtood, an Ocean wherein the largeſt Elephants may ſwim, wherein the ableſt wits may exerciſe the utmoſt of their parts, abilities, judgement, learning, may appear by theſe particulars: 1 Even thoſe who have been known accompliſhed with all the ornaments of wiſdome and letters, have confeſſed themſelves puzled in it. [See Annot. on ch. 1. 14.] Is it not then a moſt pitiful inſolency, that rude unlearned men ſhould preſume to expound the difficulties hereof? Have we not cauſe to bewail their impudence that preſume to unfold this Book, not having ſo much as ſearched into, much leſſe turned over the whole Volume and Library of the world? [An. on ch. 4. 14.] Oh! how woful and ſhameful is it to admit ſuch? who being not worthy to read publickly, dare yet teach, (adventuring even on this Book) and not fit hardly to be common Souldiers, will yet be Captains and Generals. [Ann. on ch. 3. 8.] 2 It is not unknown to the learned, what great variety of Interpreters and Interpretations have endevoured to cleer the obſcurity and darkneſs hereof, but with ſo ill ſucceſſe many times, that they have rather increaſed then removed the cloud; whileſt among ſo many hundreds of them, very few have done any thing leſſe then what they pretended; and of all thoſe ancient and later Volumes and Libraries of Commentators, we finde a very ſmall number that are anſwerable, either to their owne undertakings, or the Readers hopes. [Ann. in the Argum.] 3 It is agreed on all hands, that the Book is an entire Allegory, full of profound myſteries and ſecrets (for which cauſe the Jews interdicted the reading of it (as of the firſt chap. of Geneſis, and ſome parts of Ezekiel) untill the age of thirty yeers (which was their Sacerdotall age) when reaſon ſhould be grown riper, and the affections compoſed and raiſed for ſo divine a contemplation.) A divine parable, wherein naturall and viſible things, allegorize things ſupernaturall, and under the figures of Solomon and his Love, is ſhadowed the true Prince of peace, and his rich affections to his Church and People. 4 Some, in ſtead of Moral and Religious, hold forth Hiſtorical and Civil affairs in handling hereof; as if this Book did prophetically comprehend in little all thoſe numerous occurrences and tranſactions which Divine providence hath diſpenſed, or ſhall, in the Church, ſince the firſt breath of that diſtreſſed Virgin, to the very laſt: But particularly to prove what they alledge, will be a hard task. Ones Ipſe dixit, though eminent for piety and learning, will not ſuffice. Anothers No (being every way his equall) will go as far as his Yea. 5 Whereas ordinarily one Scripture is the Interpreter of another, and by more and plainer places of Scripture, the meaning of ſuch as are more rare, dark, and obſcure, may be found out, this help is wanting here, as wherein there are many words (particulariz'd by Mercer, Aynſworth, and the Annotator on this Book) not to be found elſewhere in Scripture; and ſome though found in one or two places more, yet which are diſſonant from them in ſenſe and meaning. 6 Whereas other Scriptures for the moſt part may be cleered, either by the context, or by circumſtances laid down in the text, neither of them prove thus beneficial here. 7. The Tranſlators, Chaldee, Greek, Tremelius, Vulgar, &c. do not onely in their Tranſlations often differ one from another, but ſometimes are contrary each to other. What ſome render in the Concrete, others do in the Abſtract; what ſome actively, others paſſively; as theſe words in Cant. 6. 5. Turn away thine eyes from me, for they have overcome me; are by Tremelius thus read, Turn thine eyes to me, that they may liſt me up; and by Aynſworth thus, Turn about thine eyes over againſt me, for they have lifted me up. 8 As its ſtyle is high and lofty, ſo the wiſe Compoſer rifles and plucks all the rarities of Nature, to deſcribe his ſacred and ſupernaturall myſteries, to which the whole Creation is not enough to become an Allegory. [An. on ch. 7. 13.] Such is the matchleſſe riches and ſweetneſſe of the ſubject of this Poem, that the chieſeſt peeces of that rare treaſure, all the ſtore-houſe of the whole world, from both her ſpheres, contributeth thereunto (wherein who would indeed underſtand it, muſt be well ſeen) and yet all is not ſufficient. 9 Whereas it is a Marriage Song of the mutuall love between Chriſt and his Church, wherein divers perſons are brought in ſpeaking each to other; namely, the Bridegroom, Chriſt; the Bride, the Church; the friends of the Bridegroom, the Angels and Saints, Prophets, Apoſtles, Miniſters, and Preachers of the Word of God; the companions of the Bride, all that follow the Church, the Churches friends, or (according to others in other tearms) Chriſt, the Church, forain Congregations, and the Jewiſh Church, Interpreters are of different judgement in their application: Some conceiving that ſuch and ſuch paſſages were ſpoken by Chriſt to his Church, which others conceive were ſpoken by the Church unto Chriſt. Thus that this Book is hard to be underſtood.

2. That it hath been wreſted both by the learned and unlearned, we have cauſe rather to bewaile then queſtion. Have not ſome received it as a hot carnall Pamphlet, formed by ſome looſe Apollo or Cupid, rather then the holy inſpiration of the true God? What reproaches have been by Theodorus of Mopſveſta, and others, caſt upon it? And hath it not been held by ſome, as if it were a carnall Marriage-ſong, of carnall love, written by Solomon, to expreſſe the affections of mutual love between him and the Daugher of Pharaoh, whom he loved intirely, and more then his other Wives? Do not the high-flown contemplators of the Romane Church laborioufly trifle, to build their idle Abbies and Monaſteries, on Cant. 1. 16. Our bed is green? their Invocation of Saints and Angels, on Cant. 3. 3. Saw ye him whom my ſoul loveth? their Order of Hermites or Friers called Carmelites, inſtituted by Honorius the fourth, in the yeer 1217. in imitation of Elijah and the Prophets, on Cant. 7. 5. Thy head upon thee is like Carmel? And are there not among them, who by this Head, would have the Pope; by Mount Carmel, the perpetual ſucceſſion of his Chair; as his conclave of red Hats, meant by the purple hair? Not to inſtance more, how many by applying all that is ſaid of the myſticall Spouſe here, to the Virgin Mary, have undone a great deal of Learning by an extreme ingredient of Superſtition? [See the Annot. on theſe texts.]

The premiſes duly weighed, will both juſtifie our Author for alotting a peculiar Dictionary to this Book, though brief, as excuſe me for theſe Additions, though ſomewhat large. Herein I have made uſe of divers Authors, ſometimes more largely, to avoyd obſcurity; ſometimes more briefly, to avoyd prolixity. The ſumme of what they deliver at large is many times here ſummed up in a few words. Unto their Expoſitions, Annotations, Obſervations, I have annexed their ſeverall names. If ſome words are not handled here, look for them in the common Dictionary. Severall paſſages might have been omitted, but that our Author followed the Genevah, not our laſt Tranſlation.

Not to detain thee longer, learn by this Book what uſe to make of the Creatures, whereſoever we are, whether alone or with others, by night or by day, in a flouriſhing or in a mean condition; upon the view of the Creatures we have alwayes occaſion of heavenly thoughts, occaſion to raiſe up our thoughts to higher matters. So long as the Winds blow, and the Rain cometh down, as the Sun and Moon endure, as Winter and Summer, Morning and Evening, Day and Night, follow each other; ſo long as our Fields produce Wheat; our Orchards, fruitful Trees; our Gardens, Hearbs and Flowers; our Bees, Honey; our Vineyards, Grapes, and Grapes, Wine; ſo long as our Merchants bring home Gold, Silver, Precious ſtones, Oyls, Spices, Calamus, Camphire, Spikenard, &c. as our Towers and Fortreſſes ſtand, as our Cities have Walls and Watch-men, as we have flocks of Goats and Sheep, with Shepherds to attend them; as we ſee Roſes and Lillies growing, hear Birds ſinging, can ſavour Spices, Fruits, &c. So long I ſay as theſe are not wanting unto us (and we have Eyes, Hands, Feet, Breaſts, &c.) we need not be idle this way. Are we in the Temple, in the Field, in a Garden, preſent at a Wedding, &c. our affections may be thus raiſed up. The Church is Chriſts Temple, his Field, his Garden, his Spouſe, and ſo to be highly reſpected of us, &c. Chriſt will be preſent in his Temple, manure his Field, look to his Garden, be one with his People, &c. To conclude:

Read not this Book in any caſe,
but with a ſingle eye;
Read not but firſt deſire Gods grace to underſtand thereby.

Thine in the Lord,

A. Symſon.

A DICTIONARY OF THE Song of SOLOMON,

WHEREIN

The moſt Material Words thereof are Expounded; The Dark and Difficult Paſſages therein cleared; the Various Readings obſerved; with diverſe Comfortable Meditations, and Profitable Obſervations, occaſionally inſerted.

¶ Foraſmuch as this Book of Canticles is behinde none, for worthineſſe of the ſubject, or for uſe toward the Church, or authentick authority; being inſpired of God, entreating of the moſt ſweet and ſtraight conjunction between Chriſt and his Church, and of their mutual interparting of duties; ſerving alſo to teach, improve, inſtruct, correct, and comfort: and yet many are driven from reading and ſtudy of it, through the difficulty of the ſtyle, and depth of the Argument: I have thought it worth the labour, to compoſe a ſhort Dictionary, expounding apart by themſelves, the ſeveral words of this little Book, thereby to encourage all Chriſtians, more willingly to become ſtudious in it, under hope of attaining ſome benefit by their pains. Uſe this my travail with good conſtruction of my purpoſe, and thanks to God if thou get any profit by it. Farewell.

A B.

About] About it, to wit, Solomons bed, Cant. 3.7. The Church is the bed-chamber of Chriſt, and each faithful heart is his bed, which he guardeth by many ſtrong and watchful Heroes. Such are his Angels, Gen. 32.2. Pſal. 103.20. (See alſo Pſal. 34.7. & 91.11.) and his Miniſters; Heb. 13.17. but eſpecially himſelf. 2 King. 6.16. Phil. 4.7. Annot. They need not fear either publick force, or ſecret treachery about whom God ſetteth a guard.

A L.

A little] It was but a little, that I paſſed from them, but I found him whom my ſoul loveth, Cant. 3.4. or, a very little: meaning either time, or diſtance of place. She would not ſtay where her Beloved was not, but continued ſeeking other where; for neither the ſociety of Brethren, or Church, or Miniſters, can comfort the afflicted conſcience, unleſſe Chriſt himſelf be apprehended by faith. Aynſworth. Or, how little was it! All is but little that we doe for Chriſt, as it is ſaid of Jacob, Gen. 29.20. And though he doe not vouchſafe to appear preſently in all ſuch means as we uſe to finde him, leſt we ſhould aſcribe too much to means; yet it is not long, but he will manifeſt himſelf to them, that ſeek him with all their heart. An. The fruit of ſedulity and conſtancy in ſeeking Chriſt; it will not be long ere we finde him. To deſpiſe pleaſures, beſtow pains, manfully and courageouſly to undergo dangers for the obtaining of Chriſt, are moſt certain ſigns of his dwelling in us; though he ſeem to our thinking, and in our opinion to be far from us; nor want theſe our endeavours certain and conſtant promiſes that he will come unto us, and dwell with us. Thomſon. We muſt ſtay but a little with them that cannot tell where Chriſt is to be found, by what means he is to be found, and what it is to finde him: yea the leaſt time is too much. Such are the worldly wiſe; who are in the world for their worldly wiſdome in high repute, Juſt. Epiſcop. As good health is more acceptable to them who have recovered of a diſeaſe, then unto them who were never ſick: So things long deſired delight more, then ſuch as are dayly enjoyed. Strigelius. Whileſt there's a relying on men and their inventions, whether our ſelves or others, there's no finding of Chriſt, but when thoſe ſhall be rejected, denyed, and Chriſt alone ſought after, it will be but a little ere he be found. He never returneth the deſires of his ſervants empty. Of whom (Chriſt) when I had almoſt left hoping for comfort, that gracious Saviour, who would not ſuffer me to be tempted above my meaſure, preſented himſelf to my ſoul. Hall paraph.

All fair] The abſolute and perfect ſpiritual beauty of Chriſt his myſtical body the Church, by imputation of his perfect holineſſe covering all deformities, and by ſanctification of the Spirit, renewing the Church, and every member in all parts of ſoul and body, though unperfectly. Cant. 4. 7. Thou art all fair my Love.

All fair] A type of the new Church, to which alſo theſe things are ſpoken. Mercer. Our holineſſe now imperfect and mingled with ſo much corruption ſhall be made perfect, that no ſpot or wemme ſhall be left in us. S. H. Finch. obſerves on Solomons Song. Thou art exceeding beautiful O my Church in all the parts of thee, for all thy ſins are done away, and thine iniquity is covered. Hall. Chriſt here advanceth his own work of Juſtification and Sanctification, as a perfect compleat atchievement. Regeneration is an entire work of the whole man, and renders him all fair. Annot. Hereby let the godly ſtriving with their own weakneſſe ſuſtain themſelves, for although in this life we are disfigured through manifold evils, and as yet carry about us much uncleanneſſe, yet Chriſt loveth us, and pronounceth us all fair. Strigel. Whatſoever is in thee is beautiful and lovely in my ſight. That this is true of the Church triumphant, is moſt certain, but how can it be ſaid of the Church militant, wherein there are bad, as well as good, and the good not without their faults and failings? It's not ſpoken according to that we are of our ſelves, or according to that which is found in us of our ſelves, but according to the eſtimation of his mercy, and that which he worketh in us and for us, according to his good pleaſure, having waſhen us throughly from our ſins by his own bloud, whoſe righteouſneſſe is alſo imputed unto us. Tielman. From hence as it ſeemeth S. Paul draweth his ſpeech, Ephe. 5. 24, 25, 26, 27. Such a glorious myſtical body is meet to be joyned with ſo glorious a head, and if there were any deformity remaining, how could it be united unto him? Giffard. Hereby Chriſt comforteth her againſt her fears and infirmities, that in him ſhe hath perfect beauty. Aynſw. By nature we lie in our bloud, Ezek. 16. 1. 2. There muſt be a beauty put upon us; we are fair with the beauty we have out of Chriſts wardrobe. The Church ſhines in the beams of Chriſts righteouſneſſe, ſhe is not born thus fair, but new born fairer. It is hid ſometimes from the Church it ſelf, who ſees only her deformity, and not her beauty; her death, but not her life, becauſe her life is hid, Col. 3. 4. Here is a myſtery of Religion. The Church is never more fair, then when ſhe judgeth her ſelf to be moſt deformed. Doctor Sibbs on Cant. 5. 9. pag. 301. This is ſpoken of the Chriſtian Church which immediately ſprung up after the Reſurrection of Chriſt, and from that time is propagated till this very day. Brightman. In theſe words we have a deſcription of the eſtate of the Church ſoon after Chriſts Aſcenſion, gathered and built up by the miniſtery of the Apoſtles, which they call the Apoſtolick or Primitive Church. The fairneſſe of the Church was acknowledged before, but never till now the perfect fairneſſe. All compleat fairneſſe or beauty ſtandeth in theſe three things. 1. In the integrity of all the parts and members of the body. 2. In the ſymmetry or fit proportion of all the members one to another. 3. In the good complexion or colour of them all. All theſe are found in this Church in comely proportion. 1. Their doctrine was free from all errour, ſo far as it was diſpenſed by the Apoſtles, Prophets and Evangeliſts of that time; and was compleat, even the whole Counſell of God, and was diſpenſed in powerful ſimplicity. 2. Their worſhip wherein the purity of Gods Ordinances without mixture of humane inventions, order, decency, edification of all, aimed at in all the duties adminiſtred, frequency and fervency in prayer and faſting. 3. Their Chriſtian Communion, wherein unity one with another, love and large-heartedneſſe one towards another, eſpecially to their Miniſters. 4. Their Diſcipline, where you may ſee the Apoſtles, Prophets, Evangeliſts, Paſtors, and Teachers, teaching, exhorting, ruling, preaching, writing, privately conferring, being good exaamples; the Deacons providing for the poor; both choſn by the Church, Excommunications diſpenſed, diſpenſed, Synods impoſing no other but neceſſary things either in themſelves, or for the preſent uſe of the Church. Mr. Cotton on Cant. 4.7. pag. 114, 115, 116, 117.

All manner of pleaſant] To wit, fruits, Cant. 7. 13. all manner of pretious things, or dainties, All manner of delightful graces, all ſorts and degrees of them, none being wanting, who therefore out of the aboundance of her own ſtore could ſupply the country with all fit helps to her further gathering and eſtabliſhment. Cotton. pag. 229. Unto them that are in Chriſt, ſhall be plenty, aboundance of all good things. They that abide in him, and he in them, the ſame bring forth much fruit, Joh. 15. 5. No good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly, Pſal. 84. 11.

Aloes] The faithful, which like this moſt pleaſant plant [Aloes] doe bring forth moſt delectable and ſavory fruit, Cant. 4. 14. Myrrh, and Aloes.

Aloes] Or lign Aloes. It was uſed alſo to perfume with for the ſweet ſmell thereof, Numb. 24. 6. Pſal. 45 8. Prov. 7. 17. Aynſw. It is a tree or plant growing in Arabia and India, which giveth a ſweet odour, and is like the Thyine wood mentioned in Revel. 18. 12. and is uſed to ſignifie the good fame of the Church, and report of her graces, which is as a ſweet ſmell. Aynſworth on Numb. 24. 6. It's ſaid there of it, Which the Lord hath planted, which ſignifieth the excellency of this tree above others, and the growth in the natural place, where it beſt proſpereth; Is not the Lord the Planter of his Church? Jer. 2. 21. Shall ſhe not be like a tree planted by the Rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his ſeaſon? Pſal. 1. 3. This is alſo good to preſerve from corruption or putrifaction, wherewith the bodies of the dead were wont to be anointed. Mercer. Aloes alſo cleanſe [illegible] flegm and choler, dry up raw and cold humors, preſerve the reſt from putrifying, open obſtructions, ſtrengthens the ſtomach ſtrongly. Sutable hereunto perſecution breedeth and ſtirreth up in the faithful, graces of like efficacy, to heal the coldneſſe, hypocriſie and rottenneſſe of their ſpirits, to ſtay diſtillations of cold raw matter, to ſtrengthen appetite to the Word, to comfort the faint hearted. Cotton.

Altogether] He is altogether lovely, Cant. 5. 16. Every whit, wholly, all, nothing but lovely; or, he is her whole deſire, the act being put for the object, as is uſuall with other Authors: or all of him it deſires; or, he is wholly deſirable, moſt to be deſired. He is the deſire of Nations, Gen. 49. 10, 26. Hag. 2. 8. and all that is perfect in heaven or earth, is but a dim ſhadow of his Excellency. Annot. If all of him be deſires, deſirable much to be deſired; ſhould not all, with all their deſires, be deſirous of him? The godly ſee, finde nothing in Chriſt, or in the profeſſion of his Name, but what is wholly deſirable. Even the rebukes of Chriſt ſeeme greater riches unto them, then the treaſures of Egypt. And muſt not he be altogether lovely, whom ſo many (of every ſort ſome) love, of whoſe love ſo many are deſirous? The Chaldee expoundeth, all his Commandements are to be deſired. Aynſw.

A M.

Amana] Look from the top of Amana, Cant. 4. 8. This word ſignifieth faith, or truth, or a nourſe. Top of Amanah, or head of Amanah, which was a mountain in Syria, the valley and river in it was alſo called Amanah, and Abanah, in 2 King. 5. 12. and ſo the Chaldee here expoundeth it, the heads, that is, the Princes of the people that dwell by the river of Amanah, ſhall offer a gift unto thee. Aynſw.

Amminadab] Like the chariots of Amminadab, Cant. 6. 12. or, Set me upon the Chariots of a willing people, (the word Amminadab ſignifieth a free people, or a vowing people, a noble people, or Prince of people) not that any thing cometh at unawares to Chriſt in his own perſon; but becauſe to his Miniſters, that in his Name ſhall goe into the Garden of Nuts; the Jews ſhall appear unexpectedly to embrace Chriſts calling: They ſhall finde the Jews as chariots of willing people, ready to march with them, whither ſoever in Chriſts name they ſhall call; where alſo is intimated the willing readineſſe of a willing people among the Gentiles, to convey the Jews into their countrey with Chariots, and Horſes, and Dromedaries. Cotton. It denoteth the people of Chriſt, which are voluntaries in the day of his power, Pſal. 110. 3. Suſtained with a free (or Princely) Spirit, Pſal. 51. 14. and receiving the word with all readineſſe (or willingneſſe) of minde, Act 2. 41. & 17. 11. To ſuch Chriſt is as Chariots by the Miniſtery of the Word to help and haſten them forward in grace, and to defend them from their enemies. Aynſw. A manifeſtation of the ardent and longing zeal and deſire that Chriſt hath to behold the flouriſhings and propagations of his Church. His ſoul made him like the Chariots of Amminadab, that is, made him to haſten ſo, and ſo accelerate the returns of his favour, as if he had come on the ſwifteſt Chariots: for as he is ſaid to come with his Chariots, like a whirle-winde to render vengeance on his enemies, Iſa.66. 15. So will he be as expedite and as forward to ſave and preſerve his people, whom in verſ. 20. he promiſeth to bring upon horſes, and in chariots, and coaches, (as the marg. there for litters) and upon ſwift beaſts to his holy mountain Jeruſalem. Annot. I went down into the Garden, but thought of nothing leſſe, then of that which came to paſſe. I thought to have found an obſtinate, a ſtubborn people; but found a prompt, a ready people to receive me, whereupon I was ſtirred up to be as chariots unto them, whereby they might be ſpeedily carryed into the Church, and be numbred amongſt the Citizens thereof. Brightman. With that ſwiftneſſe went I (the Church) into the Garden, that through the deſire of my ſoul I took no notice that I was like the chariots of Amminadab. So ſwiftly was I carryed thither, that afterward I ſeemed to my ſelf, (but not thinking) to be the very chariots of Amminadab: But of his chariots there is no mention in Scripture, nor who this Amminadab was. Mercer.

Among] Faireſt among women, Cant. 1. 8. Heb. fair (or beautiful) among women. Whereby is meant more fair then other women, or faireſt of women kinde; as the Mother of our Lord is called, Bleſſed among women, Luk. 1.28.42. that is, moſt bleſſed, or more bleſſed then other women; So the Lyon is ſaid to be ſtrong among beaſts, that is, ſtrongeſt, Prov. 30.30. Aynſw. The Church had diſpraiſed her ſelf, (tearming her ſelf black, verſ. 5, 6.) Chriſt recompenſeth humility, when we moſt abaſe our ſelves, he will exalt us. Annot.

Among thorns] Cant. 2.2. As the Lilly is above thorns, ſo is the Church above other people; and as the lilly is pricked with thorns, ſo is the Church afflicted and pricked with them. The lillies among the thorns are harmleſſe, we muſt be innocent as Sheep among Wolves, as Doves among ravenous birds, Mat.10 16. Aynſw. The Church is ſurrounded and galled, with many ſharp and cruel thorns, even as her Beloved who was crowned with them. We are beſet with them on every ſide. Annot.

Among the trees of the wood] Cant.2.3. The glory and dignity of Chriſt, who as much as a fruitful and well grown apple-tree, that is laden, and almoſt oppreſt with its own delicate fruit, exceedeth the barren trees of the wilde deſert, (which have either no fruit, or elſe ſowre and unwholeſom, fitter for Swine then men, and ſo to be cut down rather then preſerved) And as much as the choiceſt apples ſurpaſſe acorns or crabs, or men that feed on them are more noble, then hogs and beaſts that devour the other; ſo much and infinitely more, doth he tranſcend the chiefeſt of the ſons, or, the young men. Annot.

Among the Lillies] Cant.2.16. & 6. 3. It is not ſaid, that he feedeth on them, but among them. Where two or three are gathered, he is in the midſt. Lillies grow in great plenty and numbers, and ſuch unity Chriſt loveth, but hateth ſeparations and ſtraglings. Annot.

A N.

Ancient] Aged, ſuch as be old and in years, who are ſlow of ſpeech: Or (as others will) ſuch as be aſleep and dead in ſin, whoſe lips the Goſpel doth open, to ſound forth the praiſes of God, Cant. 7.9. And cauſeth the lips of the ancient to ſpeak. Of theſe two expoſitions the latter is moſt fit to the Text.

Angry] My Mothers children were angry with me, Cant.1.6. fought againſt me, or railed at me: It frets the wicked to ſee Sion proſper. Tobiah and ſuch as he, are galled to ſee her ruines built up, and her waſte places repaired, Neh. 6.1. Annot.

Angry with me] Or, incenſed againſt me, or inflamed in me, to wit, with wrath; to reſiſt, fight, and war in me and againſt me, as the Greek verſion ſaith, fought in me, (or againſt me) ſo this phraſe is uſed, Iſa.41. 11. & 45. 24. which being ſpoken there of outward enemies, may alſo be applyed to our inward luſts, as in Jam. 4. 1. 1 Pet. 2. 11. Aynſw.

Not to Anſwer] Not to fulfill the deſire of the godly ſoul, or not ſo ſoon to grant her requeſts as ſhe would. Cant.5.6. I called him, but he anſwered me not.

Anſwer] He gave no anſwer, Cant.5.6. This is one of the greateſt temptations, that God ſeemeth not to hear the prayers of his people, though they call day and night, Pſal. 22. 3. Lam. 3.8. But here the Spouſe hath meaſure for meaſure; becauſe he called and ſhe would not obey, ſhe alſo calleth and hath no anſwer. Howbeit his ear is not heavy that it cannot hear, Iſa.59.1,2. Aynſw. It is admirable counſel, Heb. 12. 25. Not to neglect him that ſpeaketh, not to ſhift him off by any frivolous or idle excuſes, for ſo the Greek word there μὴ παραιτήσασθε imports. The Spirit of God is gratious and patient, but yet yet juſt and ſenſible of affronts, and therefore not to be grieved. If we be deaf to his voyce, his ear will be heavy to our prayer; either to puniſh our former diſobedience, or elſe to illuſtrate more his own grace, which like other Jewels becomes moſt eſteemed, when moſt difficult to obtain. Annot. When it falls out thus with us, 1. We muſt beleeve againſt beleefe, (as it were) hope againſt hope, and truſt in God. 2. Labor for an abſolute dependency upon Chriſt, with a poverty of ſpirit in our ſelves. 3. Stir up our graces, ſet them on work (It is a ſign of future victory, when we are diſcontent with our preſent ill eſtate). 4. Have recourſe to former experience. 5. Wait Gods leiſure, for he hath waited ours. Dr. Sibbs. The Hebrews (in their Chaldee paraphraſe) apply the affliction here prophefied of to the ſins and captivity of Iſrael, mentioned 2 King. 17. 6. 1 Chron. 5. 25, 26. at what time, though the Prieſts (as they ſay) offered oblations, and burnt incenſe, yet were they not accepted, Aynſw. Others refer it unto the time of Joſiah, who though a good King, yet could not retain the reverſion of the decree touching Judahs going into captivity, Mercer. Mr. Cotton refers it unto the times from Conſtantine till the reſtoring of the Goſpel, and reforming of the Church by the Miniſtery of Luther, pag. 141.

A P.

Appear] Cant. 2. 12. are ſeen, diſcovered, beheld, made manifeſt unto the view.

That appear] Cant. 4. 1. & 6. 5. Or, that appear ſmooth, that gliſter, as the hair of fat cattel is ſmooth and ſhining. The Hebrew word Galaſh is not uſed but in this place, and again (in like ſenſe) Cant. 6. 5. The Greek here tranſlateth are revealed, or appear, but there, doe come up. Aynſw. The tender Grape appear. Heb. open. Cant. 7. 12. marg.

Apple tree] Cant. 2. 3. The Church ſetteth forth the excellency of Chriſt by the ſimilitude of an Apple-tree. 1. It's a tree of a low or middle ſtature, not tall as the Cedars of Lebanon, or Oakes of Baſhan, which may put us in minde of his humility. 2. As the apple-tree hath more variety of fruits, then any other tree that groweth, (it is not eaſie to reckon up the many ſorts of apples of different taſte) So Chriſt excelleth in variety of graces, which he beſtoweth on his Church. 3. As it exceedeth the barren trees of the wilde deſert, which are either void of fruit, or that they bear, is ſowre and unwholeſome: So much, and infinitely more doth Chriſt ſurpaſſe, tranſcend all others. God hath anointed him with the Oyl of gladneſſe above his fellows, Pſal. 45. 7. He is full of grace and truth, Joh. 1. 14. of whoſe fulneſſe have all we received, and grace for grace, verſ. 16. 4. 4. As the ſhadow is comfortable unto the weary traveller, ſo is Chriſt unto the weary ſoul. Not a ſhadow as Egypt, Iſa. 30. 2. as Heſhbon, Jer. 48. 45. which mock and delude thoſe that ſeek for ſhelter under them. But a ſhadow as good Princes are, Lam. 4. 20. Nay, better then they, a broad, indefective, continual ſhadow, under which if we put our ſelves by faith, (which is a kinde of dark ſhadow too) and hope (for ſitting is the poſture of attendance, as well as eaſe) we ſhall be ſecured from the flames of divine diſpleaſure, from the curſes of the law, and from all afflictions and judgements. Annot. 5. Both its leaves, buds, bloſſomes, fruits, have an excellent and ſweet ſmell; oh how odoriferous is Chriſt! He is wholly delectable, his Conception, Incarnation, Nativity, Life, Death, Burial, Reſurrection, Aſcenſion, Mediation, his Word, Ordinances, &c. all ſmell ſweetly. What is ſaid of his Word, may be ſaid of all the reſt, How ſweet are thy words unto my taſte! yea ſweeter then honey to my mouth, Pſal. 119. 103. 6. Both its leaves and fruit are medicinable. And is not Chriſt that tree of life, yeelding fruit, whoſe leaves are for the healing of the Nations, Rev. 22. 1? Mr. Cotton ſaith it implyeth an inferiour Magiſtrate, as Gedaliah, pag. 55, 56.

Under the Apple-tree] Cant. 8. 5. Chriſt, or the Church of the Jews, by his power raiſed up his Church by the means of ſome inferiour Magiſtrate, reſembled here by an apple-tree. Cotton. Faith as it hath wings to fly up to heaven to the very ſeat of glory, and there to apprehend Chriſt ſitting at the right hand of his Father: ſo in his humility here it beholdeth that excellency which the world is not able to conceive. Finch. The apple-tree of old time was dedicated to love. So that in this we may conſider the love in which Chriſt reſteth toward his Church: for were it not for that unchangeable love, which he beareth towards her, how ſhould ſhe finde him, or where ſhould ſhe finde him? Giffard. The tree of life and grace, whoſe ſhadow and fruit had been delightful and ſweet unto her, and to which tree Chriſt himſelf was likened, ch. 2. 3. So ſhe by faith taking hold on the Covenant of Grace and promiſes of life in Chriſt, called on his Name in her ſorrows, and ſtirred him up for help and comfort. Aynſ. The words may be applyed to Chriſt, whoſe grace alone, did and doth raiſe up his Church depreſſed and ſain under the apple-tree, that is, either lying in a poor unpitied eſtate, Ezek. 16. 5. almoſt deſolate and ready to periſh, as Elijah under the Juniper-tree, 1 King. 19. 4. or elſe lying under the tree of offence after eating the forbidden fruit, (which many will have after the old tradition to be an apple-tree) and not able to raiſe her ſelf, untill aſſiſted by him, who bare her ſins in his own body, on the tree, 1 Pet. 2. 24. Annot.

Apples] Comfort me with apples, Cant. 2. 5. or ſtrew me with them, or ſpread me, make me a couch, boulſter me up with the apples, to keep me from ſinking, and to refreſh my ſpirits which languiſh: for apples are fragrant and revive by their odour, eſpecially thoſe which grow on that tree, verſ. 2. whereby is meant the comfortable doctrines and fruits of Chriſt, mentioned verſ. 3. which the Chaldee explaineth, the interpretation of the holy words, which are ſweet like the apples of the Garden of Eden. Aynſworth. Annot.

The ſmell of thy noſe like Apples] Cant. 7. 8. The Church and they that live in it ſhall ſmell a fragrant ſavour of the good converſation of the people; the ſmell (not which the noſe yeeldeth, but) which is yeelded to the noſe, (to thy ſavory diſcerning) ſhall be ſweet and comfortable as that of apples. Cotton. Men doe uſually breath at the noſe; then this is to declare that the Church ſhall breath out nothing but ſweetneſſe. All that approach neer unto her ſhall ſmell the ſavour of her ſweet breath. Giffard. Apples have a ſweet ſmell, whereby languiſhing ſpirits are much refreſhed, which is alſo much available for the procuring of love. Brightman.

Ariſe] Cant. 2. 13. Shake off all that dull ſecurity wherewith thou haſt been held. Hall. Riſe I ſay, I command thee by virtue of my authority. Thomſon. The more theſe things excell, the more we muſt enforce our ſelves to follow after them: to perſue them ſpeedily to goe out of our ſelves, and to come to Chriſt. Finch. The bidding her ariſe, plainly pointeth at the Gentiles eſtate, who did ſit in darkneſſe and in the ſhadow of death, Luk. 1. 79. As our predeceſſors, ſo do we naturally ſit in ſin, and that which the whole Church is called unto, the Apoſtle calleth every particular ſoul to, Ariſe from the dead, and Chriſt ſhall give thee light, Epheſ. 5. 14. Clapham. Chriſt redoubles his call, knocks, and knocks again untill we open.

So teſtifying 1. his own great love by theſe importunate iterations.

2. Our duty and concernment in it, which is ever to be ariſing and getting forward.

And 3. accuſing our dulneſſe and unwillingneſſe to hear his voyce. Annot. Sitting or lying ſtill fitteth not with a Chriſtian in this life, who is called to run the way of Gods Commandements, Pſal. 119. 32. And to follow the Lambe whitherſoever he goeth, Rev. 14. 4. By our own default and negligence we want the comforts of Chriſt and his Communion. Aynſw.

Arm] Cant. 8. 6. As the heart ſignifieth inward love, ſo the arm of Chriſt ſignifieth his outward manifeſtation of love, by helping, bearing, and ſupporting her in all her infirmities through his power, Pſal. 77. 16. and 89. 11. Iſa. 40. 10, 11. Aynſworth. As a ſeal upon thine arm, Let me be continually in thy ſight and remembrance. And becauſe the heart is the ſeat of the will, and the arm of ſtrength, therefore ſhe deſireth his deep affection and mighty ſtrength and power alwayes to be preſent with her, for her comfort and peace. Cotton. Keep me ſure in thine arms, as that which thou holdeſt moſt pretious. Hall. She deſires to be moſt neerly joyned unto him as a pretious jewell both in his heart and upon his hand, ſo that he may always mind her, and have her in his ſight, for we know that whatſoever a man loveth with the greateſt love, that he deſireth to be neer unto, yea even faſtened unto it. Giffard. He hath us alwayes as a ſeal upon his arm, who can pull us from him? Being upon his arm we are continually in his ſight, his eyes are upon us alwayes, and his providence watcheth over us, whereſoever we doe become; what evill can betide us? Finch. She deſireth ſo to be joyned unto him, ſo to cleave and ſtick faſt to him, as the type or figure doth, which the impreſſion of the ſeal hath made. Brightman.

Armour] Cant. 4. 4. Which was either a place for exerciſe of military diſcipline, or elſe for keeping all weapons of war, Annot. The Hebrew word Talpijoth uſed onely in this place, ſeemeth to be derived of Thalah, to hang, and pijoth two edged ſwords, meaning all inſtruments to offend or wound the enemy, as bucklers and ſhields after mentioned were to defend her ſelf, Aynſ. It ſeemes Davids mighty mighty men hanged up their ſhields in this Armory againſt times of war, and ſo in like manner all the Worthies of Iſrael. All the faithful before Chriſt, hanged their ſhields of faith upon Chriſt, in whom the faith of his Church was as a ſtrong armory. Cotton. Here is meant the force and power of the whole armour of God, Epheſ. 6. which the Lord doth arm all the faithful withall, that they may be able to ſtand againſt all the aſſaults of the Devill. Giffard. Here is ſet forth the large and various exerciſes and trials of faith, in which every grace hath a part, and in which alwayes our faith is victorious; for her ſhields will prevail againſt all the ſhields of the earth, whoſe weapons when formed againſt her ſhall never proſper, but either be broken in peeces, or elſe taken and hung up as trophees of her conqueſts, as thoſe were, 2 Sam. 8. 7. Ezek. 27. 10. Annot.

Army with Banners] The Spouſe or Church of Chriſt here upon earth, which being well conſtituted, is ſtrong and terrible to the hoaſt of Hell; even as an Army that is ſtrong, and marcheth with Banners and Enſignes, is very terrible to the adverſaries. Cant. 6. 3. Thou art beautiful my Love, terrible as an Army with Banners. The life of a Chriſtian is a warfare upon earth, for the enabling of him to fight the Lords battels, God infuſed into his heart an Heroical and noble courage; for though he fall, yet he riſeth up again; though he be overtaken, yet he getteth out and recovereth his ſtrength, which maketh Satan to fear the faith of a Chriſtian, becauſe he knoweth it is built upon that rock which the gates of Hell cannot prevail againſt. Finch.

Two Armies] Cant. 6. 13. or, Mahanaim. marg. The awfull Majeſty and grace of the Church, which is like that of a well diſciplined Army, or elſe the happy union & reconciliation of the two Churches (Jew and Gentile) which like two armies joyned together, do with mutual conſent and thankfulneſſe ſing to God praiſes and thanks of victory, going forth in the dances of them that make merry as is promiſed, Jer. 31. 4. and more particularly, Rev. 5. 9. & 7. 10. & 19. 6. Others refer this ſimilitude either to the ſpiritual luſtings, and conflicts of the fleſh and ſpirit, which are like Jacob and Eſau, or (as the text) like two Armies fighting in the Church; or elſe to thoſe many perſecutions and afflictions to which ſhe is expoſed, which make her unfit to be looked upon or deſired. Annot. Ye ſhall ſee in me nothing elſe, but a certain terrible and wonderful Majeſty, as may be ſeen in Armies ſet in battel aray; or, as two Armies come to meet their King in companies, that they may receive him honorably, and he may march in the midſt of them. Let them who deſire to be joyned to the Church, know that there is therein as it were a perpetual ſtrife againſt moſt powerful enemies, againſt whom ſhe orderly goeth on, as a company of ſingers or dancers, that ſhe may be more terrible unto them. Mercer. Hereby is ſignified both the deliverance of the Shulamiteſſe out of her miſeries, and the joy of men and angels for her victory, Luk. 15. 10. Pſal. 34. 8. Aynſw. The Shulamite ſhall vindicate her ſelf by armes from the power of her enemies whom ſhee now ſerveth. Both Gog and Magog, Turk and Tartare, with all the wicked Mahumetans, ſhall be utterly deſtroyed by the ſword of the converted returned Jews, Ezek. chap. 38. & 39. Dan. 11. 44, 45. Rev. 20. 9. Zech. 9. 13. Brightman. Look upon her, tell me how you finde her. Is ſhe not moſt brave, glorious, and gallantly attended? Verily when I doe behold her, and all her troopes coming forth to meet me, me thinks I am in the midſt of the Tribes of Iſrael, and of all thoſe Worthies that skipping and leaping with ſongs and dances, and all kinde of holy merriments came to receive David at Mahanaim, when God brought him back unto his Kingdome. Finch. The Legions of the Church digeſted into Troops with Banners, that is, the various gifts of divers members, for the edification and defence of the common body, being divided into their places and orders, not onely doe not yeeld unto any humane force, but are very formidable, unto the ſpirits of the air, and their Chief: yet is this our fight, but a play; warfare, a triumph; appearing not as fighters, but as a company of ſingers, or dancers. Tomſon. The Jews at their converſion ſhall aſſemble for the eſtabliſhment of the Kingdome and Throne of Chriſt among them, after they ſhall be brought to ſee their foul errors in caſting off Chriſt ſo unworthily ſo long a time. Cotton.

A S.

As] Cant. 1. 5. & 2. 2, 3. & 4. 1. is an adverb of compariſon, pointing out the likeneſſe of one thing to another, and is in effect the ſame with like, as Tremelius rendereth it. Cant. 1. 5. but it is to be extended no further then the circumſtances in the Text will bear.

Aſleep] Cant. 7. 9. Cauſing the lips of thoſe that that are asleep to speak. Such shall be the sweet and powerful efficacy of the Doctrine of the Church, as shall cause the sleepy and drowsie professors, whether amongst Jews or Gentiles, to open their mouths, and speak plentifully to Gods praise. Cotton. I will make, that whether they (Pastors and Bishops) conceive publick prayers; or publish my praises in the Assemblies of the faithful, or preach my Word to my people, they shall (like most generous Wine) awake both their own & the sleepy senses of the whole Church, and make eloquent the tongues of them that are sleeping. Tomson. Able to put words both of repentance and prayer into the lips of him that lies asleep in his sins. Hall. Thy tongue (the Preaching of the Gospell) shall be as pure, strong, and pleasant Wine, of the best smell and savour, sprinckling and leaping lovely, frisking in the cup; whereby even those that sleep, and are dead in their sins and trespasses, shall be awakened, and with new lips and words sound forth thy praise. The preaching of the Gospel is that which raiseth men out of the sleep of sin, and maketh them to speak with new tongues to the praise of the glory of God. Finch. Great is the power and vigour of the Gospel, chiefly when it sinks into the heart, and is there warmed and cherished by devout and holy meditation; like good Wine it will declare its virtue, and excite even those that were asleep before, to utter the great things of God. Annot. By sleepers are here meant sinners awaked and quickned by the Word Preached, as it is said Ephes. 5. 14. and was promised Isa. 26.19 and Ezekiel by prophesying raised to life the dead bones of the house of Israel, Ezek. 37. (which also the Chaldee Paraphrast alledgeth in opening the place. And not only dead men, which are said to be asleep, Dan. 12. 2.) but others also that live, and through negligence or security fall asleep, (Cant. 5.2.) are enabled by this spiritual Wine to speak, for having drunk thereof, they forget their poverty, and remember their misery no more, Prov. 31.6, 7. See Isa. 57.18,19. Aynsw.

Awake] Cant. 2.7. & 3.5. & 8.4. To provoke Christ to exercise his Church by any change of their estate till it shall please himself. To disturbe the peace of the Church, and to provoke Christ again to leave them desolate. Cotton. Either through idleness, or disorderly walking and following after sinfull pleasures to grieve the Spirit, and to give Christ cause when they may have and hold him to disjoynt himself from them. Finch. To drive away Christ from his Churches embraces. Brightman. The Gentiles are adjured, and all they who boast themselves to be of the Church, that they disturb not its peace, which is a most sweet sleep, wch the Bride taketh with Christ her Bridegroom, lest they rend the Church and spoil its Ministery and order. Mercer. He solemnly forbids all that have relation to her, that they take heed (as they will answer it) of troubling her peace or truth which she had received by any false novelties of doctrine, or uncharitable contentions. Annot. Take heed how you vex and disquiet my merciful Saviour, and grieve his Spirit, and wrong his Name with your vain and lewd conversation, and doe not dare by the least provocation of your sin, to interrupt his peace. Hall. The Lord is said then to stir up or awake, when he delivereth his Church out of troubles, Psal. 78. 65, 66. and the Church then stirreth up the Lord, when it earnestly prayeth for such deliverance, Ps. 44. 24, 25. The Chaldee Paraph. and other Hebrews understand it so here, but apply it to the deliverance of Israel out of Egypt, which might not be untill the time appointed of God. And if we take it in this sense, the daughters of Jerusalem are charged to suffer affliction, for and with Christ, in faith and patience unto the coming of the Lord, Jam. 5.7. & 1 Pet. 5.6,7. and not to provoke him by murmuring or otherwise, through fear or unbeleef; a figure whereof may be seen in Christ sleeping in the storm, and the Disciples awaking him, Mark. 4. 37. 40. But it may be applyed unto the stirring and provoking of Christ by sin, for which he often departed from his people, and chasteneth their transgressions, Exod. 23. 20, 21. Isa. 59.2. & 63. 10. that they should by no meanes grieve the holy Spirit of God, Ephes. 4.30. Aynsw.

Awake] O North-winde, Cant. 4.16. stir up, or raise up, (thy self) thou North-winde. Though the North and South windes be of contrary qualities, as cold and hot, moist and dry, yet are they both fitting for the Church her estate, which sometime needeth sharp reproof, and sometime calm and gentle consolation. Aynsw. He never denyeth his Spirit to those that ask it with a true faith, but is ready to grant the desires of his servants to make them fruitful and aboundant in every good grace. Finch. See North winde.

Aware] Or ever I was aware, Cant. 6. 12. Heb. I knew not. marg. He knew not, neither was aware of the forwardneſſe of his people, which was beyond mans expectation. Aynſw. But did not Chriſt know what the ſtudy and cheerfulneſſe of this people would be? Theſe things are ſpoken hiſtorically, that their Converſion would be beyond expectation, Iſa. 49. 21. Brightman. The words excellently note the affectionate haſte and deſire, wherewith Chriſt was carryed on in a kinde of inſenſible manner to reviſite his Church, and reſtore comforts to her. Annot. So earneſtly did I long to reviſit thee, and to reſtore comfort unto thee, that I haſted I know not which way. Hall.

B. A.

Baal hamon] Cant. 8. 11. A place not far from Jeruſalem, ſay ſome, a Valley, or plain, or Lord of ſtore, to wit, of Wine. The Greeks ſay, ἐν ἔχοντι πλῆθος, ἐν κατοχῇ ὄχλου, where the comprehenſion of people, that is, of plenty, was. Indeed ſo populous is the Church of Chriſt, that ſhe marvelleth at her encreaſe of children, & asketh in the Prophet, who hath begotten me theſe? Iſa. 49. and the children cry, the place is too ſtraight for us. Her beginning was at Jeruſalem, but being thence abandoned, migravit, non periit, ſhe travelled, periſhed not: Pulſa de civitate, ab Univerſitate excipitur, being expelled the City ſhe is received of the whole world. Dr. Kings Sermon. It is by interpretation the maſter, (or owner) of a multitude; meaning hereby either the world among the multitude whereof Chriſt hath his Church; or in reſpect of the much fruit it yeeldeth unto God, or ſhould yeeld being ſituate in a fertile place, which he had bleſſed with his grace, ſuch as in Iſa. 5. 1. is called the horn of the Son of oyl, that is, a very fruitful hill, Aynſw. A place ſo fruitful, that for excellency it was called, the Lord of a multitude, or the owner of a great encreaſe.

Banner] The love of Chriſt, dying for the Elect, and in his Word preached, drawing them to faith in him, to be waſhed, and juſtified, and ſanctified by him, even as bands and companies of Souldiers are gathered to their Captain under their colours, by Banners ſpread and diſplayed, Cant. 2. 4. Love was his banner over me.

His Banner] Or his ſtandard, a flagge or Enſigne ſpread abroad; a warlike ſign, as in chap. 6. 4. 10. the Church is ſaid to be terrible as an army with Banners. And the Banner lifted up, is a ſign of fighting with joy and victory, as in Pſal. 20. 6. We will ſhout joyfully in thy ſalvation, and in the name of our God we will ſet up the banner. So Chriſts banner over her, ſignified his defence, and the victory which he giveth over all her enemies, ſin, Satan, and the world: alſo the ſign, that as all ſouldiers do come under their own Standards, Num. 2. 2. So ſhe under the Goſpel, the Enſign of Chriſts love towards her. Aynſw. The uſe of Banners is notorious, both in the march, in the Battel, and in the Triumph, in all which they are reſpectively either directions, or encouragements, or trophies: and ſo is Chriſt himſelf the Enſign of his Church, Iſa. 11. 10. to gather, to conduct, to animate, to glorifie them, and to lift up his Standard againſt their enemies, that is, to chaſe them and put them to flight, Iſa. 59. 19. In this Enſign the Motto or deviſe is nothing elſe but love. Annot. Above all care is taken for the ſafe keeping of the banner. Upon the beholding whereof, the ſouldier though over maſtered, deſpaireth not, but retireth thither for ſhelter, keep Chriſt, have recourſe unto him when thou findeſt thine enemies too ſtrong for thee.

Banquetting houſe] Cant. 2. 4. Heb. Houſe of Wine. marg. or treaſures, by which ſome underſtand the Scriptures, others the publick Aſſemblies, and Ordinances unto which Chriſt like a liberal houſe-keeper invites, and even compels, (when we deſerve rather dungeons, and houſes of bondage) and whoſe conduits and channels run with the beſt Wine, that is, with pureſt joy and comforts, by which the heart is revived and made merry, and ſo tranſported, that as if made drunk with Wine, they were derided by thoſe that beheld them, Act. 2. But chiefly the Spouſe in this place glories how her beloved delivered to her the unſearchable riches of the Goſpel, and gave power in the manifold offices and adminiſtrations of it, to diſpenſe them, 2 Cor. 12. 7. Epheſ. 3. 8. Annot. Hereby may be underſtood either the Winecellar, the place where Wine is kept; or rather the Banquetting houſe where Wine is drunk: for cellars are called the Treaſuries or Store-houſes of Wine, in 1 Chron.

27.27. Wine, beſides that it ſlaketh thirſt, cheereth alſo the heart of man, Pſal.104.15. cauſeth him to forget his ſorrow and miſery, Prov.31.6,7. comforteth the ſick by cheriſhing and augmenting the vital ſpirits. By this the Church ſignifieth encreaſe of grace from Chriſt, as the fruit of the Vine excelleth the fruit of the Apple-tree, and is more comfortable unto the heart. And as her troubles and temptations were encreaſed, ſo was his grace towards her for ſpiritual conſolation, 2 Cor.1.5. Aynſw. Such is the nature of Meſſiahs love that it is a continual grower, riſing like Nilus, and Jordans waters, over their banks, A well of water ſpringing up to eternal life, Joh. 4.14. This banquetting houſe alſo teacheth us the variety of his love. Love may be enlarged by enlarging one and the ſame gift: but when this love enlargeth it ſelf by diſtribution of ſundry comfortable gifts; ſo much the more it is loveſome. He brings not the faithfull to his ſtorehouſe, for adding only faith to faith, but alſo to faith patience, to patience experience, &c. *Jam.*1.3. Rom.5.3,4,5. Gal.5. 22,23. Clapham. Chriſt uſeth as it were certain degrees in ſanctifying his Church, as firſt he affords her his preſence, then beſtoweth on her ſome ſweet kiſſes; feedeth her eyes with his view, delighteth her ears with his ſpeech, thereafter admitteth her to his Table; (by bringing her into his banquetting houſe.) Tomſon. Wine-cellar, is a low vault under the ground, dark, cold, raw, and gloomy; yet repleniſhed with veſſels of liquor, which refreſheth and enlargeth the heart, and openeth the mouth. This houſe to the Church was Babylon, whither God brought his people into captivity, which at firſt view ſeemed doleful and heavy, but afterwards yeelded to them many ſweet taſtes, yea deep draughts of Gods favour. Cotton.

Barre] Whatſoever Chriſt toucheth, though mean (as a bar of a door, or handle of a bar) he filleth with abundance of his grace. Cant. 5. 5. My finger dropt down Myrrhe upon the handles of the bar. See locks according to the laſt Tranſlation.

Barren] Unfruitful, unprofitable, and empty of graces and good works, Cant.4.2. None is barren among them.

Barren] is that which beareth not, Iſa.54.1. But the word here uſed ſignifieth either miſcarrying in the birth, or loſſe of that which is brought forth, by robbery, death, or the like. So this denoteth the ſtedfaſtneſſe of every tooth in his place, after it is brought forth. Aynſw. The Paſtors of the Church ſhould be faithful guides to others both by their life and doctrine, that ſo there may be no abortions, no miſcarriages in the Church; that none of her ſons may be ſnatched out of her hands by any power of wickedneſſe. Annot. So the Apoſtles and the ſeventy were fruitful in bringing home many lambs to Chriſt. Cotton.

Bathrabbim] Cant.7.4. or (as the Greek interpreteth it) daughter of many. Tremelius turns it portam frequentiſſimam, a gate moſt frequented, (which others verſions render, the gate of the daughter of the multitude, or, of the Nobles. Annot.) So that it was a gate frequented of many, and it may be a gate where the Judges ſate; for publick judgements and aſſemblies were at the gates, Ruth. 4.1. 2 Sam. 19.8. Lam. 5. 24. Wherefore if Heſhbon be not the proper name of a City, theſe pools may be thought to be at ſome gate of Jeruſalem, where many people aſſembled, as in Neh. 8. 3. The Chaldee applyeth it to the Governours that ſate in the gate of the houſe of the great Council. Aynſw. So Mercer for the ſignification of the word, and the reaſon thereof.

B E.

Beames of Cedar] The great ſtrength, continuance, worth, and commoditie of the Church (that houſe) and every faithfull ſoul, wherein Chriſt dwels by his Spirit, as in his own Temple, Cant. 1.17. The beams of our houſe are Cedars. The Cedar is a precious, durable and commodious wood for building.

Beams] Or, the rafters; it meaneth the timber whereof beams or rafters are made, which are called by this name, when they are cut down in the wood, as in 2 King. 6.2.5. Aynſw. The holy Scriptures held forth by the Prophets and Apoſtles are as the beams of the Church, principal and ſtrong peeces: and thoſe beams are like cedars, which are the moſt excellent of trees for height, ſtrength, ſweetneſſe, continuance, and all other noble properties. It is written by Pliny and others, that the Temple of Diana at Epheſus (which was 400 years before it was finiſht) had doores and gates of Cedar, which looked then as freſh and beautiful, as if but newly made. This is nothing to the ſtability and glory of the Church, which ſhall never rot ſo, as to become ſubject to utter corruption, but her members ſhall flouriſh and endure as the Cedars, Numb.24.5,6. Pſal.92.13. All poyſonous and corrupt humors ſhall be purged out, out, and ſhe ſhall be as a rock that cannot be ſhaken for ever. Annot. Theſe words ſet out the beauty of the Church in regard of the repairs of the Temple made by Joſiah, ſaith Mr. Cotton; and before him Mr. Brightman. Miniſters placed over their Brethren ſhould in ſpiritual gifts be taller then the people by the ſhoulders (as one alludeth to Sauls talneſſe.) They ſhould herein alſo reſemble the Cedar not to admit of any worm, (worm of conſcience) for that was it that conſumed Balaam, Judas, Demas, ſpecially the worm covetouſneſſe, whoſe nature is to bore through, 1 Tim. 6.10. But faſt they muſt ſtand in the faith, and being ſtrong ſuſtain the infirmities of others; yea (Cedar-like) their Miniſtry is of nature to kill the quick, and to quicken the dead, that is, by the power of the law to mortifie the proud Phariſee, who in his conceit liveth and is righteous, but with the doctrine of faith (or Goſpel) to quicken the poor Publican that ſeeth and confeſſeth himſelf to be dead in ſins and treſpaſſes. Clapham.

Beare twins] Cant. 4. 2. As fruitfull Ewes bring forth twins of equal bigneſſe, ſo the teeth are ſet in double ranks one anſwerable to another. Aynſw. The doctrine of thoſe that chew and prepare the heavenly food for thy ſoul is never in vain, but is ſtill anſwered with plentiful encreaſe of ſouls added to the Church. Hall. The ſeventy being ſent out two and two endewed with equal both power and gifts, to preach the Goſpel, returned again with joy, ſaying, Lord, even the Devils are ſubject to us through thy Name, Luk.10.19. To whom our Saviour, I beheld Satan as lightning fall from heaven, verſ. 18. as if at the voyce of the Goſpel by a certain force he had been thruſt out of his Kingdome. What hope was there not of an happy bringing forth, that which being deſtroyed which was formerly wont to cauſe untimely birth? Brightman. This declares that a true Paſtor cannot be barren, yea that all his delight, treaſures and riches are in the fruitful and happy encreaſe of his flock. Tomſon. As Sheep are fruitful and many times bring forth twins, ſo ſhould both the Paſtors of the Church and all other Chriſtians, they ſhould encreaſe both in contemplative and in practical duties, they ſhould abound in all holy exerciſes of charity, both towards God and man, and be faithfull guides to others both by their life and doctrine. Annot.

Beautiful] Cant. 6. 4. Thou art beautiful, O my love, or, art fair, as being beautified with manifold graces, for which Chriſt doth here commend her. Aynſw. True repentance waſheth away all the ſpots and deformities that our ſins bring upon us. Finch. If Chriſt juſtifie, who ſhould condemn? They whom the world ſleight, deſpiſe, diſeſteem, cenſure, condemn, Chriſt loveth, approveth, commendeth. If we appear beautiful in Chriſts ſight, and be of him ſo accounted, it's no matter how we appear in the eyes of others, how others account, reſpect, eſteeme of us.

Beautiful ſteps] Ways and works, ſeemly and right, ſuch as be the ways of the godly, whereas the ways of the wicked ones be crooked and unſeemly, Cant. 7.1. How beautiful are thy goings or ſteps?

Our Bed is green] The Procreation of children unto God in Chriſt, in that ſpiritual birth, by the immortal ſeed of the Word. For the Church is ſo a Virgin, as ſhe is the Mother of all Gods children, Can. 1.16. Our bed is green.

The houſe of God was the Temple, the bed in the houſe were the Ordinances of God wherein God was wont familiarly to embrace his Spouſe and ſhe him. Theſe in Joſiahs time flouriſhed in greateſt purity, ſo that there was no Paſſeover like unto his. It is an alluſion to the Spring-time, when the Worſhip of God began to flouriſh again, after a winter time of mirie and dirty pollutions. Cotton. From this our mutual delight and heavenly conjunction there ariſeth a plentiful and flouriſhing encreaſe of thy faithful ones in all places, and through all times. Hall. The place of ſpiritual conception, wherein by bed (the place of conception) affirmed to be green is intended the Churches fruitfulneſſe by converſing with the ſpirit of Jeſus, by whoſe over-ſhadowing a ſpiritual ſeed is begotten, alluding herein to a green flouriſhing tree, which either hath fruit upon it, or at leaſt miniſtreth hope of fruit in due ſeaſon; becauſe ſuch greenneſſe is a teſtimony of a vegetative ſpirit of life within it, Pſal. 1.3. Clapham. The Church being won by Chriſt, and all things as ſhe thought being ready for the ſolemnizing of their marriage, ſhe now ſues unto him for this ſpiritual conjunction that ſhe might be made fruitful by him. Hereby the Church ſignifieth that by her Communion with Chriſt (whether by the ſimilitude of bed or board) ſhe became flouriſhing and fruitful; as it is ſaid of them that are planted in the Lords houſe, Pſal. 92.13, 14. which is agreeable unto the nature of the Goſpel where it is received by faith, Col. 1. 6. 10. Aynſworth.

Bed by night] Drowſie ſecurity and coldneſſe, in which all natural men doe neſtle, and all Gods children (according to the fleſh, ſo far as they be unregenerate) could be content to be quiet, were they not moved by another Spirit, Cant. 3. 1. In my Bed by night.

The Bed] Sometime ſignifieth tribulation, Revel. 2. 22. which may be alſo implyed here, that the Church ſought and waited for the Lord in the way of his judgements, Iſa. 26. 8. Aynſw. It is night many times with the Church, Iſa. 50. 10. and ſo dark that like that tempeſt, Act. 27. 20. ſhe can ſee neither Sun nor Stars: yet in theſe ſad deſertions Chriſt is pleaſed to preſerve ſome deſires after him, ſo that the Eclipſe is not total, and when we are moſt ſecure he infuſeth memorials of him, and awakens us to ſeek him, ſo that places of reſt and ſleep become unquiet without his preſence. Annot. Here is the uſe which we ſhould make of being private: and this is an holy ſpending of our time, when we employ it in ſtirring up our ſouls to be aſſured of the mercies of God in Chriſt: not (as the world for the moſt part doth) in ſtudying how to wreak our malice, or to compaſſe other wicked deſires, neither yet in idle and fruitleſſe paſtimes. Finch. In my bed, that is, in the place and duties of Gods Worſhip, the Temple and the Ordinances. Cotton. There is no time, place, when and where Chriſt is not to be ſought, by day by night, when up, when in bed, we ſhould not reſt, give ſleep unto our eyes, or ſlumber unto our eye-lids, till we ſearch after him to enjoy his preſence. What are pleaſures, profits, reſt, eaſe, all in compariſon of him?

Bed] Which is Solomons, Cant. 3. 7. Chriſts bed here ſeemeth to mean the hearts of the elect, (as in chap. 1. 13. the Spouſe ſaid, he ſhould lodge between her breaſts) in whoſe hearts Chriſt dwelleth by faith, Epheſ. 3. 17. and there taketh his repoſe and reſt. And this habitation or lodging was figured by the Tabernacle and Temple of Solomon, 1 Cor. 6. 19. Therefore the Chaldee paraphraſt, (who ſaw not Chriſt but in ſhadows) applyed this bed to the Temple which Solomon built. Aynſw. I am aſcended; and lo how glorious is this place where I ſhall eternally enjoy the preſence and love of my Saviour! Hall. For the ſafety, price, pretiouſneſſe of the matter, and work that exceeds the matter, this goes far beyonds Solomons wedding bed, though it were moſt curious. Finch. Or, more excellent then Solomons. Here is a rare alluſion and compariſon, wherein (as ſome think) the future glory of heaven, which we are exhorted to behold, and contemplate by faith, or rather the preſent beauty and ſpiritual riches of the Church, and every member thereof is reſembled to the wealth and ſplendor of Solomons bed. Annot. Let us know that under the name of Solomon is deſigned unto us the true and only Mediator between God and his beloved ones, tearmed therefore the Prince of peace, Iſa. 9. 6. whoſe bed is now the whole world, whereſoever the Lord is in his Elect, (whom he hath called from the four corners of the world) is acknowledged and worſhipped, as was ſignified unto Peter, Act. 10. 11. Beza.

Beds of Spices] The Church, where graces (like ſweet Spices in a Bed) doe grow. Cant. 6. 2. He is gone into the Bed of Spices.

God hath two gardens, the Church Catholick is his garden, and every particular Church are Gardens and beds of Spices in regard that many Chriſtians are ſown there that Chriſts ſoul delights in, as in ſweet ſpices. Sibs. My well-beloved Saviour is to be ſought and found in the particular Aſſemblies of his people, which are his Garden of pleaſure, wherein are varieties of all the beds of renewed ſouls, which both he hath planted and dreſſed by his continuall care, and wherein he walketh for his delight. Hall. Companies of believers in whoſe hearts (as in good earth) the ſweet and precious Word of the Goſpel was ſown, Matth. 13. 8. 23. For theſe beds are by Aquila a Greek Interpreter tranſlated Praſias, which word is uſed in Mark. 6. 40. for ranks of people, ſitting down to be fed of Chriſt. Aynſw. Spiritually theſe are to be expounded either of the many and ſeveral Congregations and Aſſemblies of the Church, which are compared to many beds in the ſame Garden, or elſe of particular believers and faithful ſouls, whoſe prayers and ſervices are like the ſweeteſt ſpices, breathing an acceptable odour upon Chriſt, who redeemed them, and hedged them in as a Garden unto his Father, Rev. 5. 8, 9. Annot.

Behind] He ſtandeth behinde our wall, Cant. 2. 9. This ſignifieth a more neer Communion with Chriſt, then when he was further off, leaping on the mountains; yet not ſo neer, but there was ſtill a wall between her and him which parted them: ſo the degrees of graces are here meant whereby Chriſt manifeſteth his love to his Church, not wholly at once, but as he ſeeth good for us; that by beholding and delighting in his goodneſſe, we may be drawn to follow him, calling us after him, verſ. 10. His ſtanding behind our wal, if it be referred to Chriſt himſelf, may be underſtood of his incarnation, when he dwelt in our fleſh of clay, (as it is called in Job 4. 19.) and in our fleſh, appeared, preached, ſuffered, &c. to draw us after him into the Kingdome of his Father, Joh. 1. 14. If it be referred to the wall which God hath made for his Church, it may mean his holy Ordinances (which in the time of the law, were a middle wall of partition, Epheſ. 2. 14.) behinde which Chriſt ſtandeth, ſpeaketh, and ſheweth himſelf, though more obſcurely. But we may beſt apply it to our own wall, meaning of the heart (as the Prophet ſpeaketh of the walls of his heart, Jer. 4. 19. which the Greek there tranſlateth the ſenſes of his heart) agreeable unto that Revel. 3. 20. for the natural ſenſes and underſtanding of our hearts are as a wall to hinder us from Chriſt, till they be pulled down, and reformed according to the knowledge of God, Numb. 24. 17. 2 Cor. 10. 4, 5. Aynſw. Such is the patience and long-ſuffering of Chriſt, that he waiteth at the walls of our hearts, that is, at our outward ſenſes and reaſonings, and there knocks and ſummons us to admit him, and ſometimes ſcales them and breaks in forcibly. Annot. Theſe words are by Mr. Cotton and Mr. Brightman applyed unto Cyrus. He ſtandeth behind the wall, that is, laying ſiege to the walls of Babylon. Chriſt doth not ſo come to our ſenſes as we deſire: he communicateth not his whole preſence with us, but ſtandeth as it were behinde the wall, ſo as there is a ſpace between him and us to keep him from us. Finch. If there be ſuch ſweetneſſe in that little of Chriſt which we enjoy here, what will whole Chriſt, the all of Chriſt be hereafter?

Behold] Some rare thing worthy to be wondered at, being alſo very evident & plain, as this here mentioned; to wit, the excellent beauty of the Church, and every faithful ſoul. Cant. 4. 1. Behold, thou art fair my Love.

This word is uſed ſometime by Chriſt unto the Church, as Cant. 1. 15. Behold, thou art fair my Love, and again in the ſame verſe, Behold thou art fair, ſo in c. 4. 1. once and again, Behold thou art fair my Love, Behold thou art fair, Sometimes by the Church unto Chriſt, ch. 1. 16. Behold, thou art fair my Beloved. Sometime by the Church unto others of Chriſt, as ch. 2. 8. Behold, he cometh leaping upon the mountains, and verſ. 9. Behold, he ſtandeth behinde our wall, and chap. 3. 7. Behold his bed which is Solomons, And verſ. 11. Behold King Solomon, &c. Chriſt admiring the beauty of the Church wherewith he himſelf had beautified it, calleth upon her to take notice thereof as well for her conſolation, (when cenſured by others, when ſenſible of her own frailties, infirmities, deformity, that yet ſhe was beautiful in his eyes, of him ſo eſteemed) as to incite her unto true thankfulneſſe for his gracious acceptance of her. The Church admiring the beauty of Chriſt cannot but again and again make known and that unto himſelf, how ſenſible ſhe was of it, how much ſhe took notice of it accordingly by acquainting others therewith, inſtructing ſuch as were ignorant, putting in minde ſuch as were unmindeful thereof.

Belly] His belly, Cant. 5. 14. Spoken by the Church, of Chriſt. The ſecret counſels of his breaſt. Hall. His belly, or his bowels, to denote his inward affections outwardly manifeſted. So the heart is ſaid to be among the bowels, Pſal. 22. 15. and the liver is joyned therewith, Lam. 2. 11. where alſo the bowels are in Greek tranſlated the heart. Theſe bowels of Chriſt like burniſht Ivory, decked with Saphires, ſignifie his hearty and heavenly affections, love, mercy, commiſeration, &c. towards God, his Law, people, Pſal. 40. 9. 2 Cor. 7. 15. Phil. 2. 1. Luk. 1. 78. Phil. 1. 8. Aynſ. His tender mercies and compaſſions, and his kinde affections and good thoughts towards his Church and people, which moved him from all eternity to viſit them like the day-ſpring from on high, Luk. 1. 78. Annot. The glorifying of his humane nature which he hath purchaſed by his death and ſufferings. Finch. The belly is an hidden part of the body, yet ſuch from which the reſt is nouriſhed, which fitly reſembleth the Sacraments here, as alſo chap. 7. 2. which being hid from thoſe that are without, yet nouriſh the whole body as an heap of wheat. Cotton. By the belly, then which nothing is ſofter or weaker, may be underſtood the weak and frail humanity of Chriſt our Lord, which though weak and frail, yet was moſt chaſt and pure, as is ſignified by the Ivory joyned thereunto, which is the tooth of an Elephant, a moſt chaſt beaſt. Titleman.

Thy Belly] Cant. 7. 2. (ſpoken of Chriſt to the Church,) ſaid to be like an heap of wheat, ſignifie that her ſpiritual harveſt being come, ſhe was ready to bring forth ſtore of good iſſue, as wheat, fit for the Lords Granary: And as the corn floores in Iſrael being in the open fields were hedged about for safe defence, so the belly of Christs Spouse, big and ready to bring forth fruit unto him, is beset as with an hedge of lillies, for her further comfort and glory, so that her way was not hedged up with thorns, as was the harlots, Hos. 2. 5, 6. but set about with Lillies, denoting the graces wherewith the Spouse herself, and those about her are environed. Aynsw. A metaphor of the Lords Supper, which like the belly is the store-house of the Church, and supplyes to every part, according to its proportion, full measures of strength and nourishment; but of which none are fit to partake, but those that are pure and clean, and fruitful as flowers and lillies, not scandalous and profane persons, who are like stinking weeds, Psal. 24 3,4,5. Psa. 26. 5,6. Annot. The fruitfulnesse of the Church in her blessed increase, that is as an heap of wheat consisting of infinite pure grains, Hall. Whereunto lillies are fitly joyned, there being nothing more fruitful then they, every root for the most part producing fifty cloves. Brightman.

Beloved] in Hebrew דוד Dod is written with the same letters that David, whose name also signified beloved. He was a figure of Christ, and his father after the flesh, Rom. 1. 3. and Christ is often called David, Jer. 30. 9. Ezek. 34. 23. & 37. 24. Hos. 3. 5. Aynsw. On Cant. 1. 13. There, it's rendered well-beloved, elsewhere in this song (if I mistake not) beloved. It's a friendly compellation often used (scarse any (if any) in this Song more) by the Bride-groom and Bride, Christ and his Church, speaking to and of each other, you may read it in Cant. I. 14, 15, 16. & II. 3. 8, 9, 10, 16, 17. And IV. 16. And V. 1, 2. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10. 16. And VI. 1, 2, 3. And VII. 9, 10, 11, 13. And VIII. 5. 14. Are we beloved of Christ, his Beloved. Oh let him be beloved of us, be our Beloved. Such as entirely love one another, cannot but speak friendly one to another.

Beril] Cant. 5. 14. His hands are as gold rings, set with the Beril. His actions and his instruments (which are his hands) are set forth with much port and Majesty, as some pretious stone beautifies the ring wherein it is set. Hall. His hands are set forth with all ornaments, precious and shining rings of gold set with the Chrysolite, to note that not his person only but al his actions (done by the instrument of the hand) the whole Government and administration of his Kingdome is full of Majesty and glory. Finch. Hands are the instruments of actions, Christs actions are precious, whatsoever he doth to the Church, nay even when he doth use evil men to afflict and exercise the Church, he hath a hand there, a golden, a precious hand. Sibbs. The hands of Christ likened unto or adorned with gold rings, whose hollow place or foil, is set or filled with the Chrysolite (in Hebrew Taršiš which is a precious stone of a golden sea-green colour. Aynsw. And may signifie any other kinde of stone, as Carbuncle, Onyx, Jacynth, &c. And the same word signifying the Sea too, any Sea-pearl in general, or any stone that resembles the Sea in colour, as they say the Beril doth. Annot. Which cleareth moisture, and dim sight. Cotton.) signifie his precious, pure, and glorious works, acceptable and honorable before God and men. Aynsw. As Christs bounty and love are called his hands, because they consist chiefly in action, so they are said to be like gold rings, set with berils, because alwayes so perfectly & accurately performed by him, that he was reprehensible in nothing. His enemies could finde no just matter of fault in him, but confessed that he had done all things well. mar. 7. 37. Annot.

Beside] the Shepheards tents, Cant. 1. 8. or, above, aloof from their folds and pastures, who are other Shepheards (as some read) then I have appointed. Take heed of such, for they are not Shepheards, but Butchers. But better, by the tents of the Shepheards understand those good Shepheards which of old led the flock, such as Moses and Aaron. Psal. 77. 21. & 78. 70, 71. Such as David and Solomon, whom we are to follow, and those that succeed them, for their lips shall preserve knowledge. Annot. So in effect Aynsw. Sir H. Finch, and Dr. Hall, follow the former way, as others the latter. Clapham thus, Thou Church of Gentiles must pitch thy Tent above the Tents of the Synagogue: by my appearance, grace hath abounded: and therefore greater things required at thy hands.

Bether] All lets by sins or any thing else that might separate Christ and his Church, Can. 2. 17. Mountains of Bether. See Mountains.

Better] Better then Wine, Cant. 1. 2. and Cant. 4. 10. How much better is thy love then wine? Or, good more then Wine. The word good is of large use, for profitable, pleasing, sweet, comfortable, joyful, &c. Wine is one of the most comfortable creatures, rejoycing the heart of man, Psal. 104. 15. and wine maketh the life (or living) joyfull, Eccles. 10. 19. It causeth to forget affliction, poverty and misery, Prov. 31. 6, 7. It was also used in the legal sacrifices, and service of God, Numb. 15. 5. Hos. 9. 4. But the graces of Christ and comforts of his Spirit (wherewith the Saints are to be filled, Ephes. 5. 18.) doe far excell all worldly pleasure, and doe cause such as doe drink of them to forget their bitternesse, poverty, sorrows, which by the terrours of the Law, and guilt of conscience for sin did before afflict them, Rom. 7. 10, 15. 18. 24, 25. And the service of God now in Spirit and truth, Joh. 4. 23, 24. and consolation which aboundeth by Christ 2 Cor. 1. 5. is much more comfortable then were all the Ordinances of divine service in the worldly Sanctuary, which could not make him that did the service perfect, as pertaining to the conscience, Heb 9 1.——9. & 10. 1, 2, 3, 4. Aynsw. As here the Church preferreth Christs love above wine, so chap. 4. 10. he doth the like of her love towards him; signifying how pleasant and acceptable the fruits of his own graces are in his Church, so that the Lord her husband delighteth in her, and rejoyceth over her. Idem. Thy loves are better then wine, exceed all pleasures; whatsoever is most reviving or restorative; so that they despise and neglect all afflictions, as men full of wine feel no hurt for the present, and are more ready to rejoyce and sing, then to be dejected. Annot. We shall be no losers by our kindnesse to Christ; if any honour him, he will honour them more. Annot. on Cant. 4. 10. If we highly esteem of his love, no lesse, much more doth he of ours. The favour of God in giving wisdome, and thereby peace to a mans self and others depending on him is more worth then wine, that is, then whatsoever makes the heart of man glad. Cotton. The love of Christ should be preferred before all worldly things, and above all the pleasures, and delights of this present life. Finch. Wine drunk immoderately, taken in excesse, is both sinful and harmful, but who can ever be enough drunk with; more then enough drink of the loves of Christ? Wine dayly drunk of, without any supply, will not hold out, as at the marriage, Joh. 2. 3. but the love of Christ is as a fountain of living waters, that will never wax dry: Wine long kept waxeth sowre, becometh corrupt, unsavory, but the love of Christ the longer we enjoy it, it's still the more fragrant, delightsome, odoriferous: Wine is not be alwayes had, nor hath every one money to buy it; but the love of Christ is to be had at all times, yea and that without money, without price, Isa. 55. 1. The roofs of their mouths that partake hereof, shall be like the best wine, wine of the best odour, Cant. 7. 9. wherein the wicked breathe poyson from their mouths, and their grapes are grapes of gall, not of goodnesse, Deut. 32. 32. their whole communication and speech is gratious and healthful, like generous wine which revives and glads the heart, both for the gust and taste of it, which is heavenly and gracious, fit for the use of edifying; and also for the smell and odour, which is not contagious and loathsome, but full of delight and pleasure, as proceeding not from corrupt and rotten lungs, but from a sound and sanctified heart. Annot.

Betwixt] He shall lie all night betwixt my breasts, Cant. 1. 13. This is the fittest place for Christ, from whence wickednesse drives him: for he requires the heart, to dwell there by faith, Ephes. 3. 17. It is his throne and temple, and we should prepare it for him; and that we may receive this purest Beloved, put away all our adulteries from betwixt our breasts, Hos. 2. 2. whereof as he is most worthy, so will it be most happy for us, who not only expresse our own tender respect to him, by laying him kindely in that lodging which he most esteems, but also by that means become most capable of deriving comfort and joy from him. Annot. The breasts signifie also the Ministery of the Word, feeding the saints with the sincere milk of the Word that they may grow thereby, 1 Pet. 2. 2. See Isa. 66. 10, 11. Aynsw. Mr. Cotton applyes this to those whom Jehosaphat sent to teach in the Cities of Judah, 2 Chron. 17. 7. Christ dwelling in the Churches heart by faith maketh her more gratious, and sweet as a Nosegay of myrrhe in a womans bosome, Finch.

B I.

Birds singing] Pleasant and delightful times, such as be to the body, the spring time after Winter, when Birds make melody, chirp, and sing sweetly; and to the soul, the times which follow effectual vocation to Christ, when the bitter and sharp winter of an unregenerate state being over, the soul is all replenished with comfortable graces and motions of the holy Spirit, Cant. 2. 12. The time of the singing of birds is come. Peace and joy in the holy Ghost.

These Birds] signifie the Saints, who feeling the comforts of Gods Word and Spirit doe sing his praise, and with Psalmes and hymnes and spiritual song doe sing and make melody in their heart to the Lord, Ephes. 5. 19. Isa. 24. 14. 16. Aynsw. This is expounded of the voyce of Gods Ministers, whose musick is ſweeter then that of the Nightingale, Ezek. 33. 32. and makes their tongues in the diſpentation of the Goſpel like the tongues of Angels, with whom they are appointed colleagues and partakers in that office. And it may be applyed to every particular Chriſtian, who ſhould be wiſe to know the times of ſinging. In winter the birds chirp not, nor ſing ſo melodiouſly as in the Spring and Summer. They ſhould be our Schoolmaſters, and teach dull blockiſh men to be ſenſible of Gods wayes, to know his judgements, as the Stork, and Crane, and Swallow doe their times, Jer. 8. 7. and to warble his praiſes, when he enlighteneth and giveth joy, Iſa. 24. 14, 15, 16. for there is a time of ſinging Annot.

The ſinging of Birds] is to be conſidered according as the birds be, good or bad, for the ſinging of ſuch birds as John mentioneth in Rev. 8. 22. they be a cage of unclean and hateſull Fowls, whoſe ſong is meerly a black-ſantus, conſiſting of meer diſcords: a noiſe fitter for hell then for heaven; as be all the jarring Ordinances of Antichriſt. For the ſinging here mentioned it is introduced in the good part, and therefore intimates unto us the ſong of Chriſts people oppoſed to the former of Antichriſt: eſpecially here be intended the Miniſters of the Goſpel ſounding out before the reſidue, the praiſes of our God. Behold here alſo a difference between the Law and the Goſpel. The Law was given with terrible ſound of thunder; but the Goſpel in form of delectable ſinging; the firſt, daſhing nature to the ground; the ſecond, watering the ſecret ſeed of Election doth cauſe it to bud and to aſcend unto heaven, rejoycing, Pſal. 149. 1. The firſt ſong was an Elegie or ſad dump; this ſecond an Eulogie, an hymne, a Pſalme of gladneſſe. If there be any Burden in this new ſong, Chriſt himſelf bears it, The notes of delight are put in our mouths. O let us pray for the wings of contemplation, whereby we may aſcend ſinging with the mounting Larkes of the morning. Clapham.

B L.

Black] Afflictions and croſſes, diminiſh the outward beauty of the Church, and cauſe her (in a worldlings eye) to ſeem black and ill-favoured: alſo ſins the cauſes of afflictions, ſomewhat ſtain her inward beauty, Cant. 1. 4. I am black O daughters of Jeruſalem.

Black] In my original, black by reaſon of foulneſſe and ſpots; black by reaſon of my great afflictions, Lam. 4. 8. black becauſe of the hurt of my people, Jer. 8. 21. Annot. This is ſpoken by the Church to prevent the ſcandals and offences that might ariſe for her afflictions and infirmities which appear in this life. Aynſw.

Black] By the fall of Solomon, by the folly of Rehoboam, by prophaneneſſe, Schiſm, Apoſtaſie, the rebellion of ten Tribes. Cotton. The word black, in the ſixt verſe differing from this, ſeemeth to diminiſh the ſignification. It may be rendered blackiſh, or ſomewhat black (in Greek made black; the old Latine verſion tranſlateth it brown) as in Lev. 13. 19. a word in the like form meaneth ſomewhat reddiſh. By theſe ſhe would teach not to judge of her eſtate by her skin, by the outward appearance; where afflictions and infirmities only are to be ſeen. Aynſw. There have been alwayes ſome, of which there are now many, which neglecting the care of themſelves pry into the faults and failings of others. They that accuſe, condemn themſelves, are not to be cenſured, condemned of others. Oftentimes exceptions are taken at the Saints, who either deſerve not at all, or not ſo much to be excepted againſt. They commonly are readieſt to find fault with others, who are moſt guilty themſelves.

Black as a Raben] The ſpiritual inward beauty of Chriſt, ſhadowed and repreſented by blackneſſe of hair, which in ſome countries was accounted a comely beautiful thing in a young man, Cant. 5. 11. His locks curled and black as a Raven.

In Rev. 1. 14. Chriſt appeared as an Ancient, with his hairs white as wool; here he is deſcribed as a goodly young man, with curled locks, black as a Raven. That white colour ſhewed him to be the Ancient of dayes, Dan. 7. 9. full of gravity, wiſdome, juſtice, &c. But black and curled locks, as they are ſignes of heat and ſtrength in nature, ſo here they ſeem to denote ſtrength and vigour ſpiritual, as alſo the hidden myſterie of his counſels, thoughts and purpoſes unſearchable. According to the variety of times, cauſes, and adminiſtrations, ſo things are ſpoken diverſly of God and of Chriſt, as in 1 Tim. 6. 16. He dwelleth in the light which none can approach unto; in 2 Chron. 6. 1. He dwelleth in the thick darkneſſe. His adminiſtration of mercy by the preaching of the Goſpel is ſignified by a white Horſe, his judgements by a black Horſe, Rev. 6. 2. 5. And if we refer this here to Chriſts adminiſtration, it may denote both both his counſels unſearchable of any, and in ſpecial his judgements decreed for his enemies. Aynſw. Curled black hair (ſaith Mr. Cotton) is a ſign of heat and courage, and wit in him that it groweth upon; Such was the Emperour himſelf (Frederick the ſecond) and ſuch were the common Chriſtians of that age, that did depend upon their Emperour; they ſtuck cloſe to him: learned men with wit, more then former ages had yeelded, and ſouldiers with courage maintained his perſon and cauſe. Cotton. That fulneſſe of grace which is communicated to his humane nature is wonderouſly beautiful, and ſo ſets it forth, as the black curled locks doe a freſh and well favoured countenance. Hall. His hair, firſt black as a Raven, then coloured and criſped; ſo far he is, in the very leaſt ornaments of nature, more then the ſons of men. Finch.

Bleſſed] Praiſe-worthy and happy, Cant. 6.9. The Daughters have ſeen her, and counted her bleſſed.

See Deut.4.6. Ezek.16.14. Act. 5.13. In outward and temporal reſpects, the Church is inferiour to others, but in this above them all, and to be eſteemed and magnified for ſuch for ever, that ſhe hath the Lord for her God, Pſal. 144.15. which ſhould incourage all to ſeek her communion; and condemns thoſe that doe not ſeek and praiſe her, but rather out of envy or faction reproach the Church of God. Annot.

Blow] Blow upon my Garden, Cant. 4.16. Hereby is ſignified the miniſtration of Chriſts Word and Spirit, beſtowed on his people for their further good. They have not onely the waters of holy Scripture, but the lively graces alſo of Gods Spirit to quicken them, ſee Ezek.37.6. And the efficacy of the Spirit of God is reſembled by the winde, Joh.3.8. and doctrines are windes, Epheſ. 4.14. and the reſtraint of Gods graces by wholeſome doctrine is ſignified be four Angels holding the four windes of the earth, that the winde ſhould not blow on the earth, nor on the Sea, nor on any tree, Rev. 7.1. Aynſw. O all ye ſoveraign windes of the Spirit of God, breath upon this Garden of my ſoul, that the ſweet odours of theſe my plants, may both be encreaſed and may alſo be diſperſed afar, and carryed into the noſtrils of my well-beloved. Hall. There be dangerous windes which we ought to pray againſt, Epheſ. 4.14. but every breath that cometh from heaven is ſalubrious, and our ſouls are bound up as with froſt and barrenneſſe, till thoſe powerful incomes, and breathings open them, and make them ſpread and dilate themſelves: like chafed flowers or oyntments, which if you rub them, afford ſtronger fragrancies and profuſions. Annot. Chriſt never denyeth his Spirit to thoſe that ask it with a true faith, but is ready to grant the deſire of his ſervants to make them fruitfull and aboundant in every good grace. Finch.

B O.

Boards of Cedar] The Church wherein Chriſt dwels, as Kings in godly and ſtrong Palaces, made of boards of Cedar, Cant. 8.9. With boards of Cedar.

Boards of Cedar] are fit wherewith to encloſe, and fence about, being fair, ſtrong, durable, & of ſweet ſavour, of ſuch the Temple was builded, 1 King.6.15.--18. Aynſw. If ſhe will give free paſſage, and good entrance to my Word and grace, we will make her ſure and ſafe from corruption, and reſerve her to immortality. Hall. Cedar is a timber that will neither rot nor breed worms, and ſo will endure alwayes: Theſe ſiſter-Churches then promiſe, that if their little ſiſter of Egypt have any faithful Miniſters, they will provide for their ſafety and peace, that they be not diſcouraged nor diſturbed in their function. Cotton. If ſhe be wavering and unſtable as a door that turns to and fro, then we will ſtrengthen and confirm her with holy precepts and inſtructions, or, ſeeing ſhe is, or when ſhe is a door, (the gate of heaven indeed) then we will carve and paint upon her the remembrance of my name and goodneſſe, as they uſed to doe over their Gates, Deut.6.9. or, If ſhe have a door, that is, if ſhe come to be any thing perfect and compleat, as houſes are when the doores are ſet up, (which is one of the laſt works in building) then will I compaſſe her with my everlaſting mercies, and preſerve her wals and her gates, that the gates of hell ſhall not prevail againſt her; but a great and effectual door being opened, (1 Cor.16.9.) notwithſtanding all adverſaries, the righteous Nation ſhall enter into her, and ſhe ſhall be made an habitation of God through his Spirit; her wals Salvation and her gates praiſe. Annot.

Borders of Gold] The heavenly graces of the holy Spirit, wherewith (as with gold and precious Ornaments) Chriſt doth more and more deck his Church and every faithfull ſoul, which have well uſed their former gifts, Cant. 1.11. We will make thee borders of gold.

The word for borders is rendered rowes, or lines; figures, and pictures, pendants. All expreſſe great wealth and glory; the precious neſſe and variety of ſpiritual adminiſtrations, which were but as iron under the Law, but now are gold, 2 Cor. 7. 11. Annot. He ſpake before (verſ. 10.) of rowes ſimply, now he addeth of gold; either to ſignifie more excellent Ordinances and graces under the Goſpel then under the Law, (as he promiſeth, for braſſe I will bring gold, &c. Iſa. 60. 17.) that ſhould proceed from faith and love, and not from fear as ſhe was under the bridle of the Law (for we ſhould not be like horſe and mule, whoſe jaw muſt be bound with bit and bridle, Pſal. 32. 9. and yeeld obedience by conſtraint) or it meaneth a new ſupply of graces, ſo that we are changed into the Image of God, from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord, 2 Cor. 3. 18. Theſe promiſes may reſpect both the rules, Ordinances, gifts and graces beſtowed on his people, Prov. 20. 15. and the perſons themſelves that are furniſhed with thoſe graces: as the precious ſons of Zion, are ſaid to be comparable to fine gold, Lam. 4. 1. Aynſworth. Mr. Cotton underſtandeth the borders of Aſa's Kingdom pure as gold, by cleanſing and putting away all the Idols, out of all quarters of Judah, yea and of Benjamin alſo, and mount Ephraim, the very skirts and frontires, and borders of the Kingdome. Nor marvel at ſuch enlargement of one and the ſame divine grace, more hammered by the ſame ſpirit: for gold the ſhadow of ſuch ſubſtantial grace, by the mallet will be wonderfully enlarged. Experience (ſaith one) teacheth, that a third part of one grain will circumveſt a thred of 134. feet long. A fit mettle for denoting the multiplication of grace, which in the faithful is as a fountain ſpringing up unto eternal life. Clapham.

Bottome] The bottome thereof of gold, Cant. 3. 10. or, the ſeat on which Solomon ſitteth, reſteth or lyeth in his chariot, ſo the Greek tranſlateth it Anacliton, that which one ſitteth or lyeth down upon. This bottome or ſeat of gold, ſeemeth to have reference to the golden Mercy-ſeat over the Ark in the Temple, on which God is ſaid to ſit, Pſal. 80. 2. And it ſignifieth the Covenant of grace apprehended by faith: (which is much more precious, then gold that periſheth, 1 Pet. 1. 7.) and the doctrines of the Law by faith, which are better then thouſands of gold and ſilver, Pſal. 119. 72. Aynſw. Or, the Throne, the Chair, or the pillars of it. If the firſt Word be received, then it repreſents the Word of God, which is the golden bottom or foundation, or elſe Faith, which is the firſt ſtone in the ſpiritual building, 2 Pet. 1. 5. But if the other words pleaſe better, then it is a divine Metaphor of the Covenant of grace, which is to the Church the bottom of joy apprehended by faith, and to God as a ſoft reclinatory, like that of the Mercy-ſeat, where he is ſaid to ſit, Pſal. 80. 2. or the ſweet peace and tranquillity of a calm and pacified conſcience which excelleth all Treaſures. Annot.

To take hold of the Bougbs of the Palms] To dreſſe, trimme, and purge, by the Spirit, word, and afflictions, the Militant Church, which is like a Palm-tree, into which the husbandman muſt climbe and lay hold on every Bough, that he may dreſſe the ſame to make it fruitful, Cant. 7. 8. I will take hold of her boughes.

The Palm-tree hath no branches nor boughs on the ſides, or on the body, but all grow together on the very top: wherein the Church of God ſhould be like that tree, having all the branches exalted from the world, and collected into one united company, who without any ſtraglings or dividings ſhould aſpire towards heaven, and begin their converſation there even upon earth, for then will Chriſt take hold on her boughs, or tops, (for ſo the Hebrew word which is peculiar to this place, and found no where elſe in Scripture, ſignifies) that is, will both dreſſe them as the careful Gardiner purgeth his trees, and likewiſe preſerve and keep them, that all their fruits may be gathered, and none deſtroyed, Annot. So in effect Aynſw.

Bowels] My bowels were moved for him, Can. 5. 4. Theſe good Princes (Martianus, both the Theodoſii, Leo Iſauricus, Conſtantines ſon, and Leo Copronymus) and other Chriſtians at that time were ſtrongly and inwardly affected to the purity of Gods worſhip, in which alone Chriſt is found. Cotton. My heart and bowels yearned within me for Chriſt, and for the remorſe of my ſo long foreſlowing his admittance unto me. Hall. God ſuffereth not his to lie ſtill in ſecurity, as he doth the wicked: but one time or other awakeneth them out of the ſleep of ſin, how long ſoever they continue in it. As the ſecond degree of repentance is a conceiving of comfort, a raiſing up our ſelves by the ſweet promiſes of the Goſpel, (implyed in the following words, I roſe up to open to my beloved) ſo the firſt is a yearning of the heart, compunction of ſoul and ſpirit, coming from a ſight of our ſins, and preaching of

of the law, 1 Sam. 24. 6. Jer. 31. 19. contrarily the wicked, Jer. 8. 6. for both ſee Act. 2. 37, 38, 39. Finch. Or, My bowels made a troubled noiſe, or, my bowels ſounded, rumbled. Hereby ſhe ſignifieth her diſquietneſſe, hearty ſorrow, and repentance for her Beloved, who had ſuffered ſo many things for her ſake, and whom ſhe had ſo neglected and put from her, when he deſired to come in, ſee Iſa. 16. 11. Jer. 4. 19. & 31. 20. So here the Spouſe by the ſounding of her bowels, ſheweth the grief of her heart; which is one, and the chiefeſt of the bowels. Aynſw. Or, my belly was troubled, or inflamed, or ſounded in me at his touch. So here is the great effect of ſpiritual viſitations; cloſe and full workings of Chriſt in the heart, ſhake her within and move powerfully, ſo that our bowels and deareſt affections are ſtirred and kindled by them, and we cannot but be mightily troubled for diſpleaſing him before. Thus their hearts burned, Luk. 24. 32. and thus the more preſentially any ſoul feels the divine power in ſuch operations, the more doth it both ſee its own weakneſſe, and is confounded for it: And the more Chriſt is known and loved, the more we lament our own unworthineſſe, leſt any thing in us ſhould cauſe him to depart; or may offend and grieve his Spirit. Annot. Many are now much moved, troubled at the preſence of Chriſt in his Ordinances, therefore they ſay unto God, Depart from us; for we deſire not the knowledge of thy wayes; Job 21. 14. But woe to us, when he departeth from us, Hoſ. 9. 12.

B R.

Break] Vuntill the day break, Cant. 2. 17. (& 4. 6.) untill the day of thy glorious appearance (O my Saviour) ſhall ſhine forth to the world. Hall. The two principal things that a Chriſtian is to wiſh for, and deſire after, are perfection in heaven, by the coming of Jeſus Chriſt, and conſtancy, or perſeverance unto that day. Finch. Or, breath, or dawn; for at the break of day, there uſeth to be a kinde of ſoft air or breath which the Sun cauſeth by reſolving the cold vapors of the night; and ſo doth the Sun of righteouſneſſe when he ariſeth, till when the Church ſitteth in a kinde of darkneſſe and night, 2 Pet. 1. 19. So that ſhe beggeth or profeſſeth a conſtant protection and proviſion from Chriſt, untill the time of refreſhment ſhall come, when ſhe ſhall enjoy an accompliſht and eternal morning of happineſſe, but the wicked ſhall rot in their gloomy dungeon, Pſal. 49. 14. Annot. The Spouſe here in the night and darkneſſe of her tribulation and temptation, deſireth Chriſt to be ready at hand for her help by the comfort of his Word and Spirit. The dawning or break of this day, is the ſenſe and feeling of inward joy and comfort by the Word and Spirit, 2 Pet. 1. 19. Aynſw. The Church upon earth is as it were in the night, as ſome take it, under the ſhadows of the law, which ſhould and did fly away after that clear day of Chriſts Reſurrection, but it may be more fitly extended to the ſecond coming of the Bridegroom, for then indeed ſhall be the perfect clear day. Giffard. See Day-break.

Breſts] Thy breſts to cluſters, Cant. 7. 7. & verſ. 8. Thy breſts ſhall be as cluſters of the Vine, ſignifying hereby, that her breſts were not only faſhioned, as in Ezek. 16. 7. but full of milk to nouriſh her children, and of the wine of heavenly conſolations, which they that love her, may ſuck and be ſatisfied, as Iſa. 66. 11. So that now the ſtate of the Church is not, as when complaint was made, there is no cluſter to eat, Mic. 7. 1. but as when new wine was found in the cluſter: and he ſaid, Deſtroy it not, for a bleſſing is in it, Iſa. 65. 8. Aynſw. The phraſe in verſ. 8. is an aſſurance or promiſe of bleſſing to her from the Lord, filling her with the juyce of grace; but it may be taken alſo as a wiſh, Let thy breſts be as cluſters of the vine, Have not thou a miſ-carrying wombe, and dry breſts, as Hoſ. 9. 4. but grow in grace and in knowledge. Aynſw. But both import the ſame thing, and the benediction of Chriſt alwayes goeth along with his promiſe. Annot. By my preſence I will cauſe thee to be more plentiful in all good works and doctrine, ſo as thou ſhalt afford abundance of heavenly liquor unto all the thirſty ſouls of thy children. Hall.

That ſucked the Breſts of my Mother] Cant. 8. 1. All brethren doe not love alike, nor any according to the ordinary obſervation ſo much as thoſe that are Collactanei, fed by the ſame breſts and milk; and that have one mother both to bear and nurſe them. I am bound to love and honor all the Churches and Saints of God, but chiefly her that brought me forth, and them that ſucked the ſame breſts with me. Annot. That is, every way moſt neerly conjoyned, as having both one Father, and one Mother. Between brethren of the ſame Mother, the affections and love are moſt vehement, Gen. 43. 29, 30, 34. The Mother is Jeruſalem which is above, which is the Mother of us all, and ſignifieth the New Teſtament, or Covenant of of grace and freedome, Gal.4.24, 26. and to ſuck the breſts of this Mother, is to participate of her grace and conſolations, Iſa.66.10, 11. & 60. 16. And Chriſt is then ſaid to ſuck theſe breſts, when the Covenant or Teſtament is by him confirmed, and ſtabliſhed to and with his people, openly profeſſed, and the communion of graces mutually doth grow. Aynſw. Dr. Hall, Serjeant Finch, and Mr. Tomſon, underſtand this of the manifeſting of God in the fleſh, as ſpoken by the Jewiſh Church deſirous to ſee him cloathed in the fleſh, and partaking the ſame humane nature with her.

No Breſts] No true doctrine or ſincere milk of the Word, either to convert and beget children to God, or to nouriſh them up, being born anew, Cant. 8. 8. We have a little ſiſter, and ſhe hath no breſts. This was the caſe of the Gentiles in the time of their ignorance, before their vocation to Chriſt.

Or, without Breſts, as having yet no ſtabliſhed Miniſtry, (for ſuch is the ſtate of the Churches in their beginning, Act.14.23. Tit. 1. 5.) ſo that her children could not ſuck out the ſincere milk of the Word, and be ſatisfied with the breſts of her conſolations, 1 Pet. 2. 2. Iſa. 66. 11. Aynſw. She wanted breſts, that is, Paſtors and Teachers to feed and nouriſh her, who like ſo many Paranymphs to a Virgin-Bride, might adorn her, and lead her to Chriſt; having her breſts faſhioned, as themſelves had, Ezek. 16.7. Anno. So in effect Cotton, Finch, Hall.

Breſts as Towers] Plentifull doctrine, and ſpiritual Milk enough, both to beget and nouriſh multitudes of children to God, the Breaſts of the Church being waxed as big as Towers, Cant. 8. 10. My breſts are as Towers.

The ſimilitude of Towers noteth alſo the ſtrength, power, and glory of the adminiſtration of the Goſpel, and the open preaching of it out of Pulpits, or high places, that all may hear, for Migdal a Tower is uſed for a Pulpit, in Neh. 8. 4. Aynſw.

Two Breſts] The two Taſtaments of the Lord, the Old and New, by the alone Doctrine whereof (and by none other) the Church doth bring forth and nouriſh children to God, Cant. 4. 5. Thy two breſts are like two young Roes, Cant. 7. 7, 8. alſo 8. 1. The Geneva notes expounds them of knowledge and zeal: but the former interpretation is better.

Thy two Breſts] Theſe are both for ornaments and for uſe, as experience in nature and theſe Scriptures ſhew, Ezek. 16.7. Iſa. 66. 11. So here the breſts of Chriſts Spouſe are likened to Roes for pleaſantneſſe, to Fawnes or young Roes, for ſmalneſſe, to twins for equalizing; and to Roes feeding among Lillies, as in fat and ſweet paſture. Hereby is ſignified how the Church is fruitful in good works, and comfortable words, and communication of all Gods bleſſings, ſo that by her loving affection, wholeſome doctrines, ſweet conſolations, and gracious beneficence, her children are delighted, and ſucking the ſincere milk of the Word, doe grow thereby, 1 Pet. 2. 2. Aynſw. Some underſtand hereby the Miniſters and Paſtors of the Churches, which ſhould be (as Paul was) both the fathers and mothers thereof, 1 Cor. 3. 1. Gal. 4. 19. not only to beget, but to feed and nouriſh them; yet with no other but thoſe two breſts of holy Scripture, and the ſincere milk thereof, which are as the twins of Kids or Roes, both for the purity of their nouriſhment and for the agreement; the one being conſonant to the other, not only in the matter of them, but the very form and method alſo, as the learned obſerve. Annot.

Bright Ivory] Cant. 5. 14. Heb. Brightneſſe of Ivory, meaning, moſt bright, poliſhed (ſhining) fair and glorious. The Caldee Paraphraſt applyeth this, and the reſt mentioned in this verſ. to the body of the Church of Iſrael, the twelve Tribes, who ſhined (as he ſaith) like Lamps, were poliſhed in their works like Elephants tooth, or Ivory, and ſhone like Saphires. Aynſw. Both theſe rich pearls of Nature, we finde uſual emblemes of chaſtity and temperance, for the Elephant is obſerved to be a moſt continent creature, and the Saphire (as the Secretaries of Nature tell us) is of a cooling and refrigerating quality; and was not Chriſt the miraculous example of all true holy abſtinence and moderation; who gave us a copy in his own faſting and mortification which we ought carefully to take out and follow? Annot.

Bring] See lead.

Broad] And in the broad wayes, I will ſeek him whom my ſoul loveth, Cant. 3. 2. When our own ſtore of comfort fail us, we ſhould conſult with others; with the Scriptures of God, (which like a great ſtreet are exceeding broad) with the lives and examples of the Saints: nay with the ordinary and looſer ſort of men to learn how God hath dealt with them; how with the Philoſophers, and with men of the world, who perhaps may tell

tell us ſome news of him. Annot. This noteth an exquiſite ſearch, (as in another caſe, Jer. 5. 1.) and ſhe therefore ſeeketh him in the ſtreets (or broad places) becauſe there Wiſedom uttereth her voyce, Prov. 1. 26, 21. there Chriſt teacheth, Luk. 13. 26. Aynſw. In the open Aſſemblies of the faithful, in the Synagogues, in the Cities of Judea and Jeruſalem. Cotton.

Brother] One that dwelleth with another familiarly, embracing him lovingly, as brothers and ſiſters uſe to embrace one another. After this ſort the Church doth wiſh to dwell with Chriſt; which is performed partly in this life, and fully in the life to come, Cant. 8. 1. O that thou werſt as my brother that ſucked the breſts of my Mother.

Brought] The King hath brought me into his Chambers, Cant. 1. 4. God onely leads to grace and glory actually, and alſo gives us right and title to heavenly places, which we ſhall poſſeſſe as certainly, one day, as Chriſt himſelf does, who is ſet down at the right hand of the Father, Epheſ. 2. 6. and hath purchaſed that inheritance for us. Annot.

He brought me to the banqueting houſe] Cant. 2. 4. It was the cuſtome of old for the husband to lead his wife into his houſe, and there deliver up the keyes to her, as one called into fellowſhip both of power and care. To this cuſtome ſome conceive that Chriſt alludeth, Matth. 16. 19. & Rev. 1. 18. But chiefly the Spouſe doth in this place: And as now Chriſt brought her into his chamber, ſo at another time ſhe having found him, She held him and would not let him gee, untill ſhe brought him into her Mothers houſe, &c. Cant. 3. 4.

B V.

Buckler] Whereon there hang a thouſand bucklers, Cant. 4. 4. A buckler hath the name in the original of protection or defence: the word following Shields, (which ſeemeth to be borrowed from the Hebrew name Shelter) hath the ſignification of power or Dominion, as being uſed of great and mighty men. Such bucklers and ſhields of David, were ſometime kept in the houſe of God, 2 Chro. 23. 9. and as the taking away of the ſhields from the enemy was a ſign of victory, 2 Kin. 8. 7. ſo the hanging of them up on wals was a ſign of glory, Ezek. 27. 11. Thoſe hanged up in Davids Tower for monuments, are here taken for figures and examples of all the mighty men of God, which by the Shield of faith (in God and Chriſt the Shield of his people) have done great and mighty works, as the Apoſtle bringeth a clowd of witneſſes in Heb. 11. with all which the Spouſe of Chriſt is adorned, whiles with courage and comfort ſhe followeth the footſteps of their faith and works, and abideth conſtant, ſuſtained by the promiſes of God. Aynſworth. Hereby Dr. Hall underſtandeth infinite ways of ſafe protection: as S. Finch that compleat armour of proof, which every Chriſtian fighteth with, holding the Church up, and keeping her ſteady, more ſtrong then all the weapons of any Tower or Armory can doe.

Budding of the Pomgranates] The fruits which the Church (as a Vine) after planting, watering and dreſſing, ought to bring forth; namely ſuch as are mentioned, Gal. 5. 22. Epheſ. 5. 9. Cant. 7. 12. To ſee whether the Pomgranates budded, Cant. 6. 11. Let us ſee whether the Pomegranates bud forth.

To Build] To erect and ſet up a Church out of the Gentiles by the Miniſtry of the Word, to be joyned with the Jews, Cant. 8. 9. We will build upon her.

Bundle of Myrrhe] The ſpiritual ſweetneſſe of Chriſt, whom the Church fixeth between her Breſts, as a bundle or bunch of Myrrhe, or pleaſant Noſegay, continually to refreſh her ſelf with his delectable ſweetneſſe, Cant. 1. 13. My wel-beloved is as a bundle of Myrrh. Or, a bagge of myrrh, that is, of that precious gum which dropped from the Myrtle-tree, which is bitter to the taſte, but ſmels fragrantly. They uſed to wear it in little bags or purſes, (as our women doe muſk and civet) about their necks; as may be collected from Iſa. 3. 19. Where for chains, ſome read ſweet bals, and the word for Tablets, verſ. 20. ſignifies Houſes of the ſoul, that is, little boxes, (ſuch as ours of Ivory, or the like) full of holes and ſmall paſſages, out of which the ſoul, or breath of the incloſed was tranſpired. Annot. A bundle or bag is for to keep ſafe things that be of worth, as 1 Sam. 25. 29. So by this bagge of Myrrhe, ſhe ſignifieth her care to enjoy and poſſeſſe the benefits of Chriſt and of his death, to the remiſſion of her ſins, which for his ſake are all caſt into the depths of the Sea, Mic. 7. 19. which otherwiſe without him ſhould be ſealed up in a bag, and reſerved againſt her for puniſhment, Job 14. 17. Aynſw. Chriſt is to the Church a bundle of myrrhe, what meaneth it, but that he doth by his Spirits heat, exſiccate or dry up the ſuperfluity of our degenerate nature, whereby body and ſoul is preſerved to eternal life? Clapham.

Bush of thine head] The Church to be beautiful in every part, and full of glory, not as natural bodies which are not comely in all parts alike, Cant. 7.5. The bush of thine head like purple.

Bushy] His locks are bushy, Cant. 5.11. or curled, marg. or heaps, that is, are like heaps, curled and bushy. Aynsw. Or, his hair is curled, thick, heaped together. The decrees and counsels of God (which are his thick infolded locks) cannot be prevented nor resisted, but the more men oppose them, the more do they infatuate and perplex themselves, like those that travel in thick darkness, 2 Chro. 6.1. who the more they wander, the more doe they lose themselves. Annot.

C A.

Calamus] The excellent sweetness of Christ, who to a true Christian soul, is like Calamus, which is very sweet and delightful, Cant. 4.14.

This was used in the composition of the holy anoynting Oyl, Exod. 30. 23. It is a kinde of sweet cane or sweet reed, bought and brought out of far countreys, as appeareth by Isa. 43. 24. Jer. 6. 20. Aynsworth. Hereunto as unto the other wholsome and sweet fruits, trees, hearbs, joyned herewith) the children of the Church, the faithfull are compared, whose graces are chiefly exercised by the hard dealing of persecutors, as the vertues of these fruits and spices, are especially seen when they are cut and powred out, or beaten, bruised, burned. Calamus helps the passages of the urine, and the faults of the reins, helpeth also the womb and conception. Cotten.

To Call] To pray unto Christ out of the want of him, being felt, and out of the sense of our own misery, Cant. 5.6. I called him, but he answered me not.

Camphire] My Beloved is unto me as a cluster of Camphire, Cant. 1.14. or Cypresse. Camphire is a sweet gumme; but Cypresse is a tree whose fruit groweth in clusters and is also sweet. The Hebrew name Copher, (from which both Camphire and Cypresse seem to be derived) usually signifieth Atonement, Propitiation, or Redemption, according to which interpretation the holy Ghost may here have reference to the work and fruit of Christs death, whereby he became a cluster of redemption unto his Church, being a Propitiation for the sins of the whole world, 1 Joh. 2. 2. the sweetnesse whereof is resembled by a cluster (which is of many berries compacted together) of the sweet Cypresse: for that his bloud cleanseth from all sin, 1 Joh. 1. 7. and is accompanyed with all other graces. Aynsw. It was a shrub or plant of rare worth and operation, whose fruit grew in great clusters, that were both beautiful, aromatick and medicinal, and whereof it was so free and bountifull, that it bare them several times in one year, Annot. Which is a fit resemblance of Christ. Camphire smelled unto doth naturally keep under or weaken lust. Let us have the eye of our soul fastened on Christs sufferings, and labour amidst our delights to savour his bloudy agonies, and Camphire to the body shall not have so strong effect, as the meditation of Jesus to the soul. Clapham. Camphire is a shrub for smell like unto Spikenard, washing the obstruction of the Spleen, and by the very smell of it making men more lively and more strong; yea, and available also against the biting of Serpents: such was Christ to his Church when the children of Moab, and Ammon and Mount Seir gathered themselves together against the children of Israel in Engedi. Cotton.

Pleasant fruits, Camphire, Cant. 4.13. In the former, the Church resembled Christ to a cluster of Camphire; in this, Christ resembled the Church thereunto, as with whose sweet smell of obedience, and her other graces, he was exceedingly delighted.

Carmel] Thine head upon thee, is like Carmel, Cant. 7.5. A mountain where Elijah killed the Baalists, and prayed for rain, 1 King. 18, 19, 20, 42. It was also a place inhabited by Nabal, 1 Sam. 25. 2. 5. It seemeth to have been very fertile, Nah. 1. 4. for a fruitful place is called Carmel, opposed to a barren wilderness, Isa. 29. 17. and 32. 15. and 33. 9. Jer. 4. 26. Thus, her head likened to Carmel, may signifie her minde filled with the knowledge of God, and fruitful in graces; so God promising the restauration of his Church, saith, Israel shall feed on Carmel, &c. Jer. 50. 19. and foretelling the glory of Christs Kingdome, saith, The glory of Lebanon shall be given unto it, the excellency of Carmel and Sharon, &c. Isa. 35. 2. The word is used also for crimson, (as it's set down down in the margin) or Scarlet colour 2 Chro. 3. 14. which may be alſo meant here; her hair after being likened to purple, and theſe were colours worn of Princes and great perſonages, and ſo meet for this Princes daughter, (verſ. 1.) and for the attire of her head, on which ſhee weareth the hope of Salvation (through the bloud of Chriſt, which theſe colours alſo prefigured) for an helmet, 1 Theſ. 5. 8. Aynſw. The head of the Church under Chriſt is the Civil Magiſtrate. The meaning then is, that the Magiſtrate of this Church ſhall yeeld ſtore of ſound and ſweet nouriſhment to the people, by giving and maintaining free paſſage to each holy Ordinance of God, and alſo by wholeſome laws, and laſtly by good example of godly life. Cotton. Hereby may be underſtood Chriſt, and his moſt ample and aboundant grace, whereby the Church is fructified and enriched. Tomſon.

Cauſing to ſpeak] Cant. 7. 9. that maketh to ſpeak, or giveth utterance, or ſpeaketh in the lips, &c. This is the other effect of the Spirit, that as wine maketh men talkative, Prov. 23. 29. ſo the Spirit maketh men to utter the myſteries of God, as the Diſciples (when ſome thought they were full of new Wine) propheſied and ſpake with other tongues, the great works of God, as the Spirit gave them utterance, Act. 2. 4, 11, 13, &c. Aynſw. Where the heart indites good matter, the tongue will be the pen of a ready writer; nor can that ſoul which hath taſted of the power of the good Word of God, and the World to come, forbear to declare and ſpeak of it to all the world, Act. 4. 20. It is impoſſible for any to be ſilent, that have felt this power moving and inſpiring them. Annot. Such ſhall be the ſweet and powerful efficacy of the doctrine of the Church then, as ſhall cauſe the ſleepy and drowſie profeſſors, (whether Gentiles or Jews) to open their mouths, & ſpeak plentifully to Gods praiſe. Cotton. Which is of ſuch wonderfull power, that it is able to put words both of repentance and praiſe into the lips of him that lies aſleep in his ſins. Hall.

C E.

Cedar] That which in Chriſt or his Church is firm and fair, durable and excellent, Cant. 1. 16. & chap. 5. 15. Excellent as Cedar. See Beams, and Boards.

C H.

Chains] The ſpiritual ornaments of the Church, Cant. 1. v. 10. Thy neck with chains; that is, the precious merits and plentiful graces of Chriſt, which being put upon the Soul of a Chriſtian, are as chains of gold about the neck.

Chains of gold] are wholeſome laws, binding like chains, to keep the Worſhip of God, and true Religion pure as gold; ſuch laws are called chains, Pſal. 149. 8. This was done in the days of Aſa, when he removed the Altars of the ſtrange gods, &c. 2 Chron. 14. 2, 3, 4, 5, 12, --15. Cotton. The Laws and Ordinances of God wherewith he adorneth the face and neck of his Church, that in her profeſſion, practiſe, and obedience ſhe may be comely and gracious in the ſight of God and his people, and being guided by them, may vanquiſh her enemies, Prov. 1. 8, 9. They mean alſo the gracious effects which the law and doctrine of God worketh in his people, of humility, reverence, and other vertues, as on the contrary, pride and other like vices are ſaid to compaſſe evill men about as a chain, Pſal. 73. 6. likewiſe holy perſons that teach, inſtruct, reprove, and ſuch as receive doctrine and reproof, Prov. 25. 12. Aynſw. A yoake and chains they are, but of gold, ſo far from deſtroying Chriſtian liberty, that they perfect it; nor is any under an heavier thraldom, then thoſe that break and caſt off theſe bands, Pſal. 2. 5. Annot.

With one Chain of thy neck] Cant. 4. 9. or with one hair, or treſſe, or lock of thy neck. This chain doth aptly follow, and ever ſhould go along with the eye; every true Chriſtian ſhould have both; not only faith to ſee, and to apply Chriſt, but alſo obedience (which is a chain upon our necks) to obey him, and yeeld our ſelves to his yoke. Annot. Figuring Gods Laws and Ordinances, Prov. 10. 9. as alſo the graces of his Spirit in his people. Aynſw.

Chambers] Heavenly manſions, where great riches, treaſure, and glory, are laid up and kept for the Saints, Cant. 14. The King hath brought me into his chambers. That is, into thoſe Bride-chambers where Chriſt familiarly converſeth with them; which were three. 1. The Tabernacle at Gibeon. 2. The Ark at Jeruſalem. 3. The Temple: Into theſe Solomon brought the whole Congregation of Iſrael to ſolemn ſacrifices. Cotton. Into his own privy Chambers, his Church here, and after this his heavenly Tabernacles. Finch. The lower rooms of his ſpiritual treaſures on earth, and heavenly chambers of glory. Hall. This ſheweth the benefits which they finde that follow Chriſt, they are brought not only into the Kings Palace, Pſal. 45. 16.

but into his privy chambers, the moſt ſecret, ſafe, & quiet roomes of his Palace, (2 King. 6. 12. Luk. 12. 3. Mat. 6. 6. Deut. 32. 25. Ezek. 21. 14 Joel 2. 16. Judg 15. 1.) whereby is ſignified the revelation of the Myſtery of the Goſpel, the ſecret of the Lord, which is revealed to them that fear him, Pſal. 25. 14. and the ſpiritual comforts which they reap thereby, 1 Cor. 2. 9, 10, 16. Prov. 24. 4. Col. 2. 1, 2, 3. In theſe chambers alſo, the ſaints are kept ſafe from evil, Pſ. 27. 5, 10. to whom he ſaith, Come, enter thou into thy chambers, &c. Iſa. 26. 20. Aynſworth. Chriſt will not admit them only as common gueſts into his Palace and Out-courts, that is, natural priviledges and comforts; but into his receſſes, his Holy of holies, where he will ſhew them depths buryed in the bottom of the Sea, and diſcover thoſe Arcana Imperii, his Scriptures, his great works, his judgements, his Sacraments, his conſolations, his glory, which are lockt up from common eyes, and they ſhall be kept as treaſures, and jewels, ſecured and protected from the evill due to ſin, and from the indignation of the Lord, Iſa. 26. 20. Annot. The hid ſecrets of his divine Counſel and will, a clearer light of knowledg, aboundance of divine love, and plenty of ſpiritual gifts. Tomſon.

And into the chamber of her that conceived me] Cant. 3. 4. The Church of God in her publick Congregations, which is the mother of us all; or, The ſanctified heart and conſcience, which is the dwelling of Chriſt, where we ſhould lay him up by faith, and keep him ſafely as a Jewel of inestimable price. Annot. Mr. Cotton applyeth this to the time of the Maccabees, when the Sanctuary was cleanſed, the purity of Gods Worſhip reſtored, and Sacrifice offered according to the law, underſtanding by the houſe and chamber of her Mother, the Temple and Sanctuary, of the former Church of Iſrael, &c.

To Charge by the Roes] To bind one by a ſolemn Oath to doe a thing, Cant. 2. 7. I charge you O daughters of Jeruſalem by the Roes, and by the Hinds of the field.

The charge is very ſolemn and vehement, ſhewing both her duty to Chriſt, and her authority over her own members and parts, for the daughters of Jeruſalem are nothing elſe, but her ſelf in her diſtinct parts and branches. Annot. The like charge in the very ſame words is in chap. 3. 5. and the ſame, (but omitting by the Roes, and by the Hinds of the fields,) in chap. 8. 4. And another to the daughters of Jeruſalem to tell her Beloved that ſhe was ſick of love, Cant. 5. 8.

Chariots of Pharaoh] The quick and ſpeedy readineſſe, fortitude, and valour, which the Militant Church ſheweth in her ſpiritual warfare againſt the divel, the world, and the fleſh, Cant. 1. 9. I have compared thee O my Love, to the troops of Horſes in the Chariots of Pharaoh.

Such is the eſtimation of thee, O my Love, that ſo as the choiceſt Ægyptian houſes of Pharaoh, for comely ſhape, for honorable ſervice, for ſtrength and ſpeed exceed all other, ſo far thou excelleſt all that may be compared with thee. Hall. They were brave, ſtately, couragious, excellent for all good ſervices. Finch. When the Church neglects Gods ſervice, God gives her up to the ſervice of forain Princes, to draw as horſes in Pharaohs chariots. God will make them to draw his yoke, though they draw it in the yoke of forain Princes, as Rehoboam and his people did. Cotton.

King Solomon made himſelf a Chariot] Cant. 3. 9. or a Bed, Litter, or Throne. Under which is repreſented the dignity of the Church, exceeding the bed or chariot of Solomon;

1. In the efficient or Author: Solomon did not make it himſelf, but cauſed it to be made by others, but the Church is the workmanſhip of Chriſt himſelf, Epheſ. 2. 10.

2. In the materials: all that are uſed here, as the wood of Lebanon, ſilver, gold, &c. are but groſſe and ſenſible illuſtrations of ſpiritual Majeſty and glory, by which the Church is made to ſhine, and live more incorruptibly then buildings of Cedar, 1 Pet. 3. 4. Annot. That bed was made for a King, but this for the King of Kings and Lord of Lords. Finch. The Chaldee expoundeth this of the Temple which Solomon made of the wood of Lebanon, but that Temple was a figure of Chriſt and of his Church: to which we may better refer it. Of Chriſt it may be meant in reſpect of his humane nature, which was all glorious, without ſpot of ſin, which humane nature he made and aſſumed to himſelf with all the glorious graces of the Spirit, for the Salvation of the Elect, the daughters of Jeruſalem. Of the Miniſters of Chriſt, or the Church (his myſtical body) it may (as I think) rather here be ſpoken, which by the preaching, profeſſion and practiſe of the Goſpel, carryeth Chriſt as a Chariot, holding forth the word of truth and of Salvation, in the midſt whereof Chriſt ſitteth, teaching, governing and triumphing, betokening the more open glory of the Church by the publiſhing and practiſing of the Goſpel. Aynſw. Cheeks

Cheeks with roes of ſtones] The incorruptible ornaments and deckings of Chriſtian ſouls, Cant. 1. 10. Thy cheeks are comely with rowes of ſtones. The eſtate of the Church is here deſcribed as it was in the days of Abijam, and of Aſa.

Thy Cheeks, that is, the outward face of the Church, are comely, &c. that is, with keeping their right place and order, and manner of Gods own Ordinances. Cotton. Thy outward profeſſion and countenance, which is beautiful and glorious by keeping due order and decency in the ſervice of God. The whole face of the Church ſhould be thus adorned. Annot.

His Cheeks are as a bed of Spices] Cant. 5. 13. Theſe cheeks of Chriſt thus adorned ſignifie his manlineſſe and comelineſſe to all that by faith behold him, and the ſweetneſſe of the graces that flow from his heavenly countenance, whiles being as a man grown up to years of diſcretion, he adminiſtreth all things diſcreetly, juſtly, and comfortably to his people. Aynſw. The amiable countenance of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt. Annot. The manifeſtation of himſelf to us in his Word. Hall. The outward face of the faithfull Church. Cotton.

Chiefeſt of ten thouſand] One that far excelleth in ſtrength and glory, all men and Angels. This is the man Chriſt, Cant. 5. 10. My welbeloved is white and ruddy, the chiefeſt of ten thouſand, Epheſ. 1. Phil. 2. 9. And given him a Name above every Name. Heb. Bannered, above, (or of, or with) ten thouſand, meaning either that he was the chiefeſt, valianteſt, or moſt excellent of all; or, that he had many banners and companies of warriours with him. The banner or ſtandard is a warlike ſign; and he that beareth it is of the chiefeſt; and by it other warriers doe encampe, as appeareth in the Armies of Iſrael, Numb. 2. where Judah was chief Standard-bearer, ſo here Chriſt (the Lion of the Tribe of Judah, Rev. 5. 5. is chief among many, yea above all, Iſa. 11. 10. Rom. 15. 12. Matth. 4. 11. Heb. 1. 6. Act. 21. 20. Rev. 7. 9. & 19. 11. 14. Aynſw. Not to obſerve the ſtandard and march after it, was a capital offence, ſo it will prove with us if we forſake his colours, who if we had ten thouſand lives, deſerves them all, for he hath the words of eternal life, and whither can we goe and be happy, but in him? Annot. Who but he can ſuſtain the fury of the battails of God, and yet goe away with the honor and glory of the field? or of whom but of him alone can it be ſaid, that he hath a crown given unto him, and goeth forth overcomming, and muſt overcome? Finch. All others have all from him, Chriſt as the head of his Church is above all, and hath influence into all his Church, not only eminency, but influence. What is excellent in the heavens? Sun, Light, Stars, what amongſt the creatures? Lyons, Lambes, Roſes, Lillies, &c. What is neceſſary to nature? bread, water, &c. Chriſt is called by all thoſe. He is God and man in one: King, Prieſt, and Prophet in one. A King of Kings; a high Prieſt that offered himſelf a ſacrifice by his eternal Spirit. A Prophet, that can inſtruct the ſoul. Sibs.

The chief Spices] Cant. 4. 14. or, with the heads of Spices, which is an Hebraiſm for chief or beſt, Amos 6. 6. all graces are precious and uſeful, but ſome exceed others; which we ſhould earneſtly covet, 1 Cor. 12. 31. & 13. 13. But the gift of all gifts is Chriſt, he is the only bleſſed fruit of all. Annot. By theſe are ſignified the manifold graces in Chriſtians, which are precious and ſweet before God and all good people. Such are the fruits of the Spirit, mentioned, Gal. 5. 22, 23. contrary to theſe are the roots of bitterneſſe that bear gall and wormwood, Deut. 29. 18. Heb. 12. 15. Aynſw.

Children] My mothers children were angry with me, Cant. 1. 6. that is, either the children of the Church, falſe brethren, falſe Prophets, and deceivers, Pſal. 69. 9. Act. 20. 30. Iſa. 48. 1, 2. (who might be called the children of her mother, (though not of her Father) among whom the Saints are often in peril, 2 Cor. 11. 26. Gal. 2. 4. who pretending faith and godlineſſe doe dangerouſly oppoſe the ſame, as hath been found in all ages; or inordinate luſts and ſins which dwelt in her, and were conceived with her in the womb, Jams 4. 1. 1 Pet. 2. 11. and theſe may be called our Mothers children, becauſe in ſin and in iniquity we have been conceived and brought forth, Pſal. 51. 7. Aynſw. The men of the world ſprung of the ſame common ſtock, or Hereticks, Schiſmatical brethren, wicked and lying Prophets and Paſtors, who are as apt as any, may more apt then any, when degenerated, to become the moſt bitter, and implacable enemies. Annot. Hereby Mr. Cotton underſtand the ten Tribes.

Choyce] She is the choyce one of her that bare her, Cant. 6. 9. In the Hebrew phraſe, the whole is the mother, the parts are the members. The true Catholick Church of Chriſt, is the Mother of all reformed Daughters: and theſe Daughter-Churches that are moſt chaſte and milde, and undefiled, they are beſt eſteemed, and beſt beloved of the Mother Catholick Church, as coming neereſt to her in chaſtity, innocency, purity, &c. Cotton. Thou art ſhe, whom that Jeruſalem which is above, (the Mother of us all) acknowledgeth for her only true and dear daughter. Hall. Or the clear (the pure one) The Hebrew barah, ſignifieth pure and clean from filthineſſe, purged, poliſhed, ſevered and ſelected from others; and ſo the Greek here expoundeth it, elect, or choſen, and the word is uſed for choiſe, in 1 Chron. 7. 40. Neh. 5. 18. and elſewhere, as alſo for purged by trials and afflictions, Dan. 11. 35. & 12. 10. which ſignification hath uſe in this place. Aynſw. The Church is dear unto Chriſt, as the only childe is unto a tender mother that bare it. There is no people nor Nation ſo dear unto God as his own people, Exod. 19. 5. 2 Sam. 7. 23. Pſ. 147. 20. Nay mothers may ſooner forget their only Infant, then he will forget her, Iſa. 49. 11. The Church as ſhe is but one, ſo ſhe is the only One, in whoſe boſome her parts and members can hope to be found accepted and beloved; therefore not to be deſpiſed, devoured, hated by any, that wait for Salvation. Annot.

Chryſolite] All things in Chriſt to be rich and ſhining, beautiful and precious, ſpiritually, Cant. 5. 14. His hands as rings of gold ſet with the Chryſolite.

C I.

City] And goe about the City, Cant. 3. 2. By the City, underſtand Jeruſalem the holy City, where Chriſt dwelt among men, and had ſeated his Temple, and the practiſe of his Ordinances, whi her all Iſrael repaired thrice every year, which was a figure of the Church, Eccleſ. 10. 15. Iſa. 26. 1. So amongſt the the people of God in his Word and Ordinances, ſhe ſought Chriſt for the comfort of her ſoul. Aynſw. It fares with devout ſouls in their earneſt proſecutions of Chriſt, as it doth with ungodly, ambitious, or bloud-thirſty men in effecting their deſires; they breath nothing but fury and violence; they run about the ſtreets, Pſal. 59. 6. and reſt not till they have brought their miſchief about. Oh! is not Chriſt and his heaven worth as ſtrong and as ſeductous endevours? Annot.

City] The viſible Church, (being like a city) which conſiſts of one company, living by the ſame Laws, and under one Governor or Lord, Cant. 5. 7. The Watchmen that went about the City.

C L.

Clear] Clear as the Sun, Cant. 6. 10. In the Suns brightneſſe is light, heat, refreſhing, and all in a glorious manner, the Citizens of that Church (of the Jews newly riſen) ſhall all at that time, or at leaſt the body of them, have their ſins forgiven them by the righteouſneſſe of Chriſt imputed to them. They ſhall enjoy abundant light of heavenly knowledge. They ſhall excell in purity of holineſſe. They ſhall abound in conſolations to the refreſhing of themſelves and others. Cotton. The Evangelical Church is like the Sun riſen in glory, which ſhall never goe down, Iſa. 60. 20. Her brightneſſe exceedeth all former manifeſtations, being viſited with the day-ſpring from on high, and enjoying the Sun of righteouſneſſe that was promiſed with healing under his wings, Iſa. 58. 8. & 60. 1, 2. Mal. 4. 2. This is to be underſtood of inward glory and ſpiritual light, not of outward proſperity and beauty; though even in this ſenſe alſo, ſhe may be ſaid to reſemble the Sun, which is not alwayes aſpectable and radiant alike, but ſometimes overcaſt with clowds and obſcurity, and not ſo equally viſible and reſplendent to our ſight, though without any eſſential change in it ſelf. Annot. Chriſt is the Sun of righteouſneſſe, Mal. 4. 2. the woman (his Spouſe) is cloathed with the Sun, Rev. 12. 1. becauſe by faith ſhe hath put on Chriſt, Gal. 3. 27. by whoſe righteouſneſſe imputed ſhe is purged from all ſin, and ſo is made glorious. Here alſo we may obſerve in her the degrees of grace, her firſt light being like the morning or day-dawning; her ſecond beauty like the Moon; her third degree like the Sun it ſelf in brightneſſe, Prov. 4. 18. Aynſworth. Thus from weak beginnings, ſhe grew to ſuch high perfection, that ſhe was as bright and glorious, as the Sun in his full ſtrength, and the Moon in a clear ſky. Hall.

Clefts] That are in the clefts of the rock, Cant. 2. 14. haſt long hid thine head in the ſecret and inacceſſible clifts of the rock, out of the reach and knowledge of thy perſecutors. Hall. Gods eternal election, and his deep and unſearchable counſels, a rock of ſtrength to comfort her in her weakneſſe; a ſure hold and unacceſſible den, whereunto no evill can approach, a Fort impregnable, under the which ſhe reſteth; and ſhall reſt ſafe for ever. Finch. The gracious protections and ſure mercies of God, who is her hiding place and rock of defence, to whoſe whoſe holes ſhe flyeth (Jer. 48. 28.) in times of danger and perſecution. Annot. The rock whither this Dove the Church was now fled ſeemeth moſt properly to mean faith in Chriſt, as Matth. 16. 18. wherein ſhe hid her ſelf for fear of Gods wrath for her ſin, and yet durſt not ſhew herſelf. Herewith compare Exod. 32. 22. where Moſes was put in a clift of the rock, and covered with Gods hand, while he paſſed by. Aynſw. That now doeſt worſhip me in holes and corners. Cotton.

Cluſters] That which in the Church is moſt comely, Cant. 7. 7. Thy breaſts like cluſters.

Cluſters of the Vine] The juyce of heavenly doctrine, abundantly iſſuing forth of the Old and New Teſtament (as out of breaſts like cluſters) to make all beleevers fruitfull, Cant. 7. 8. Thy breaſts ſhall now be like the cluſters of the Vine.

C O.

Coales] The coales thereof are coales of fire, Cant. 8. 6. the fiery coales, arrowes, or fiery darts; properly the word ſignifieth that which flyeth and burneth; and is applyed ſometimes to plagues and judgements, Deut. 32. 24. ſometimes to arrows, Pſal. 76. 3. here to burning coals, or darts of love that pierce and inflame the heart, and cannot be quenched. Aynſw. Nothing is more uſual then the metaphor of love and fire, becauſe the one works, burns, ſhines, flyes, and mounts upward as the other; I mean if it be ſuch love as this, heavenly and ſpiritual. Annot. The Churches love to Chriſt is moſt vehement, ardent, powerful, lively, burning all inward luſts, all outward diſcouragements.

Coat] I have put off my coat, &c. Cant. 5. 3. Here is an ingenuous confeſſion made by the Church of her own unworthineſſe, notwithſtanding all Chriſts heavenly Rhetorick and perſwaſion that he did uſe, yet ſhe draws back, and ſeemes to have reaſon ſo to doe. I have put off my coat, how ſhall I put it on again to let thee in? It is as if ſhe had ſaid, I have ſome eaſe by this ſleepy profeſſion, ſome freedome from evil tongues, and ſome exemption and immunity from ſome troubles I was in before, I was then perhaps too indiſcreet, now wilt thou call me again to thoſe troubles that I have wiſely avoided? No, I have put off my coat, &c. I affect this ſtate very well, I am content to be as I am without troubling my ſelf. Whence obſerve that, It is not an eaſie matter to bring Chriſt and the ſoul together into neer fellowſhip. Sibs.

Come] The Church ſeeing Chriſt come to her with much willingneſſe and celerity, Cant. 2. 8. hears him calling upon her to come forth into the comfortable light of his preſence, and ſhew her ſelf chearful in him, Cant. 2. 10. To ſhake off all that dull ſecurity wherewith ſhe had been held, and come forth and enjoy him, verſ. 13. Seeing according to her deſire he was come into his garden, Cant. 5. 1. ſhe again turning obeyed his call, calleth him to come that they might joyn together in their natural care, Cant. 7. 11. of whom Chriſt, Who is this that cometh up from the Wilderneſſe? Who is this that from the comfortleſſe deſerts of ignorance, of fidelity, of tribulation, aſcendeth thus up into the glorious light and liberty of my choſen? Cant. 8. 5. Hall.

To come leaping] To draw nigh with great ſpeed, or to make great haſte to come to one whom we love, Cant. 2. 8. He cometh leaping.

Comely] I am black, but comely, Cant. 1. 5. The Heb. Navah, ſignifieth comely, beautiful, amiable, and to be deſired. The Greek here tranſlateth it goodly or fair, and in verſ. 10. beautiful, as the Apoſtle, Rom. 10. 15. from Iſa. 52. 7. This comelineſſe of the Spouſe, is after ſhewed to be both in her ſight, or countenance, Cant. 2. 14. and in her ſpeech, Cant. 4. 3. and as blackneſſe is in the colour and skin; ſo comelineſſe is in the parts, features, and proportion of the body, which the Church hath by her creation, or new birth, Epheſ. 2. 10. Thus was ſhe black in her ſelf, but comely in Chriſt; for Gods ſtrength is made perfect in weakneſſe, ſee 2 Cor. 12. 9, 10. & 2 Cor. 4. 8, 9, 10. Aynſw. I am black by nature, but fair by grace; black without, but within all glorious and comely: I am black in my ſelf and my ſufferings, as my Beloved was, (whoſe viſage was marred and diſfigured more then any mans, Iſa. 52. 14.) but yet beautiful in him, who was fairer then the ſons of men, and hath put his comelineſſe and beauty upon me. I am black in ſome blaſted and dead parts, Apoſtates and Hypocrites; but in my true and living members I am true and beautiful; for as there may be a decency where there is no perfection; a deſirableneſſe and lovelineſſe, even where ſome ſpots, (why elſe would our gallants uſe ſo many?) So there may be a true Church full of order and decency, though not perfect and wholely beautiful. Annot.

Comely.

1. By the preſent purity of Gods Ordinances in the Temple, Pſal. 48.1,2. 2 Chro. 13. 10.--12.

2. The conſtancy of the upright in cleaving to God, to the King, to the houſe of God, and David, the which was done in profeſſion by whole Judah and Benjamin, and the Iſraelites inhabiting in the Cities of Judah, but in truth by the upright, 1 King. 12. 17. 20, 23. Cotton. I am inwardly welfavoured in the eyes of him whom I ſeek to pleaſe. Hall. Inwardly and in the hidden man amiable and full of beauty, and that through Chriſt and his righteouſneſſe. Finch. Accordingly Chriſt termeth her cheeks comely. Cant. 1. 10. comely her countenance, Cant. 2. 14. her ſpeech alſo comely, Cant. 4. 3. her ſelf comely as Jeruſalem, (being orderly builded, the glory of the world) Cant. 6. 4.

Comfort] Comfort me with Apples, Cant. 2. 5. See Apples.

Companie of two Armies] A double Army, joyfully meeting Chriſt with his elect, Angels being one Army, and the Church with her compauy, another Army, Cant. 6. 13. As the company of two Armies. See Two Armies.

Companions] Counterfeit Teachers, hirelings, and falſe Prophets, which in their pride advance themſelves to be companions to Chriſt, in Office of teaching. This doth the Pope, none more, Cant. 1. 7. To the flocks of thy companions. Falſe Aſſemblies or corrupt Congregations, who pretended to be companions, but are ſeducers, Mat. 24. 24. yet theſe falſe guides have many followers, as Waſps have combes but no Hony, many flocks, ſeveral diviſions, and ſub-diviſions of them, which we ſhould avoid, and follow that one Shepheard, Ezek. 37. 24. whoſe flock is but one and without Schiſm, and upon whoſe mountains we ſhould all abide. Annot. So in effect. Aynſw.

By companions in Cant. 8. 13. are meant her fellow-chriſtians, partakers of the ſame faith, Spirit and grace, 2 Pet. 1. 1. Aynſw. Whom it was her duty to inſtruct and teach, not to lord over them, being her companions, not her ſervants, or hand-maids. Annot.

Compaſſed with Lillies] Abundantly bleſſed with pleaſant ſweetneſſe, (ſuch as Lillies yeild to the body) for the ſpiritual delight. Thy belly is as an heap of wheat compaſſed about with Lillies.

Compare] I have compared thee, Cant. 1. 9. or, I have likened, thought thee to be like. Aynſw. Or, made thee like. By the vertue of the Word and Spirit of Chriſt, we are transformed, and being without any thing praiſe-worthy before, are changed from glory to glory. Annot.

To conceibe] To beget or become mother of children, as the Church is ſpiritually, Cant. 3. 4.

Concubines] Women, which Princes aud great perſons were wont of old to keep, together with their Wives, which were Queens, Cant. 6. 9. Even the Queens and the Concubines. Under the names of Daughters and Queens and Concubines, the converſion, adoption and benediction of all the reduced Nations is conſpired, who are foretold to admire and confeſſe the glories of the Church, Deut. 4. 6. to account her happy and renowned, Ezek. 16. 14. and ſo indeed they did, Act. 5. 13. as Moſes did Iſrael, Deut. 33. 29. Annot.

Countenance] Let me ſee thy countenance, Cant. 2. 14. or, cauſe me to ſee thy perſonage, thy viſage, form, faſhion, ſhape, or appearance, that is, ſtir up thy faith, and hold up thy face with comfort, come unto me, walk before me, and be upright, as Gen. 17. 1. preſent thy body as a living ſacrifice, &c. Rom. 12. 1. So the Chaldee expoundeth it, Shew me thy countenance and thy righteous works. Aynſw. She is called out of her caves and dens, to appear and look abroad. God forgets not his in perſecution, leaves them not to ſtarve in holes and rocks, but viſits them, and converſeth with them, deſiring to ſee their faith, to behold their Aſſemblies, and to hear their praiſes and prayers. Annot. Shew thy ſelf in thy works and righteouſneſſe unto me, and let me ever be plyed with thy words of imploration and thankſgiving. Hall. Shew me thy faith. God taketh knowledge of us (face to face) when we apprehend Meſſiah by faith. We cannot ſhew our face to him, but we ſhall ſee the face of him, and that which is more, while we behold the glory of Meſſiah with open face, we are changed into the ſame image from glory to glory, as by the Spirit of the Lord, 2 Cor. 3. 18. that is, whileſt by the eye of faith we contemplate Meſſiah, we are turned (not into Meſſiah, but) into his glorious Image. And this converſion not by any natural hand, but by the operation of the Lords Spirit. Clapham. Let me ſee thee aſſembled into the face of a Church, in my Sanctuary. Cotton.

His Countenance is as Lebanon] Cant. 5. 18. His whole ſhape and Perſon is moſt glorious and full of Majeſty, for it was a Proverbial expreſſion among them, by which they they would ſignifie any thing moſt excellent and beautiful, Lebanon being the glory of Syria, & was called the Mountain of Mountains for its height, ſweetneſs, fruitfulneſs, &c. So is Chriſt the glory of his Church, and the Elect of God in whom his ſoul delighteth, Iſa. 42. 1. Annot. The ſhew and carriage of his whole Perſon, whereby he makes himſelf known to his choſen, is exceeding goodly and upright, like to the ſtraight and lofty Cedars of Lebanon. Hall. As Chriſts large, glorious, and everlaſting Kingdome is ſignified by a Stone that became a great Mountain, and filled the whole earth, Dan. 35.44. and other Kingdoms alſo are figured by Mountains, Jer. 51. 25. ſo the largeneſſe, eminency, and glory of Chriſt in his Kingdome, is here reſembled by Mount Lebanon. Aynſw. His preſence is goodly, ſtately and majeſtical, ſo it is and will be when he ſhews himſelf indeed for the vindicating of his Church, then the enemies thereof ſhall know that his preſence is as Lebanon. Sibs.

Covering] The covering of it of Purple, Cant. 3.10. or the curtains or hangings, Heb. 3.7. or the veil of it, as that of the Ark, Exod.26.31. which ſignified an holy pure life & converſation, which is ſoft and gentle as Silk is, but yet muſt be coloured in the purple ſtreams, that is, the bloud of Chriſt, the application, and tincture whereof is not only our glory, but our protection, Rev.7.14. Ann. The top and hangings, which have the name here of riding, becauſe it ſeemed as it were to ride upon the chariot, ſo the Greek calleth it Epibaſis, of aſcending. It ſeemeth to ſignifie the outward converſation and cloathing of the Church, &c. Aynſw. In regard of his Royal and Kingly office, he is glorious as Purple, and cloathed with it to advance our baſeneſſe. Cotton. The ornaments and hangings, are the ſhining glory of God, and the Lambe. Finch.

C R.

Crown] The honour, advancement and glory, given to Chriſt, both by his Father, in ſetting him at his right hand above all things that be moſt excellent, and with which the Church his mother (Rev.12.1,2. &c.) doth honour and glorifie him, Cant. 3. 11. And behold the King Solomon with the Crown. To adore and fear him, and denying our ſelves to reſt our ſpirits in him, is to put the Crown upon his head, is to become mothers and brethren, and ſiſters to him, Matth.12.50. The Apoſtle ſaith of the Churches, that by obeying the form of doctrine which he had delivered, they were a Crown to him, Phil.4.1. & 1 Theſ. 2. 19. ſo does every conformable and humble Chriſtian beſtow a Crown on Chriſt by walking worthy of him, and their ſeveral graces and duties are bright jewels ſet in it. Annot. When Chriſt ruleth in his Church by the Scepter of his Word, and his people ſubmit unto his Law and Government, then ſet they the Crown upon his head, acknowledging his authority. Aynſw.

Cruel] Jelouſie is cruel as the Grave, Cant. 8. 6. fierce, inexorable. As death and the grave devoureth all, ſo love and jealous zeal conſumeth and eateth up, not ſparing; for the love of Chriſt conſtraineth, 2 Cor. 5. 14. and the zeal for his glory, eateth up the godly, Pſal.69.9. Aynſw. Divine love is as reſtleſſe and as hard to be pleaſed, as that greedy appetite and wombe of death, (Prov. 30.16.) ſo that ſhe never can be quiet, but conſumes herſelf, (Pſal. 69.9. & 119. 139.) untill filled with God himſelf. Annot.

C V.

Cunning workman] One endowed with skill, to doe his work well and exquiſitely, Cant. 7. 1. The work of the hand of a cunning workman, meaning here God or Chriſt, for he is the Artificer in heavenly things, Heb. 11. 10. and the Church with her gracious bleſſings is the work of his hands, Iſa. 60.21. Aynſw.

Curled locks] A head beautiful and fair: it being counted of in thoſe times as a grace to have curled locks, Cant. 5. 11. His locks curled.

Curtains of Solomon] The whole outward glory of Solomons court, and ſpiritually, the inward beauty and comelineſſe of the Church, Cant. 1. 5. And as the Curtains of Solomon.

C Y.

Cynamon] And Cynamon, Cant.4.14. This ſtrengtheneth and cheereth the ſpirits and minde, dryeth up rotten matter, helpeth againſt poyſon, warmeth and ſtrengtheneth the ſtomach to digeſtion. Cotton. Hereby (as by the others here named) the manifold graces in Chriſtians are ſignified, which are precious and ſweet before God and all good people. Aynſw.

D A.

Damaſcus] Which looketh toward Damaſcus, Cant. 7.4. or eſpying, watching, beholding the face of Damaſcus, which was the chief city in Syria, Iſa. 7.8. (called in Hebrew Dammeſek, ſometime Darmeſek, 1 Chron. 18.5. marg. and Dummeſek, 2 King. 16.10.) It lay Northward from mount Lebanon, the Inhabitants whereof were commonly enemies to Iſrael, and often war was between Gods people and them, 1 King. 11.24,25. 1 Chron. 18.5,6. Iſa. 7.5,8. Amos 1.3. wherefore the Tower of Lebanon, looking, (or eſpying, watching) towards Damaſcus, may intimate here beſide the courage, the care alſo of the Spouſe, for the ſafeguard of her ſelf and her children againſt the enemy, for in times of danger, they ſet on Towers and high places, watchmen or ſpies to give warning of what they ſaw, 2 Sam. 18.24,25. Iſai. 21.6,9. Ezek. 33.2.6. Aynſw.

Daughters] Strange Nations and people, which doe admire the glory of the Church, Cant. 6.9. The daughters have ſeen her, and counted her bleſſed. The congregations of peoples; as the Scriptures mention, the Daughter of Jeruſalem, the daughter of Tyrus, and many the like. So is my love among the daughters, Cant. 2.2. Aynſw. The word Daughters when abſolute and ſolitary hath ſeldome a good ſenſe, like women that loſe their good name, not only by keeping ill company, but by keeping none. As theſe are exceeded by the Church in beauty, ſo ſhall they be at laſt in power; the outgrow and diſtreſſe her for the preſent, but that flouriſhing is but like the crackling of thorns under the pot, which the fire of the Lords jealouſie ſhall conſume like dry ſtubble, Iſa. 27.4. Annot.

Daughters of Jeruſalem] Either falſe ſiſters of the Church, the degenerate aſſemblies of Idolaters: or the particular Congregations, begotten of the Word, which came out of Hieruſalem. The latter Interpretation is the better, Cant. 2.7. I charge ye O Daughters of Jeruſalem. The Daughters of Jeruſalem were nothing elſe but her ſelf in her diſtinct parts and branches, Annot. The friends of Chriſt and his Church, the Elect of God, though not yet perfectly inſtructed in the way of the Lord, Cant. 5.8.9. & 6.1. As the Villages belonging to a City, are uſually called the daughters of that City, Numb. 21.21.25. 1 Chron. 7.28. So Jeruſalem which is above is the Mother of us all, Gal. 4.26. whoſe daughters are the particular Churches and Chriſtians called Virgins, 2 Cor. 11.2. Rev. 14.4. and Sodom and Samaria are propheſied of, that they ſhould be given to Jeruſalem for daughters, Ezek. 16.61. and thus in Pſal. 45.13,14. The Kings Daughter (the Church) is brought unto the King in raiment of Needleworke, and Virgins her friends after her. Aynſw. Hereof mention is alſo Cant. 3.5,10. and in verſ. 11. where they are tearmed the daughters of Zion, ſo in chap. 5.8.16. & in chap. 8.4.

Princes Daughter] Cant. 7.1. This title belongeth only to ſuch as believe in Chriſt, which are born not of bloods, nor of the will of the fleſh, nor of the will of man, but of God, Joh. 1.13. The word may be rendered, Daughter of the beautiful, or bounteous Princes daughter, or of the Prince, the Noble; for Princes were ſtyled bountiful, or Benefactors, Luk. 22.25. as being free, liberal, and willing to doe good unto others. Hereby is ſignified that ſhe was of noble race, and ingenuous diſpoſition, ready and willing to ſerve the Lord, and propagate the grace of his Goſpel unto others, Aynſworth.

David] Thy neck is like the tower of David, Cant. 4.4. mention is made hereof in Neh. 3.19,25. or the fort of Zion which David took, and builded, 2 Sam. 5.7,9. Hereby is meant that her neck was upright, high, and ſtrong: for the neck is named in Hebrew Tſavvar, of firmneſſe and ſtrength, a Tower, (Migdal) is a building great and high, Iſa. 2.15. This ſignifieth the magnanimity and high courage, the ſure hope, the bold and comfortable carriage of the Church, whileſt ſhe being by faith united unto Chriſt her head, doth no longer bow down her neck to bear the yoke of her enemies, to ſerve Satan and ſin any more, or to be a ſervant unto men, Rom. 6.17,18. 1 Cor. 7.23. but by the weapons of her warfare (2 Cor. 10.4.) ſhe ſtandeth, and withſtandeth in the evil day, Epheſ. 6.11,17. Aynſw. So in effect the Annotations.

Day] In the day when ſhe ſhall be ſpoken of, Cant. 8.8. or, wherein ſpeech ſhall be of her, or unto her, or againſt her. The day of grace is not not alwayes at hand; he who is the Lord of times and ſeaſons, hath ordained and appointed ſuch opportunities, according to his own pleaſure. As he came in the fulneſſe of time, that is, the time decreed, and predetermined by himſelf; ſo did he ordain a time and ſet a day, for the viſiting of the Gentiles, that they might be gathered into a ſetled Church, and called into the communion of the Covenant of grace, by the Goſpel, which ſhould be revealed. Annot. When the fame of her calling and converſion ſhall come abroad, what furtherance ſhall we yeeld, to encreaſe, ſettle, and ſtabliſh her in the truth? This ſheweth the duty of love from one Church to another in communicating their graces each to other, and praying one for another, Act. 11.19,22,23. But inaſmuch as no ſooner doe a people turn to the Lord, but the wicked doe oppoſe in word and work: the Hebrews in their Chaldee Paraphraſe expound the words here, What ſhall we doe for our Siſter in the day when the Nations ſhall ſpeak to goe up againſt her to warre? Aynſw.

Day-breake] The clear day of Chriſt his firſt coming in the fleſh, by the fuller Revelation of himſelf, to chaſe away the ſhadowes of the Law, in dark rites and ceremonies.

Alſo the perfect clear day of his ſecond coming in glory, when all obſcurity being done away, there ſhall break forth a glorious light, Cant. 2.17. Untill the day break, and the ſhadows flie away.

Day of marriage] The laſt and great day, when the marriage begun here between Chriſt and his Church, by betrothing, ſhall be perfected and conſummate with exceeding glory to the great rejoycing and making glad, both of Husband and Spouſe. Therefore called the Day of the gladneſſe of his heart, Cant. 3. v. laſt, Come forth ye Daughters of Zion, and behold the King Solomon, with the crown wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his marriage.

D E.

Dear] Entirely affected and loved tenderly, Cant. 6.8. And ſhe is dear to her that bare her.

Death] Love is as ſtrong as death, Cant. 8.6. Spiritual heavenly love is inexpugnable and unconquerable. Her love is ſo ſtrong and conſtant, that even that which terrifies and deſtroyes all elſe, cannot her, but ſhe deſpiſeth the Prince of terrors, Death it ſelf. Here in the reſiſtible and undaunted vigor & courage of holy love & deſire after Chriſt is exalted to the higheſt. Annot. As death is ſtrong and overcometh the ſtrongeſt man, Pſal. 89.48. So the love which I bear towards thee, deſiring to be united unto thee, is a ſtrong affection, which cannot be ſubdued in me, by any trouble or temptation. Aynſw. Death ſheweth his ſtrength;

1. In ſubduing all ſorts of people, high and low, young and old.

2. Accepting no compaſſion, nor yeelding to any oppoſition, but going through with his work: Such ſtrength of love ſhall this Church (the Church of the Jews) ſhew to Chriſt, ſubduing all before her to the obedience of Chriſt, and not ſuffering any impediment to detain her from him. Cotton.

Defile] I have waſhed my feet, how ſhall I defile them? Cant. 5.3. A phraſe taken from the cuſtome of thoſe hot countries, wherein they uſed to waſh their feet, which being clean ſhe was loth to riſe and open the door, not being willing to take any more paines, or loſe what ſhe had taken. Such worthleſſe excuſes doth our fleſh alledge; the time is unſeaſonable, the night is cold and damp, the weather wet, we cannot ariſe to entertain Chriſt without trouble and detriment. So Hag. 1. 2,4. Prov. 20.4. & 26.3. Aynſw. She was loath to give ear to every call of Chriſt, for fear of diſquieting herſelf, of drawing upon her dangers, troubles, fears and loſſes, if ſhe ſhould follow him in all things. O fleſh and bloud how wiſe art thou to finde out a reaſon to thine own hurt, and to have ſome blinde excuſe or other for that thou wouldſt fain doe? Finch.

Delight] I ſate down under his ſhadow with great delight, Cant. 2.3. or, I deſired and ſate, or, I much deſired that I might ſit. The form of the Hebrew word increaſeth the ſignification, as noting a continual and fervent deſire of that which is pleaſing, delightful, or profitable, and by ſitting is meant abiding and reſting, as in Pſ. 91.1. The Church therefore being by ſin under wrath revealed by the Law, and being maligned by the world, as a Lilly among thorns, acknowledgeth her faith, hope, love and delight to be in Chriſt Jeſus, who hath delivered us from the wrath to come, 1 Theſ. 1.10. ſee Rom. 5.1. Joh. 16.33. Aynſw. As weary travellers ſeek cool arbours and defences from the heat, and delight in them: ſo doth the weary ſoul ſeek after Chriſt. Annot.

How pleaſant and how fair art thou, O Love for Delights!] Cant. 7.6. By delights Dr. Hall underſtandeth whatſoever may give true contentment. Mr. Cotton. The publick worſhip worſhip of God, ſo called, as being the marriage bed, wherein Chriſt moſt familiarly ſolaceth himſelf with his Church. How fair art thou made (paſſively in the Hebrew) O my deareſt in thy delights. Annot. O Love, that is, O thou that art dearly loved; Thus they call, to ſignifie Chriſts great affection towards her, (the word ſignifieth inward charity and loving affection which is ſtrong and fervent, Cant. 8.6,7.) for delights, or delicacies, or, with pleaſures meaning full delight, all manner of pleaſure, ſo that all that love her, may rejoyce with her, and delight themſelves in the brightneſſe of her glory, Iſa. 66. 10,11. Aynſw.

Dens of Lyons] The multitude of the wicked enemies of the Church, which like wilde and ſavage Beaſts, exerciſe all cruelty againſt it. So much is meant by Mountains of Leopards, from which Chriſt will deliver his people, Cant. 4. 8. From the Dens of Lyons, &c.

Humane writers teſtifie that Amanus was a Mountain forcibly poſſeſſed by many Tyrants, and ſo the holy Ghoſt here calleth theſe places Dens of Lyons, &c. Aynſw. From the Cities and Temples of Idolaters, who are wilde and ſavage as Lyons, and from thine own brutiſh luſts and abominations, which are as hardly got away from the ſoul, as ſpots from Leopards. Annot. Hereby Mr. Cotton underſtandeth Jeruſalem and the Temple, which in our Saviours time was made a den of theeves and robbers, but in the Apoſtles times, after his Aſcenſion, the Rulers grew more fierce and cruel, ſpilling the bloud of Steven, and making havock of the Church.

Deſire] The exceeding great kindeneſſe, affection, and free love, which Chriſt exerciſeth towards his Church, for her preſervation in that eſtate of grace wherein he hath ſet her, Cant. 7.10. I am my well-beloveds, and his deſire is toward me. Or, his deſirous affection, the Greek interpreteth it, his converſion, (or turning) is toward me. This manner of ſpeech was uſed before, when God chaſtening the woman for her ſin, thy deſire ſhall be unto thy husband, Gen. 3. 16. But now this woman being renewed by grace, and eſpouſed to Chriſt, as to an husband, 2 Cor. 11.2. rejoyceth that his deſire is unto her. So contrary each to other are our natural ſinful ſtate, and our eſtate by grace in Chriſt. Aynſw.

To Deſpiſe] To contemn, ſet at nought, and by contumelies, reproaches, and proud ſcornings, to bewray it, Cant. 8.1. Then they ſhould not deſpiſe thee. Perſons are deſpiſed or contemned, when either they doe, or are thought to doe, that which is not honeſt or comely, Gen. 38.23. 2 Sam. 6.16. or, when they miſſe of their purpoſe, and are laughed to ſcorn with contempt, Iſa. 37.22. Neither of theſe ſhould befall her, doing but her duty in ſeemly and modeſt ſort, and obtaining Chriſt whom her ſoul deſired. What the ſtate of a people without Chriſt, and how ſubject they are to ſhame and reproach, the Lord himſelf ſheweth, in Iſa. 54.1 4,6. But them that honour God, he will honour, and they that deſpiſe him ſhall be lightly eſteemed, 1 Sam. 2. 30. and if any man ſerve Chriſt, him will the Father honour, Joh. 12.26. Aynſw.

Dew] The inconveniences and diſcommodities, even all pains and ſorrows, which Chriſt did undergoe for the love of his Spouſe, Cant. 5.2. For mine head is full of Dew, and my Locks with the drops of the night. There was no incovenience or evil ſo great, which could hold back Chriſt from expreſſing his love unto his Church. Yea not only in his own perſon while he was on earth, did he ſuffer for her; but in his ſervants who are often troubled on every ſide, perplexed, perſecuted, caſt down, alwayes bearing about in the body the dying of the Lord Jeſus, &c. 2 Cor. 4. 8,9, 10. Thus Chriſt cometh in the dark night of affliction to awake her, and to communicate himſelf and his graces with her, for a man to be wet with the dew of heaven is a ſign of miſery, Dan. 4.25. So is rain where there is no covert, Iſa. 4. 6. and drops, or droppings, likewiſe ſignifie troubles, Amos 6.11. But dew and rain upon the land maketh it fruitfull, ſo is Chriſt by his doctrine to his Church, Deut. 32.2. Pſal. 7.2.6. Hoſ. 14.5. And in this ſenſe ſome take it here as if Chriſt came unto her full of the dew of bleſſings to enrich her. Aynſw. So in effect the Annotations.

D O.

To doe for one] To extend and beſtow ſome favour and bleſſing upon one, Cant. 8. 8. What ſhall we doe for our Siſter, when ſhe ſhall be ſpoken for?

Doore] A city, by Synecdoche of the part. Cant. 8.9. And if ſhe be a Doore we will keep her in with Boards of Cedar. If ſhe goe forward in faith and practiſe of the Goſpel, that ſhe be not only built up as a wall but as a gate and doore fully edified, as at the repairing of Jeruſalem, when they ſanctified the gates, and ſet up the doores of it, Neh. 3. which gates, doores, barres, &c. were for the ſafeguard of the Inhabitants, and ſhewed their care to reſiſt and keep out the enemies (as appeareth by the contrary in Jer. 49. 31.) as alſo to open that the righteous Nation which keepeth the truths may enter in, Psal. 118.20. Isa. 26.2. Therefore Angels are at the gates of the heavenly City to conduct Gods people into it, Revel. 21. 12. 27. & 22. 14. Aynsw. See Boards of Cedar.

Dove] O my Dove, Cant. 2. 14. As when Christ was baptized, the holy Ghost appeared in the shape of a Dove (as a symbole of his presence) to discover thus much, That Christ should have the property and disposition of a Dove, and be meek and gentle, Mat. 11.29. & 12.20. And to shew what his Office should be; for even as the Dove in Noahs Ark was sent out and came home again to the Ark with an Olive branch, to shew that the waters were abated; so Christ was to preach deliverance from the deluge of Gods anger, and to come with an Olive leaf of peace in his mouth and reconciliation, to shew that Gods wrath was appeased: So all that are Christs, the Spouse of Christ, have the disposition of Christ; That Spirit that framed him to be like a Dove, frames the Church to be a Dove, whereunto she is compared, and which we should resemble,

1. In meekness, Psal. 39.1. Col. 3.12. 1 Pet. 3.4. Numb. 12.3. Zeph. 2.1,2.

2. In simplicity, being without guile; simple concerning evil, not in ignorance and simplicity, as in Hos. 7.11.

3. In faithfulness: as it is faithful to the mate, so should we be to Christ, we must keep our judgement chaste, (must not be tainted with errours and sins) keep our affection chast likewise, Rev. 14.4. Psal. 73.25.

4. In neatness: it will not lodge where it shall be troubled with stench, and likewise feeds upon pure grain, not upon carrion, so the Christian soul will not feed upon worldly carrion, or sinful pleasures, but upon Christ and spiritual things.

5. In loving communion and fellowship, Isa. 60.8. Gods children love the communion and fellowship one of another. Doves will consort with Doves, Christians with Christians, and none else.

6. In suffering: the Dove is molested by all birds of prey, so the poor Church of God is molested and persecuted, Oh that I had wings like a Dove saith David.

7. As the Dove for its defence hath nothing but flight, to mourn, and to build on high: so the Church of God hath no other refuge but to be housed in God and Christ, he is our Ark, we must with Hezekiah, Jer. 38. mourn to God, who hears the bemoanings of his own Spirit in us: and build on him, as on a rock to be safe in him. Sibs. Our eyes must not be proud, lustful, envious, wanton, &c. but like those of the Dove, meek, humble, pure, peaceable, fixed upon God, and by an holy intention waiting on him for life and devotion, Cant. 1.15. Annot. We must be bashful and modest, not daring to lift up our eyes after other lovers, Ezek. 18.6. but only to the true God, Isa. 17.7. Annot. It's said of the Dove, that it only amongst birds bewaileth not, when its young ones are taken from it; Gods Church should rather rejoyce then grieve, when God is glorified by the death of any her members, for the bloud of Martyrs hath proved the seed of the Church. Doves are fruitful, and is not the Church so? When there's any variance between them, how soon are they reconciled? and should not we? Its flesh is good against the Pestilence, and is not Christ fed upon against sin?

His eyes are as of Doves by the rivers of water, Cant. 5.12. Nothing is more known then that Doves take great delight in Springs, and Fountains, and pure Rivers, and so are a fit and most proper embleme of the purity and holiness of Christ, whose eyes cannot so much as behold any iniquity, Hab. 1.13. and are meek, humble, pitiful, and full of compassion: for he looketh not after prey and bloud, as Vultures and Eagles, whose eyes are not red and bloudy, as the eyes of drunkards, which wine; nor filthy and noysom, as the letchers, which are ful of adultery; nor fiery and glaring, as the angry and furious, whose eyes flame revenge, like a Dogs, or Lyons; nor yet distorted and looking asquint, as the envious and malicious; but as the meek and gentle eyes of Doves, which to make them more gentle are washed in milk. Annot.

D R.

Draw] Draw me, Cant. 1. 4. Pull me out from the bondage of my sins; deliver me from the world, and doe thou powerfully incline my will and affections towards thee. Hall. To come and cleave unto Christ is a divine work, the work of God himself, and steps beyond the reach of man, which no humane foot can tread, no wit can climbe unto or comprehend, unless it be framed and fashioned from above. A work which of all others we are most untoward unto, of such difficulty, that we must be drawn and haled, and violently pulled out of our selves, before we can once settle about it, having neither power, nor so much as will unto it. The efficient cause is not in our selves; it cometh cometh from Chriſt alone, who ſpeaking to our heart by the Miniſtery of the Word, and the ſweet allurements of his Spirit, pulleth us out of this preſent evill world, and draweth us after him. Finch. He is ſtronger then the powers of darkneſſe, and able not only to open the heart, and offer ſalvation to it, but alſo to convert it, and tranſlate it to his Kingdome, that ſo it may paſſe from death unto life. Annot. We muſt not only get a knowledge of our own inability, but ſeek unto Chriſt for ſupply of ſuch defect. The high way unto God is ſpiritual miſery, and beggery. Clapham.

To drink Wine] To partake with Chriſt in his exceeding comfort and joy which he taketh in his Spouſe, as Angels and faithful Miniſters doe, Cant. 5. 1. I drank my Wine: Eat O friends, drink and make merry, &c. The word ſignifieth to drink freely, or plentifully, ſtill denoting his gracious acceptation of their duty (I have allowed of the cheerfulneſſe of thy ſervice, and the wholeſomeneſſe of thy doctrine. Hall.) which like Wine for the cheerfulneſſe, and milk for the ſoundneſſe, and ſincerity of it, is grateful to him. This is referred to the inſtitution and celebration of the holy Sacrament of his Supper; when he himſelf was both Conviva, and Convivium, the intertainer, and the Feaſt, for then did he eat and drink perſonally; not for any augmentation of grace to his Perſon, that he could receive, that had a fulneſſe ever, but firſt out of new actual delectation which his Spirit took in that Ordination, and then to give an example and law to his Church, with whom he doth ſtill receive myſtically, as well as he is received by them. Annot. God not onely accepts, but he delights in the graces of his children, which may encourage us to be much in all holy duties. Sibs.

Drink abundantly, Can. 5. 1. or, be drunken, that is, plentifully filled. Aynſw. This is without any riot or exceſſe; without any ſin or treſpaſſe. This is not like that of the Epicures, wicked and beſtial, but pure, heavenly, innocent. Sibs.

To drop as Honey combes] To ſpeak and utter words full of ſweetneſſe and good ſavour, Cant. 4. 11. Thy lips my Spouſe drop as honey-combes.

My hands dropped myrrhe, Cant. 5. 5. that is, Oyl of myrrhe, paſſing myrrhe, pure myrrhe, currant myrrhe. As this paſſing myrrhe dropping from Chriſts lips, Cant. 5. 13. ſignifieth the ſweet odour of his doctrine; So the like here dropping from the hands and fingers of his Spouſe, ſeemeth to denote the ſweet odour of her works. Her hands, that is, her actions are anoynted with Oyl of myrrhe, that is, the grace of Gods Spirit; or, we may underſtand it of the grace of Chriſt, which he left behinde him, as a ſweet odour to allure her, when he put in his hands at the hole of the door, which ſhe perceiveth now, when ſhe was riſen from her bed of carnal ſecurity. Aynſw. Chriſt firſt leaves myrrhe, and then her hands drop myrrhe, Chriſts grace is the cauſe of our grace, our oyl is from his oyl, Pſal. 133. 2. & 36. 9. Joh. 1. 16. The Church having riſen to open the door, her hands drop myrrhe. We find experience of the grace of Chriſt, when we ſtir up our ſelves to endevour, 1 Chron. 28. 20. Her hands dropped myrrhe, Gods graces are ſweet. Sibs.

Drops of the night] All the evils which Chriſt out of his love ſuffered for his Church, Cant. 5. 2. My head is full of dew, and my locks with the drops of the night.

To Drown] To extinguiſh and put out, or to overthrow; ſo cannot Chriſts love be to his Spouſe the Church, or hers towards him, Cant. 8. 7. Much waters cannot quench love, neither can floods drown it.

D W.

Dwell] Thou that dwelleſt in the Gardens, Cant. 8. 13. Or, O Inhabitreſſe. The Church is ſaid to be thus, becauſe ſhe is divided and branched into many particular Congregations, which are no leſſe delightful to Chriſt, then ſo many Edens or Paradiſes. Annot.

Earth] The flowers appear on the Earth] Cant. 2. 12. This being naturally dry and barren, and curſed for mans ſin, Gen. 3. is by the bleſſing of God, and by means of the rain and dew of heaven, made fruitful; ſo is our ſinful barren nature, made fruitful by the bleſſing and Goſpel of Chriſt, Heb. 6. 7, 8, 9. See Hoſ. 14. 4, 5, 6. Aynſw.

To Eat] To communicate and take part with others in their good and joyful things, as they which eat together, are to take of one meat, Cant. 4. 1. Eat, O friends, Eat, drink, and make you merry.

To

To Eat pleasant fruit] To be present with the Church, to feast, and make merry with her in communicating of her graces, Cant. 4. 16. Let my well-beloved come to his Garden, and Eat his pleasant fruit.

E M.

To Embrace] To comfort and uphold (as it were) being received into ones hands for that purpose, Cant. 2. 6. His right hand to embrace me. These his imbraces spoken of here, are testimonies both of love and power; not so much witnessing the kindeness, as the might of Christ who is able to preserve such lame criples as we are from falling, and likewise to lift us up again, when faln never so low, and to restore us to a better strength again, which only (if any be) is the reason that his people shall not be finally and utterly cast down, for the Lord upholdeth them, Psal. 37. 24. nay incircleth and embraceth them with his hand, with his right hand. Annot. Doth embrace me, or let embrace me, or will embrace me. It is a speech of faith, or prayer concerning the fruition of Christs love and graces. This commendeth the love of Christ that leaves not his Church in her sickness, sins, and infirmities, but cometh to her, comforteth and sustaineth her with his own hands, &c. It setteth forth also the Churches faith and thankfulness, which seeth Christ present in his Doctrine and Ordinances, and his Ministry, as if he were crucified before her, Gal. 3. 1. and rejoyceth before others for his love and help, 2 Cor. 1. 3,4,5, &c. Aynsw.

E N.

Engedi] In the Vineyards of Engedi, Cant. 1.14. The name of a place in the land of Canaan, which fell to the Tribe of Judah, and being near the Sea, and watered with springs, was a fruitful soil for Gardens and Vineyards, Josh. 15.62 Ezek. 47.10. It was called also Hazazon Tamar, 2 Chron. 20. 2. where the enemies coming against Jehoshaphat, he prayed unto God and was delivered, which victory may also be respected here, as a figure of the victories, which the Church obtaineth by faith in Christ. Aynsw. It is a compounded word, whereof the first part signifieth an Eye or Fountain, the latter, a Kid, or company. So that the whole word may be Englished, The Eye, or Fountain of my Kid; or the Eye, or Fountain of my Company. Clapham. According to others, it signifieth the Fountain, (or because one word signifieth both, the Eye) of invasion, of tentations, who hold that here grew those odoriferous clusters of Camphire, and those Myrrhe-trees; that is, Here hath the Lord appointed even in the very place of greatest tentations, and incisions, the greatest remedy against them; and where the Crosse is, there is the cordial and antidote against it, Psal. 94. 19. 2 Cor. 1. 5. Annot.

Espousals] Cant. 3. 11. See Day of marriage.

E X.

Expert] Being expert in war, Cant. 3. 8. or learned, taught, (as the Greek translateth it) being taught of God, who teacheth the hands of his people to war, 2 Sam. 22. 35. So that they fight the good fight of faith, 1 Tim. 6. 12. and by long custome are inured and skilful in the Lords battels; and have their senses exercised to discern good and evil, Heb. 5. 14. Such in figure were the sons of Reuben, Gad, and Manasseh, 1 Chron. 5. 18. Aynsw. Learned and taught, and so able to teach in War. It's one thing to bear arms, another to handle them, or to have courage to use them. The watchmen of the Church should be appointed both wayes, able to teach, and willing; furnished with all necessary ammunition to resist the adversaries, Tit. 1. 9. and valiant for the faith, Jer. 9. 3. And this magnanimity is necessary in this regard chiefly, that they have so many powerful enemies to deal with. Annot.

E Y.

Eyes] Thou hast ravished my heart with one of thine Eyes, Cant. 4. 9. And, Turn away thine Eyes from me, for they have overcome me, Cant. 6. 5. And, Thine Eyes are like the Fish-pools in Heshbon. Cant. 7. 4. Thus Christ speaketh to his Church. The Eye is either the eye of faith, which sees things invisible, or the eye of loyal and humble love, which is single and modest, looking onely at Christ, and at nothing else, but for his sake, Matth. 6. 22. Annot. Eyes mean here her faith, and the fruits thereof, as prayers, &c. wherewith Christ is greatly affected and delighted. Aynsw.

Eyes like Doves] Gracious Eyes, simple and chaste, such as be the eyes of Doves. Cant. 1. 14. Thine Eyes are like the Doves.

F A.

Failed] My ſoul failed when he ſpake, Cant. 5. 6. I was almoſt paſt my ſelf with deſpair to remember that ſweet invitation of his, which I neglected. Hall. Stroke with a conſcience of her ſin, ſhe falleth into a ſwoon to think of his kinde and loving words, which ſhe ſo ſcornfully ſet at nought. Finch. I was even as a dead woman, through fear & grief; for death is the departing of the ſoul from the body, Gen. 35.18. and as the heart is ſaid to goe forth when men are aſtoniſhed with fear, or the like paſſions, Gen. 42.28. ſo the ſoul is here ſaid to goe forth for the like cauſe. The word ſpoken doth not alwayes preſently take effect in the hearers, but after when they fall into temptation, the Spirit of God often bringeth things to their remembrance, that they doe better underſtand and make uſe of that they heard, Mat. 26.75. Joh. 14.26. Aynſw. Or was melted, or went out of me, for his words which he had uſed to me: I was even examinated, and aſtoniſhed, even as nature and the creatures ſeem to be when the Sun is abſent. This is a ſecond effect of ſecurity, it will deeply trouble the heart, when ſoftened and mollified a little by grace to have refuſed and reſiſted Chriſt before. God will work upon the heart, and give theſe holy liquefactions unto all, unto whom he will give Chriſt. They ſhall be aſhamed and confounded that they have neglected his words, which like ſeed under the clods may lye dead a while, but will ſpring up and convince them at laſt, and then will Chriſt pity their ſorrows, and come again to binde them up. Annot. The Word of Chriſt howſoever for the preſent it be not effectual, yet afterwards it will be in the remembrance of it. Chriſt doth leave his Church ſometimes, and brings it very low in their own apprehenſions, that their hearts fail them for want of his preſence. Sibs.

Fair] Beautiful, comely with ſpiritual beauty and decking, Cant. 1. 15. My Love behold thou art fair. The Church is fair both by imputation of Chriſt his righteouſneſſe to Faith, and by ſanctification of the Spirit. Thus Chriſt termeth her in divers places of this Song, as in this 15. verſe twice, in v. 16. once, in Cant. 4.1. twice. And in Cant. 1.8. the faireſt among women, (ſo by others, Cant. 5.9. & 6.1. in whoſe eyes her beauty was conſpicuous.) And in Cant. 2. 10, 13. his fair one. And in Cant. 4.7. that ſhe was all fair, and verſ. 10. that her love was fair. And in Cant. 7.10. that ſhe was fair as the Moon: and in Cant. 7.10. that ſhe was fair for delights, ſhe was made black, but now is made fairer then all other women, and none is like her in beauty who diſpraiſed her ſelf. So doth Chriſt recompenſe humility, and when we moſt abaſe our ſelves he will exalt us. The Church was loved when black, but the end was that ſhe might be fair. To call her fair, is to make her ſo. Annot. The city and Church of God being builded by the Doctrine of the Goſpel, furniſhed with men of gifts and graces, and endued with wiſdome from on high, is truely fair and beautiful in the eyes of Chriſt; and when ſhe obeyeth the voyce of God, and forgetteth and forſaketh her own natural corruptions, he taketh delight in her beauty, Pſal. 45.10,11. Iſa. 62. 5. Aynſw. The Church is lovely fair again, as from Chriſts imputative righteouſneſſe; ſo from his righteouſneſſe inherent in her, the graces ſhe hath from him. The Church is fair and faireſt, ſhe is not gilt, but pure gold; not painted, but hath a true natural complexion, all other excellencies are but gilt, painted excellencies. We ſhould labour not only to be fair, but the faireſt, to be tranſcendently, ſingularly good, to doe ſomewhat more then others can, to have ſomewhat more in us then others have. Sibs. See All fair.

F E.

Fear] The dangerous troubles and diſquietneſſe, from which Chriſt will keep her ſafe, Cant. 3.8. Every one hath his Sword upon his Thigh, for the Fear by night. Fear in the night, or dread, (terrour) in the nights, the dreadful evils that are ſecret and unſeen and every night doe indanger; for theefts, murthers, treaſons, and other miſchiefs, are often done in the night, as experience and the Scriptures teſtifie, Neh. 6.10. Job 24.14. Prov. 7. 9,22. Jer. 6.5. Dan. 5.30. Mat. 13.25. 1 Cor. 11.23. and then it is needful to watch and ſtand ready armed, Neh. 4. 22. Matth. 24.43. & 26. 31. 41. So Chriſtians which are to wreſtle againſt manifold temptations, and againſt the rulers of the darkneſſe of this world, againſt ſpiri-ſpiritual wickedneſſes in high places, are willed to take unto them the whole armour of God, and to ſtand, having their loyns girded, &c. Epheſ. 6.12, 13, 14. Aynſw.

To Feed] To take nouriſhment from the Doctrine of the Word, which is the only paſture wherein Chriſts flock feedeth, Cant. 1. 6. Shew me (O thou) whom my ſoul loveth, where thou feedeſt. Feeding includes the whole adminiſtration and office of a good Shepheard. Chriſt feedeth his Church by his Word, example, graces, Spirit, merits, &c. which are like flowry meadows, abounding with Lillies, Iſa. 25.6. and then he is fed by her, that is, he delighteth as much in her duty and ſervice, as in the ſweeteſt flowers or ſpices, Cant. 2.16. Annot. Feeding implyeth all the duties of a Paſtor or Herder, as to lead in and out, to give paſture and water, to govern with the rod and ſtaffe, &c. Pſal. 23. 2, 4 Wherefore Kings are ſaid to feed as Paſtors, Pſal. 78.70, 71, 72. ſo Chriſt, as King and Great Paſtor of the ſheep, Heb. 13.20. doth by his Miniſtry, with his Spirit, Word, Seals, cenſures, &c. feed his people, for whom he laid down his life, calleth them by name, leadeth them out, goeth before them, ſaveth them from Wolves that would devoure, giveth them eternal life, and they ſhall never periſh, Joh. 10. 28. Iſa. 40. 11. Therefore ſhe deſireth to be under his guidance, and in his fold, that he feeding her ſhe may not lack, or deſireth to know the manner how Chriſt feedeth, that ſhe likewiſe may ſo feed her Kids, as verſ. 8. Aynſw. If there be a conſcience for feeding the earthly part of man (his body) with bodily food, how much more a conſcience for feeding of the heavenly part of man (his ſoul) with celeſtial food? To feed the body they oftentimes have care, ſaying, otherwiſe they were worſe then Infidels, and ſhould deny the faith; but no care or very ſmall for the ſoul, as though in not feeding of this, they ſhould not alſo be Infidels, and denyers of the faith, yea and I ſay more, as much as in them lyeth, makers of Infidels, and murtherers of the faith. If thou have no care to bring them up for God, how canſt thou expect that God ſhould bring them up for thee? Clapham.

Feet] How beautiful are thy Feet with ſhoes, Cant. 7. 1. Hereby is meant her obedient walking in the Faith and Goſpel of Chriſt, whereby ſhe being freed from the miſery and bondage of ſin, made free by the truth (Joh. 8.32.) ſtood faſt and walked ſteadily in the liberty and grace of Chriſt, Gal. 5.1. not going barefooted as was the manner of captives and others in miſery, 2 Sam. 15.30. Iſa. 20.4. but as God rehearſing his bleſſings upon his Church, ſaith, I ſhod thee with Tachaſh skin, Ezek. 16. 10. So here the feet of his Spouſe are ſhod with the preparation (or ſtability) of the Goſpel of peace, Epheſ. 6.15. with the knowledge, profeſſion and obedience thereof, ſhe being firmly ſetled and defenced, her feet and ſteps were now beautiful, as the feet alſo of them that preach the Goſpel of peace, are to be beautiful, Rom. 10. 15. Aynſw. That which is here intended is to demonſtrate either;

1. Her deliverance from captivity and perſecution, under which ſad yoak all that lay, uſed no ſhoes, but went barefoot, as an expreſſion of their mourning, Lam. 1.9. Ezek. 24.15. Mic. 1.8, &c.

Or 2. Her reſtitution to her former inheritance and poſſeſſion, Deut. 25. 9. Ruth 4. 7, 8.

Or, 3. (which is the beſt) her walking obediently and comfortably in the wayes of holineſſe, and that peace which the Goſpell hath prepared. Theſe ſhoes doe not onely adorn her, but likewiſe defend and guard her feet ſo, that ſhe is able to tread upon the rough and ſharpeſt trials that may be caſt in her way with boldneſſe and ſecurity. Annot.

F I.

Field] Let us goe forth into the field, Cant. 7. 11. The field at large is the world, Mat. 13. 38. into which field Chriſt hath ſent his laborers to do his work, that ſo it may become his Church: might be a field of vertues, which formerly was of briars and thorns. Of this field even great and populous cities are a part, but yet Chriſt is not confined to them, but viſits all places; and many times none ſo willing to entertain him, none ſo fit and likely to finde him as the fields and deſerts. Annot. Hereby their deſire and care is ſignified for the increaſe and propagation of the Goſpel abroad in the world. And as Chriſt himſelf in the dayes of his fleſh went about all the cities and villages preaching the Goſpel, Mat. 9.35. Mark. 6.6. and his diſciples went abroad to teach all Nations, Matth. 28. 19. ſo afterward both he, in Spirit, walked among the golden Candleſticks of his Churches, looking to their wayes, Rev. 1.13. & 2. 1. and his Apoſtles went again to viſit their brethren in every City where they had preached the Word of the Lord, and to ſee how they did, Act. 15. 36. Such a care is here intimated, that the Lords field might be viſited where he had (like a wiſe husbandman) prepared and fitted his work, Prov.24.27. Aynſw.

Fig-tree, young Figs] Literally the Spring-time, when Fig-trees bring forth young Figs: but myſtically the ſweet fruits which the faithful bring forth, after their calling unto Chriſt, Cant.2.13. The Fig-tree hath brought forth her young Figs. The Fig-tree hath no flowers, but in ſtead of them ſhoots out green knots or buds, which our Saviour miſſing, curſed the tree, Matth. 21.19. It ſhould be no diſcouragement that our good works are like the imperfect Figs of the Spring; if they have ſubſtance and life, he will accept of them, though they want mature beauty and ſweetneſſe. Annot. The bleſſing of God upon his Church is hereby ſignified, as on the contrary when he threatneth to conſume the ſame, he ſaith there ſhall be no Grapes on the Vine, nor Figs on the Fig-tree, &c. Jer.8.13. Aynſw.

Finde] If ye finde my Beloued, Cant.5.8. If you finde my Saviours preſence in your ſelves before me. Hall. We ſhould not diſdain the prayers and holy contributions of others, who enjoy communion with Chriſt, whileſt our ſelves want ſuch comforts, for it is a great bleſſing and priviledge too, to have ſuch faithful friends with whom we may take ſweet counſel, Pſal.55.14. and to whom to declare our griefs, is like bloud-letting to eaſe the veins, and quiet the ſoul, and whoſe charitable meditations and interceſſions for us, if fervent, will prevail much. Annot.

Fine Gold] Moſt precious and bright gold; or gold which is purified. Myſtically, it ſignifies the glorious excellency of Chriſt, the Head of the Church, Cant.5.11. His head is as Fine Gold. Fine gold, and ſolid gold. Two names of the beſt gold are here joyned, Cethem and Paz, (for Phaz) the firſt is fine, notable and ſhining; the latter ſolid, ſtrong, and faſt gold; or feſſe-gold: according to the Hebrew name. Both theſe together ſet forth the glory of Chriſts Head here, which being taken either properly, or figuratively for the Crown or Ornament of the Head, (as by the feet are implyed the ſhooes on the feet, Deut. 8.4. & 29.5.) ſeemeth to denote his headſhip, dignity or regiment, that his Kingdome is moſt glorious, (like fine ſplendent gold) becauſe it is ſpiritual and heavenly, & moſt firm and durable (like pure ſolid gold) becauſe it is eternal, Dan.7.13,14. Luk.17.20,21. Joh.18. 36,37. for the Spouſe calleth her Beloved King, Cant.1.4. and David praying God, ſaith, Thou haſt ſet on his head a Crown of fine gold, Pſa. 21.4. And as Chriſt is here deſcribed, ſo is he in the adminiſtration and government of his Church; that when his Kingdome is powerful and glorious, and of large extent, it is like a golden head, Dan. 2. 37, 38. And when it is adminiſtred according to his laws and judgements (which are more to be deſired then much fine ſolid gold, Pſal.19.11.) then is the ſtreet of Jeruſalem (the law wherein men walk) pure gold, Rev. 21.21. Hereby alſo his rich grace and bountifulneſſe unto men may be implyed. Aynſw.

Fingers] Cant.5.5. See my hands dropped myrrhe.

Firre] Our rafters of firre, Cant.1.17. The word for rafters may expreſſe galleries, or walks, or cloyſters, or roofes. It ſignifies alſo gutters or watring troughs uſed by the Eaſtern Shepheards, Gen. 30.38. 41. (Exod.2.16.) Annot. This laſt may alſo have uſe here, to ſignifie the pipes and conduits of Gods graces, through which the waters of his Spirit are conveyed into their hearts; but becauſe ſhe ſpake of houſes, this may rather be underſtood of galleries, ſignifying the means of converſing with Chriſt, in the communion of his graces. They are named of running, becauſe they run along by the houſe ſides. Aynſw. They were certain walks builded on the top of houſes, the rayling in of whoſe ſides (leſt any ſhould fal down) was by the law (Deut. 22. 8.) commanded. Clapham. But of what matter they were made is queſtionable, the word Brothim being only found in this place. Aynſw. rendereth the word Brutine or Borative trees, being like Cypreſſe, and of a pleaſant ſmell like Cedar, eſpecially being kindled; for Firre it is well known to be a tall ſtraight tree, very airy, and fiery natured, and well ſavouring. Clapham. They may be applyed both to the perſons of men, and to the doctrines wherewith the Church is builded on the foundation Chriſt, 1 Cor.3 9,10,11, 12. all which ſet forth by theſe ſimilitudes are ſtrong and firm, and of ſweet odour unto the comfort of the Saints and glory of Chriſt. So the holy perſons and graces wherewith the Church ſhould be adorned are by the Prophets likened to goodly trees, Iſa.41. 19. & 55. 13. & 60.13. Aynſw.

Fiſh-poole's in Heſhbon] Pools of goodly, pure, and clear water, unto which the Spouſe likeneth the eyes of her Husband, for their rare clearneſſe, Cant. 7.4. Thine eyes are like the Fiſh pooles of Heſhbon. The analogie betwixt the eyes and pooles, or fountains of water, is ſo natural, that both are expreſſed by one word in the holy language, and as the one are pure, gentle, tranſparent, untroubled, clear, ſo are the other. Annot. Eyes like water pooles, clear to ſee the truth, and to look unto the wayes and actions of her ſelf and others. It may alſo intend her watery eyes, weeping for her former ſins, as Jeremy lamenting the ſins of his people, wiſheth that his eyes were a fountain of tears, Jer. 9. 1. and propheſying their converſion, he ſaith, they ſhall come weeping, &c. Jer. 31. 9. Heſhbon by interpretation ſignifieth a count, computation, or artificial deviſe, and thus ſome expound it here, pooles artificially made. It was a City where King Sihon ſometime dwelt, Numb. 21. 26. and was ſituate in a goodly fertile countrey, Numb. 32, 3, 4, 37. So it ſeemeth to have in it fair and clear pooles or ponds of water which beautified it, as eyes doe the body. The Hebrew Expoſiters underſtand by theſe eyes, the Prophets, or (as the Chaldee Paraphraſt ſaith) Scribes. Aynſw.

Fitly ſet] Cant. 5. 12. Heb. Sitting in fulneſſe, that is, fitly placed, and ſet as a pretious ſtone in the foil of a ring, marg. So fully placed as is moſt comely, and moſt expedient for the perfect ſight of the eſtate and neceſſities of his ſervants. Hall. So guiding and directing his ſight to look perfectly into all things, yea into the depth of the ſecret of mens hearts. Finch. He hath only an eye of Providence over the whole world; but an eye of grace and favour, lively, and lovely in regard of his Church. He that is judge of all, had need to have eyes that will pierce through all, Sibs. The glorious eyes of Chriſt are reſembled to Jewels or Diamonds, which are ſo artificially ſet, that there is no diſproportion, nor inequality in them, for he is no reſpecter of perſons, but as his eyes radiate and ſparkle, like orient gems, ſo are they even and juſt, and upright; and there is no partiality, no hypocriſie, no unrighteouſneſſe in him. Annot.

Flaggons] Stay me with flaggons, Cant. 2. 5. The Church in her ſoul-ſickneſſe, ſpeaketh to her friends (the Miniſters of Chriſt and other Chriſtians) that they with the comfortable doctrines and promiſes of the Goſpel applyed unto her conſcience, would ſuſtain, ſtrengthen, ſtay, & uphold her ready to fall as into a ſwoon through trouble of minde, becauſe of her own infirmities, and want of feeling of Chriſts grace and bleſſing, ſee 2 Chron. 32. 6, 7, 8. Act. 14. 21, 22. & 18. 23. Rom. 1. 11. Flaggons are named for the Wine, in them (the wine of grace and conſolation, which Gods people have diſtributed among them, in the ſpiritual banquet of the Goſpel) as the cup for the Wine therein, Luk. 22. 20. Aynſw. Or ointments, or flowers, it is a general word for all delights, which the Church here calleth either upon Chriſt, or his Miniſters to bring her ſpeedily in the cordial promiſes and refocillations of the Goſpel, which may ſupport and comfort her in his abſence. Annot. Arias Montanus turneth the Hebrew thus, Underprop me in the flaggons, comfort me in the apples, that is, amidſt the flaggons, amidſt the fruits, ſo the ſenſe ſhould be this, O my well-beloved, vouchſafe that thy Miniſters may cheer and ſtrengthen me, who am ready to faint and ſwoon amidſt this divine banquet, my ſenſes being over-weak to ſuſtain the ſtrong ardour of thy graces. Clapham.

Flame] Which hath a moſt vehement flame, Cant. 8. 6. Flame of Jah, the conſuming flame of the Lord, that is, moſt vehement and ardent, after the idiome of that phraſe in holy Scripture, which uſeth to attribute great things unto the Lord, as Pſal. 36. 6. Thy righteouſneſſe is like the great Mountains, Heb. the Mountains of God, marg. Mercer. Annot. The word noteth a vehement or conſuming flame of the Lord, as the piercing and devouring lightning; but meaneth the fire of his Spirit, which is compared unto fire, Mat. 3. 11. for the power and efficacy thereof in the hearts of the children of God. Aynſw.

Flee away] See ſhadows.

Flock] The whole company of true worſhippers of God, Cant. 1. 8. Get thee forth by the ſteps of the Flock. By the footſteps of the Flock, or in the footſteps of the ſheep, that is, goe in thoſe wayes, and doe thoſe works which the ſheep or flock of Chriſt have gone in, or done before thee, ſee 1 Cor. 11. 1. Heb. 13. 7. 1 Theſ. 2. 14. Heb. 6. 11, 12. The flock here ſpoken of ſeemeth to be oppoſed to the flocks (or herds) in verſ. 7. as Chriſt is to his companions (or fellows) there mentioned, who as he is the one great Paſtor, ſo hath he generally one fold and flock, Ezek. 34. 22, 23. Joh. 10. 16. which is his Church, as he ſaith, Ezek. 34. 31. Aynſw. Fitly may the Church be compared unto a flock, as whereof Chriſt taketh an eſpecial care, over which he continually watcheth, elſe would we quickly go aſtray, quickly become a prey unto Satan and our other enemies, who ſeek to take us at an advantage; The flock obeyeth the voyce of the Shepheards, it's profitable unto its owner, is in it ſelf at unity, we muſt obey the voyce of Chriſt, be fruitful in good works, and live in love and peace one with another.

Flocks of companions] Idolaters, falſe-worshippers, societies of Hereticks, Cant. 1. 7. For why should I be as she that turneth aside to the flocks of thy companions? See Companions.

Flock of Goates] The multitude of the faithful, assembled to holy exercises, being like a flock of Goats spread abroad, and feeding upon a Mountain, Cant. 4.1. Thine hair is like the flock of Goates.

Floods] Great and liberal store of waters overflowing. Mystically, deep and grievous afflictions, Cant. 8.7. Much waters cannot quench love, neither can the floods drown it.

Flourished] See Vine.

Flow] That the spices thereof may flow out, Cant. 4.16. that is, the fruits may ripen and be abundant; for by the gracious gifts of the Spirit, breathing upon the Church, corruption is purged away, the souls are refreshed, quickened, comforted, and all graces doe increase, 1 Cor. 2. Aynsw.

Flowers appear] The time of the Spring, but figuratively, the estate of a man regenerate and called, who bringeth forth pleasant and sweet fruit, Cant. 2. 12. The Flowers appear in the earth. A description of a fruitful and pleasant Spring, after a doleful winter, signifying Christs gracious and comfortable gifts, for the delight and benefit of his Church, after the removal of the former evils. These flowers may be understood both of the Saints themselves, which now began to hold up their heads; or of the graces of the Spirit wherewith they are adorned for their mutual comfort, whiles the joyfull tidings of the Gospel are discovered unto the consciences of afflicted sinners to assure them of the favour of God, see Psal. 72.16. & Isa. 27.6. Aynsw. Christ was born in Nazareth, which signifieth flowers, and he soweth and planteth seeds of grace in the hearts of his people, which in due time will shoot up, and produce both flowers and fruit. Annot. By flowers (which are appointed rather to savour unto, then to feed upon) are understood the first fruits of the Spirit, whereby the elect give a pleasant smell, and therein sweetnesse of speech and words, going before works, even as flowers before fruits. Clapham. Mr. Cotton applyeth this to the time when Cyrus made open proclamation for the peoples departure out of Babel, and return unto their own countrey. The flowers appear on the earth; that is, (saith he) even they of the people of the countrey among whom they sojourned, both praised God for their deliverance, and furnished them with gold and silver, and other useful things for their journey. Every thing now resembles the face of a spirituall Spring; all the sweet flowers and blossomes of holy profession put forth, and shew themselves in their opportunities. Hall.

Sweet Flowers] Cant. 5.13. or Towers of sweetnesse, (towers of perfumes, marg.) or, (as others) ripe plants that breed oyntments, or that are planted and strengthened by the confectioners; which are rich symboles of that sweetnesse, life, comfort, that live in the amiable countenance of the Lord Jesus Christ; in whose presence and favour is fulnesse of joy, and pleasures for evermore. Annot.

To Flp] To come speedily to the Church by grace to direct and govern her, that shee may be able to doe that which Christ had commanded, Cant. 8.14.

F O.

Found] I found him not, Cant. 3.1. to wit, presently till afterward, v. 4. For neglect of taking hold on grace when it is offered, or not keeping it when it is received, God often withdraweth the light of his countenance to stir up zeal and fervency in his children, Prov. 1.24,28. Jer. 11.10,11. Mic. 3. 4. I found him, Cant. 3.4. Here after much seeking, without fainting and discouragement, when means fail, she findeth Christ to the comfort of her conscience, according to the promise, Seek and ye shall finde, Matth. 7.7. Sometime Christ seemeth coy and stately, and even when most present indeed, suspends and keeps off his beams, so, as if altogether lost, so that he is not perceived, nor injoyed so sweetly as we desire, especially when we seek him distrustfully, or coldly. Though we finde him not in our beds in our own ways, yet he will be found at last. He may hold us off and suspend us, as Laban did Jacob, and Joseph his brethren; but when we are almost hopelesse, and seeme utterly forlorn, he will present himself, and not suffer us to be tempted above measure, yet a little while, &c. Heb. 10.37. Annot.

I was in his eyes as one that found favour, Cant. 8.10. Heb. peace, marg. we all in our naturall corruption are enemies to God, Rom. 5. 10. but being justified by faith we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ, Rom. 5. 1. for the work of righteousnesse is peace, and the effect of righteousnesse, quietnesse and assurance for ever, Isa. 92.17. and this peace is enjoyed by the holy Ghost, Rom. 8.6,9. and it is opposed to al the troubles, temptations, persecutions, and afflictions in this life and world, Joh. 16. 33. and is that which guardeth our hearts hearts and mindes through Christ Jesus, Phi. 4.7. Aynsw.

Fountain of Gardens] Christ the Author of every good gift, and the ever-running well-spring, from whence all particular Churches doe fetch the water of life to refresh them, and make them fruitful withall, Cant. 4.15. A Fountain of the Gardens. An Hypallage, for a Garden with Fountains, which is usuall in Scripture, Jer. 31.12. Isa. 58.11. to set forth the beauty and propagation of the Church, as on the contrary, it is the sad commination, which God breathes against adulterous Jerusalem, that she should be as a garden without water, Isa. 1.30. without all manner of joy and comfort. Annot.

Fountain sealed up] The Church by the Ministry whereof all such saving graces are derived to the elect, as are kept from the reprobate, Cant. 4.12. My Spouse is as a Fountain sealed up. Hereby is figured the confirmation of grace to Christs people, as Sealing meaneth in Jer. 32. 29. Joh. 3.33. 2 Cor. 1.22. Ephes. 1.13. and the reserving of this grace to them only, as that which is sealed is not communicated with others, nor known unto them, Isa. 29.11. Dan. 12.4, 9. and so it is said, Binde up the testimony, seal the law, among my Disciples, Isa. 8.16. Aynsw. Christ dying to this end to redeem and purifie, no question but he will obsignate and ratifie his own work; to which he hath also sealed her by his Spirit, 2 Cor. 1. 22. that shee may be a chaste wife kept unspotted and loyal to him, and admitting no unclean thing to defile her with their feet; as they used to keep their Springs and Wels in the whole countreys of the East, not only for scarsity, but for wholesomnesse, that they might not be trodden and muddied, Gen. 29.3. Annot.

Foxes] Whatsoever hurts the truth of Doctrine, or honesty of manners; especially heresies, and the patrons thereof, Cant. 2.15. Take us the Foxes. The enemies of the Church, they are either hereticks and schismaticks, within her pale; or else persecutors, and profest Tyrants without. That Tyrants are Foxes is evident in Herod, Luk. 13.22. who was also a kinde of heretick, a Sadducee as some think, the more to colour his cruelty, and from him sprung the Herodians, Mat. 22. 16. And that hereticks are so and schismaticks, appears by their fruits and nature; having not only the craft of that beast, transforming themselves, 2 Cor. 11.13. carrying a Fox in their bosome, when they are Lambes outwardly; but also the rage and bloudy cruelty, where they get power, none being like them; for never did the Church of God suffer more from the maddest and blindest Heathen, then they have done from Hereticks and Schismaticks that were among them. The Lord complains for Israel, that her Prophets were Foxes, Ezek. 13.4. and the complaint is so much the juster, because such Foxes they are, as can never be extirpated. Annot. Mr. Cotton hereby understandeth the Samaritans, who hindered the proceeding of the building of the Temple, and the peace of the Church, Ezra 4.4, 5, 23, 24. and that therefore Tobiah said truly of himself and his fellows, that they as Foxes going upon the weak foundation of the wals of Jerusalem, might easily demolish the same, Neh. 4.3.

Little Foxes] All occasions of offence, even every shew and appearance of evill, Cant. 2.15. The little Foxes.

F R.

Frankincense] Perfumed with myrrhe and frankincense, Cant. 3.6. Hereby are figured the spiritual Sacrifices, and incense of our souls, which kindled, and moved, and rarified by the fire of Gods Spirit, and laid upon Christ our Altar, ascends and fumes up (like the rowlings and agglomerations of smoak) to the Court of the Lord, and are more sweet and welcome, then those costly evaporations of myrrhe and incense and all powders of the Merchant. Annot.

Friends] All that bear good will to Christ, and to the prosperity of his people, whether they be Angels or men, Cant. 5.1. Eat, O friends, &c. Friendship is the sweetnesse, intimatenesse, and strength of love. All the degrees and kindes of friendship meet in Christ towards his Spouse, it is the friendship of a husband, of a brother, and if there be any relation in the world wherein friendship is, all is too little to expresse the love of Christ. In friendship there is mutual consent, an union of judgement and affections, a mutual sympathy in the good and ill one of another, as if there were one soul in two bodies. There is liberty which is the life of friendship, a free intercourse between friends, a free opening of secrets. There is mutual solace and comfort one in another. There is also a mutual honour and respect one of another, all which may be found in the mutual friendship between Christ and his Church, only in this last there is some difference; for though Christ cals us friends, and therein in some sort brings himself down to us, yet we must remember that it is a friend- ſhip of unequals. Chriſt honouring of us, is his putting honour upon us, our honoring of him, is the giving him the honour due to his Name. He that inſpireth friendſhip into others, will undoubtedly keep the laws of friendſhip himſelf, will count our enemies, his enemies; And as his friendſhip is ſweet, ſo is it conſtant in all conditions. If we be not aſhamed of him, he will never be aſhamed of us. Sibs.

Fruit] His fruit was ſweet to my taſte, Cant. 2.3. This pleaſant fruit is the pardon of ſin, juſtification, joy, peace, and other divine graces and conſolations, which grow like golden apples on Chriſt their Tree, and increaſe by the very gathering. The more we pluck and taſte of them, the more we may. Annot. Fruits ſignifie graces and good works, which are to the benefit of our ſelves and others, Matth.3.8,10. Gal. 5.22, &c. and is alſo applyed to the doctrine of the Goſpel, Joh.15.16. and ſignifieth a comfortable reward, Pſal.58.12. Prov.27.18. Dr. Hall underſtandeth hereby the Soveraign fruit of Gods holy Word, which feedeth and ſatisfieth the ſoul unto eternal life. Clapham. Chriſts words, (whereof Pſa.119.113. Joh.6. 68. &7.46.) & works; what one action (ſaith he) can be remembred that is not delectable? Not one that is not pleaſant, and pleaſure it ſelf. Taſte ye and ſee how good the Lord is, Pſal.34.8. Every action an apple of life, and not a leaf of this tree, but it ſerveth to heal the Nations with, Rev.22.2.

Eat his pleaſant Fruit] Cant.4.16. None ſo fit to receive the fruits of grace, as Chriſt, who giveth grace: The legal ſacrifices are called his bread, Numb. 28. 2. and ſo is the ſpiritual. We ſhould have nothing to lay on his Altar, did not the Lord provide a Sacrifice himſelf, Gen.22.8. wilde grapes are our own, but al that is good and pleaſant fruit is from him. Annot. The Church gives all to Chriſt, the Garden is his; the fruit, his; the pleaſantneſſe and precioufneſſe of the fruit is his. It is enough for us to have the comfort, let him have the glory. Sibs.

To keep the Fruit] To doe the Office of a Paſtor in the Church, (which is as a Vineyard, Cant.8.12. Two hundreth to them that keep the fruit thereof.

Fruits of the Valley] Myſtically, the good works and worthy graces, which (as fruits) delight Chriſt Jeſus, Cant. 6.11. I went down to the Garden of Nuts, to ſee the fruits of the Valley. After the Winter of tribulation and wrath cometh the cheerful ſpring of grace in the Garden of the Church, ſituate low and baſe as in a valley or bourn, where it is watered with Gods Word and Spirit, and made fruitful. Aynſw.

Galleries] The King is held in the Galleries, Cant.7.5. I am ſo enamoured of thee that I am even tyed by one deſire, to a perpetual preſence in thine holy aſſemblies. Hall. There is no King in the world but might finde in his heart to be tyed to theſe walkes, and to be held priſoner in the ſight of thee, and of the beauty of thy aſſemblies. So great is thy glory in compariſon of all the vain pompe of this preſent world. Finch. The King or chief Magiſtrate is bound to be preſent at the Ordinances of God in the Temple, Ezek.46. 10. or, what if it imply, that their greateſt Magiſtrates ſhall ſubmit themſelves to be bound with the cenſures of the Church, according to that where the Pſalmiſt telleth of binding of Kings with the Ordinances of God in the Church, Pſal. 149.6,7, 8,9. And Iſaiah foretelleth that Kings and Queens ſhall bow down their faces towards the earth unto the Church, and lick the duſt of their feet, Iſa. 49. 22. Cotton. To be bound in the Galleries, is to have a fixed habitation in the houſe of his Church, where the King is retained, and as it were tyed with the bands of love towards his Spouſe ſo excellent in all her parts; And now is fulfilled that which is elſewhere ſaid unto her, The King will covet thy beauty, Pſal.45.12. And that which is ſpoken of the lewd woman, her hands are as bands, Eccleſ. 7. 26. may have uſe here of the chaſte woman, that her graces are ſuch as do not only delight the King, but hold him faſt bound to her in the bands of ſpiritual wedlock, no more to leave her, but to abide with her for ever, ſee Iſa. 62.4. Ezek. 37.25, 26. & 48.35. Hoſ. 2.19. Rev. 22.3,5. Aynſw. The King is ſo captivated and taken with thy beauty, that he delights to be held there perpetually, and would be alwayes a glad ſpectator, and companion thereof. Annot. The word Rehatim which the Greek here likewiſe tranſlateth Galleries, is in Gen. 30. 38.

38,41. & Exod. 2.16. gutters wherein waters run for the flock to drink. Aynſw. Mr. Brightman ſo rendereth the word here, whereon he hath this note, that as thoſe peeled rods put in the gutters (by Jacob) and ſeen by the ſheep, when they came to drink, made that they brought forth their young like unto them, ring-ſtraked, ſpeckled, ſpotted: ſo this King is to be held in the gutters, for that the faithfull having him before their eyes where they quench their thirſt, after his example procreate Kings a new Chriſtian off-ſpring.

Garden] The Kingdome of Heaven, where Chriſt (as man) remaineth in glory till the laſt judgement, when the marriage between him and his Church ſhall be accompliſhed fully, Cant.5.1. I am come into my Garden, my Siſter, my Spouſe.

2. The true Church here upon earth, which with firm faithfulneſſe keeps her ſelf onely to Chriſt (like an incloſed Garden) admitting none other to enter, reſerving all the fruits for him, Cant.4.12. My Spouſe is as a Garden incloſed. The Church is reſembled to a Garden.

1. Becauſe a Garden is taken out of the common waſte ground to be appropriated to a more particular uſe: ſo the Church of Chriſt is taken out of the wilderneſſe of this waſte world to a particular uſe.

2. In a Garden nothing (that's good) comes up naturally of it ſelf, but as it is planted and ſet; ſo nothing is good in the heart, but as it is planted and ſet by the heavenly husbandman.

3. In a Garden nothing uſes to be planted, but what is uſeful and delightful: ſo there is no grace in the heart of a Chriſtian, but it is uſeful (as occaſion ſerves) both to God and man.

4. In a Garden there are variety of flowers and ſpices, eſpecially in thoſe hot countreys: ſo in a Chriſtian there is ſomewhat of every grace. They have for proſperity, temperance and ſobriety, for adverſity, patience and hope to ſuſtain them.

5. Of all other places we moſt delight in our gardens, to walk there and take our pleaſure, and take care thereof for fencing, weeding, watering, and planting: ſo Chriſts chief care and delight is for his Church.

6. As Gardens had wont to have Fountains and ſtreams running through them, (as Paradiſe had four ſtreams which ran through it) ſo the Church is Chriſts Paradiſe, and his Spirit is a Spring in the midſt of it to refreſh the ſouls of his upon all their faintings, and ſo the ſoul of a Chriſtian becomes as a watered garden.

7. Their Fountains were ſealed up; ſo the joys of the Church, and particular Chriſtians are as it were ſealed up, Prov.14.10.

8. A Garden ſtands always in need of weeding and dreſſing, &c. So in the Church and hearts of Chriſtians Chriſt hath always ſomewhat to doe, we would elſe ſoon be overgrown and turn wilde. Sibs.

Garments] The ſmell of thy Garments is like the ſmell of Lebanon, Cant.4.11. The ſavour of thy good works and outward converſation is to me as the ſmell of the wood of Lebanon to the ſenſe of man. Hall. Thy ſmell is odoriferous, thine outward carriage and behaviour, ſweet, amiable and full of grace. Finch. Theſe are the beautiful garments of Sion, Iſa.52.1. the fine linnen, clean and bright, the righteouſneſſe of the Saints, Rev. 19.8. who have put on the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, Rom.13.14. Gal.3.27. and in their faith, doctrine, converſation, and adminiſtration are holy, juſt and righteous, and cloathed with ſalvation, Pſal. 132.9.16. So that the ſavour, the fame and good report hereof is ſweet, like the ſmell of Lebanon where pleaſant and odoriferous trees, herbs and ſpices grew in aboundance, God maketh manifeſt the ſavour of his knowledge by them in every place, for they are unto God a ſweet ſavour in Chriſt, 2 Cor.2.14,15. See Hoſ 14.5,6,7. Aynſw. Our ſouls are naked, as our bodies by nature, but Chriſt adorneth them, covers their nakedneſſe, and will clothe them with ſalvation. For Garments ſome read Sacrifices, which may perhaps denote the body (which is the clothing of the ſoul, 2 Cor. 5. 4.) and her ſuffering for Chriſts ſake; in which firie tryals he takes more delight, and ſmels them more joyfully, then the burnings and evaporations of incenſe. Annot.

Gates] Houſe or dwelling, a part put for the whole, Cant.7.13. And in our Gates are all ſweet things, ſignifying that both at home and abroad, neer and far, the fame and odour of graces in Gods people, ſpreads it ſelf: for a thing is ſaid to be at the door, when it is nigh at hand, Mat.24.33. Aynſw.

To Gather Lillies] To take pleaſure in ſuch holy graces and works, which (like ſweet flowers) are to be found growing in the Garden of the Church, Cant.6.1. To gather Lillies. The collection or gathering of Lillies, may either be expounded of the graces and obedience of the Church which Chriſt both plants in them and gathers, (that is, accepts,) accepts) from them; or else it may be understood personally, of holy believers themselves, who are called Lillies, as Christ is called the Rose or Flower, chap.2.1,2. and from their several beds and stalks where they grow dispersed, are collected and united by him into one mystical association of faith and charity out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation, Joh.11.52. Rev.5.9. Annot. That is, having first planted them lillies here, to gather them and so transport them out of the garden here, to the garden in heaven, where there shall be nothing but lillies. Sibs. The Hebrews in their Chaldee Paraphrase apply this to Gods returning of his people from the captivity of Babylon, by Cyrus, Ezra, Nehemiah, &c. and the restoring of his worship in the Temple, re-edified, and accepting their service, and nourishing them with dainties. And as a man that gathereth lillies out of the Valleys, so gathereth he them out of Babylon. Aynsw. That is, to gather and call more and more faithful Christians out of a wilde field of worldly people into the fellowship of his Church, as it were to gather lillies into his garden. Cotton.

I have gathered my myrrhe with my spice] Cant.5.1. I have taken contentment in thy graces. Together with acceptation there is a delight, and God not only accepts, but he delights in the graces of his children. Sibs. I have received those fruits of thine obedience which thou offeredst unto me, with much joy and pleasure. Hall. Or reaped them, as an harvest with so much joy and pleasure. No man can take more delight in gathering the fruits of his labour in the field, or vineyard, then Christ doth in the graces and duties of his Church, which he cals His, because they are of his infusion and gift; and myrrhe, because part of them are bitter and harsh, as the sowre acts of repentance, mortification, persecution, &c. but yet spices too, mixt with aboundance of sweetnesse and comfort, all which he is said to gather, when he strengthens us to perform them, when he perfects them, and blesseth them. Annot.

G E.

Get up] Let us get up early to the Vineyards, Cant.7.12. or, Let us rise betimes in the morning. An act of diligence and care, Psal.127. 2. Such as God performed to Israel of old, when he rose up early and sent his Prophets unto them, and the Prophets rose early and spake unto them, 2 Chron.36.15. Jer.25.3,4. Aynsw. The Church had slept before, and suffered for it, chap.5,6,7. By which sad experience she is grown so careful and circumspect, that now she strives to awaken and incite others to a speedy and timely watchfulnesse, and diligence. Annot.

G I.

Gilead] A Mountain which bare good pasture for cattel, as appeareth by Num.32.1. Jer. 22.6. & 50.19. Aynsw.

To give love] More fervently to affect and embrace Christ with greater measure of love, the more neer we are united to him. Cant.7.12. There will I give thee my love. The Spouse promiseth to give unto Christ the fruition of her graces, and fruits of her faith, confession, thanks, good works, &c. There in the Vineyards of the Churches, in the society of the Saints; for the Lord keepeth his Vineyard, and watereth it every moment. See Isa. 27.3,6. & 65.9. Ezek.20.40,41. Aynsw. The Churches free and thankfull protestation, that she will detain nothing that is hers, from the service and love of Christ, but resign all unto him, who is worthy alone to enjoy all. Annot. The love of the Church to Christ is especially seen in feeding his Lambs and Sheep, she therefore offereth to Christ free use of her dearest and best affections to set forward such a work. Cotton.

G L.

Glad] We will be glad and rejoyce in thee, Cant. 1.4. Be glad inwardly and rejoyce outwardly: these comforts they finde in the Kings chambers, whose Kingdome is not meat and drink, but righteousnesse, and peace, and joy in the holy Ghost, Rom. 14.17. see Isai. 61.10. 1 Pet.1.8,9. Aynsw. No cause to rejoyce in any but Christ, who is both the object and rule of all spiritual and natural joy; of all both inward and outward gladnesse. This joy breeds from love, as from its root, and where the one is shed abroad, the other trickles after it. God entertains their souls that love him with rare unseen banquets in his chambers, which very honour should work gladnesse, being the delight of Angels, but the effect of it, is righteousnesse and joy, and peace, Rom.14.17. Annot.

Gladnesse] In the day of the gladnesse of his heart, Cant. 3.11. when a people are by the Gospel won unto the faith, and setled in the order of Christ, they are espoused unto him as to a husband, 2 Cor. 11.2. when, as the Bridegroome rejoyceth over the Bride, so God rejoyceth over his people, Isa. 62. 5. Aynsw. Dr. Hall referreth it to the eternal rejoycing rejoycing of Christ and his Church, in that day when his blessed marriage shall be fully perfected above.

G O.

Go] And would not let him go, Cant. 3.4. There's a grateful violence, which takes the Kingdom of Heaven; we must make use of it, to that end compelling Christ to stay with us. To this end he keeps some distance, and hides himself to provoke our contentions and endevours to keep him. We should never leave him, no not when he hath blessed us, as prizing him more then any thing that he can bestow; for if he be so good to those that seek him, how much more precious is he when found and enjoyed? Annot. This is done when the doctrines and promises of the Gospel are by faith retained, as it is said, Take fast hold of instruction, let her not go, Prov. 4. 13. Aynsw.

Go about] And go about the City, Cant. 3.2. A sign of earnest desire to obtain that which one seeketh, whether it be for evill, as Psal. 55.11. & 59.7,15. or for good, as in this place. Aynsworth.

Go forth] Go thy way forth, Cant. 1.8. or get thee out, go forth thou, Heb. Go out for thee, or go forth for thy self. Christ calleth forth his Church from sitting still in her mournful estate, that she should not only wish and desire, but endevour and put forth her self to doe the works of her calling, to feed her Kids, and to go out to meet the Bridegroom. See Mat. 25.6. Aynsw. To sit still is not the way to finde Christ; to cry, Lord, Lord, is not all, we must go out, put forth our selves, endevour and doe something, depart from Babylon, and put our selves into the bosome of the true Church. Annot.

Goates] See Flock. Elsewhere the wicked are resembled to Goats, Matth. 25.33. but Cant. 4.1. & Cant. 6.5. even the godly are resembled thereunto. The difference ariseth from their different qualities, good and bad, commendable and discommendable.

Goblet] Thy Navel is like a round Goblet, Cant. 7.2. or a Goblet, or cup of roundnesse, Aynsw. See Navil.

Goings] Ways, steps, and treadings, which are in the true members of the Church, marvellous beautiful, Cant. 7.1. How beautiful are thy goings with shooes? See feet.

Gold] The bottome thereof of gold, Cant. 3.10. See Bottome.

Gold-rings] His hands are as gold-rings, Cant. 5.14. See Beryl.

Gone] My Beloved was gone, Cant. 5. 6. or he was gone, he was gone, he was turned away, passed away, which duplication is more passionate, and being without a conjunction, notes the expedition and certainty of his absence, for which she is much troubled, and like a sad widow wrings her hands, and cryes out, he is gone, he is gone. This is the first evill that follows, and punisheth security, and contempt of Christ, who suspends and denyes that light of his presence, which he had offered freely before. Seasonable acceptations of grace, when it is tendered to us, are a Christians wisdome and safety, lest they finde such favour no more. Good opportunities are like water spilt, which is not easily collected, or not so purely. Annot.

Good] Good oyntment, Cant. 1.3. precious and sweet oyntments wherewith special persons were anoynted of old; as the holy anoynting oyl made of principal spices, (Exod. 30. 23.25.) is called the good oyntment, Psal. 133.2. and of the precious things which King Hezekiah shewed to the Ambassadors of the King of Babylon, the good oyntment was one, 2 King. 20. 13. and with such they were wont to be anoynted at feasts, Amos 6. 6. Luk. 7. 36, 46. and it was a sign of joy and cheerfulnesse, Eccles. 9.7,8. for sweet odours revive and comfort the spirits of man when they are dulled with sorrow, or much meditation, Prov. 27.9. but in fasting or mourning they used not to anoynt themselves, 2 Sam. 14.2. Dan. 10.3. By this similitude the Church here commendeth the graces of Christ, which he had being full of the holy Ghost, Heb. 1.9. Luk. 4.18. Isa. 61.1. and the odour of these graces is smelt when the Gospel preached is by sense or judgement perceived, Luk. 9.45. Phil. 1.9. Heb. 1.14. Aynsw. In that the Church seeketh out the most excellent oyntment and perfume for declaration of Messiahs sweet Name, it teacheth us, that all excellent things in Nature, are but as types and shadows of spiritual graces. Clapham.

Good order] Even so, as one doth answer another, all being like one to another, Cant. 4. 2. Thy teeth are like a flock of sheep in good order.

G R.

Grape] Such holy works as the Church (like Grapes) beareth upon the sending down and shedding abroad the gifts of the Spirit upon her, in the Assemblies, at the Preaching of the Word, Cant. 7.12. Let us see if the Vine flourish: whether it hath budded the smal Grape.

To shew himself through the Grates] To offer himself to be seen, not fully and clearly (as he did in the time of the Gospel) but sparingly and darkly in shadows (as in the time of the Law) Cant. 2.9. Shewing himself through the Grates. See Lattesse.

Grave] Cant. 8.6. See cruell.

Green bed] See Bed.

H A.

Hair] The company of the faithful, Can. 4.1. Thine Hair is like the flock of Goats. As by the hair the people of Israel was signified, Ezek. 5.1,2,12. This is the ornament and covering of the head, proceeding from moisture and strength of nature, likened here to the hair of a flock of Goats, fed in a fat pasture, as on Mount Gilead, whose hair is long, rank, and smooth, figuring the thoughts, purposes, devices, &c. which are ordered and composed aright according unto God. Aynsw. The Church is here minded of her duty, not to have a bald glabrous soul, but to abound in holy thoughts and contemplations, which will not be (like Absalons) our ruine, but our great praise and commendation. Annot. Hair though it hang long upon the head, yet it may in time either fal off of it self, or be cut off, so were the common Christians in Christs time, as it were hair for multitude, hanging on Christ the head, or falling many of them from him; either of themselves, Joh. 6.66. or cut off by the practises of the Priests, Matth. 27.20. Joh. 12.42,43. whence it was that Jesus durst not commit himself to them, Joh. 2.23.--25. Cotton. As from the head the hairs have what ever life or vigour is in them, so all they who by faith cleave unto Christ the head of the Church, doe from him their heap, derive all their vigour and spiritual nourishment. And as Mount Gilead is beautified by the multitude of Goats feeding thereon, which were it not for them would seem bald, so is the Church by the faithful, feeding on Christ. Titelman. Dr. Hall, and S. Finch, understand hereby the Churches gracious profession, and all her appendances and ornaments of expedient ceremonies. Mount Gilead was fruitful with wholesome pasture, and a goodly sight it was to behold a flock of Goats spread all abroad, and feeding thereupon, where the Lords people are assembled, and are fed with the heavenly food, it is in his eyes a goodly and a comely thing. Giffard.

The Hair of thine head like purple] Cant. 7.5. This her hair like purple, denoteth her cogitations and purposes to be holy, heavenly and as dyed in the bloud of Christ. In Can. 4.1. the Spouses hair was likened to a flock of Goats. That description differing from this, seemeth to imply a variety of estate; for Gods people are not always of a like condition in this world, though ever glorious in his eyes. Aynsw. The most spiritual sense is that which expounds all of the higher and lower offices, and Governours of the Church (the Original dallath properly signifieth tenderneſſe, or tenuity. Aynsw.) Which under Christ are as lofty stout heads, and as purple and precious hair unto her, both for defence and ornament; for as Carmel signifies dignity, and stability: so doth purple also, being double died and of great estimation. Annot. Some understand hereby the ceremonies by her used, (as it were the ornaments of her head, both the hair-lace and the borders, and all her attire) being for comelinesse and good order of special account, and a great grace unto her, no lesse then skarlet and purple. Hall, Finch.

Hand] The Spirit of Christ whereby he toucheth the inward parts of the heart, Cant. 5.4. My wel-beloved put in his hands by the hole of the door. See Mat. 12.28. compared with Luk. 11.20. & Act. 19.21.

Hand, right, left] The virtue and might of Christ (as an hand) sustaining and upholding his members on every side, Cant. 2.6. His left hand is under my head, and his right hand doth embrace me. Both his hands, even all that Christ is, his Godhead and Manhood, his life, death, Resurrection, Ascension: his weakneſſe, power, and glory, are employed for the comfort and salvation of his Church. Aynsw.

Hands like rings of gold] All in Christ to be rich and shining, Cant. 5.14. His hands as rings of gold. His precious, pure, and glorious works, acceptable and honorable before God and man. Aynsw. His bounty, liberality, giving of spiritual talents and dispensations, which are more precious and glorious then gold rings set with the richest stones. Which bounty and love are called his hands, because they consist chiefly chiefly in action. Annot. See Berill.

Handles] Handles of the lock, Cant. 5. 5. Hereby may be underſtood the faculties and operations of the ſoul. Annot. The firſt motions of the heart. Hall. Theſe were thoſe that kept out Chriſt from entering; which now ſhe anointed with oyl of myrrh, that her heart being oynted and ſuppled with grace, all bars and lets being removed, he might freely enter to reap the fruit of his own grace in her. Aynſw.

Hangings of Purple] Literally, the great riches of Solomon; myſtically, the exceeding great ſpiritual riches of the Church, Cant. 3. 10. The hangings thereof of Purple. See Covering.

Like to the young Hart] Celerity and ſpeed uſed in coming unto the Church, Can. 8. 14. Be like unto the Roe, or to the young Hart upon the Mountains of Spices.

Haſt] Make haſt, Cant. 8. 14. or Return quickly, or flee away, not from me, but to me. In chap. 2. 9, 17. it was the Churches deſire for his firſt coming ſpiritually in his Ordinances, but here ſhe beggeth his laſt and happieſt advent, which ſhee deſireth may be ſpeedy and ſudden, when ſhe might ſee him again, and be tranſlated unto his everlaſting glory. Annot.

H E.

Head] See Dew, and fine gold, and Carmel.

Heap] See Belly.

Hear] Cauſe me to hear, Cant. 8. 13. to wit, thy voyce, as in Cant. 2. 14. that is, thy prayers, praiſes, and thankſgivings; teaching her to call upon and ſerve him continually; or, cauſe to hear me, that is, preach me to thy companions that attend to thy voyce, let thy doctrines be my Goſpel, not mens Traditions; Theſe are the two main and permanent duties of all Gods Churches, that their doctrines be the true and uncorrupt Word of Chriſt, and their prayers and ſervice be directed to him alone, who is ready to hear and help in all time of need, ſee Act. 6. 4. Aynſw.

To hearken] Reverently to give ear unto the Doctrine of God, Cant. 8. 13. The companions hearken to thy voyce: cauſe me to hear it.

Heart] The ſoul, with all faculties of mind and will, Cant. 5. 2. I ſleep, but mine heart waketh. The inner man, the ſpirit, or man as he is regenerate, oppoſed to the fleſh or outward man, Rom. 2. 28, 29. and the fleſh and ſpirit, even in Gods children doe luſt one againſt another, that we cannot doe the things we would, Gal. 5. 17. and when the ſpirit is willing (to watch, pray, &c.) the fleſh is weak, Mat. 26. 41. Whereas therefore her heart waked while ſhe ſlept, it ſignifieth that ſhe gave not her ſelf wholely to this negligence, but as the wiſe Virgins had their lamps burning, while all ſlumbered and ſlept, when the lamps of the fooliſh were gone out, Mat. 25. 4, 5, 8. So ſhe had now given her ſelf to fleſhly eaſe, but had her heart and ſpirit otherwiſe diſpoſed. Aynſw. Some expound this heart objectively for Chriſt, who (as lovers uſe to call one another) is the Churches heart, ſo beloved by her, and diſcharging thoſe functions for her, which ſhe could not for her ſelf. Others bend the word to mean fundamentals and eſſentials, which are the heart of Religion, wherein the Church is, and ſhall be preſerved Orthodox and pure, even when ſhe may dormitate and lapſe in leſſer things. Others underſtand conſcience, whoſe property it is, even in the deepeſt luxury and lethargies wherein men can be buryed, to laſh them up by ſharp and ſtinging accuſations and terrours. When remiſſneſſe, and ſecurity had oppreſſed her in great meaſure, yet the inward bent and motion of her heart was active and vigilant. Though through native frailty and corruption, the beſt may put back and lay aſide divine imployments and meditations, and devout exerciſes, (that is, as to the conſtant act and obſervation) yet the godly heart is ever enclining to them, and even when beſotted and ſtupified by carnal temptations and diverſions, doth yet contend and deſire to wait faithfully on Chriſt. Annot. In all the powers of the ſoul there is ſomething good and ſomething ill, ſomething fleſh and ſomething ſpirit. As a Chriſtian man know how it is with himſelf, though he be mixed of fleſh and ſpirit: So we ſhould as well acknowledge that which is good, as that which is evill in our hearts. Gods children never totally fall from grace, though they ſleep, yet their heart is awake. A Chriſtian is what his heart and inward man is. A waking ſtate is a bleſſed ſtate. Sibs.

Heart gone] The deep grief and ſorrow of a godly ſoul, in the ſenſe of ſin, and for the abſence of Chriſt and his comfort, Cant. 5. 6. Mine heart was gone when he did ſpeak. See failed.

Thou haſt ravished my heart] Cant. 4. 9. Or, haſt taken away, haſt pierced, haſt wounded my my heart, Chriſt ſpeaketh here to his Spouſe as a man overcome with love. Aynſw. The Septuag. have an excellent word ἐτραυμάτωσας, thou haſt excordiated or unhearted me; which is a language of great paſſion, as of one ſtruck through as with a dart of fire, and burning hotly in love, whoſe ſtrange force it is to tranſvulnerate and ſtupifie the very ſoul, ſo as no ſenſe or reaſon is left. Never was love like unto the love of Chriſt. The wound of love towards us, which he had from eternity in himſelf, made him neglect all the wounds and reproaches of the Croſſe. Are not we bound thus to love him, even to doating and madneſſe, untill like Mary Magdalen we rage with love, and with St. Paul be carryed beſide our ſelves, and become fooles for Chriſts ſake, 1 Cor. 4. 10, 11, 12, 13. Annot.

Set me as a ſeal upon thy heart] Cant. 8. 6. If ſpoken by Chriſt (according to ſome) then he would have us ſo to remember him, as to be comformable to him, receiving his Image and impreſſion, as the obſequious wax doth the whole figure, and example of the ſeal, 2 Cor. 4. 10. that ſo we may be approved and owned of him, and not admit any into our hearts, but himſelf alone. But if ſpoken by the Church, then they ſhew her earneſt deſire after further aſſurance and confirmation of his love, that being her High Prieſt, he would carry her upon his breſt, and upon his ſhoulders too, as Aaron did the Tribes, Exod 28. 11, 12, 21. that ſo ſhe might be kept dearly and ſafely from all her enemies, and never forgotten by him. Annot. She deſireth Chriſt to be her merciful and faithful High Prieſt, in things pertaining to God, Heb. 2. 17. that he would have a continual care of her ſalvation, mindful of her himſelf, and making a memorial of her before God his Father; and that this affection of love might not vaniſh away, but be as a deep impreſſion in his heart for ever. Aynſw.

Hermon] From the top of Shenir, and Hermon, Cant. 4. 8. This Hermon was a goodly Mountain poſſeſſed of old by Og King of Baſhan, taken from him by the Iſraelites, and the Amorites called it Shenir, the Sidonians Shirion, as Moſes telleth in Deut. 3. 9. Aynſw. Their ſharp tops gave them the title of Trachones, after which the whole countrey was called Trachonitis. They were on the further ſide of Jordan, all which were ſo ſituated in reſpect of Paleſtine, that they anſwered the four points or ſides of the world. Libanus lay at the North, Amana at the Weſt, Hermon at the Eaſt, and Shenir at the South, not without a great myſtery, which was foretold by the Prophet, Iſa. 43. 5. accompliſhed in part by the converſion of the Nations, Act. 2. and ſhall be perfected, when they ſhall come from the Eaſt and from the Weſt, and ſhall ſit down from all parts and regions, with Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, in the ſame Kingdome of the father, Mat. 8. 11. and thoſe too, not the meaneſt and pooreſt only, but likewiſe of the very beſt and higheſt, for ſo is that tearm, from the tops, applyed; as meaning the chiefeſt and nobleſt of thoſe places, which excelled in power, wealth, or wiſedome. Annot.

Heſhbon] See Fiſh-pooles.

H I.

Hill] And to the hill of frankincenſe, Cant. 4. 6. The Church which is the Mountain of the Lord, is called a hill both of myrrhe and Frankincenſe, for ſhe hath as well bitter things as ſweet, but then ſhe ſhall be only a hill of frankincenſe, when her whole buſineſſe ſhall be to ſing Halleluiahs to the Lamb for evermore. Annot. The Church in the darkneſſe of her temptation fleeth to the Lords Mountain by faith in Chriſt, meditation in his promiſes, conſolation by his graces, prayer, reading of the Scriptures, and other like ſpiritual exerciſes, confirming by faith and hope, and waiting with patience, till the day ſhould dawn, &c. 2 Pet. 1. 19. Aynſw.

Skipping upon the Hills] Cant. 2. 8. ſpiritually by the Mountains and Hils may be meant the Kingdomes and Nations of the World, ſubdued unto Chriſt, by the Preaching of the Goſpel, Rev. 11. 15. Or, it may be tranſlated over the Mountains and over the Hils, paſſing over all impediments, which might ſeem to hinder him, as the ſins of his people, the oppoſition of the world and the like. See Zech. 4. 7. Iſa. 40. 4. & 41. 15. & 42. 15. Hab. 3. 6. Aynſw. This phraſe ſpeaks both alacrity and ſtrength; when the time of deliverance is come, Chriſt makes haſt, and rejoyceth to ſave, and no Mountains or Hils, either of ſin or miſery, can ſtop him. Our tranſgreſſions are great mountains but he levels and brings them down, even the higheſt imaginations of them, 2 Cor. 10. 4. our enemies are great hils, Zech. 4. 7. but he threſheth them, and beats them ſmall, Iſa. 41. 15. Annot.

Hindes] By the Hindes of the field, Cant. 2. 7. By theſe Roes and Hindes (which are the delights of Shepherds) things moſt dear and precious ſeem to be meant. It's ſaid in Prov. 5. 19.

5. 19. that the Hinde is pleasant and the Roe loving, and so they are observed to be especially among themselves, leaping and playing together, and thus the sense appears brightly, I charge you O all ye daughters by that which is most dear and amiable in your eyes; as ever ye loved any thing that is lovely or pretty, or desire that it may not perish, that ye take heed what ye doe; for else even these irrational creatures will rise up witnesses against you, Deut. 30. 19. and then had you their feet and swiftnesse, you cannot outflye his vengeance, when he is incensed. So it is a charge, a prohibition upon their uttermost peril, Gen. 21. 23. Annot. The Church chargeth her daughters as by an oath not to disturb the peace of Babel, not to seek prepostrously deliverance from thence before the time that Christ had appointed, lest it turned to the disturbance of her peace, and to the carrying away such Gentiles as were coming on to be Proselytes, Jer. 29.4--5. Cotton. Christ being careful for the peace and quiet of the Church, the Church here laboureth, that no offence may be given unto him. Tomson. Christians must abide in their place and standing, that is to say, in some honest and lawful vocation, as Rachel that looked to her Fathers heards, and not either through idlenesse or disorderly walking and following after sinful pleasures to grieve the Spirit, and to give Christ cause, when they may have and hold him, to disjoynt himself from them. Finch. How sweet is the presence of Christ? how careful should we be not to disquiet him?

H O.

Held] I held him, Cant. 3.4. See Go. The King is held, (Heb. bound. marg.) in the galleries, Cant. 7.5. See Galleries.

Hole of the doore] The Key-hole properly, whereby one may look in when the Door is shut; mystically, a little crevice, whereby to winde into the heart, which is after a sort shut and lockt up, Cant. 5.4. My wel-beloved put in his hand at the hole of the doore.

Holes of the Rock] The eternal counsel and election of the Church unto glory, wherein (as in a hollow rock) it resteth safe, Cant. 2.14. My Dove that art in the holes of the Rock.

Hony-combe, Hony] The sweet joys, which the faithful with Christ shall enjoy in heavenly glory, Cant. 5.1. I eat my hony-combe with my hony. Thy lips drop as the Hony-combe, that is, utter sweet words. Hereby the doctrines and prayers of the Church are commended, as sweet and pleasant to the hearers, like hony to the taste. Aynsw. The Word of God is compared to the Hony-combe, Psal. 19.10. and the preaching of it like the droppings of Honey, should be free, pure, sweet, healthful, and comfortable, nay like the hony-combe it self, then which nothing boasteth or symbolizeth more art, pleasure, benefit, fruitfulnesse, or sincerity, whilest like the laborious Bee, to collect her redolent spoyls; so the unwearied Minister travels through all the Gardens of Learning, and sucks something from every flower there, that he may return with joy, and bring his vessels, and his treasures full of comfort. Annot.

I have eaten my Hony-combe with my Hony] Cant. 5.1. It is a full expression of that highest delight wherewith Christ receiveth the obedience and services of his people feeding on them with a kinde of voracity or greedinesse, as they should doe on his Ordinances; and (as hungry or greedy men do) swallowing the very combe, that is, the more imperfect parts, and pardoning them for the Honeys sake, for that which is more perfect. The Hony-combe is bitter and cannot be eaten, but men use to suck out the hony, and if it be empty to throw it away. Christ loveth not them who are all outside, though composed by never so much Art; but where there is Hony he dispenseth with all imperfections, and will purifie them fully hereafter. Annot. Let us labour to be such as Christ may delight in, for our graces are Hony and Spices unto him; and where he tastes sweetnesse he will bring more with him. Sibs. As the Word and Doctrine of Christ is likened to Hony and the Hony-combe, to Wine and Milk, Psal. 19.11. & 119.103. Pf. 55.1. 1 Pet. 2.2. because it is sweet, comfortable and wholesome to nourish the soul, as these things doe the body; so here the manifold fruits and graces which that Word by the Spirit, bringeth forth in Christians, are likened also to such things, whereof Christ is said to eat, that is graciously to accept, and delight in them. Aynsw.

House] Until I had brought him into my Mothers house, Cant. 3.4. This may be understood either of the Church of God in her publick Congregations which is the Mother of us all, or else of the sanctified heart and conscience which is, the dwelling of Christ, where we should lay him up by faith, and keep him safely as a jewel of inestimable price. Annot.

J E.

Jealouſie] Suſpicion between marryed folks, of their fidelity one towards another.

2. Vehement affection of love, in which the Church deſireth that Chriſt his affection may be continued to her, Cant. 8.6. Jealouſie is as cruel as the Grave. See Cruel.

Jeruſalem] Comely as Jeruſalem, Cant. 6.4. A City renowned for glory, eſpecially becauſe God himſelf choſe to dwell in it, having his temple built on Mount Sion. It was fair in ſituation, the joy of all the earth, the City of the great King, Pſal. 48.2,3, &c. Hereupon the Church under the Goſpel, the Spouſe and wife of the Lambe Chriſt, is called Jeruſalem, holy and heavenly; whoſe glory from God, and excellent ornaments are deſcribed at large, Rev. 21.2,9,10,11, &c. It's by interpretation the ſight of peace. Aynſw.

Jewels] See Joynts.

I N.

Incloſed] A garden incloſed, Cant. 4. 12. barred, marg. locked, cloſe ſhut up; which is for ſafety and defence, that no evill ſhould come thereon, no enemies ſhould enter; for wals, doores, locks, bars, &c. are means to preſerve, ſecure, and ſave. So in figure when the wals of Jeruſalem were repaired, they were thus fortified, Neh. 3. 3. 13. But when ſuch fences are wanting or broken down, all things lye open to the ſpoyl, Iſa. 5. 5. Pſal. 80. 12. Hereby is ſignified on Gods part the protection of his Church, Zech. 2. 5. Pſal. 147. 13. Iſa. 27. 3. and on the Churches, her care to keep her ſelf and all her plants and fruits, holy, chaſt, and pure unto her Beloved only, opening the gates for the righteous, Iſa. 26. 2. but keeping watch leſt the enemies ſhould invade, leſt the unclean, or any thing that defileth ſhould enter thereinto. 2 Chro. 23. 19. Rev. 21. 27. Aynſw.

Inſtruct] Who would inſtruct me, Cant. 8. 2. It is the Office of Chriſt to teach, who only is able in deed to doe it, inwardly and ſpiritually, ſo as both to overcome our natural dulneſſe, and infuſe divine knowledge; but yet is pleaſed to aſſign that duty to his Church, who is the pillar and ground of truth in this reſpect, that ſhe holdeth forth and preſenteth that truth outwardly, which only Chriſt bringeth to the heart, and makes effectual; ſo as we are ſaid to be Θεοδίδακτοι, taught of God, Joh. 6.45. He teacheth immediately and originally, but the Church is inſtrumental and ſubordinate, and therefore not to be deſpiſed, but had in great reverence for his ſake. Annot.

Mountains of Incenſe] Jeruſalem above, our celeſtial habitation, where the Saints perform duties moſt delightful to God, Can. 4.6. I will goe to the Mountain of Incenſe.

I O.

Joynts and Jewels] Turnings, or things which compaſſe about (as a Girdle) which the Bride was wont to wear, full of rich Jewels.

2. All rich and glorious inward graces, and ſpiritual ornaments, Cant. 7.1. The joynts of thy thighs are like Jewels. The Original word for joynts, uſed only in this place hath the ſignification of turning or going about, and ſeemeth to mean the bones that turn and move in the hollow of the thighes. Theſe are likened to jewels or ornaments, ſignifying the firm, upright, goodly, and glorious ſtature, geſture, walking and converſation of this Princes daughter, well beſeeming the Goſpel which ſhe profeſſeth; being in fit, orderly and due proportion, as the Greek verſion alſo implyeth. Aynſw. The word for jewels is found only here, and ſprings from a root that ſignifies to boar, or inſert, or faſten, or link one thing into another, as skilful workmen doe in their curious chains, and other jewels, & chiefly, as he who is the great Artiſt, ὁ τέκτων, the Omnipotent wiſe Creator of man, hath faſhioned and united his joynts and bones wonderfully together, which like wheels and compaſſes move and turn in their order, as he hath appointed. Then which nothing can be a fitter ſymbole of the Church, which is the work of God too, Iſa. 60. 21. whoſe body is fitly joyned together, and compacted by that which every joynt ſupplyeth, Epheſ. 4. 16. and in whoſe praiſe nothing can be ſaid greater, then that ſhe is careful to preſerve and keep this decent compagination: not a greater bleſſing deſired for her, then that ſhe may always have her joynts and parts thus beautified, and ſtrengthened with truth and peace, which is the work of the ſame skilful hand that formed her at firſt. To make make peace is the Prerogative of the God of peace. Annot.

I S.

Iſrael] Of the valiant of Iſrael, Cant. 3. 7. what mighty Valiants were in Iſrael appeareth by Davids worthies, which helped him in his warres, and are mentioned in 1 Chron. 11. 10, 47. & 12. 1.--38. They figured ſuch ſtrong men, as have the Word of God abiding in them, and doe overcome the wicked one, 1 Joh. 2. 14. Aynſw.

J V.

Juyce] I would cauſe thee to drink of ſpiced Wine, of the juyce of my Pomgranate, Cant. 8. 1. or the new liquor, the ſweet Wine, (which hath the name of treading or preſſing out) of the Pomegranates or Grapes. Hereby ſhe ſignifieth that the Word ſhould not be fruitleſſe in her, but that ſhe would honour Chriſt with her graces, and render unto him ſuch fruits of faith, as ſhould be ſweetened and ſpiced with her own Spirit in her, and wrung out of her by the ſame. Whiles ſhe hath fellowſhip in his afflictions, ſee Prov. 9. 1, 5. Iſa. 55. 1, 3. Cant. 4. 10. & 5. 1. This juyce and Wine ſpiced with the truth, faith, grace, and Spirit of the Lord, is contrary to that cup in the womans hand full of abominations, and filthineſſe of her fornication, the hereſies, Idolatries, and other fruits of the fleſh, with which Wine the Inhabitants of the earth were made drunk, Rev. 17. 2, 4. Aynſw.

K E.

Kedar] As the tents of Kedar, Cant. 1. 5. Kedar, by interpretation ſignifieth black. The ſecond ſon of Iſmael, Gen. 25. 13. His poſterity, (which were ſtill called by his name) dwelt in Tents in the deſerts of Arabia, fed cattel, and were given to their bow, and wars, Iſa. 21. 13.--17. & 42. 11. Ezek. 27. 21. Pſal. 120. 5, 6. whoſe Tents were of hair-cloth, made of Goats hair, wherein they dwelt, having no other houſes. Here therefore the Church (which is called the Tents of Jacob, Jer. 30. 18. and the Tents of Judah, Zech. 12. 7.) is for her afflictions, perſecutions, pilgrimage, and many infirmities, in outward view of the world, like unto the black and hair Tents of Kedar, for ſuch as dwelt in them. Aynſw. Beſides blackneſſe, matter of deſire is alſo underſtood, as if ſhe had ſaid, True, I am black as Kedars Tents, yet is there in me pretious things, for which I am to be deſired, Even as Kedars tents have have been deſired, not for their outward hue, but for the precious gemmes, gold and pleaſant odours that be couched in them. We muſt not judge peremptorily upon outward appearance. Clapham.

To keep] To reſerve graces and all gifts to Chriſt alone, Cant. 7. 13. My wel-beloved I have kept them for thee. Mine own Vineyard have I not kept, Cant. 1. 6. I have not kept, either through her own infirmity, or negligence, or other tyranny, or both. See Rom. 7 15, 18. Prov. 24 30, 31. Act. 8. 1. Lam. 2. 6, &c. Iſa. 5. 2. 5, 6. Lam. 1. 14. 18. 22. Aynſw. In times of perſecution and clowdy days, the Church is broken and ſcattered ſo, that ſhe cannot ſerve God ſo freely and comfortably as ſhe deſireth. In the beſt times ſhe may fail of her duty, and cannot doe all ſhe ought and would, but in days of trouble her ſolemn days are forgotten, and her gates mourn, Lam. 2. 6. ſo that the Vineyards grow wilde, which is a ſad cauſe of complaint. Annot. She omitteth her own task (the looking to her own Vine, her own particular calling and proper duty) and undergoeth another. We are many times ready to undergoe the keeping of other mens Vines, when we are unfitted to watch over our own, buſied about great things, when we cannot diſcharge the leſſe. Clapham. I have not ſo entirely kept the ſincere truth of God committed to me, as I ought. Hall. Mr. Cottot underſtandeth hereby the Churches of Judah and Jeruſalem, Idolatry and ſuperſtition creeping in, no not the Vines of mine owne houſe free (might Solomon ſay) my wives falling to Idolatry and ſeducing my ſelf to toleration of it.

Keeper] They made me the Keeper of the Vineyard, Cant. 1. 6. Did force upon me the obſervation of their idolatrous religions, and ſuperſtitious impieties. Hall. Here the Vineyards oppoſed to her own Vineyard, ſeem to mean falſe Churches, and in them the corruption of Religion, whereunto her Mothers ſons ſought to draw her: ſetting her to obſerve the Ordinances and Traditions of men, or otherwiſe to undergo their cruelty and wrath. See Mark. 7. 13. Mat. 23. 4.

Act. 15. 1, 10. Gal. 6.12,13. Col. 2. 20-23. Aynſw. They either compelled her to baſe and unworthy ſervitude (as the phraſe imports, 2 King. 25.12.) or elſe inticed and ſeduced her to joyn with them in their falſe worſhip and Religion. Annot.

Keepers] The Keepers of the walls took away my vail from me, Cant. 5.7. Watchmen on the wals are to look to the enemies without, that they break not in, and to warn the City, if foes approach. Theſe are in name the Miniſters of Chriſt, ſupplying the place of ſuch as are mentioned, Iſa. 62.6. but of another kinde, not making mention of the Lord, but perſecuting thoſe that ſeek him. Aynſw.

Keeper of the Vineyard] A godly and faithful Miniſter, whom God truſteth with the Vine of his Church, to trimme and dreſſe it; to keep and watch it, Cant. 8.11. He gave the Vineyard unto Keepers. Gave it to be kept, as God did Paradiſe unto Adam, Gen. 2.15. and as David did his Vineyards, 1 Chron. 27. 27. It is not poſſible for any Magiſtrate to diſcharge his whole duty perſonally, though never ſo vigliant; and therefore lower officers may be admitted by the Supream, both to counſel and Government; which are called ἡγεμόνες ὡς δι' αὐτὸῦ πεμπόμενοι, 1 Pet. 2. 14. and the people cals them watchmen, Iſa. 62. 6. which they are in their ſeveral ſtations, and ſhould take heed to their politick flocks, that they keep them ſafe, and in due obedience to the chief Shepheard. Annot. The keepers of this Vineyard are both the Magiſtrate and Miniſter, but with no little oddes. The difference muſt ever be held between the Diadem and Ephod, the Kingdome and Prieſthood, between ἀρχὴ, ἐξουσία, and ἡγεμόνια, the Soveraign and any other ſubordinate Magiſtrate. The power that the one hath is Regal and Imperial, that the other, Paſtoral and Paternal, &c. Dr. Kings Sermon on Cant. 8. 11. pag. 5.6.

K I.

Kids] The company of the faithful, and of the true worſhippers of God, Cant. 1. 8. Feed thy Kids by the Tents of the Shepherds. Here the Kids ſignifie young and tender Chriſtians, which are to be fed with the ſincere milk of the Word, that they may grow thereby, 1 Pet. 2. 2. and ſo Chriſt giveth charge, feed my lambs, feed my ſheep, Joh. 21. 15, 16. and this is the end, why the faireſt among women, is willed to goe out, that ſhe may finde paſture for her Kids, following herein the example of Chriſt, who leadeth out his ſheep, and putteth them forth, that they may finde paſture, Joh. 10.3,4,5. Aynſw. So the Annot.

King] The King hath brought me, Cant. 1. 4. or, The King himſelf God the Father who prepares the wedding, or Chriſt himſelf who is the only King, 1 Tim. 1.17. Annot. That King Hammelech (as ὁ βασιλεὺς, Mat. 22.7.) teaching

1. That he to whom ſhe prayeth, is of Supream place, a King, and therefore the duty of all to fear before him.

2. That he is that King, that particular one, who before by his Spirits breathing, had aſſured her of his love, and therefore her fear not ſlaviſh. Clapham.

King Solomon] Solomon, who as King ruled over Gods people Iſrael, a glorious King, yet not comparable to Chriſt in glory, Can. 3 11. Come forth ye daughters of Sion, and behold King Solomon.

To kiſſe] To ſhew and expreſſe moſt neer love, by preſence and neer conjunction, and all ſigns of love, Cant. 1. 2. Let him kiſſe me with the kiſſes of his mouth. Hereby the Church deſireth to have Chriſt manifeſted in the fleſh, and to have the loving and comfortable doctrines of the Goſpel applyed unto her conſcience, that ſhe might not be alway under the Schoolmaſter of the Law, (which worketh wrath, Rom. 4. 15.) but might be prevented with the grace of Chriſt, be reconciled unto God, united unto Chriſt, and have the feeling of his love towards her; for kiſſing is a token of love, 1 Pet. 5.14. Luk. 7.45. And as we are willed to kiſſe the Son, Pſal. 2.12. that is, lovingly and gladly to ſubmit unto and obey his Commandements, ſo the Church here prayeth that the Son would kiſſe her, that is, in love and kindeneſſe teach and apply unto her the grace of his Goſpel. See 1 Joh. 4. 10,19. Cant. 8.1. Aynſw.

I would kiſſe thee] Cant. 8.1. The cheerful and bold readineſſe of the Church to receive and imbrace Chriſt in an open and publick profeſſion of him; for this is to kiſſe him, and is the happy effect of his own Spirit, by which we are not only united to him, but likewiſe imboldened and incouraged to acknowledge and confeſſe him before men; even though it be to ſuffer for him, as he did for us without the gates. Annot. This is in ſign of love, honour, and obedience, as all are exhorted to kiſſe the Son, Pſal. 2.12. Aynſw.

Kiſſes] With the kiſſes of his mouth, Cant. 1.2. His own lovely and gratious doctrines.

As

As in Prov. 27.6. the wounds of a friend, ſignifie ſharp reproofs, and are oppoſed to the deceitful kiſſes, that is, the flattering ſpeeches of an enemy. So here the kiſſes deſired of this friend, are the comfortable words of the doctrine of ſalvation; oppoſed to the ſevere rebukes which the law giveth for our ſins, condemning and curſing every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law, to do them, Gal. 3.10. But Chriſt (into whoſe lips grace is poured, Pſal. 45.3.) openeth his mouth, and uttereth bleſſings, Mat. 5.2,3, &c. Aynſw. The comforts and graces of the Spirit of God, are his ſymbolical kiſſes and greetings, being ſeals and aſſurances of love, and the happy Preface to that full injoyment in the world to come. Oh! theſe are ſweet and unvaluable, being the ſoft earneſts and fruits of the Spirit of comfort, which like balm heals the wounds and bruiſes of the law, and make ample reparation, as the dandlings and huggings of an indulgent mother doe, for the ſharpneſſe and bitterneſſe of any rod. The kiſſes of Chriſt alone work reconciliation and peace and good will and everlaſting joy. The fruits of his lips is peace, Iſa. 57.19. whereas all other pleaſures ſowre and wither by uſing, thoſe of his Spirit, become more freſh and delightful. Annot. The preaching of the Word of God, (joyned with the force and efficacy of the holy Spirit) for the delivery whereof the mouth is the Organ or inſtrument. But not letters, not meſſengers, will content the Spouſe, nothing will ſatisfie, but the real enjoyment of Chriſt, which is that ſhe here deſireth. Beza.

K N.

Knock] It is the voyce of my Beloved, that knocketh, Cant. 5.2. or that beateth, to wit, at the door, Chriſts voyce is uttered by preaching of his Goſpel, calling to repentance, faith, and obedience, Heb. 3.7, 8, 15. & 4.2. His knocking ſignifieth a more earneſt provocation, and deſire to be let in, Mat. 7.7. Luk. 13.25. and it may imply his chaſtiſements alſo, whereby he would call her to repentance, ſee Rev. 3.19, 20. Aynſworth. To call importunately at the doore of our hearts by his chaſtiſements. Hall. What meanes of knocking hath he not uſed among us a long time? Works of all ſorts, all kinde of favours; mercies in aboundance; what Miniſterial knocking, with the motions of his Spirit? Sib.

Know] If thou know not, Cant. 1.8. that is, for as much as, or ſeeing that thou knoweſt not, Heb. if thou know not to thee, or for thy ſelf. This may be to ſignifie the ignorance which ſhe hath in her ſelf, upon acknowledgement whereof, Chriſt informeth her. Aynſw. Of our ſelves we are all ignorant, till taught of God. Annot. The confeſſion of our ignorance is the ſureſt and ſpeedieſt way whereby to get knowledge.

L A.

Latteſſe] Shewing himſelf through the Latteſſe, Cant. 2.9. A word not elſewhere uſed in the Hebrew, but the Chaldee uſeth it for windows, Joſh. 2.21. And as windows and latteſſes ſerve to let in light into the houſe, ſo they may here be applyed unto Chriſt, through whom grace ſhined in his humane nature; or to his Ordinances, through which the light of grace ſhineth unto us, as by his Word, ſeals of the Covenant, &c. or to the hearts of his people, into which he conveyeth heavenly light. But his looking in to his Spouſe through theſe, betokeneth alſo his ſecret obſervation of her, and all her doings: for things which one doth ſecretly eſpyed, are ſaid to be by looking out at the window, Prov. 7.6, &c. Gen. 26.8. And as for her ſhe ſeeth him not plainly, but as through windows and latteſſes, 1 Cor. 13.12. Aynſw. Or caſements, or nets. Through theſe he ſheweth himſelf or flouriſheth, marg. bloſſometh and ſhineth forth. They are by ſome applyed to thoſe gracious openings and borings of the heart, by which Chriſt conveyeth his graces, and offers himſelf to the ſoul, to her unſpeakable joy and comfort; as ſweet plants or flowers grow under windows, and ſend in their odour and branches at the caſements. Others will have it meant of temptations, which are nets and ſnares, of which all the world is full, and from which only Chriſt can deliver us, by ſhining into the heart and ſanctifying the eyes and other ſenſes, that ſo where death, is uſed to aſcend, Jer. 9.21. there life may enter. Annot. Hereby Mr. Cotton underſtandeth any place burned through in the ſiege of Babel. Cyrus diverting the courſe of Euphrates another way, which before came through the midſt of the City, burning up the reeds and drying up the water paſſages, he ſhewed himſelf through the place and entered the City: ſo in effect Brightman. What may theſe grates be, but particular notices, and neer knowledges particularly enlightening our conſcience? Clapham.

L E.

Lead] I would lead thee, Cant. 8.2. to wit, with honour and ſolemnity, with joy and gladneſſe, for Kings and great perſonages, are ſaid to be led and brought along, Pſal. 45. 16,17. Iſa. 60.11. Here that which the faithful deſire and receive of God and of Chriſt, to be led and to be brought unto his holy Mountain, Pſal. 43.3. they promiſe to doe unto Chriſt; but the Lord doth it by the light of his Word and Spirit, Pſal. 143. 10. Iſai. 63.14. they doe it unto him by earneſt prayers, ſtirring up themſelves to take hold on him, Iſa. 64.1,7.

Leaning upon] Accompanying or being in company with one, Cant. 8.5. Leaning upon her wel-beloved. This remonſtrates both the faith and love of the Church, whereby ſhe both leaneth upon Chriſt as her foundation and ſupport, and likewiſe reſteth in him as her joy and delight. See Joh. 15.23. & 21.20. Prov. 3.5. Jer. 10.23. Annot. Cleaving to, adjoyning, aſſociating her ſelf. It is a word not elſewhere uſed in Scripture, and is borrowed from the Arabian language. The Greek tranſlateth it confirming or ſtrengthening her ſelf. It ſignifieth her weakneſſe in her ſelf, unable to ſuſtain her ſteps: but her ſtrength in Chriſt her Beloved, on whom ſhe leaning by faith, is confirmed againſt all doubts, fears, dangers, difficulties, temptations, and by her union with him is made partaker of all grace and comfort. See 1 Cor. 6.17. 1 Pet. 5. 10. Iſa. 63.11,13,14. Aynſw.

Leaping] Great celerity and ſpeed that Chriſt uſeth in coming to his Church for her ſuccour and ſolace, Cant. 2. 8. He cometh leaping by the Mountains.

From Lebanon] From remote parts and out of places fartheſt off, ſo the elect are gathered unto Chriſt out of all Nations, Cant. 4.8. Come with me from Lebanon.

Springs of Lebanon] The graces and waters of life, which doe flow from Chriſt upon his Church, and are never dryed up, like to thoſe clear ſprings which run and flow from Lebanon, Cant. 4.15. And the ſprings of Lebanon. A Mountain in the North part of the land of Canaan, poſſeſſed of old by the Evites, Judg. 3. 3. afterward by the Iſraelites. On it grew many Cedar trees, Cant. 3.9. (figuring the Saints likened to Cedars in Lebanon, Pſal. 92.12,13. of which as of the matter Chriſt maketh his Church, Rom. 1.7. 1 Cor. 1. 2.) but in compariſon with other places it was a Forreſt or Wilderneſſe, Iſa. 29.17. and ſo the haunt of wilde Beaſts, 2 King. 14. 9. Sometime in reſpect of the largeneſſe of the Mount, and goodly trees thereon, it is uſed to ſignifie glorious things, Deut. 3. 25. Cant. 3. 9. Cant. 5. 15. Aynſw.

Leopard] See Dens of Lyons.

L I.

To lie between] To be very dear and in precioue account, alwayes in ſight and preſence, Cant. 1.13. He ſhall lie between my breaſts.

Lilly] I am the Lilly of the Valleys, Cant. 2. 1. The Lilly is a flower of a hot quality, of excellent clear colour, (whatſoever his colour be) furniſhed with beauteous accompliſhments, namely with the form of a bell; leaved with the number of ſix (being therefore derived from שש, which ſignifies ſix) furniſhed within with ſeven grains, and all within of the colour of gold, hanging down the head the lower, by how much the ſtalk is higher; of ſavour ſo ſweetly ſtrong, as a mans ſenſes will be eaſily over-turned with the ſtrength thereof. Hereunto our Saviour is fitly compared, as might be inſtanced in all the particulars of this deſcription, which Mr. Clapham accordingly doth. The Lilly is fragrant, fair, medicinable; ſo is Chriſt, The faithful alſo are reſembled hereby, Cant. 2.2. As the Lilly among thorns, &c. (for as it is ſubject to be prickt and rent with thorns, and trodden under foot by the herd of Beaſts, ſo is the Church to be vexed with the wicked growing up with her and to be trod under by oppreſſors and perſecutors,) Cant. 2.16. He feedeth among Lillies, (among pure and fair Chriſtians) Cant. 4. 5. which feed among the Lillies, ſo called for their whiteneſſe and purity of innocency, and for their amiableneſs) Cant. 6.2. To gather Lillies, (that is, to gather and to call more and more faithful Chriſtians out of a wilde field of worldly people into the fellowſhip of his Church, as it were to gather lillies into the Garden, who are called lillies, as for their fairneſſe, ſo for their excellency or eminency, and for Gods care in providing for them beyond their own labour and induſtry.) Cant. 6.3. He feedeth among among the Lillies, (that is, refresheth himself and strengtheneth his people conversing among them who strive for whiteness and purity and reformation) Cant. 7.2. Thy belly is like an heap of wheat, set about with lillies: The Lords Table shall not be set about with weeds, profane and scandalous sinners, but with lillies, worthy communicants. Cotton. And he is said to be the Lilly of the Valleys, to signifie (as lillies growing in the vallies have more moisture then those that grow on hils and mountains) the blessed estate of the Church in Christ, by whose grace it is in low and base estate made sweet and amiable as the lilly. See Isa. 35. 1. Hos. 14. 5. Aynsw. The God of Nature delights in the humble, regards their low estate to blesse it, and give more grace, that they may (like the wealthy vallies) rejoyce and sing, when they are covered over with corn, Psal. 64. 13. Annot.

Lillies] Pleasant sweetnesse, or glorious beauty. See before.

Lips of the ancient] The readinesse of old men (whose spirits be dull) to utter the praises of Christ; yea, they which sleep in death (as the word imports) by force of preaching shall be made to speak the truth and glory of Christ, Cant. 7.9. And causeth the lips of the Ancients to speak.

Lips like Hony] Sweet and delectable words, Cant. 4.11. Thy lips my Spouse, drop as the Hony-combe.

Lips like Lillies, &c.] The Doctrine of the Word, sweet and precious to the elect, coming from Christ (as Author;) from the Church (as instrument) having charge to teach and spread it, Cant. 5.13. And his lips like lillies, dropping down pure myrrhe.

Thy lips like a thred of Scarlet] Cant. 4. 3. that is, thin in substance, red of colour, as Scarlet double-dyed; which two things are the grace of the lips. Here by the lips of the Church are commended her doctrines, reproofs, prayers, praises, &c. for the lips are the instruments wherewith words are uttered, whether in prayer, Zeph. 3.9. Psal. 21. 2. or praises and thanks, Psal. 66.3. Heb. 13. 15. or vows, Ps. 66.13, 14. or doctrine, Mal. 2.6, 7. Psal. 119.13. or pleading, Job 13.6. or comfort, Job 16.5. or any other speech, all these she uttereth not with swelling words of vanity, or taught by humane wisdome, but by the Spirit of God (who hath poured grace into her lips) and by faith in the bloud of Christ, wherein her doctrines, prayers, comforts are all dyed and coloured, 1 Cor. 2. 4, 12, 13. & 1.17, 18. Or, these things applyed to persons to signifie the administers of the Word and Prayer. Aynsw. The Pastors and Ministers of the Church, who when they deliver the truth of Christ, should doe it as exactly, as Scarlet is spun and dipped twice over. Annot.

Liquor] Nourishment, or continuall supply of nourishment, Cant. 7.2. Thy Navel is as a round cup that wanteth not liquor. The navel not wanting liquor or mixture signifieth the juyce of grace aboundantly supplyed of God, for the nourishing and cherishing of his young children in the body of his Church, so that both Mother and Infant are in health and good plight. See Prov. 4. 1, 8. Aynsw. The Navel serving for the nourishment of the Infant in the Wombe, resembleth Baptism, nourishing Infants, and new born babes in the wombe of the Church, which wanteth not liquor, even the Spirit of Christ to sanctifie and cleanse us from sin. Cotton. See Navel.

Little Sister] The Church to be gathered from amongst the Gentiles, Cant. 8. 8. We have a little Sister. Little, (or small) as being young, newly converted, nothing populous. Aynsw. Her state being low, ungrown, immature. Annot. A little sister, in comparison of the Jews, or Assyrians, for but five Cities in the land of Egypt speak the language of Canaan, and one of them shall be called the City of destruction, Isa. 19.18. Cotton.

L O.

Lock] See Handles.

Locks] Within thy locks, Cant. 4.1. or, from within, or through thy locks; which are named in the original of binding or restraining, because a womans locks are modestly and seemingly tyed up and covered, so that it was a sign of sorrow, misery and captivity to have such locks uncovered, Isa. 47. 2. But the Spouse of Christ freed by him from Satans bondage, is decently dressed and covered in sign of her subjection, 1 Cor. 11. 5. and of her chast affection to him, as vers. 3. & Cant. 6.7. Aynsw. Or, through thy Veil, having Doves eyes, which may be referred to her bashfulnesse and modesty. Annot.

Lodge] Let us lodge in the villages, Cant. 7. 11. or stay, or sojourn, or rest all night in the villages, such is the condescension and goodnesse of Christ, that he disdaineth not the simplest, meanest cottages; and such is the high priviledges of those that are dull, and poor and ignorant by nature, to be made in him, rich and wise, and blessed. Annot.

Look] Look not upon me, Cant. 1. 6. or behold me not, to wit, with contempt for my blackneſſe, that is, deſpiſe me not, as in Joh. 41. 34. He beholdeth all high things, that is, deſpiſeth them; or, look not upon me, with delight and gladneſſe for my affliction, as in Obad. verſ. 12. thou ſhouldeſt not have look'd on the day of thy brother; or look not upon me with aſtoniſhment, as 1 Theſ. 3. 3. Aynſw. Or doe not conſider me, with an evill eye, ſo as to cenſure me, nor with an offended angry eye, ſo as to encreaſe my blackneſſe, nor with a deſpairing uncomfortable eye, ſo as to be diſmayed or aſtoniſhed for my ſake, nor with a partial eye, ſo as to behold my weakneſſe only, as ſome doe upon the corruptions and failings of their brethren, but paſſe over their graces. Annot.

That we may look upon thee] Cant. 6. 13. or, let us ſee, (or view) thee, and properly it meaneth a looking upon with delight. This ſeemeth to be ſpoken by her friends, deſirous to ſee the graces in this Shulamiteſſe returned. See 1 Pet. 1. 12. Pſal. 27. 4. Iſa. 52. 8. Aynſw. They beſeech her to take heed unto her ſelf, that if ſhe had been apt to be ſeduced and drawn aſide from her firſt love and purity, now to return ſpeedily and conſtantly, that they might with joy look upon her, might have more reaſon to admire her, and rejoyce in her. Annot.

Love] One moſt dear and affectionately deſired, Cant. 5. 2. Open unto me my ſiſter, my love. What had Chriſt no love but his Spouſe? Did his love goe out of his own heart, to her, as it were? It is ſtrange, yet true, Chriſts love is ſo great to his Church & children and ſo continual to it, that his Church and people, and every Chriſtian ſoul, is the ſeat of his love. That love in his own breſt being in them, they are his love, becauſe he himſelf is there and one with them. There is no ſaving love to any out of the Church, which is his love. When Chriſt ſaith my love, he ſhews that as his love goes and plants and ſeats it ſelf in the Church, ſo it is united to that, and is not ſcattered to other objects. Sibs. This title given unto the Church even in her infirmity, ſhews what affection he bare unto her, and how he eſteemed of her, notwithſtanding her ſins, which he imputed not but looketh upon her graces which he had indued her with, as if ſhe were perfect and undefiled. Aynſw. His love, his eternal love, whom he loved by that early love which prevented all poſſibility of hers to love him. Annot. Thus he alſo termeth her, Cant. 1. 9. I have compared thee O my love, &c. (or my fellow friend, my companion, familiar, ſo named of feeding and converſing together, and ſo partaking each of others good or evill, ſo in verſ. 15. and in chap. 2. 2. 10, 13. & chap. 4. 1, 7. & 6. 4. (& 7. 6.) Aynſw. Friend, companion, next to me, or what ever elſe that can expreſſe kindeneſſe and love is compaſſed in this word, which is repeated nine times in this book, and denotes both the affluence and profuſion of his love, and their happineſſe whom he loveth, who are his friends, and next to him, if they keep his commandements, Luk. 22. 30. Joh. 17. 21. Annot.

My Love] Cant. 3. 5. & 2. 7. meaning Chriſt her Beloved, who is called Love for excellency ſake, becauſe God is love, 1 Joh. 4. 8. moſt worthy to be loved, and loving his moſt dearly. Aynſw. The Word for love is an abſtract, which being here ſpoken of Chriſt, imports, not ſo much Beloved, as all love it ſelf, the very eſſence of love, who is nothing elſe but love. Nor ſhould any thing be loved by us, but as it either conveys love from him, or elſe draws up our affections unto him. Annot. Thus, whatſoever Chriſt ſaith to the Church, the Church ſaith back again to Chriſt, and he back again to the Church, ſo there is a mutual contentment and joy, one in another. Sibs.

Love] Cant. 1. 2. Heb. loves, marg. By loves are meant graces and fruits of them here firſt from Chriſt to his Church, afterward from her unto Chriſt. See Cant. 4. 10. (Thy love is better then Wine, ſaith the Church to him; How much better is thy love then Wine, ſaith he to her.) Theſe ſhe receiveth from Chriſt, by the works of adoption, redemption, juſtification and ſanctification through Chriſt and his Spirit, 1 Joh. 3. 1, 16. & 4. 9, 10. Joh. 15. 13. Rom. 5. 1, 5. Epheſ. 5. 25, 26, 27. Aynſw. The Goſpel Ordinances of Chriſt, which exceed the rites and ſervices of the Tabernacle, whereof Wine was a part, or elſe the compaſſions and kindeneſſe of Chriſt ſet forth in the acts of Adoption, Redemption, &c. Annot.

Love better than Wine] That Chriſts love unto his beloved Church in ſweetneſſe and wholeſomeneſſe, doth excell any delicate banquet, noted by Wine, Cant. 1. 1. & 4. 10. How much better is thy Love, than Wine? See Better.

Lovely] He is altogether lovely, Cant. 5. 16. lovely to God, to us, to the ſoul; as being fitted with all graces that might make him lovely. Yea, by how much the more he was abaſed for us, this makes him more lovely, that out of love he would abaſe himſelf ſelf ſo low. When greatneſſe and goodneſſe meet together, how goodly is it? Sibs. See Altogether.

M A.

Mandrakes] All amiable flowers, which be fair and lovely, by a Synecdoche, a part for the whole. It appears by Rachels deſire of them, and by the ſmell that here they are ſaid to give, that they were very lovely and pleaſant, differing from the Mandrakes that grow in theſe parts. Aynſw. If their nature and virtue be ſuch as it is reported by the learned, and theſe are that powerful Mandragora, of which the Greek Herbaliſts and others write ſo much, whoſe great effects are love and fruitfulneſſe, and ſleep; then it is evident that they are moſt apt ſymboles and figures of grace, and al other divine and heavenly influences, which not only conciliate love and charity, where there was none before, but likewiſe make the barren heart fruitful in every good work, and quiet the troubled and perplexed heart with aboundance of peace and joy. Annot.

Marble] His legs are as pillars of Marble ſet upon ſockets of fine geld, Cant.5.15. that is, all his paſſages and wayes are conſtant and firm, even as pillars of Marble. He is yeſterday, to day and the ſame for ever. In regard of his enemies he is ſet out in another manner of ſimilitude, as having legs of braſſe to trample them all in peeces, Rev. 1. 15. but in reſpect of his conſtant truth and wayes of goodneſſe to his Church, his legs are as pillars of marble. Sibs. All his proceedings are firm and ſtable; and withall as pillars of marble ſet in ſockets of tryed gold; ſo as they are neither ſubject to wavering, nor to any danger of infirmity and corruption. Hall. This ſheweth his power and Majeſty, being able to tread all his enemies, and whatſoever ſetteth it ſelf againſt him in peeces, under his feet, and to make the rage of men to turn to his glory. Fineh.

Marriage] Betrothing, the firſt degree of Marriage, Cant. 3. 11. Behold King Solomon with the Crown wherewith his Mother crowned him in the day of his Marriage. See Eſpouſals.

M E.

Powder or duſt of the Merchant, or ſpices] Thoſe heavenly graces of the Spirit, wherewith the members of the Church be perfumed, Cant. 3. 6. Spices of the Merchants. Or, of the Spice Merchant, as the word is Engliſhed in 1 King.10.15. but the Greek interpreteth it, Apothecary, or Ointment-maker. Such were the Prieſts under the law, 1 Chron.9.30. and ſuch now are the Miniſters of the Goſpel uttering the Word and graces of the Spirit. Aynſw.

M I.

Middeſt] The inward parts of the chariot, which were paved with love; that is, wrought with love, and moſt excellent works, Cant. 3.10. Whoſe midſt was paved with the love of the daughters of Jeruſalem. Or, the inmoſt parts was ſet with ſparkling gems, and ſhining ſtones, which typified the precious flames of love and charity, and like the fiery chariot of Elijah, carry us up to heaven; or the two Tables of the Law may perhaps be intended, which were written by the finger of God, and laid up in the midſt of the Ark, Exod. 25.16,21. the end or completion whereof, is love, or the Goſpel, which is the law of love, Mat.22.37. and like that μέσον, we finde, Eſther 1.6. is curiouſly adorned with the various treaſures of grace and wiſdome, as floors and pavements are checquered with many coloured marbles. Annot. This in reſpect of Chriſt ſignifieth his inmoſt and fervent love toward us, even giving his life for us, and having us as it were written in his heart. In reſpect of his people it ſignifieth the ſenſe and feeling of Chriſts love towards them, as alſo their love unto Chriſt, and one to another. So the ſeat, the covering, and the pavement (of this chariot) are anſwerable to thoſe three graces, faith, hope and love, ſpoken of 1 Cor. 13. 13. Aynſw.

Hony and Milk, &c.] The ſpeech or inſtruction of the Church, not only ſweet as Hony, but alſo wholeſome and nouriſhable as Milk, Cant.4.11. Hony and Milk are under thy tongue. Both of them mean the ſweet, eaſie, comfortable, and nouriſhing words of faith, love, holineſſe, &c. the ſincere Milk of the Word, whereby the babes in Chriſt may grow, 1 Pet.2.2. and plenty of grace is promiſed in Emmanuels days, under the ſimile of aboundance of Milk, Iſa. 7.22. Aynſw. Theſe two were the blessings of Canaan, Numb. 16. 14. and are the blessings of every sanctified mouth and tongue, which breath nothing that is corrupt, but all to the use of edifying, seasoned with salt, Col. 4. 6. and filled both with nourishment and pleasure. Annot.

washed with milk] Cant. 5. 12. as Dives washing themselves in milk-white water are clensed from dust and soyl: so the eyes of Christ are pure and clean, beholding his people in grace. Aynsw.

Mine] I am my Beloveds, and my Beloved is mine, Cant. 6. 3. & 2. 16. Christ is ours when by faith we apply him and all his graces, his Death, Resurrection, Ascension, Intercession, &c. unto our selves, as our own, 2 Cor. 5. 14. Gal. 2. 20. 1 Joh. 4 16. And we are his by the Covenant of his grace, Ezek. 16. 8. or, as the former branch signified her faith to justification, so this latter, her sanctification, whiles by holinesse of life, she giveth her self to Christ in all obedience to doe his will, Rom. 6. 19. 1 Joh. 4. 13. Aynsw. They are both very high and magnanimous sayings, but such as faith useth and love prompteth, which gives away it self, and reserving no propriety, yet enjoys more then All, in Christ. By faith (as by marriage) two are made one, and there is nothing in either, that is not common to both. Christ gives all to her, and what can shee deny to such bounty? First she is chosen to be his, and then this cherisheth and strengthens her faith and love towards him; so that being joyned to him, she becomes one spirit with him, 1 Cor. 6. 17. and boasteth her self to be only his, Psal. 119. 94. which is a rare and singular priviledge of the Saints of God, and though it appear a common and easie thing to say, yet can truly be spoken by none, but those that have the Spirit of God. Annot. There is a mutual intercourse and vicissitude of claiming interest between Christ and his Church. The words imply;

1. A mutual propriety: Christ hath a propriety in me, and I in Christ; a propriety with peculiarity.

2. Mutual love, affection and love to the uttermost.

3. Mutual familiarity. Christ discovers himself to her in the secret of his love, and she discovers her self to him in prayer and meditation, opening her soul unto him upon all occasions.

4. Mutual likenesse. The one is a glasse to the other, Christ sees himself in me, I see my self in him, love frameth the soul to the likenesse of the party loved.

5. Mutual care of one anothers good.

6. Mutual complacency, a resting, contenting love.

7. Courage in owning Christs cause with resolution. Christ is mine saith the resolved soul, I will be Christs. Now as Christ comes to be ours,

1. By his own and Fathers gift.

And 2. By his Spirit, so we come to be his,

1. By his Fathers gift.
2. By Redemption.
3. By Marriage.
4. By consent. Sibs.

M O.

Moon] The spiritual brightnesse of the Church, shining as the clear Moon, which giveth great beauty in the night, Cant. 6. 10. Fair as the Moon. The Moon is called in Hebrew Lebanah of her whitenesse and bright shining. See what is said in Isa. 30. 26. & 60. 20. when glory and prosperity is promised; and in Joel 3. 15. Ezek. 32. 7, 8. when affliction is threatned. Here the glorious state of the Spouse is signified, Ezek. 16. 14. Aynsw. This comparison may seem to respect the Churches state under the law, which was brighter and fairer then before; yet, but as the Moon, which hath many spots and shadows and mutations. Annot. The Moon is fair by beauty communicated to her from the Sun: All the beauty of the Church is from Christ.

Morning] The Church of the Jews is resembled by the morning,

1. Because this Church shall arise from the Eastern countries.

2. Her arising shall be like a new Resurrection from the dead.

3. Her arising shall be speedily, as the same phrase intimates, Who is shee that looketh forth as the morning? Cant. 6. 10. Cotton. The whole Church taken universally and intirely, who opened like the morning, and displayed the beams of life and salvation in a dim yet comfortable degree, and that before the law was given, when like the first light without the Sun, she had no other means of illumination then that which was darkly written in the heart by nature and reason. Annot. As the morning, that is, lightsome, bright, cheerful. As the morning after the dark night, so the Spouse after the darkness of affliction, errour, ignorance, ariseth to her own and others comfort. See Isa. 60. 1, 3. & 58. 8. Aynsw.

Mother] Jeruſalem, which is above, whereof the Church on earth is daughter, Cant. 8. 1. O that thou werſt as my brother, which ſucked the breſts of my Mother. Naturally of the Virgin, ſpiritually of the Church Univerſal, where Chriſt is born in the hearts of the faithful by his Word and Spirit. Finch.

My mothers children] Cant. 1. 6. See Children.

My mothers houſe] Cant. 3. 4. See Houſe.

His mother crowned him] Cant. 3. 11. By the mother ſeemeth to be meant the congregation of the faithful (as alſo the Chaldee here expoundeth it, the people of the houſe of Iſrael) called his Mother, becauſe by the doctrine of faith, they ſpiritually doe conceive and bring forth Chriſt, Gal. 4. 19. and doing the will of his Father, they are eſteemed and loved of him as his ſiſter and mother, Mat. 12. 50. Aynſw.

There thy mother brought thee forth] Can. 8. 5. The faithful company, or the Primitive Church, who brought forth Chriſt into the world, by preaching, profeſſing, practiſing and ſuffering for his Goſpel. Aynſw.

Mountains] Lets and difficulties that be in the way, Cant. 2. 8. He cometh leaping by the Mountains. That is, openly and apparently to the eye of faith, Nah. 1. 15. Spiritually thereby may be meant the Kingdomes and Nations of the world ſubdued unto Chriſt by the Preaching of the Goſpel, Rev. 11. 15.

Mountains of Bether] Cant. 2. 7. or, of diviſion, marg. or, in ſearching, beholding, ſaith another. This ſeemeth to be the place called alſo Bithron, which was on the outſide of Jordan, 2 Sam. 2. 29. called Partition, becauſe it was parted by the river Jordan from the land of Judea. And on thoſe Mountains (as by this Scripture appeareth) Harts and Roes uſed to run, from whom the ſimilitude is taken. Aynſ. Bether (being the Bithron above named) was neer, on the other ſide Jordan, whence he might return often to viſit & ſuccour her, as who ſhould ſay, Though thou ſometime turn from us, yet be not far, but ready, ever and anon to return and ſuccour us. Cotton. On this Mount, which ſome take to be Mount Gilead, was the beſt place for courſe and hunting. (Finch.) whither it's like, Solomon ſometime went. Here ſhe would not have him to be letted from returning to her, by any caves, rough places, broken rocks, &c. but ſtill overcoming them all, ſpedily and ſwiftly to haſten his return.

Mountains of Leopards] The company of ungodly men, which like cruel and ſavage beaſts would devour the Church, were it not that God doth miraculouſly keep it, Cant. 4. 8. From the Mountains of Leopards.

Mountains of Myrrhe] The Heavens, where the praiſe and honour given unto God and Angels and juſt Spirits, is like Incenſe and Myrrhe, Cant. 4. 6. I will goe unto the Mountains of Myrrhe. See Hill.

Mountains of Spices] Cant. 8. 14. This referred to Chriſt himſelf may mean the very heavens, called Mountains of Spices, for the height and pleaſures which are there at the right hand of God for ever. Aynſw.

Mouth] Words which come from the Mouth, or the Inſtrument of ſpeech and words, which in Chriſt were ſweet and gracious, Cant. 5. 16. His mouth is as ſweet things.

M Y.

Myrrhe] Cant. 1. 13. See bundle.

Perfumed with Myrrhe] Cant. 3. 6. The Church is perfumed and made of ſweet odour by Chriſt (the bag of myrrhe that lodgeth between her breſts, Cant. 1. 13.) whoſe death was like myrrhe, bitter in taſte, but of ſweet ſmell, with this ſhe was perfumed, by knowing him, and the power of his reſurrection, and the fellowſhip of his ſufferings, being made conformable unto his death, Phil. 3. 10. and with the odour of this incenſe ſhe is according to the Proverb, Oyntment and perfume rejoyce the heart. Prov. 27. 9.

Dropping ſweet ſmelling Myrrhe] Cant. 6. 13. See Drop as Honey combes.

N A.

Name] Thy name is as an oyntment powred forth, Cant. 1. 3. As Meſſias and Chriſt is by interpretation anoynted, and he is called the Oyl (or Oyntment) in Iſa. 10. 27. So by his Name is meant his Law, the doctrine of faith, Rom. 3. 27. as it is written, The Iſles ſhall wait for his law, Iſa. 42. 4. which is expounded, The Gentiles ſhall truſt in his Name, Matth. 12. 21. and the preaching of that grace is called the bearing of Christs name before the Gentiles, Act. 9.15. and as a good name is better then a good Oyntment, Eccles. 7. 1. the name and doctrine of Christ, exceeth all other, that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, Phil. 2. 10. This name is as a precious Oyntment powred forth by the Preaching of the Gospel, and by the miracles confirming the same, accomplished not only by Christ himself, Act. 2.22. Luk. 4.14,15. but also by his Apostles, Mat. 10.27. Rom. 15.19. & 16. 25,26. 2 Cor. 2.14,15,16. And as the box of Oyntment when it was broken and poured forth on Christs head, the house was filled with the savour of it, Mark. 14.3. Joh. 12.3. So when his Name and Gospel is preached abroad, it giveth the odour thereof into all Christian hearts, so that by the the preaching of faith, they also receive the Spirit, Gal. 3.2,5. and are anoynted of God, 2 Cor. 1. 21. and have an unction from the holy One, and know all things, 1 Joh. 2.20. that whereas before they mourned for their sins and miseries, they now are comforted, and have the Oyl of joy given them, Isa. 61.3. Aynsw. Thy name is an Oyntment, or Thou art an Oyntment, for name is oft put for person, and so Christ was oyntment to himself, his Godhead anoynted his Manhood, and therefore he was called, the Messiah, Dan. 9. 26. who was poured out for us (emptyed himself,) that we might be full, yet so as that his Graces, are like the eternal Springs of the earth, that cannot dry up. Annot.

Nabel] That part whereby the child receiveth nourishment whiles it is in the Mothers wombe.

2. An instrument by which spiritual nourishment is conveyed to the children of the Church; to wit, belief in the Word preached. Thy Navel is like a round goblet that wanteth not liquor, Cant. 7.2. The Spouse is here commended for her propagating the truth unto others, likened unto a mother conceiving and nourishing her children. The Navel (by which the childe is nourished in the wombe) is commended for the form, round as a Goblet, and for the nourishment which is mixed liquor without scarcity, wherewith the Goblet is full, and after her brests (with which the child is nourished after it is brought forth) are praised in vers. 3. Thus Paul preaching the Gospel to the Churches is likened sometime to a Father that begetteth, sometime to a Mother travelling in childbirth, sometime to a Nurse cherishing her children, 1 Cor. 4.15. Gal. 4.19. 1 Thes. 2.7. Aynsw. The Navel is not more tender or beneficial in respect of the natural body, then it is in the mystical, whose Navel is expounded to be the laver of Regeneration, that is, the Sacrament of Baptism, by which as plants by their roots, or children by the Navel, so are all the members of the Church fed and nourished, even when they are so weak & feeble, that they cannot eat or feed of themselves, but their whole life and sustenance is conveighed by others unto them. It was the custome of the Eastern Nations to infuse balms and other precious mixtures upon their navels both for delight and health. The wise man saith, that the fear of the Lord exceedeth all those unctions; it is health to the Navel, and marrow to the bones, Prov. 3.8. and so is the grace exhibited and given in Baptism, which whosoever receives & improves as he ought, will finde it a full Goblet crowned with plenty and comfort, which will refresh and heal every temptation. Annot.

N E.

Neck] That part of the body next the head, about which chains use to be worn for decking and Ornament.

2. The soul decked and adorned with spiritual graces, Cant. 1.11. Thy cheeks are comely with rowes of stones, and thy Neck with chains. See Chains.

Thy Neck is as a Tower of Ivory, Cant. 7. 4. The Church delivered from the bondage of Idolatry and sin, Heb. 2.14, 15. and having that grievous yoke broken, Lev. 26. 13. is now more glorious and pure and strong then towers of Ivory. Annot. This denoteth the power and glory of the Church in her cleer doctrine and upright judgements, whereby her children are guided and governed peaceably; freed from the servitude of men, of sin, Satan and all enemies, 1 Cor. 7.23. Rom. 6. 6. Heb. 2. 14. 15. so that now Jerusalem is loosed from the bands of her neck, as was promised in Isa. 52. 2. and is made to inherit the Throne of glory, 1 Sam. 2. 8. Aynsw. The neck is the faith of the Church, joyning Christ and his Church together, as the neck doth the head and body, which is as a Tower for strength, and of Ivory for preciousnesse. Cotton.

New wine] The fruit of the Vine newly pressed, being, to taste, sweet and delightfull.

2. The praises of Christ, most acceptable to him (as new wine unto our palate) Cant. 8.2. New Wine of the Pomgranate.

New

New] At our gates are all manner of pleasant fruits, new and old, Cant. 7. 13. Even at our doores, (not far to seek, not hard to procure) is offer made unto thee of all variety of fruit, whether from the young Converts, or thy more setled professors. Hall. Hereby the Church intimates her readiness to receive Christ at his coming, having as the manner was at Nuptials, prepared all manner of flowers and pleasant fruits to strew his way with, and declare her joyful readinesse to intertain him. Annot. Hereby is signified variety and plenty of delightful graces, the fame and odour whereof both at home and abroad, neer and far spread it self (for a thing is said to be at the doores, when it is nigh at hand, Mat. 24. 33.) so that now the state of the Church (instructed unto the Kingdome of Heaven) is like the householder which bringeth forth out of his treasury things new and old, Mac. 13. 52. Aynsw.

N I.

Night] Time of rest, sleep, an ease to the body, wearyed with labour.

2. Carnal delights and pleasures of this life, which for Christ his sake must be forsaken, Cant. 3. 1. In my bed by night I sought him whom my soul loved. He shall lye all night, Cant. 1. 13. The night usually signifieth the time of darknesse and affliction, whereby she meaneth that Christ with his consolations, should be her continual joy and comfort, whom she would hold fast by faith against all temptations, and troubles of this present life, and solace her self in him. Aynsw.

N O.

Noble people] A frank, willing people, such as the faithful be, who voluntarily and cheerfully follow Christ, Cant. 6. 11. My soul set me as the chariots of my noble people.

Nourseth] No instruments or means to bring up and nourish children, as in a young maid naturally; and spiritually in the Gentiles, before their calling to Christ, Cant. 8. 8. We have a little Sister, and she hath no breasts.

Noon] Where thou makest thy flock to rest at noon, Cant. 1. 7. in the heat of the day; signifying the heat of persecution, tribulation, tentation, and whatsoever may cause the disquiet and grief of his flock. In the midst whereof Christ giveth safe repose unto his sheep; which have peace in him, though in the world they have affliction, for he hath overcome the world, Joh. 16. 33. See Isa. 49. 10. Aynsw.

North] A winde which purgeth the air, and blows upon Trees and Plants, to make them fruitful.

2. The gracious inspiration of the holy Ghost, to make Christians abound in the fruits of the Spirit, Cant. 4. 16. Arise O North. The winde is Natures fan; what the windes are to the Garden, that the Spirit of Christ in the use of means is to the soul. The windes here spoken of are contrary one to another both in regard of the coasts from whence they blow, and in their quality, yet both are necessary for the Garden. The courses that Christ takes, and the means that he useth with his Church, may seem contrary, but by a wise ordering all agree in the wholesome issue. The North is a nipping winde, and the South is a cherishing winde, therefore the South winde is the welcomer and sweeter after the North winde hath blown. The people of God need purging as well as refreshing. The winde bloweth where it listeth, Joh. 3. 8. Hath a clensing force, especially the North winde; dispersteth and scattereth clowds, and makes a serenity in the air: Hath a cooling and tempering quality, and tempers the distemper of Nature: Being subtil it searcheth into every corner and crany: Hath a cherishing and fructifying force: Hath a conveying power of sweet smels in the air to carry them from one to another: And bears down all before it, houses, trees, &c. so doth the Spirit. Sibs. This blessed Spirit hath the effects of all the windes, and can both convince and comfort, nor should the one of these be desired or expected without the other; first the North winde to blow us down, to cool us, and the soft gentle whispers of the South to inlarge the soul, and make her glad and joyful, so that what winde soever blows, it is for her good and greater happinesse. Annot.

Nose] Thy Nose is as the tower of Lebanon which looketh toward Damascus, Can. 7 4. this is a principal ornament of the face; the instrument of smelling and of drawing breath; sometimes it is used for the whole face, and oftentimes for anger, wch appeareth by the face and breath. Here it seemeth to denote her spiritual courage, and bold carriage against her enemies; because her Nose is likened to the tower of Lebanon which was high and lofty: for as in speech of the wicked the loftinesse of his nose (or countenance) in Psal. 10. 4. signifieth his lofty, stout and proud carriage: so here contrariwise it being spoken for praise in the godly, her nose like an high tower, noteth her courage & magnanimity for the truth, mani-ſeſted in her countenance and behaviour, ſo that ſhee diſcomfiteth all her enemies, ſee Ezek. 23. 25. Aynſw. The tower of Lebanon was to be a Garriſon, and a Watch-tower or Beacon to the reſt of Judea upon any ſudden attempt of the Syrians againſt them, in which Office not the Miniſters only of the Church ſhould like that tower in their ſeveral Lebanons and charges (for which cauſe, the Pulpits are ſaid to be towers, Neh. 8. 4.) but likewiſe every Chriſtian whom it concerns to be watchful & careful both over themſelves, and the whole Church; and to that end to get this ſpiritual noſe which is ſpoken of, and which repreſents that excellent gift of proſpection and diſcerning, which proceedeth from the Spirit of God, whereby they may be able to diſtinguiſh the precious from the vile; and by a kinde of divine ſagacity both to preapprehend dangers and injuries plotted againſt the Church, and prevent them. Annot. Lebanon being full of all manner of ſweet and fragrant trees and ſhrubs and ſpices, the tower built in Lebanon muſt needs be compaſſed with the ſweet ſmelling odours, to the great refreſhing and delight of ſuch as ſhould lodge in it. Hence the noſe of this pure Church is compared to this tower: becauſe they that dwell in this Church (of the converted Jews) ſhall be wonderfully refreſhed with the ſweet odours of the Miniſtry, which is the ſweet ſavour of life unto life, as alſo with the ſavoury conference of good Chriſtians, and their faithful and godly converſation. Cotton.

The ſmell of thy Noſe like apples] Cant. 7. 8. Her Noſe commended for the form, v. 4. denoted her good carriage and courage for the truth. The ſmell, odour, or ſent thereof meaneth the good report and fame thereof ſpread abroad, which is comfortable as a ſweet odour. Or, by the ſmell of her Noſe may be underſtood the breath coming out of her Noſtril, that it ſhould be ſweet. And ſo not only her outward behaviour ſhould be commendable, but the hidden man of the heart uncorrupted; that the breath or ſpirit proceeding from within, be pure, and God may manifeſt the ſmell (or ſavour) of his knowledge by her in every place, 2 Cor. 2. 14. as the ſavour of life unto life, and like the ſavour of apples which refreſh thoſe that languiſh and are ſick of the love of Chriſt, Cant. 2. 5. Aynſw. Or, of thy mouth and countenance, which are the Engliſh of the ſame word that is uſed here, Gen. 2. 7. & 3. 19. and ſignifie the redolency and fragrancy of their names and memory that ſhall watch over and attend the flock of Chriſt, whoſe fame ſhall ſpread abroad, and be diſperſed even as the ſweeteſt apples, or other aromatical fruits, that have the moſt delightful breath or ſmell. Annot. Before when this Church conſiſted of her own people her ſmell was that of Lebanon, v. 4. and now by the acceſſe of the Gentiles it ſhall not be corrupt. The Church her ſelf and they that live in it ſhall ſmell a fragrant ſavour of the good converſation of the people. Cotton. See Apples.

Nuts] I went down into the Garden of Nuts, Cant. 6. 11. The Jewiſh Synagogues, ſo called, becauſe of that voyce of hardneſſe and blindneſſe drawn over their hearts, as it were a hard nut-ſhell over the kernel. Cotton. The word ſignifies not any common or vulgar ſort of fruit, but ſuch as was rare and precious, and ſo is worthy to figure the myſtical Paradiſe of Chriſt, which he is pleaſed to regard, and to take care of the growth and fruitfulneſſe of all her plants: a ſpecial word (but yet collective too, as almoſt all ſuch be in the holy tongue) being put for a general. Annot. Dr. Hall underſtandeth hereby the well-dreſſed Orchard of Churches Aſſemblies.

O I.

Ointment] Some ſweet perfume or confection, made under the Law, by Gods appointment, to anoint Aaron and his ſons; the Tabernacle and miniſtring veſſels, &c. Exod. 31. 11, 22.

2. The rich graces of the Spirit, poured upon Chriſt (our head) making himſelf ſweet, and the faithful alſo, which partake in them, Cant. 1. 2. Becauſe of the ſavour of thy good Ointments. See Name.

One] My Dove, my undefiled is but one, &c. Cant. 6. 9. or, There is but one my Dove, &c. for for this one only is opposed to the many Queens, Concubines forementioned. Here the Spouse of Christ, which is but one (as there is one Body, and one Spirit, one hope, one Lord, one faith, &c. Ephes. 4. 4. 5.) is preferred before the multitude of other, which in their own and the worlds esteem are Queens, Ladies, &c. Isa. 47. 7. Rev. 18. 7. See 2 Sam. 7. 23. Exod. 19. 5. Aynsw. This one exceeds all the others: or, There are several Congregations, and various forms and numbers, and outward professions they may have, but yet they all make but one undefiled or perfect Dove. This oneness or unity every true member of the Church will strive to preserve. Annot. Thou art mine own, most dear unto me, elect and chosen out of all kindreds, Nations and tongues to be my peculiar inheritance. Finch. She is alone, or she is onely beautiful, rich and honorable; standeth alone in all excellency, born of God, rich in faith. Giffard. Such Congregations are few as one to sixty or eighty, and are at unity, or brotherly love one with another. Cotton.

O P.

To open] To receive Christ into the heart by faith, to be joyned more neer unto him, that he might work more mightily, Cant. 5. 2. Open to me my Sister, my Spouse. God openeth doores to us, when he bestoweth his blessings on us, Psal. 78. 23, 24. Isa. 45. 1, 2, 3. and spiritually when he giveth grace to utter his Word, and to believe the same, Col. 4. 3. Act. 14. 27. So we open the door unto him, when we give him entrance into our hearts, he calling upon us by his Word and works; when we repent, believe, and accept Christ with his graces, &c. Rev 3. 20. Aynsw. But can we open? Is it in our power? Hath not he the keys himself, and is not he the doore himself? Doth not he shut, and none can open? Yes, but when he bids thee to open, he lends thee a key; and when he infuseth grace and faith, he inables thee to open. It is his gift, but thy grace; his inspiration, but thy improvement; And oh! how blessed are they that are but his turn-keys, his Doorkeepers. Is there a greater honour or happinesse, then to co-operate with God in that which of all others is the most God-like work, the salvation of souls. Annot. And what shall we lose by it? Doe we entertain Christ to our losse? doth he come empty? No, he comes with all grace; his goodnesse is a communicative, diffusive goodnesse. He comes to spread his Treasures, to inrich the heart with all grace and strength to bear all afflictions, to encounter all dangers, to bring peace of conscience and joy in the holy Ghost, he comes indeed to make our hearts (as it were) a Heaven. As the Church in her right temper hath never enough of Christ, but desires further union, and communion still, so Christ also, he is as desirous of them, yea they are his desires that breeds their desires. Christ had the heart of the Spouse in some measure already, but yet there were some corners of the heart, that were not so filled with Christ as they should be, he was not so much in her understanding, will, joy, delight, and love, as he would be, all which he would have her to open. Sibs.

O R.

Orchard] A garden ful of all pleasant and precious plants, of most sweet and delectable flowers and spices.

2. The Church of Christ, whose plants are the faithful which bear all sweet and delectable fruits, Cant. 4. 13. Thy Plants are an Orchard of Pomgranates.

O V.

Overlaid with Saphires] Cant. 5. 14. or, which is covered, and so adorned with Saphires, for in Gen. 38. 14. this word is used for covered, where the Greek and Chaldee expound it, adorned. Aynsw. To distinguish is to adorn, or ingrave, or inamel. Saphire is of an Hebrew descent, coming from their Saphar, which signifies to number, and so signifies a thing of great value or worth, as Res numeri alicujus with the Latines. Annot. The Sacraments are said to be overlaid with Saphires, (whose property is to strengthen and cherish the principal solid parts) because of their efficacy, (being truly taught and administred) to strengthen and quicken God graces in us. Cotton.

To overcome] To affect one with exceeding gladnesse, Cant. 6. 5. Turn away thine eyes for they have overcome me. Or, they have lifted me up, or, that they may lift me up, to wit, with courage, strength, comfort, &c. as in Psal. 138. 3. thou hast incouraged (or lifted up, strengthened) me. In this sense the Greek here translateth figuratively, for they have lifted me up on wing, (or have made me fly) that is encouraged, cheered me. Aynsw. Christ seemeth here to complain of an over-much duty and obedience in his Church, whose eyes religiously fixed on him, did so much delight him that he was almost ravisht and vanquisht by them, and forced (as the Vulgar Latine) even to flye away either from them, or from himself; ſelf; as men uſe to doe in violent paſſions and trances, and as he was thought to have done once for our ſakes; Mark.3.21. which yet were not violent, that is, neceſſary, or coactive to him, but moſt free and voluntary; nor ſinful, as in us often, but moſt innocent and blameleſſe. Annot. Such beauty is in thee that I am overcome with the vehemency of my affection to thee. Hall. It is a kinde of ſpeech that doth in the higheſt ſort that can be, expreſſe how much the beauty of her eyes doth delight him, for ever as ſhe ſaid ſhe was ſick of love, ſo he ſaith that he is as it were overcome with love. Giffard.

P A.

Palace of ſilver] A moſt glorious and magnificent houſe fit for a King.

2. The Temple and houſe of the moſt high God, wherein he delighteth to dwell by his Spirit, Cant. 8.9. We will build upon her a ſilver Palace. Or, a Caſtle, a Tower, a fair and orderly building; ſuch as were wont oft-times to be ſet on ſtrong wals of Cities: and this being of ſilver, noteth the purity, excellency, and durableneſſe of this Palace, adorned with the graces of Gods Word and Spirit, that ſo ſhe might be builded, for an habitation of God through the Spirit, Epheſ.2.22. and be able to reſiſt the forces of her enemies. Aynſw. Chriſt and his ſervants will enlarge her and encreaſe her beauty ſo, that from poore and weak and contemptible, ſhe ſhall become ſtrong and glorious, and the houſe of the great King, Pſ.48.2,3,4. Annot. We will beautifie and ſtrengthen her with further grace, and make her a pure and coſtly Palace, fit to entertain my Spirit. Hall. A houſe of Saints ſhall be erected by the preaching of the Goſpel, to be the Palace of the great King; a ſtately and magnificent Palace, all of ſilver, which is, the precious graces of Gods Spirit. Finch.

Palm-tree] A tree, tall and ſtreight, whoſe Nature is not to be preſſed downe with weight, but to grow the more.

2. The Church, which is not made crooked with the weight of afflictions, but rather becometh more upright and ſtrong, Cant. 7.7. This thy ſtature is like a Palm-tree. This tree (called in Hebrew Thamar, in Greek Phœnix,) is of a tall and upright ſtature, always green and flouriſhing, bearing pleaſant fruit. Wherefore the juſt mans ſtate is likened to this tree, Pſal.92.13. and figures of palm-trees (ſignifying heavenly graces) were made in the Temple, 1 King.6.29. & 7.36. and foretold to be alſo in the ſpiritual Temple under the Goſpel, Ezek. 41.18,19. and palm-branches carryed in the hand or on the head, were ſigns of victory, Rev. 7. 9. And the Palm-tree is ſaid to be of ſuch a Nature, that it will not bow downward or grow crooked, though heavy weights be laid upon it, but groweth ſtill upright. So this ſtature of the Spouſe likened to a Palm-tree, ſheweth her ſpiritual growth in the faith (notwithſtanding all her tribulations) tending alwayes upward towards heaven, till ſhe attain unto the meaſure of the ſtature of the fulneſſe of Chriſt, Epheſ.4.13. for now God hath broken the ſtaves of her yoke, and made her grow upright, Lev.26.13. See Ezek. 19.11. Aynſw. This tree is one of the nobleſt and moſt famous of all the forreſt, and is the uſual embleme and ſymbole of conſtancy, fruitfulneſſe, patience and victory; which the more it is oppreſſed, the more it flouriſheth, the higher it grows, the ſtronger and broader it is in the top. Annot. It's alſo eaſie to be climbed, having many boughs whereon to ſtay hands and feet, (others hold the contrary) So doth the Church readily entertain all the faithful that come to her. Cotton.

Pavement of Gold] Moſt rich and precious things, as ſhadows of the great glory which the Church ſhall enjoy with Chriſt in heaven, Cant.3.10. He made the pillars thereof of ſilver, the pavement of gold. Pillars of ſilver ſignifie the ſame. See Bottome.

P E.

Peace] Tranquillity of mind, and felicity by Chriſt, Cant. 8. 10. Then was I in his eyes as one that findeth peace. See found favour.

To perfume with Myrrhe] To make ſweet, by pouring into the heart the heavenly graces of the Spirit, like incenſe and myrrhe, Cant.3.6. Perfumed with Myrrhe and Incenſe. See Myrrhe.

P H.

Pharaoh] I have compared thee, O my Love, to a company of Horſes in Pharaohs Chariots, Cant. 1.9.

1.9. The Church being ſent forth by Chriſt in the footſteps of the flock to feed her Kids beſides the tents, (or dwellings) of the Shepheards, was preſently to look for troubles in it ſelf, Act.20.29,30. and oppoſition at the hands of thoſe companions, (forementioned, verſ.7.) and their flocks (as the Scripture often ſpeaketh of contention among Shepheards, about the feeding and watering of their flocks, Gen.13.6,7. & 26.14,15,20,21. Exod.2.16,17. ſee alſo Jer.6.2, 3,4.) To comfort therefore againſt ſuch troubles, the Lord compareth her to a company of Horſes in Pharaohs chariots, under this ſimilitude, promiſing her victory, as in Zech. 10.3. Aynſw. My Horſes in the Chariots of Pharaoh: the Paſtries His, the chariots Pharaohs, what is this, but that the Spirit of ſtrength and ſpeed it is Chriſts; and that the untoward fleſh (which is to be drawn by the ſame divine Spirit) it is of the world and the very chariot of Satan. Soul and body (as wheels and axeltree) doe run which way the Devil driveth, till the ſtronger man (Jeſus) hath freed our chariot-nature from that power of Hell, and ſo withall doth joyn himſelf by his own Spirit unto our nature, that ſo (with Ezekiels chariot) it may goe forth and return, as his divine Spirit inſtincteth. Clapham.

P I.

Like a piece of Pomegranate] A ruddy colour, or white mixed with red, Cant. 4.3. Thy temples are within thy locks, as a piece of a Pomegranate. Or, Thy cheeks are like the flower or bark of little Pomegranates, or like pieces of Pomegranates, which when they are divided and cut, have red bluſhing grains, and ſpecks within them, which bluſhing, ſeems to be for being diſcovered. The alluſion is excellent, which is anſwered in the modeſty and humility of the Church of Chriſt, which are in the eye of God of high account. Annot. Pomegranates are commended by Fernelius both for repreſſing the heat of choler; the malignity, rottenneſſe, and acrimony of Feavers; the looſeneſſe of the belly; and for the comforting and ſtrengthening the ſtomach and bowels, to the keeping back of all ſainting. This Office the Eccleſiaſtical Governours of the Church doe perform to it; they repreſſe the heat of ſallings out among the brethren, the notorious abuſes, the looſeneſſe or diſtemperedneſſe of the people, they comfort the feeble, and binde up the weak, and are therefore fitly reſembled by Pomegranates, yea by a piece of a Pomegranate, for it is not the whole body of the Pomegranate that doth this; but it, broken in pieces, by his juyce and rinde which are medicinable. Cotton.

Pillars of Marble] Legs ſtraight and long as Pillars of Marble, Cant. 5.15. His legs are as Pillars of Marble.

Pillars of ſilver] Cant.3.10. This if it be referred to perſons, meaneth the Miniſters, who by the doctrine of the Goſpel, ſuſtained the Church, Gal.2.9. If unto other things, it may be underſtood of the Words of God (likened unto fined ſilver, in Pſal. 12.6.) with whoſe Oracles as with pillars, the chariot of the Church is ſuſtained, Prov.9.1, 2. A pillar ſignifieth conſtancy and ſtability, Rev.3.12. Aynſw.

Pillars of ſmoak] The faith, hope, love, prayers, and thankſgivings, of believing Chriſtians, which like pillars of ſmoak, aſcend up before the Lord, Cant.3.6. Who is ſhe that cometh up out of the Wilderneſſe, like pillars of ſmoak?

P L.

Plants] Thy plants are an Orchard of Pomegranates, &c. Cant. 4.13. The Hebrew and Greek words have both of them the name of ſending forth, that is of ſhooting and growing, and ſo of bringing forth leaves, flowers, and fruits. Hereby the members of the Church are meant, planted and made fruitful by Chriſt, and here the garden of the Church is like the garden of Eden; out of which ground the Lord God made to grow every tree pleaſant to the ſight, and good for food, Gen.2.8,9. Aynſw. Here Chriſt ſheweth why ſhe was incloſed and ſhut up; which was to preſerve her rich and precious fruits, which are more pleaſant and delicate then any beſides, being fruits worthy the Kingdome of Heaven. Annot. S. Finch underſtandeth by plants the fruits of faith. B. Hall, the faithful children of the Church.

Pleaſant] Beautiful and delightful, as the Church is through graces and gifts of the Spirit, Cant.7.6. How fair art thou? And how pleaſant art thou? Behold, thou art fair my beloved, (ſaith the Church unto Chriſt, Cant.1.17.) yea, pleaſant, or, alſo pleaſant, amiable, delightful, beautiful, which is an addition unto the beauty of Chriſt, in reſpect of his pleaſant and gracious adminiſtration of his Covenant, Doctrines, reproofs, &c. (See Zech. 11.10. Pſal.27.4. & 90.17. Prov.24.24,25.) all which and the like have their accompliſhment in Chriſt, teaching, admoniſhing, reproving, comforting, his people with words of grace whoſe pleaſant words are as a

Honey combe, sweet to the soul, and health to the bones, Prov. 16.24. Aynsw. Implying a real and constant sweetnesse and amiablenesse in Christ, who hath the truth and essence of beauty, whereas earthy things have it only in estimation; and for a short time. Annot. And in chap. 4. 13, 16. there's mention of pleasant fruits, or precious things, dainties, even the fruit of his precious graces, or, his precious fruits, Phil. 1. 11. Col. 1. 10. Rom. 6. 22. Aynsw. So here Christ admires her beauty and pleasantnesse in all her parts, carriage and administration, he was delighted and as it were ravished with her heavenly graces; And as she admired Christ for his fairnesse and pleasantnesse, so now she is magnified for the like. Aynsw.

Please] Nr awake my Love, till he please, Cant. 2. 7. Being understood of stirring or provoking Christ by sin, it meaneth never, for so the word untill often signifieth, 2 Sam. 6. 23. Iiai. 22. 14. Gen. 28. 15. Aynsw. For wickednesse can never please him, nor distrust, and unseasonable importunities. In acts of faith we must not be too hasty, but let God have his own time, which is best, and wait till he awake to redeem us. Annot.

Pleasures] Earthly delights, or such things as we esteem for dainties.

2. The Church, which is very delightful in the eye of Christ, Cant. 7. 6. My Love how pleasant art thou in pleasures? See Delights.

P O.

Pomegranate] See like a piece of a Pomegranate.

P R.

Praised] The Queens and the Concubines they praised her, Cant. 6. 9. The Spouse here as Israel of old is praised and counted happy for the great blessings of God upon her, whom he hath made high above all Nations which he hath made, in praise, and in name, and in honour, Deut. 26. 19. See Deut. 4. 6. Act. 5. 13. Aynsw. The prophane world are forced to prefer the state of Gods children before their own, and to wish they were like unto them, as Saul, Pharaoh, Balaam, and others did. Finch.

Princes Daughter] The Church, a most honorable Virgin, fit to be the wife of a King, because she is born of God, Cant. 7. 1. How beautiful are thy goings with Shooes, O Princes Daughter?

P U.

Pure Myrrhe] That holy and heavenly Word, which droppeth (as Myrrhe) out of the mouth of Christ, Cant. 5. 13. His lips like lillies, dropping down pure Myrrhe.

Purple] Some rich and beautiful stuffe, representing the inward beauty and comelinesse of the Spouse of Christ, Cant. 7. 5. The bush of thy head it like Purple.

Q U.

Queens] Wives of Kings; also Nations and Kingdomes, with all their glory.

2. The great dignity and beauty of the Church, far exceeding all the glory of Kingdomes and Nations which be in the world, Cant. 6. 7. There are threescore Queens. Queens (or chief wives) differ from Concubines in four respects.

1. They are taken into fellowship with their royal Husbands, by solemn stipulation, and with consent and solemn rejoycing of friends.

2. They bring with them dowries to their Husbands.

3. They had the keys of the families in their own hands, had government of the house under and with their husbands.

4. They brought forth children to whom belonged the inheritance. Cotton.

To quench] To put out, and overcome. Cant. 8. 7 Much water cannot quench love. By waters and floods are often meant afflictions, troubles, wars, persecutions, temptations, wherewith the faith, love, patience of Christs people are exercised and tryed, Psal. 69. 2. Isa. 8. 7, 8. & 59. 19. Dan. 9. 26. & 11. 12. So that here is signified that the love of Christ, wherewith the mindes of his people are inflamed, is such, as cannot be quenched with any calamities. See Rom. 8. 35, 36, 37, 38. Aynsw. They are so far from quenching, or abating her love, that it grows, and encreaseth by such extinctions. As lime is hotter in water, and the Prophets miracle more glorious, 1 King. 18. 32, 33, 34, &c. So does the love which is directed upon God, get strength, and become more intense when most afflicted. Annot.

R A.

Rafters] Galleries or goodly walks upon the top of Kings houſes.

2. Every faithful ſoul which is the habitation of God, or the heavens in which Chriſt and his Church ſhall dwell together, Cant.1.17. Cant.7.5. The King is tyed in the rafters. See Fire, and Galleries.

Rain gone away] The paſſing away of Winter, and approach of the Spring.

2. The tranſlating or paſſing of a ſoul from the eſtate of corruption, unto the eſtate of grace, Cant.2.11. Behold, Winter is paſt, the Rain is changed, and gone away. Rain is over, or is changed, that is, paſt away, and fair weather come in the place. Rain in winter is an hinderance of travel, or going abroad, Ezra 10.9,13. This (with the former winter is paſt) may be applyed to outward troubles and grievances in this life by the malice of the world, as when Iſrael was in the bondage of Egypt and of Babylon, and after were releaſed; likewiſe to the ſpiritual winter rain and rage of Antichriſt, after which the graces and fruits of the Goſpel began to flouriſh again. May alſo ſignifie the afflictions of ſoul, wherein fears and ſorrows are ſtirred up like tempeſts by the wrath of God, cauſed by ſin, diſcovered and ſtirred up by the law, Rom.3.20. & 4.15. & 7.5,8, 23,24. All which by Chriſts coming are done away, Rom.7.25. See Iſa. 32.2. Rom. 5.1. Iſa.4.6. Rev.7.16,17. Aynſw. Or, the ſtorms, for the Hebrew word ſignifies a great rain, which are uſual in winter: Theſe God ſhowreth down upon the wicked, Ezek. 38. 22. and ſometimes his own people are beaten with them, but they ſhall not continue upon them. There is a bow in the clowd, ſo that it ſhall not overwhelm them; his Ark ſhall get above the waters, and be preſerved from the winde and tempeſt, Iſai. 32.2. Annot.

To raiſe up] To aſcend with Chriſt into heavenly places, Cant.8.5. I raiſed thee up under the Apple-tree. They be the words of the Spouſe ſpeaking again to her Beloved, whom ſhe ſtirred, and raiſed up as out of ſleep, by her earneſt prayers, as in Pſal.44.24. ſtir up, why ſleepeſt thou O Lord? and they that give themſelves to prayer, are ſaid alſo to ſtir up themſelves, Iſa. 64.7. Aynſw. Others apply the words to Chriſt, whoſe grace alone did and doth raiſe up his Church diſtreſſed and faln. Annot. See Apple-tree.

Ravished] See Heart.

R E.

To Rejoyce] To be made ſpiritually glad by the ſight of heavenly treaſures, Cant. 1.3. We will rejoyce and be glad in thee. See Glad.

To remain in Villages] To lodge and abide (with fixed affection) in ſpiritual and heavenly things, Cant.7.11. Let us remain in the Villages.

To remember] To call to minde, and make mention of a thing with great delight, Cant. 14. We will remember thy love more than Wine. Or, will record, rehearſe, make mention of thy loves more then wine, or which are better then wine. The foreſaid joy of the Saints, redoundeth to the praiſe and glory of Chriſt; whoſe loves manifeſted by his ſufferings, death, reſurrection, and aſcenſion, and the graces and the benefits flowing from them to his Church are remembered inwardly, recorded and mentioned outwardly, for they with joy drawing water out of the wels of Salvation, doe ſay in that day, Praiſe the Lord, &c. Iſa.12.3,4. & 63.7. Pſal.71.16. & 45.18. Aynſw. Love is mindeful, as a faithful Treaſurer will rehearſe and record benefits, that the kindeneſſe of the Lord may be had in everlaſting remembrance. Annot. There is not one particular love (as his giving us being of no being, creating us reaſonable creatures, giving us to be born under the light of the Goſpel, calling us, ſanctifying us, &c.) but we ſhould remember for whetting up our loves again towards him, who firſt loved us. As the recordating of Oyl, Wheat, Wine, is not only ſolatious to the Merchant, but alſo cauſeth him to labour thereafter, ſo would the remembrance of Gods ſeveral loves ſtir us up with David much more to delight, Pſal.4.6. and to labour the more for the poſſeſſing thereof, as the worldlings for the enjoyment of gold and ſilver, Prov.2.3,4,5. Clapham.

To return] To repent of ſin, by bewailing, confeſſing and forſaking it, Cant.6.13. Rreturn, return, O Shulamite, return. The Church or people called upon to return, is named Shulamite, of her peace and perfection fection with God in Chriſt, and ſo in one Greek verſion it is interpreted Eirenouſa, as being at peace. It may alſo have reference unto Jeruſalem, as being a daughter to that Mother of us all, which hath occaſioned ſome probably to apply this unto the recalling of the Jews, as was foretold, Rom. 11. 25. ſhe is here called upon to return, the doubling of which word, and that twice, ſheweth the earneſt deſire of her converſion, with the certainty thereof. Aynſw. The earneſt Petition of the friends and Virgins that love the Church, wherein they beſeech her to take heed unto her ſelf, and if ſhe had been apt to be ſeduced and drawn aſide from her firſt love and purity, now to return ſpeedily, and conſtantly, that they might with joy look upon her; return to God, to her ſelf, to her own priſtine condition, and their hopes and prayers, that ſo they may have more reaſon to admire her, and rejoyce in her. Annot.

Reſt] Where thou makeſt thy flock to reſt at noon, Cant. 1. 7. There is reſt for the people of God ſcorched with afflictions; which reſt only Chriſt giveth, and maketh them to lye down in good paſtures, Iſa. 43. 13. Annot.

R I.

Right hand] That mighty power whereby the Lord upholdeth and comforteth his Church here, in her warfare, Cant. 8. 3. His right hand ſhall imbrace me

Righteous] Such as have Chriſt his Juſtice by faith put upon them, and are by the Spirit framed to uprightneſſe of heart and manners, Cant. 1. 3. The righteous doe love thee. See Upright.

Ring of Gold] Rings made of gold, which are worn on the hands, for ornament ſake.

2. All things in Chriſt to be ſpiritually rich and ſhining, Cant. 4. 14. His hands like rings of Gold ſet with Chryſolite.

Riſe] I will riſe now, Cant. 3. 2. or, let me riſe now. This ſignifieth a ſtirring up of grace in her, an increaſe of faith, love, zeal, and fervency in Spirit, Neh. 2. 12, 18. Pſal. 57. 6. Lam. 2. 19. Thus afflictions are profitable that we may learn Gods ſtatutes, Pſal. 119. 71. Aynſw.

Rivers of waters] Clear running waters, about which Doves delight to be, Cant. 5. 12. His eyes are like Doves upon the Rivers of water.

R O.

Roe] My Beloved is like a Roe, Cant. 2. 9. for ſwiftneſſe, 2 Sam. 2. 18. and for pleaſantneſſe, Prov. 5. 19. ſhewing the readineſſe of Chriſt to help her, and the ſpeed which he maketh. Aynſw.

Roof of the mouth] That which proceedeth out of the mouth; to wit, the holy doctrine of the Lord, which the Church doth publiſh. Cant. 7. 9. And the Roof of thy mouth like good Wine. Or, thy palate, which for ones own uſe is to taſte and diſcern, Job 34. 3. but for others, is the inſtrument of ſpeech, Prov. 8. 7. This latter uſe ſeemeth here to be meant, that her palate, to wit, her ſpeech and doctrine ſhould be like good wine to comfort and revive bitter and heavy hearts, Prov. 31. 6. Aynſw. The wicked breathe poyſon from their mouths, and their Grapes, are Grapes of gall, not of goodneſſe, Deut. 32. 32. but the whole communication and ſpeech of Sion is gracious and healthful, like generous wine, which reviveth and glads the heart, both for the guſt and taſte of it, fit for the uſe of edifying: and alſo for the ſmell and odour, which is not contagious and loathſome, but full of delight and pleaſure, as proceeding not from rotten and corrupt lungs, but from a ſound and ſanctified heart. Annot.

Roſe] A ſweet and beautiful flower, Cant. 2. 1.

2. Chriſt Jeſus (like to a Roſe) for ſpiritual fairneſſe and comelineſſe, Cant. 2. 1. I am the Roſe of the field. If we underſtand this of Chriſt, it ſignifieth the excellency of graces in himſelf, which he readily communicateth with his people. Aynſw. A Roſe delighteth in ſhadowy places, orient of hew, cold of complexion, but paſſing redolent, and of comfortable condition, ſuch a flower is Jeſus; moſt delighted in temperate places; for hew, the chiefeſt of ten thouſand; a cooler to the conſcience, but paſſing ſavory and comfortable to the diſtreſſed patient. Clapham. I am the Roſe, or the flower, or bud of the Roſe, which is the Prince of flowers both for beauty and ſcent, and moſt fitly repreſenteth Chriſt, in compariſon of whom nothing ſhould be ſweet or delightful to us, for he is the glory and ornament of his Church, whoſe beauty and ſweetneſſe ſhall never fade. He is deſpiſed and trod upon by the wilde beaſts of the world, but the Saints honour him, and wear him in their hearts, and deck their ſouls with his graces, and benefits, as with chaplets of immortal roſes. Annot. But if of the Church (as ſome doe) it ſheweth her graces received from Chriſt, whereby ſhe is lovely and delightful, for for ſweet odour and beauty, Hoſ. 14. 7. Aynſw.

The Roſe is 1. lovely for beauty.

2. Sweet for ſmell; comforting both heart and brain.

3. Wholeſome for uſe and medicinable. Cotton.

Rowes of precious ſtones] The ſpiritual ornaments, as Faith, Sanctification, and all graces of the new Man, wherewith the Church is decked by Chriſt her husband. Cant. 1. 10. Thy cheeks are comely with Rows of ſtones.

R V.

Ruddy] One of a lively colour, freſh and red.

2. One goodly, glorious, ſtrong, and of perfect health every way; ſuch an one was Chriſt, Cant. 5. 10. My welbeloved is white and ruddy. Chriſt is here as a goodly young man, as in an Image purtrayed, by his viſible qualities, His colours white and ruddy, as they ſhew the beſt temperature of man, ſo here they may ſignifie in Chriſt,

1. His Godhead and Manhood; for God in Viſion hath appeared all white as ſnow, and as pure wooll, Dan. 7. 9. and Chriſt in his glory had his face ſhining as the Sun, and his raiment white as the light, Mat. 17. 2. and in him dwelleth all the fulneſſe of the Godhead bodily, Col. 2. 9. Man had his name Adam, of Adamah, the red mould of the earth out of which he was taken, Gen. 2. 7. and Chriſt (who is here Adam red) is the laſt Adam, 1 Cor. 15. 45. and was partaker with his children of fleſh and bloud, Heb. 2. 14.

2. White denoteth his innocency in himſelf without ſpot of ſin: red, his ſinful caſe by imputation, 2 Cor. 5. 21. and ſo theſe two colours are uſed to ſignifie ſinfulneſſe and innocency, Iſa. 1. 18. and conſequently red betokeneth his ſufferings to the ſhedding of his bloud, as white doth his victory, peace, joy, and comfort in God, Rev. 7. 9, 13, 17. Eccleſ. 9. 8. And in reſpect of his adminiſtration, white ſetteth forth his grace and mercy to repentant and believing ſinners, whom he juſtifieth, ſanctifieth, and will bring into glory, Rey. 19. 8, 14. and red his juſtice in puniſhing and doing vengeance on his enemie. See Iſai. 63. 1, 2, 3. Revel. 19. 13. Aynſw.

To run after Chriſt] To deſire and endevour more and more to be joyned unto Chriſt and yeeld him greater and better obedience, Cant. 1. 3. Draw me, we will run after thee. To run after in the holy idiome, is to cleave unto Chriſt, and ſo its an act of faith; or to deny our ſelves, and obſerve him, not ſtep before him, Peter, Mat. 16. 23. So it's an act of obedience and mortification; or, to hold on, and not apoſtate; ſo it's the grace of perſeverance. All this is required from us, and there is comfort and encouragement enough in him we run unto to confirm us, and make us get away with ſpeed, though we have a croſſe on our ſhoulders. So did he, who ſhould be our example, as well as our Captain, Heb. 12. 1. Annot. Our Chriſtian converſation is called a running, Gal. 2. 2. & 5. 7. and our life is likened to a courſe or race which is run, Act. 13. 25. 2 Tim. 4. 7. It ſignifieth readineſſe of affection, and ſpeedy performance in action, 1 King. 19. 19, 20. Pſal. 147. 15. Hag. 1. 9. It argueth alſo ſtrength in the runner, Dan. 8. 6. all which are here implyed as an effect of Chriſts grace drawing her, according to the Propheſie, Iſa. 55. 5. & Iſa. 40. 31. Aynſw.

Saphron] A ſweet Plant ſo called.

2. The faithfull and the delectable fruits which they bring forth to God, repreſented by Saffron, Cant. 4. 14. Spicknard and Saffron, The like is to be ſaid of Spikenard, Calamus, Camphire, &c.

Saphire] A ſtone ſo called, beautiful and precious.

2. The rich and precious things of Chriſt; as his wiſdom, righteouſneſſe, ſanctification, and redemption, Cant. 5. 14. His belly like white Ivory covered with Saphires.

Sabour] The ſweet ſenſe and feeling of Chriſt his love and benefits, being more excellent and delightful, then the moſt ſavory oyntments, Cant. 1. 3. Becauſe of the ſavour of thy good Ointments, &c. Or, for thy odour or ſmell, which is expounded of the good ſavour of the knowledge of Chriſt, 2 Cor. 2. 14. whatſoever may lead us to him, for vertue goes like a ſweet ſmell or ſavour out of Chriſt to heal all men, as it did Luk. 6. 19. And the breath of his Miniſters that are inſpired by him, conveys it. Annot.

Sabour

Savour of the Nose] The sweetnesse of breath, for men use to breathe by the Nose.

2. The sweet and pleasant things, (as praises, prayers, and other good workes) which the Church doth (as it were) breathe and bring forth, Cant. 7.8. And the savour of thy Nose like Apples. See Nose.

S C.

Lips like Scarlet Thread] Small lips, and of red colour, Cant. 4.3. Thy lips are like a thread of Scarlet.

2. Pure and comely words, Cant. 4.3. See Lips.

S E.

Secret place] The most high God, who is a rock of salvation, and hiding place for his people, Cant. 2.14. My Dove, that art in the secret places of the Stairs. See Psal. 32.7. & 61.5. & 91.1. By faith in Christ we ascend unto God by degrees, as by stairs, he being the ladder which Jacob saw in Vision, upon whom the Angels of God ascended and descended, Gen. 28.12. Joh. 1.51. Aynsw. Or, in craggie places of steep precipitate rocks, or towers, as it is in the margin, Ezek. 38.20. God hath secure trenches and fortifications to defend his Doves in, when hunted and persued, and as he hid Moses his friend, Exod. 32.22. so will he hide them where no enemy shall finde them, but only himself to whom they are visible and conspicuous in all conditions, though they are not so to the world. The Church is like the Moon not always in the full, but yet always bright; and when she is dark and obscure to men, she hath a bright side turned to heaven, and shineth gloriously. Annot.

To be set as a Seal upon the heart] To be joyned neerly to one, highly esteemed of, and alwayes had in minde as deer and precious, Cant. 8.6. Set me as a seal on thy heart. A Seal in a ring of gold, was ever made much account of, as a thing very precious; so doth the Church desire to be accounted of Christ. See Heart.

To seek] To feel a want of Christ, and of his graces, with an earnest desire and endevour to finde them, Cant. 3.2. I will seek him whom my soul loveth, Cant. 4.5,6,7. I sought him, but I found him not, Cant. 5.1. Sought, and sought again, night after night, early and late; for so we ought, Jer. 29.13. and so if we be sensible of that affliction, which his absence is, we cannot chuse but doe, Hos. 2.15. Psal. 78.34, 35. but yet not finde him neither, that is not immediately as soon as we seek. Annot.

S H.

Shadow] Jesus Christ, from whom the faithful receive rest, peace, and refreshing against hot persecutions of the world, the fiery temptations of Satan and burning heat of guiltinesse for sin; even as they, which being parched by the heat of the Sun, are refreshed by the shadow of a Tree, Cant. 2.3. Under his shadow had I delight, and sate down.

And the shadows flee away] Cant. 2.17. & Cant. 4.6. Until all these shadows of ignorance, of infidelity, of troubles of conscience, and of outward tribulations be utterly dispersed and chased away. Hall. Or decline, or be removed and vanish away; that is, till full and perfect day, for the higher the Sun riseth, shadows lessen, untill at noon there be almost none at all. And so then will all shadows vanish, as the shadows of the Law fled at his first coming, Col. 2.17. They may darken the Church for a time, but when the day of the Lord shall appear, there shall not be so much as a mention of them, Jer. 3.16. Annot.

Sharon] I am the rose of Sharon, Cant. 2.1. Sharon is the name of a place or plain, which was very fruitful, wherein King Davids herds of cattel were fed, 1 Chron. 27.29. and the Prophet mentioneth the excellency of Carmel and Sharon, Isa. 35.2. and when he threatneth desolation, he saith Sharon is like a Wilderness, Isa. 33.9. but promising mercy to his people, he saith, Sharon shall be a fold of flocks, Isa. 65.10. This represents the Church and her glory, whereof Sharon is a goodly and frequent type, Isa. 35.1,2. Annot.

Shenir] See Amana and Hermon.

Shepheards] The holy Prophets and Apostles, by whom Christ guided his flock, and led them into heavenly Pastures, Cant. 1.8. Feed thy Kids by the tents of the Shepheards. See Besides.

Shields] See Bucklers.

Shooes] The preparation of the Gospel of peace, which prepareth and armeth a Christian soul to goe through all temptations; even as Shooes arm the bodily feet, to passe through all the difficulties of a rugged way, Cant. 1.7. How beautiful are thy goings with Shooes! See Feet.

Shulamite] One made most perfect by the counsel and calling of God, Cant. 6.12. Return O Shulamite. See Return.

S I.

Sick of love] One taken and held with a vehement and immoderate paſſion of love, being ready to ſwoun through ſtrong deſire after the thing loved; ſuch is the affection of the Church after Chriſt, Cant.2.5. For I am ſick of love. This ſpeech implyeth a want of feeling, and enjoying the preſence and comforts of Chriſt, as by her after ſpeech is manifeſt, Cant. 5. 8. and that ſuch is the Churches eſtate ſometimes appeareth, Cant. 3.1,2, &c. & 5.6. and as love is one of the ſtrongeſt affections, Cant. 8.6,7. ſo the ſickneſſe that cometh of it doth ſore afflict and weaken the perſon, (as may be ſeen in that evill example of Amnon, 2 Sam. 13. 1, 2, 4.) This ſickneſſe ariſeth in the heart, by feeling the wrath of God due to us for ſin, and curſe of his law, Pſal.90.8. & 38.3,5,7. Dan.9.11. Rom.7.24. (whereupon it is ſaid, the Inhabitant ſhall not ſay, I am ſick; the people that dwell therein, ſhall be forgiven their iniqnity, Iſa. 33.24.) and afflictions laid upon us for our humiliations, Mic.6.13. Job 7.18. & 30.15, 1. & 10.6. Lam.3.17,18. Amos 6.6. in which Chriſt ſometimes hideth himſelf from us, Job.13. 24. Pſal.77.6,7,8. & 80. 3,7,19. The Church feeling and acknowledging her ſelf ſick, and ſeeking for the Phyſitian, is in the way to health: for they that are whole need not a Phyſitian, but they that are ſick, Mat.9.12. And ſuch as feel not their death in ſin, will not come unto Chriſt that they may have life, Joh. 5.40. who healeth all our ſickneſſes, Pſal.103.3. as he himſelf was a man of ſorrows and acquainted with ſickneſſe, Iſa.53.3. Aynſw. This is amor vulnerans and ligans and languens, by the ſweet vehemency and inſatiability of it, makes the heart to burn and weep, and groan and ſigh; to forget all, and drive all away but him on whom ſhe alone fixeth, and would reſt, but cannot reſt until ſhe injoy him in glory. Till then ſhe is ſick, and weary, and lives not in her ſelf, but in him, in whom her life is hid. Annot. The Church is here faint and ſick, and ready to ſwoon for deſire of further fellowſhip with Chriſt. Cotton.

Signet upon his Arm] A Jewel always in ſight; ſo is the Church to Chriſt, moſt dear and near unto him, as a Jewel on his heart and hand, Cant. 8. 6. And as a ſignet upon thine arm.

Thouſand pieces of ſilver] The hire and wages paid unto the faithful keepers of the Vine, to wit, ſound Teachers, for their painfull labour in well husbanding the Vine of the Church, Cant.8.11. Every one bringing for the fruit thereof a thouſand pieces of ſilver. Or, a thouſand Silverings, meaning ſilver Shekels; ſignifying hereby the fertility of this Vineyard, that afforded ſo much to the owner, beſides the labourers reward; ſo in Iſa.7.23. threatning to make the moſt fruitful place deſolate, he ſaith, where there were a thouſand vines at a thouſand ſilverings, (or ſilver ſhekels) it ſhall be for bryars and thorns. Aynſw. By a thouſand we may underſtand any large meaſure or number indefinitely, 2Sam.18.2.Rev. 20.4. And it teacheth that the firſt and chief care ſhould be to pleaſe our great Prince which bringeth forth much fruit, Mat.21.33, 34. we ſhould abound in works of faith and holineſſe, and as he bleſſeth our flocks and ſubſtance, ſo that they bring forth thouſands and ten thouſands in our ſtreets, Pſal. 144. 13. ſo ſhould our fruitful hearts increaſe with the increaſes of God, bringing forth Grapes in his Vineyard, not wild Grapes, leſt he lay us waſte, and cut us down, Iſai. 5.5,6,7. Mat. 21. 41. &c. Annot. on verſ. 12. Though Chriſt hath let out his Vineyard unto keepers (Paſtors and Teachers) who painfully work therein, faithfully take care thereof, yet, in compariſon of Chriſt, what himſelf doth for it, it's but as two hundred to a thouſand, nothing in compariſon; as the women, of Saul and David; Saul hath ſlain his thouſands, and David his ten thouſands, 1 Sam. 18. 7. ſo the chief praiſe is to be aſcribed unto Chriſt. Titleman. It is not only the rule of charity, but true Chriſtianity to conſider in reaſonable ſort, of thoſe that travail for us, that they labour not, nor ſweat for nothing: but taking part of that gain that cometh by their ſervice, it may give them cauſe to bleſſe us. Finch. How unthankful ſoever ſome (who would be thought to belong to this Vineyard) prove to the keepers thereof, (the faithful Miniſters of Chriſt) yet abounding in the works of the Lord, they know that their labour is not vain in the Lord, 1 Cor. 15. 58.

Siſter] The Church of Chriſt, being by grace of new birth, born of God, and thereby become fleſh of his fleſh, and bone of his bone; in which regard ſhe is called his Siſter, Cant.4.verſ.10. My Siſter, my Spouſe. The Church of Chriſt is every way royal: the Daughter of a King, the Siſter of a King, Therefore we are all ſpiritual Kings, becauſe we are Chriſtians. Sibs. So he calleth her out of his love, in reſpect of her adoption and regeneration (being born of God) and of her ſanctification; as it is written, Heb.

2. 11. Mat. 12. 50. Aynſw. The Church is Chriſts Siſter by reaſon of his Incarnation. Annot.

Sit] I ſate down, Cant. 2. 3. See Delight.

S K.

Skipping upon the Hils] Cant. 2. 8. See Hill.

S L.

Sleep] A ſlumber, or half a ſleep.

2. A ſpiritual ſlumber and drowſineſſe in the minde and heart, touching heavenly things, Cant. 5. 2. I ſleep, but my heart waketh. Sleep is the reſt or ceaſing of the creature from the uſe of the outward ſenſes, and from action. It is cauſed by vapour in the head that ariſe from meat, drink, &c. which ſtop the paſſages of the ſpirits and binde the ſenſes. This ſleep, as it is a refreſhing is ſometime uſed in a good ſenſe, for the repoſe and reſt that the faithful have in God, Pſal. 3. 5. & 4. 8. Prov. 3. 24. But more often it ſignifieth the neglect of holy duties, and a a ſinful kinde of life, Iſa. 56. 10. Rom. 13. 11. 1 Theſſ. 5. 6, 7. and this ſleep is cauſed ſometime through ſorrow, Luk. 22. 45. ſometime through wearineſſe, Iſa. 5. 27. ſometime through ſloathfulneſſe, and then it cauſeth ſpiritual beggery, Prov. 19. 15. & 20. 13. The Spouſe here having eaten and drunk largely of the bleſſings of Chriſt, beginneth to remit her zeal, and neglect the works of faith and love, wanting the preſence of her beloved, and being preſſed with the remnants of the fleſh, ſo ſhe gave place to carnal eaſe and ſecurity, occaſioned further hereunto, by the time, the night; and by the weather, which was rain; that is, by ignorance and errour prevailing, and by the oppoſition, and perſecution of enemies. Aynſw. We muſt not conceive this ſleep, to be that dead ſleep all men are in by nature; nor to be that judicial ſleep, that ſpirit of ſlumber which is a further degree of that natural ſleep, to which God giveth up ſome as a ſeal of their deſperate condition; but here is meant that ſleep that ariſeth out of the remainder of corruption unſubdued, and now is here in the Church prevailing over the better part. In ſleep the precioueſt thing men carry about them, is taken away without reſiſtance, and there is no danger but a man in ſleep is expoſed unto; And it is ſo in ſpiritual ſleepineſſe. Men ſuffer the profeſſion of the truth to be wrung from them without much withſtanding; and with letting fall their watch, let fall likewiſe (if not their grace, yet) the exerciſe of their graces, and are in danger to be robbed of all. There is no tentation, no ſin, no judgement, but a ſecure drowſie Chriſtian is open for; which is the ground of ſo often inforcing watchfulneſſe by the Spirit of God in the Scriptures. Sibs.

S M.

Small Grapes] True beleevers, being yet but young and weak in faith, and in the fruits thereof, Cant. 2. 14. For our Vines have ſmall Grapes.

Smell] The ſweet ſavour of Chriſt (like to the ſmell of precious Spikenard) greatly delighting the Church therewith, Cant. 1. 11. My Spikenard gave the ſmell thereof.

Smite] They (the Watchmen) ſmote me, Cant. 5. 7. ſmiting is not only with the hand or other like inſtrument, but with the tongue, Jer. 18. 18. and generally to ſmite is to afflict by what means ſo ever, Iſa. 53. 4. Pſal. 69. 27. Here the watchmen are more injurious then in chap. 3. neither inquireth ſhe of theſe for her Beloved; but being by them found out of the common courſe, is ſmitten and wounded as an evil doer, judged as a diſhoneſt woman, whoſe feet would not abide in her houſe, no not by night, is rebuked, cenſured, &c. Aynſ. Thoſe that ſhould have been defenſive, prove moſt offenſive. They ſmote the Church and wounded her many wayes, as with their ill and ſcandalous life, and ſometime with corrupt doctrine, and other whiles with bitter words, and their unjuſt cenſures, as the Romiſh Church, they have excommunicated Churches and Princes. Sibs.

Smoke] Like pillars of ſmoke, Cant. 3. 6. or Vapours of ſmoke, as Act. 2. 19. from Joel 2. 30. In Hebrew it hath the name of palm tree (ſuch as the ſtature of the Church is likened unto Cant. 7. 7.) which are upright and tall like pillars; and ſmokie vapours mounting upright are ſo called by ſimilitude. And whereas in Joel 2. 30. & 2. 19. bloud, and fire, and pillars of ſmoke, are ſignes of Gods wrath againſt the contemners of his Word and Church; (and ſmoke in the Scriptures is uſually a ſign of anger) here alſo the like may be implyed. Again as ſmoke is dark and hindereth from ſeeing, and the clowdy pillar was dark to the Egyptians, Exod. 14. 20. So is the Church and the glory thereof obſcure unto the world, by reaſon of her afflictions in this life, which were reſembled unto Abraham by a ſmokie Oven, Gen. 15. 17. but chiefly this ſeemeth to denote the ſanctification of the Church,

Church, who as a ſpiritual ſacrifice aſcended up to God, on the Altar Chriſt, by the fire of the Spirit, reſolving the earthly matter to aſhes, remaining beneath, and the other unto ſmoke, mounting up unto God. Ayoſw. See Frankincenſe and Pillars.

S O.

Socket] A foot which to a leg is in ſtead of a ſocket, Cant. 5.15. His legs ſet upon ſockets of fine gold.

Solomon] The ſon of David King in Jeruſalem, Eccles. 1.1. His name is often mentioned in this book, as Can. 1.1,5 & 3.79,11. & 8.11, 12. Chriſt is the true Solomon, and more glorious then he was in all his glory, Matth. 12.42. being the wiſdome of God, and the power of God, and the Prince of Peace, Iſai. 9.6. 1 Cor. 1.24. This Song of Songs is Chriſts, that is, concerning Chriſt. Solomon is the Inſtrument, but Chriſt the Author; Solomon the ſhell and rinde, but Chriſt the juyce and marrow. It is not to be neglected that Solomon changeth his Inſcription in all his Bookes, and here aſſumes the ſimpleſt, and moſt humble of all the reſt, knowing the matter here would countenance and bear out it ſelf, and that being now poſſeſſed with that love he was about to celebrate, it was time for him to leave off names of Majeſty and terrours, to renounce titles, and bid farewell to the world, having to deal with that which was exceeding much better. Annot. Solomon next unto Chriſt was the greateſt ſon of wiſdome that ever the Church bred: whoſe underſtanding as it was large as the ſand of the Sea, ſo his affections, eſpecially that of love, was as large, as we may ſee by his many wives, and by the delight he ſought to take in whatſoever Nature could afford, which affection of love in him miſplaced, had been his undoing, but that he was one beloved of God; who by his Spirit raiſed his ſoul to lovely objects of an higher nature. Sibs. The holy Ghoſt maketh choyce of his inſtruments, according to the uſe he had put them to; to ſet forth the eſtate of his Church by the choiſeſt treaſures of nature, he uſeth Solomons ſpirit, which was as large as the ſand of the Sea ſhore. Cotton. That this glorious lamp of Iſrael for a ſeaſon was darkened by idolatry his Hiſtory expreſſeth, but that he dyed not unrepentant, and ſo by conſequence an Abject (as ſome hold) theſe Reaſons evince.

1. The conſideration of his Typeſhip. As David was a figure of Chriſt in reſpect of the continual war he had with the Churches enemies, ſo was Solomon in reſpect of his continual plenty and peace in the midſt of Iſrael his Church: David the Churches Captain, Solomon the Churches aimable Spouſe and paſſionate lover.

2. The promiſe which God made to David, 2 Sam. 7.14,15.

3. He was an holy Prophet and Scribe of the holy Ghoſt, one of thoſe holy men of God, (a term never given unto the reprobate) that ſpake as they were moved by the holy Ghoſt, 2 Pet. 1. 20,21.

4. The holy Ghoſt commending Rehoboam and his people, for their firſt three years Government, ſaying, Three years they walked in the way of David and Solomon, 2 Chron. 11. 17. it plainly urgeth that Solomon dyed in Gods favour, or elſe he ſhould not have been ſo coupled with David his Father: yea it alſo argueth that Solomons final Government was in and for the Lord, ſeeing firſt Rehoboams Government is ſaid to be like that way, wherein his Father and Grand-father had walked.

5. His own three Books evince his repentance. Clapham.

Song] The Song of Songs which is Solomons, Cant. 1.1. that is, a moſt excellent Song, the chiefeſt of Songs, not only of all Solomons other Songs, even of his thouſand and five, but of all ſongs without exception.

As 1. which ſpeaketh not only of the chiefeſt matter, to wit, Chriſt and his Church, but alſo more largely then any of Davids Pſalms and with more ſtore of more ſweet and precious, exquiſite and amiable reſemblances, taken from the richeſt Jewels, the ſweeteſt Spices, Gardens, Orchards, Vineyards, Wine-cellars, and the chiefeſt beauties of all the works of God and Man.

2. Admitteth more variety of interpretation then any other, and alſo of ſingular uſe, as, to expreſſe the mutual affection and fellowſhip between Chriſt and every Chriſtian ſoul, (as ſome have applyed it) or between Chriſt and the Catholick Church, as others, or to particular Churches from Solomons time to the laſt judgement, as a third ſort. Cotton. This the Song ἐξοχὴν, and the Song of Songs, that is, moſt noble and tranſcending all others, as a ſervant of ſervants is the vileſt ſlave, and the deepeſt curſe of villenage, Gen. 9.25. and vanity of vanities, the meereſt and only vanity; ſo Lord of Lords, and King of Kings, and Holy of Holies expreſſe the higheſt and moſt incomparable worth, and the bleſſes of heaven being eternal and infinite, are in ſæcula ſæculorum, to ages of ages, and the chiefeſt of Songs, the Song of Songs. The expreſſion, ſtyle, order and method hereof is moſt high and accurate, there being no ſyllable or punctilio of it, but hath a great treaſure in the bottome; and the whole thread of it as fine and precious, as that of Scarlet, Cant. 4. 3. The ſplendour and evidence hereof ſhineth ſo clear and bright, even through all its clowds, that the dimmeſt eye may read Chriſt in it, above a thouſand years before his birth, and not him only, but likewiſe his glory and benefits and treaſures diſpenſed to the Church; and her duty and office and affections to be returned towards him. But above all it may be thus termed in reſpect of the excellency of the ſubject and matter hereof, which is the ſublimeſt and moſt divine that was ever handled from the firſt cradle of the world, the unſearchable riches of Chriſt, Epheſ. 3. 8. It is wholly Evangelical, and whereas others are interwoven with Goats hair and skins, this is all gold and jewels, nothing of temporal or worldly mixture in it, as in others, but the whole peece is ſpiritual, and though but ſhort and little, yet comprehenſive of all the rarities of the Goſpel. Annot. This treateth of mans reconciliation unto God, and peace by Jeſus Chriſt with joy in the holy Ghoſt; celebrateth the myſteries of Chriſt and his Church, and the communion between them more amply and excellently then any other. Aynſw. As none entred into the Holy of Holies, but the High-Prieſt, ſo none can enter into the myſtery of this Song of Songs, but ſuch as have more neer communion with Chriſt. And howſoever it may contain a ſtory of the Church in ſeveral ages, yet this hinders not, but that moſt paſſages of it agree to the ſpiritual ſtate of the Church in every age, as moſt Interpreters have thought. Sibs.

Touching the time when it was penned, it ſeemeth not to have been upon his marriage with Pharaohs daughter, for in Cant. 7. 4. there is this expreſſion, Thy noſe is as the tower of Lebanon. But this tower was not built til he was aged, as may thus appear: Solomon reigned but forty years. Towards the beginning of his reign he marryed Pharaohs daughter. About his fourth year he began to build the Temple; and that continued ſeven years. After that his own houſe continued in building thirteen years, ſo are ſpent about four and twenty years of his reign, after al which the Tower of Lebanon was built. How long after ere he begun to build it, appeareth not, nor yet how long that work continued. But if it ſhould be begun preſently after the other, it was a long peice of work, if the greatneſs and ſtatelineſs thereof be conſidered. Now in as much as that Tower of Lebanon could not ſtand for a compariſon, till it was built, this holy Writ was penned after the building thereof. Claph.

Sons of my mother] Original or birth-ſin entring with us into the world, and ſtill dwelling with us, Cant. 1. 6.

2. The degenerate children of the Church, as the wicked Prieſts and falſe Prophets under the Law; and all ſorts of Hereticks and Idolaters under the Goſpel, Can. 1. 5. The ſons of my Mother were angry againſt me. See Children.

So is my Beloved among the Sons] Cant. 2. 3. Of Adam, all whom Chriſt far excelleth, Pſal. 45. 3. as the Kings, Potentates and wiſe men of the world called ſons in compariſon with their peoples. Aynſw. None of the Angels are like unto him, who are goodly Cedars, much leſſe the degenerate ſons of Adam, who are but ſhrubs and rotten trunks compared to him; whoſe fruits are not only ſweet and aromatical as the Apple-trees, (which in the Hebrew hath a root that ſignifies expiration, or breathing ſweetly) but likewiſe various and manifold, & all thoſe vital and nutritive; for he is the tree of life, and all is deadly that ſprings not from him. Anno.

Soul] That part of man whereby he underſtandeth and willeth.

2. The great affection of Chriſt towards his Church, Cant. 6. 11. My ſoul ſet me as the Chariots, &c.

O thou whom my ſoul loveth] Cant. 1. 7. This ſignifieth unfeigned and fervent love, with a longing deſire to enjoy the fellowſhip of her Beloved, therefore ſheuſeth this phraſe again, when in the abſence of Chriſt ſhee earneſtly ſeeketh for him, in chap. 3. 1, 1, 2, 3, 4. like it is the affecting or Longing of the ſoul, Gen. 34. 8. the Knitting of the ſoul, 1 Sam. 18. 1. the delighting of the ſoul, Iſai. 42. 1. and diverſe the like. Aynſw. Learn here how to draw nigh to Chriſt, & what attributes of affection and reverence to beſtow upon him, who is the love of our ſouls and their life; and who can be expreſſed no better, then by ſuch pathetical compellations. Annot. A form paſſing amiable, amorous, piercing, for by it ſhe expreſſeth the character or print of her ſouls affection towards Meſſiah. Clapham.

South] Come thou South, Cant. 4. 16. See North-winde.

S P.

Speak] My Beloved ſpake, Cant. 2. 10. The end and fruit of Chriſts ſwift coming; to call her by his Word and Spirit, from her preſent eſtate and place of affliction unto a better; or from that ſloth or ſecurity wherein in ſhe lay, to follow him in the faith and love of his Goſpel. Aynſw.

In the day when ſhe ſhall be ſpoken for] Cant.8.8. or, wherein ſpeech ſhall be of her, when the fame of her calling and converſion ſhall come abroad, what furtherance ſhall we yeeld to increaſe, ſettle, ſtabliſh her in the truth? This ſheweth the duty of love from one Church to another, in communicating their graces each to other, and praying one for another, Act.11.19,22,23. This Hebrew phraſe of ſpeech to be had of her, (or in her) may be underſtood two wayes, for or againſt her, for her, when treaty ſhall be of her eſpouſals unto Chriſt, 1 Sam. 25. 39. againſt her, as Numb.21.5. Pſal.119.23. for no ſooner doe a people turn to the Lord, but the wicked do oppoſe in word and work. Aynſw. When ſhe grows unto maturity, and the myſtery of calling her univerſally unto thee, ſhall be revealed to the world and her ſelf. Hall. When the fulneſſe of time ſhall come, that ſhe ſhall grow up to ſuch a multitude of Profeſſors as may be fit to have a ſetled Church eſtabliſhed amongſt them. Cotton.

Spices] The graces, and gifts of the holy Ghoſt, caſting a ſweet ſavour like to ſpices, Cant.3.6,5,13. As a bed of ſpices.

Spiced wine] A dainty banquet, by a Synecdoche, a part for the whole.

2. The holy praiſes whereby the Church ſetteth forth and declareth the glory of Chriſt, to whom the praiſes of his people are as acceptable, as ſpiced Wines to our taſte, Cant.8.2. I will cauſe thee to drink ſpiced Wine.

Spikenard] A plant which yeeldeth moſt pleaſant ſavour, repreſenting the ſweetneſſe of Chriſt, bringing exceeding great pleaſure to the beleeving heart, Cant. 4.13,14. Even Spikenard.

My Spikenard ſendeth forth the ſmell thereof] Cant.1.12. The Oyl or Oyntment made of Spikenard; being very precious, which they uſed to pour out and anoynt men with, ſuch as Mary anointed our Lord Jeſus with, as he ſate at table with his friends, Joh. 12. 1, 2, 3. ſpiritually it ſignifieth the ſweet ſmelling fruits of repentance, faith, love, prayer, thankſgiving, &c. which the Church ſheweth forth by the communion of Chriſt with her; and in ſpecial of mortification, and communion with Chriſts death, burial, Reſurrection, Rom.6.3,4,5, &c. as that which Mary did unto Chriſt, was to anoint his body to the burying, Mark. 14.8. Joh.12.7. Aynſw.

Spot] The ſtain and blemiſh of ſin, from which the faithful at length ſhall be wholly freed by perfect ſanctification in their own perſons, as they be now perfectly freed by imputation of Chriſts holineſſe unto their faith, Cant. 4 7. There is no ſpot in thee. No ſuch ſpots as the wicked have, Deut.32.5. no ſuch ſpots as the Leopards have, which cannot be waſhed away by any purification: no ſuch ſpots as to be looked on ſeverely by me, whoſe love will cover them all, ſo that no iniquity ſhall be ſeen in thee, Numb.23. 21. The pureſt Churches and ſouls that are militant, have ſome ſcars and ſtains remaining, but not ſo as utterly to deface or to diſeſſence them; They ſtill remain his Spouſe and love, though they come ſhort of exact beauty in all things: Some neceſſary and inevitable failings detract not from their beauty, nor from his affections, who ſtill beholds them, not as they are actually in themſelves at preſent, but as renewed by the waſhing of water, and the Word of life, and as predeſtinate to ſuch an higher ſtate of integrity, as ſhall make them glorious indeed without ſpot or wrinkle, ἄμωμος is the Apoſtles word Epheſ. 5. 26. which alludeth to the pure ſacrifices of the Law, in which even Momus himſelf could finde no errour. Annot.

Spouſe] The holy Church betrothed to Chriſt through faith in his promiſes, Cant. 4,9. My Spouſe, thou haſt wounded my heart. Or my Bride, named in Hebrew Callah, (of the perfection of her attire, ornaments and beauty, Jer.2.32.) In Greek Nymphee, (which name the holy Ghoſt giveth to the Church, Rev. 21.2.) Chriſt before had called her his love, or friend, now when ſhe is all fair, and without blemiſh, he calleth her his Spouſe, yea both Siſter and Spouſe. Aynſw. She is Chriſts Spouſe by Adoption. Annot. The Church is Chriſts Spouſe, he hath a right to us, bought us dearly; he alſo workes us by his Spirit to yeeld to him, and give our conſent.

As 1. The husband takes his wife under his own name, ſo we are called Chriſtians of Chriſt.

2. The wife is taken with all her debt, and made partaker of the riches and honour of her husband. Whatſoever he hath is hers, and he ſtands anſwerable for all her debts, ſo it is here, we have not only the name of Chriſt upon us, but we partake of his honours, and are Kings, Prieſts, and heirs with him. His riches are alſo ours, likewiſe whatſoever is ours, that is ill, he hath taken it upon him, even the wrath due to us. We have nothing to bestow upon him, but our beggery, sins, and miseries, which he took upon him. Sibs.

Spring shut up] The Church of Christ, by firm faithfulnesse keeping her self only to Christ her husband, of whose treasures she alone is partaker, as a spring sealed and shut up from all others, Cant. 4.12. My Sister is as a spring shut up.

Springs of Lebanon] Clear streams of water, flowing out from the Forrest Lebanon.

2. The graces of the Spirit, which (as living waters) flow upon the Church, from Christ (as from a bottomelesse ever-running Spring) Cant. 4.15. And the springs of Lebanon.

S T.

To stand] To be present and at hand ready, and forth coming, Cant. 2.9. He standeth behinde our wall. See Behinde.

Stature] See Palm tree.

Stay] See Flaggons.

Steps of the flock] The faithful Doctrine, Religion, and holinesse of life, of Abraham and the Patriarchs; of Moses and the Prophets, wherein (as it were in steps) the people of God must tread, Cant. 1.7. Get thee forth by the steps of the flock. See flock.

To stir] To molest and trouble the happy rest and peace of the Church, Cant. 2.7. That you stir not up my Love. See Awake.

Streams from Lebanon] Cant. 4.15. or streaming, running, flowing. Aynsw. As streams which run from Jordan, (whose head riseth in Lebanon) and travel through all the land from thence, giving it as it passeth along all manner of fruitfulnesse and pleasure: so doth that river of grace run in a vast and endlesse channel from Christ, which maketh glad with her streams the whole City of God. Annot.

Streets and lanes] Difficulties and inconveniences which the Church doth meet with, in seeking after Christ, Cant. 3.2. By the streets and by the open places. See Broad.

Strong] See Death.

Studs of silver] An excellent ornament to set forth and deck a bodily garment withall.

2. The heavenly graces of the holy Ghost, which bring such beauty and glory to an elect soul, as studs of silver doe to rayment, Cant. 1.11. Borders of Gold, and studs of Silver.

S V.

Substance] If a man would give all the substance of his house for love it would utterly be contemned, Cant. 8.7. or all the riches, (wealth) as silver, gold, &c. that is in his house, it would wholly be contemned. As the love between Christ & his Church cannot be separated, being united by the holy Ghost, so neither can love, nor any other grace of God be bought for money, but is the free gift of God, bestowed on whom he pleaseth, Act. 8.18,19, 20. Rom. 9.11.16. So Wisdome cannot be gotten for gold, neither shall silver be weighed for the price thereof, Joh. 28.15,--19. Prov. 8.11,19. Aynsw. Or, all his riches, or all his life for love, namely to bribe or corrupt love, which they that think to doe shall be utterly contemned, or be as nothing: because they that love Christ truly account all as nothing for his sake: and therefore they that would give all their substance to tempt and violate such love, they prevail nothing; As the Church before preferred Christs love before Wine, Cant. 1.2. so here she is ascended higher, and looks down with an holy scorn and indignation upon any thing whatsoever, that might seem either to force or flatter her out of her loyalty to her beloved. Annot. For all tempting offers of wealth, of pleasures, of honours, how easily are they all contemned for the love of my Saviour? Hall.

To suck the breasts of my mother] To live in familiarity, as a brother with a brother, which dwelleth in one house together, and daily embrace one another.

2. To live in most neer familiarity with Christ, Cant. 8.1. O that thou wert as my brother, that sucked the breasts of my mother. See Breasts.

Sun] The spiritual beauty and purity of the Church of Christ, Cant. 6.9. Pure as the Sun. See Clear.

2. Hot persecution, and sharp afflictions, wherewith (as with the hot Sun) the Church is parched and made black (as it were) Cant. 1.6. The Sun hath looked upon me.

S W.

Sweet fruits, things, and flowers] The graces of the Spirit, and works of faith which are as delightful as sweet fruit, or any sweet thing, Cant. 4.13. With sweet fruits.

2. The doctrine of the Word, which is as sweet to the godly soul, as any thing can be to the mouth, Cant. 5.13. His Cheeks are as sweet flowers. See Fruit.

Wine which goeth down sweetly] Can. 7.9. The virtue & efficacy of the Word of God preached and taught is here intended, which is like excellent wine, acceptable to Christ, and which moveth and worketh strongly in the hearts of them that receive it (as wine which is a creature full of life and spirit, sparkleth and danceth in the glasse, Prov. 23.31.) especially when men ponder it seriously, and meditate upon it, and digest it. Annot.

Sword]

Sword] They all hold swords; every man hath his sword upon his thigh, Cant. 3. 8. Or, holden, (apprehended) of the sword; that is, girded therewith, having it by his side prepared and ready to fight, as Exod. 32. 27. The Word of God is the Sword of the Spirit, Ephes. 6. 17. which men doe then hold, when they hold forth the Word of life, Phil. 2. 16. and therewith resist Satan and all enemies, and by faith overcome, 1 Joh. 2. 14. & 5. 4. Christians which are to wrestle against manifold temptations, and against the rulers of the darkenesse of this world, against spiritual wickednesses in high places, are willed to take unto them the whole armour of God, and to stand, having their loyns girded, &c. Ephes. 6. 12, 13, 14 Aynsw. Every man hath his sword upon his thigh, word for word it is, a man his sword, or the sword of every man upon his thigh, which note that readinesse and promptitude, that should be in spiritual Watchmen, as they write of Cæsar, he never laid by his sword, and as the Heathen painted their Pallas, alwayes in her Arms, so should the servants of Christ be alwayes accinct, and appointed Cap a pe, but chiefly with his sword on his thigh; that is, not with the sign of the crosse; or any such thing (as some Romanists dote) but with prayer and the word of truth, which is a two edged sword, Heb. 4. 12. How wil they or can they else in any sort be answerable to their calling and duty, which is to stand in the house of the Lord in the night, and keep his family? Psal. 134. 1. which unlesse thus provided and strengthened they are more likely to betray. Annot.

T A.

Table] While the King sitteth at his table, Can. 1. 12. By his round table (which the Greek translateth his sitting down, which was wont to be in a round, or as in a ring, 1 Sam. 16. 11.) may be understood the spiritual banquet of Christ with his Church, feeding her with his Word and graces, as the table of the Lord, in Mal. 1, 12. & 1 Cor. 10. 21. signifies the communion between him and his people, as doth also the supping one with another, Rev. 3. 20. Aynsw. Or, is set down, or, on his royal bed, (as the custome was) or throne, injoying himself in blessed peace, amidst his Angels and Saints, who stand in a circle, or ring about him; or, at his holy Table in the Sacrament, where he vouchsafeth to feed with his Church, 1 Cor. 10. 21. Annot. This sitting round, cannot intend the Kings sitting alone, but a session with others, even the many faithful guests that together with this King inviron this Table. In the Sacramental Supper, the unity of Christ and his members is notably signified and sealed, for as the circle unity begins and ends in Christ, who is our Alpha and Omega, first and last; so besides he giveth unto these faithful ones himself for food, that so in a spiritual sort He the King, and they the people may become one, as in a natural sort, the Bread and Wine becometh one with our natures. They that stood in Solomons presence are of Shebaes Queen pronounced blessed: how much more they that stand, yea that sit in the presence of this King, yea which more is, live in him? Clapham. S. Finch understandeth this of Christs sitting in the round globe of the highest and most glorious heavens, absent in the flesh: so Dr. Hall his sitting in the throne of heaven, among the companies of Angels, who attend round about him, who yet is present with his Spouse in Spirit. Though Christ be in heaven, yet is he not unmindeful of his on earth, whereof they are sensible by the sweetnesse of his Spirit dwelling in their conscience, and sealing his love towards them, &c. Tomson: If such sweetnesse cometh unto us through this distance, how sweet and delightsome shall he be unto us, when he shall dwell with us in the heavens? Giffard. Mr. Cotton understands this of Jehosaphats sitting at rest and peace, refreshing himself at home, God establishing his Kingdome in his hand, and giving him riches and honors in aboundance. Mr. Brightman of King Asa.

To take hold] To receive Christ by faith, that we may draw him and his benefits to us, Cant. 3. 4. I took hold on him and left him not. See Go, would not let him go.

Take us the Foxes] Cant. 2. 15. The taking (or apprehending and holding fast) of these Foxes, is the discovering and refuting of their errours, the judging, censuring, and casting them out of the Church, 1 Tim. 1. 3, 18, 19, 20. or avoiding them if they be none of the Church, 2 Joh. 10. the rooting of them out. Aynsw. The Magistrate with the sword is to seise on the Foxes, the Minister also with the Word of God to seise on them. Clapham.

Comely talk] Gracious words, tending to edification, Cant. 4. 3. Thy talk is comely.

Targets of ſtrong men] The whole compleat armor of God as it is deſcribed and ſet forth, Epheſ. 6. Cant. 4.4. All the Targets of the ſtrong men. See Buckler.

T E.

Teeth] Thy teeth are like a flock of ſheep that are even ſhorn, which came up from the waſhing, Cant. 4.2. & 6.6. Thoſe that chew and prepare the heavenly food for thy ſoul, are both of gracious ſimplicity, and of ſweet accordance one with another; having all one heart and one tongue, being ſanctified and purged from their uncleanneſſe. Hall. The teeth of the Church are cut of equal height, not one longer then another, which would both be unſeemly, and an hinderance to the well eating and chewing of her ſpiritual food, and they are white and clean as waſhed ſheep, which ſeemeth to reſpect (beſides comelineſs) the purity of the ſpiritual meat wherewith ſhe is fed, ſee Gen. 49.12. Theſe teeth of the Church which chiefly ſerve to eat with, may here mean her courage and ſtrength againſt her enemies, as Numb. 24.8. or rather her judging, diſcerning, eſteeming and applying of the Word of God, and ſeals of his Covenant, for the comfort and nouriſhing of her ſoul, ſo chewing the cud, and feeding by faith upon the promiſes of God, which are often made under the ſimilitude of eating and drinking, as in Pſal. 22.26. Prov. 9.5. Iſa. 65.13. Joh. 6.41,50. Some referring this to perſons, underſtand by the teeth the Miniſters of the Word, that break and as it were chew the bread of life unto and for the people. So the Chaldee expoundeth theſe teeth, to be the Prieſts and Levites, that did offer and eat the ſacrifices in Iſrael. Aynſw. Theſe teeth are deciphered of the Paſtors and Teachers of the Church, which ſhould be qualified with all the excellent properties both of good teeth and of good flocks of ſheep, as they are here deſcribed; They muſt prepare and divide the Word aright, as teeth doe the food for the ſtomach, that ſo the deep and harder things of Religion may be received the better, and more eaſily ſwallowed, and digeſted. They muſt be as Nurſes to feed and cheriſh the weak ones, Iſa. 28.9. 1 Theſ. 2.7, ſo muſt they protect and ſave them, who are not able to ſave themſelves. Their teeth muſt be like flocks of ſheep, not the teeth of Lyons and mad-Dogs, to devour and infect one another, Gal. 5.15. They muſt be even ſhorn, there ſhould be an order in them, and they ſhould be unloaded and diveſted of all temporal cares and incumbrances. They ſhould doe the work of the Lord with one heart, and with one ſhoulder, not ſhouldring or juſtling one another for places and preferments, but honoring one another; And a good and faithful Miniſter ſhould be as white and innocent in his reproofs, as thoſe that newly come up from waſhing, and are purged not only from all filthineſſe and pollution, but from all bloud-thirſtineſſe and ferocity. Annot.

Tell] Tell me where thou feedeſt, Cant. 1.7. or, ſhew, declare unto me; a reqneſt which the Church maketh unto Chriſt for inſtruction in the adminiſtration of his Kingdome here on earth; that as he had formerly made her partaker of his heavenly calling, ſo he would direct her further into the place where, and manner how he feedeth his flock in his publick Aſſembly the Church, (whereunto the Lord addeth daily ſuch as ſhall be ſaved, Act. 2. 47.) that there ſhe may be under his government, enjoy his Ordinances, increaſe in knowledge, faith, and all other graces; may be ſtrengthened againſt tentations and afflictions. See Pſal. 105.4. Deut. 12.5. Aynſw. The Church finding her own weakneſſe gets her ſelf to Chriſt for ſtrength and direction. Senſe of our own inſufficiency ſhould not deter us from Chriſt, but rather incite us to ſeek him more diligently, who is able to teach, and make perfect. Annot. A prayer of the faithful diſperſed throughout the ten Tribes, and commanded by Jeroboam, to goe no more to worſhip at Jeruſalem, but to goe to Dan and Bethel, deſiring to know whither to reſort to finde Chriſt feeding his ſheep that hear his voyce. Cotton.

Tell him that I am ſick of love, Cant. 5.8. Be ſure ye tell him: be ſure ye preſent my languiſhing condition to him, and the cauſe of it, which is my exceſſive love to him, that ſo I may be reconciled to him. Annot.

Temples] That part of the head, called the Temples, Cant. 4.3. & 6.6. Temples of the head are they by which the whole body watcheth or reſteth. They are ſuch therefore as watch over the body and for it. Cotton. See like a peece of a Pomegranate. That part of thy countenance which thou wilt have ſeen (though dimly and ſparingly) is full of holy modeſty and baſhfulneſſe. Hall.

Tender] Whether the tender grape appear, Can. 7.12, the young ſmal grape, called in Heb. Smadar a word uſed only here and in Cant. 2.13,15. it meaneth the firſt appearance of fruit before the grapes be any thing neer ripe; a token that the Spring is come, and the Summer

Summer is nigh. The love and care of God towards his Churches and people that are fruitful, Every branch that beareth fruit he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit, Joh.15. 1,2. and when the fruit is young and tender, he hath care to preſerve and cheriſh the ſame. Aynſw. Eſpecial care is to be had of weak Chriſtians, who are but newly entred into the profeſſion of Chriſt, and are apteſt to be ſeduced, whileſt the Foxes (who are obſerved to love young grapes) plot chiefly to practiſe upon them, and ſuch Novices as weak ſilly women, 2 Tim.3.6. Annot. on Cant.2.15.

Tents of Kedar] The Æthiopians which dwelt in Tents or Booths, to defend them from the parching heat of the Sun, Cant.1.5. As the Tents of Kedar. See Kedar.

Shepheards Tents] Cant. 1. 8. See Beſides.

Terrible as an Army] One dreadful and to be feared, becauſe of great valour and courage in the ſpiritual battail, againſt infernal and helliſh enemies, Cant.6.9. Terrible as an Army with Banners. Terrible to the enemies with whom ſhe is to fight, under the banner of Chriſts Goſpel and love, Cant. 2.4. having the weapons of her warfare not carnal, but mighty through God, &c. 2 Cor.10.4. See Deut. 33.29. & 2.25. Exod.15.14,15,16. Pſal. 48. 5,6. Aynſw. Or, admirable, or an admiration (the ſubſtantive by a little change of the points being put for the adjective) or a terror as an Army with Banners, or ſet in order. The alluſion is applyed to the Church either in regard of her troubleſome ſtate and condition, whereof war is an elegant embleme: or elſe in regard of her order and decent diſpoſition, as to her outward Government which is not expreſſible by any thing better then this of Armies, wherein nothing more requiſite then Diſcipline and Order; or laſtly, in reſpect of her authority and power, whereby ſhe is dreadful to the devil and all her enemies. Annot.

T H.

Thigh] Cant 3. 8. See Sword. Thighs, Cant.7.1. See Joynts.

Sweet things new and old] Holy vertues, and fruits of faith of all ſorts, Cant.7.13. In our gates are all ſweet things, new and old; that is, aboundance of all ſorts of graces. See Pleaſant and New.

Thorns] All other ſocieties, companies, and fellowſhips, which be in the world, and are as thorns if they be compared with the true Church and company of the faithful, which be as a Lilly, Cant. 2. 2. Like a Lilly among the Thorns. The natural thorn is no tender herb or flower, but a ſturdy hard tree, knobby and full of dangerous pricks. The ſons of Belial, Bele-gnol, without yoke, that is, ſuch as will not come under the yoke of obedience; or Beli-Gnalah, not aſcending, becauſe their matters proſpered not, are the thorns, 2 Sam.23.6. the wicked, who are hard hearted, knurrie-conditioned, ful of pricking and ſtinging words, and works. Clapham. Ever ſince the curſe for Adams ſin, the earth hath been full of thorns, ſo that we are beſet with them on every ſide; our ſins are thorns, ſo are temptations unto ſin, 2 Cor.12.7. and ſo are puniſhments and afflictions for ſin; tribulations come from tribuli, and ſo are wicked men, Numb. 33. 55. and wicked actions, as blaſphemies, detractions, hereſies, ſchiſms, &c. which wound and tear the Church, and are worſe then the ſharpeſt ſtings or thorns, ſee Mic. 7. 4. Nahum. 1. 10. yet theſe thorns have their benefit too, as well as injury, for they exerciſe and inſtruct thoſe that are pricked with them, as the Canaanites did Iſrael, and by them God doth not only humble his people as he did Paul, but likewiſe direct them, and make them know him, as Gideon did, Judg. 8. 16. Annot. See Lilly.

Thouſand ſhields] Store of weapons laid up in an Armory, to be uſed in time of war.

2. The ſpiritual weapons of a Chriſtian; to wit, faith, hope, the Word of God, prayer, a good conſcience, righteouſneſſe, &c. Cant. 4.4. A thouſand ſhields hang therein.

Threeſcore ſtrong men] A ſufficient number of valiant men, to watch by night in the bed chamber of Solomon, that he might ſleep without fear.

2. The moſt merciful and mighty protection and preſence of God, cauſing his Church to reſt ſafely and peaceably here in earth (but much more in Heaven) from all fear and danger, Cant.3.7. Threeſcore ſtrong men round about Solomons bed.

Threeſcore Queens] Cant. 6. 8. which may be underſtood either affirmatively, There are ſixty, or by ſuppoſition, Be there ſixty Queens; that is, though there were ſixty, &c. yet one is my Dove. And for the number threeſcore and fourſcore it is uncertain whether the alluſion be to Solomons wives and concubines which he took at firſt, before he increaſed them to ſeven hundred wives, and three hundred Concubines, 1 King. 11. 3. or rather whether a certain number be not put for an uncertain meaning, many Queens, moe concubines, and innumerable damſels, as ſeven Shepheards and eight Princes, in Mic. 5.5. ſignifie many, and no definite number, ſo ſix troubles and ſeven in Job. 5. 19. and other the like. Aynſw.

T I.

Tirzah] A great and fair City in the skirts of Iſrael, hard by Euphrates, where Jeroboam, being King of the ten Tribes, erected and ſet up his Palace, 1 King. 14.17.

2. The Church of Chriſt, ſtrong, beautiful, and large, like unto the city of Tirzah, Cant. 6. 4. Thou art beautiful my Love as Tirzah. By intepretation, Tirzah ſignifieth grateful, well-pleaſing, or acceptable, and ſo the Greek here tranſlateth it, good pleaſure, or favourable acceptation, which ſheweth it to be a goodly pleaſant place, ſuch as Kings delight to dwell in. A like beauty is here aſcribed to the Spouſe, being made fair and acceptable, by Chriſt her Beloved, Epheſ. 1.6. & 5.27. Aynſw.

T O.

Tops of Amanah] The higheſt pitch or part of an hill ſo called, whence one might ſee the land of promiſe, Cant. 4.8. Look from the top of Amanah. By the top or head the Chaldee underſtandeth the Princes of the people. Aynſw. See Amanah.

Tower of David] A goodly, fair, and high Tower, built by David for an Armory, therein to hang up ſharp weapons for defence, Cant. 4.4. Thy neck is as the Tower of David, built for defence. See David.

Tower of Ivory] A moſt white, and neat, or ſmooth Tower; of precious matter, and of fair colour, Cant. 7.4. Thy neck is like a Tower of Ivory.

Tower of Lebanon] An high place or Tower built in the Forreſt of Lebanon, Cant. 7. 4. Thy noſe is as the Tower of Lebanon.

T R.

Trees of Incenſe, &c.] Plants of all ſorts, wherewith a Garden uſeth to be planted, Cant. 4.14. Calamus and Cinnamon, with all the trees of Incenſe.

Among the trees of the Wood] Cant. 2. 3. or of the Forreſt, or Grove, which are wilde trees, and without culture, bearing either none, or ſowre, bitter, and unſavory fruits, ſuch is the eſtate of all the ſons of men by nature, Rom. 11.24. whom Chriſt far excelleth in beauty, fruit, and comfort, Pſal. 45.3. Joh. 15.1. &c. Aynſw.

T U.

To turn aſide] To ſpread and pitch tents, or to follow and goe after, Cant. 1.7. Why ſhould I be as ſhe that turneth aſide to the flock of thy companions? Or, leſt I ſhould be as one that wandereth, or as one that extendeth, or ſtretcheth out the tent, or as one that covereth himſelf, which was done either out of ſhame, Ezek. 24.17. or elſe unto ſhame, out of ſinful wantonneſſe, Gen. 38.14. Annot.

Turn away thine eyes from me] So the laſt tranſlation. Turn about thine eyes over againſt me. Turn about thine eyes. This word is uſed ſometime for turning towards, 1 Chron. 12.23. Sometime for turning away, Ezek 7.22. Here it ſeemeth to be meant in the firſt ſenſe; that the eyes of the Spouſe, (which were like Doves, Cant. 4. 1.) ſhould now in her Beloveds abſence be turned to him by faith, that he thereby might be encouraged and cheered in her love. Over againſt me] towards me, though a far off, ſo the word is uſed ſundry times. It may be alſo Engliſhed from me, or from before me. Aynſw. But the moſt facile and general opinion is, that they are the moſt elegant, (and indeed poetical) expreſſion of abundant ardent love, uttered by Chriſt, as by one wounded and overcome in battel, by the darts of his enemy. See To overcome.

Turn my Beloved] Cant. 2. 17. that is, come and viſit me, and have a ſpecial care of me. Annot.

Turtle] The voyce of the Turtle is heard in our land, Cant. 2. 12. The Church it ſelf is ſometime meant by the Turtle, Pſal. 74. 19. and the Dove, Cant. 2. 14. & 5. 2. ſometime the holy Ghoſt with his graces, is reſembled by a Dove, as at our Lords Baptiſm, Mat. 3. 16. and thus the Chaldee expoundeth it here, the voyce of the holy Ghoſt. So it ſignifieth the voyce of the Spirit in the people of Chriſt, mutually comforting one another, and joyntly praiſing God, with and for his graces. The Turtle Dove caſting her feathers, is ſaid to hide her ſelf in winter in holes of trees, her voyce therefore being now heard, ſignifieth that ſummer was come. Aynſw. It ſignified, a mourning and contrite heart: whoſe groanings though many and grievous, yet are muſick in his ears; and ſweet evidences both of his Spirit abiding in us, and of the work of grace, like a new and lively Spring, begun by it. Annot. That is, of Chriſt the faithful Spouſe of his Church, who who is mourning in Judea, becauſe he findeth not his Mate (the Church) there. Cotton. Now is the time of that heavenly melody, which the cheerful Saints and Angels make in mine ears, while they ſing ſongs of deliverance, and praiſe me with their Allelujahs, and ſay, Glory to God on high, in earth peace, good will towards men. Hall. This bird is in the Original called Toor (whereof the Latine by duplication hath Turtur) which appellatively is Order, as if this bird before other birds, ſhould be a bird of Order. It's a kinde of Dove, addicted to the Deſert and ſolitary places, true to the mate, whoſe ſong is mixed with a groaning ſadneſſe, in the winter ſeaſon couched in ſome trees hollow trunk, coming forth in the Spring, with his troubled Cantillation. What bird of Order muſt this be, that with his ſad ſong doth order all the other birds? It is no other but he that in Levit.1. 14. & 5.7. is appointed for burnt ſacrifice, even Meſſiah himſelf, who during the Laws winter was couched under ſhadows, and lay therein as dead, but together with the Gentiles time of vocation did ſtep forth, ſhewed himſelf in our nature, (Beda underſtandeth by the Turtle Chriſts humanity) ſung perſonally to the Jews, and firſt fruits of the Gentiles, but Miniſterially to their ſucceſſors by ſubſtitutes, yet whether in himſelf or others, all is the Turtles voyce; a voyce that may be diſcerned by his ſad-gladneſſe, or glad-ſadneſſe. Clapham.

T W.

Twins] Two lambs, or two children at a birth, Cant.4.2. Every one bring out Twins, and none is barren among them. Both the Paſtors of the Church and all other Chriſtians ſhould increaſe both in contemplative and practical duties; they ſhould abound in all holy exerciſes of charity both towards God and man. Annot.

Two hundred] And thoſe that keep the fruit of it two hundred, Cant.8.12. that is, Thy labourers ſhall receive alſo according to the agreement, every one for his work, ſee Matth.20. 1, 2, &c. So the Apoſtle ſaith, every man ſhall receive his own reward, according to his own labour, 1 Cor. 3. 8. Aynſworth. Chriſt doth not ſend labourers into his Vineyard without hopes of reward; though the chiefeſt remuneration is to ſee their work proſper, and that fruit abounds towards their account before God, yet they ſhall not ſhut a door in his houſe for nought, Mal.1.10. Mat.20.1,2. Chriſt allows a firſt part with himſelf, a glory almoſt like his own, with which they ſhall ſhine for ever, that are faithful in his work, Dan.12.3. Annot.

V A.

Vail] A covering which Virgins did wear, in token of modeſty, chaſtity, and honour; the taking away of this from the Church, was the expoſing her to reproach, Cant.5.7. The Watchmen of the wals took away my Vail from me. Or, my Scarfe; It hath the name in the Original of ſpreading, as being ſpread over her head to cover her. Such veils were worn of women, partly for ornament, as appeareth by Iſa.3.23. partly in modeſty, and in ſign of ſubjection to men, eſpecially their husbands, 1 Cor.11. 6,7,8,10. and a husband is to the wife a covering of her eyes, Gen.20.16. The taking away therefore of her vail ſeemeth to be a note of infamy, diſloyalty, or diſhoneſty imputed to her; as of idolatry, hereſie, ſchiſm or the like, ſo ſhe was ſpoyled of her good name and reputation, and counted among the light and lewd women. See Ezek. 23. 25, 26. Aynſw. An apt ſymbole either of the pure and decent Government of the Church, which is both her ornament, and her defence, or elſe of the purity and integrity of doctrine, which when it is torn and corrupted by errour, makes her like a vile woman, whoſe nakedneſſe is diſcovered, and whoſe fame, and honor is vitiated Ezek.23.25,26. It is a mercy to have one vail taken away, 2 Cor.5. 14. but this we ſhould be ever careful to preſerve. Annot. Drawing me on into further errors, ſpoyling me of that purity and ſincerity of profeſſion, wherewith as with ſome rich and modeſt vail, I was formerly adorned and covered. Hall.

Valiant men of Iſrael] Mighty ſtrong men, which were ſound and true hearted, right Iſraelites, Cant.3.7. Of the valiant men of Iſrael. They figured ſuch ſtrong men as have the Word of God abiding in them, and doe overcome the wicked one, 1 Joh. 2. 14. Aynſw. See About it.

Valley] A long ground between two hils, being moyſt and more fruitful, Cant.6. 10. I went to the fruits of the Valley. For fruits of the Valley, ſome alſo read the Apples, or the greenneſſe of the ſtreams which uſe to run among the Valleys, and repreſent the fruitfulneſſe fulneſſe and propagation of the Church, wherein Chriſt delighteth, that he may eat of the labour of his hands, who is the chief Gardener, and Maſter of the Orchard, Mat. 21.34. Annot.

Lilly of the Valleys] Cant.2.1. or, of the low, (or deep) places. Theſe were fruitful places where the Kings herds were fed, 1 Chron.27.29. And as roſes and lillies growing in Sharon, and theſe Valleys, had more moiſture, then thoſe that grew in hils and mountains, ſo hereby it ſignified the bleſſed eſtate of the Church in Chriſt, by whoſe grace it is in low and baſe eſtate made ſweet and amiable, like the Roſe and Lilly, Iſa. 35. 1. Hoſ.14.5. But as here is mentioned the plain of Sharon, and the Valleys, which were open places where cattel fed, and not incloſed gardens: ſo by it may be ſignified, how the Church is expoſed to perſecution, to be plucked of all that paſſe by the way, and trodden down, and eaten of Beaſts. Aynſw.

V E.

Full Veſſels] Hollow places filled up fitly; Cant.5.12. And remain by the full veſſels. The word veſſels is not in the Original, being in the Genevah Tranſlation which our Anthor followed, ſet down in a different character from the Text. In our laſt, the place is rendred fitly ſet, of which ſee in fitly ſet.

V I.

Villages] At the Cyprus Tree, ſo it may be tranſlated, Cant.7.11. Let us remain in the Villages. See Field, and Lodge.

Vine] The Church ſpreading her ſelf, and fruitful as a Vine: alſo needing the preſence and care of a Husbandman, to prune and dreſs it, Cant. 7.12. Let us ſee if the Vine flouriſh. The Jews that for hardneſſe of heart are like a Garden of Nuts; yet when their converſion ſhall be wrought, will be as Vines and Pomegranates, bring forth ſweet and wholeſome fruits to the refreſhing of God and man. Cotton. The people called of God and planted in the Garden of his Church, which when they flouriſh in a good profeſſion, doe after bring forth the fruits of good works to the glory of Chriſt. Aynſw. on Cant. 6.11. As Vines and Vineyards are apt to grow wilde and ruinous, unleſſe continually dreſſed, and carefully kept; ſo is the Church apt to be infected and overgrown with all hurtful errours and corruptions, unleſſe Chriſt watch over her, and ſend ſuch watchmen and labourers, as will overſee and attend her. Annot. on Cant. 6.11. The Vine-tree is for wood leſſe regarded for building, then any tree of the Forreſt; ſo that none will make ſo much as a pin thereof for hanging any veſſel thereon, but rather caſt it into the fire and conſume it, Ezek.15.1,2, &c. What ſubſtantial thing is there in our nature for which we ſhould be depended upon? Behold we are vanity and lighter then vanity it ſelf. The Vines and their fruit come to nothing, and under-propped and lift from the earth. Such are the flowers of our ſavory words, and the Grapes of our nouriſhing works, unleſſe they be ſuſtained with the ſpiritual props of Grace. Take away the underprops of Preaching, Sacraments, Adminiſtring, Prayer, alms, faſting, &c. and all our flowers fall; our fruits rot. Clapham. on Cant.2.13.

Vine in Baal-hamon] A Vine planted in a fruitful ſoyl, or in a place ſo plenteous for Vines, as it bringeth forth a multitude of Vines, Cant.8.11. Solomon had a Vine in Baal-hamon. It's in our Tranſlation Vineyard. See Baal-hamon.

Vines of Engedi] Vines excellent and fruitfull, planted at Engedi, a Town neer unto the red Sea; whereunto the Church is reſembled for her ſweet ſmell and pleaſant fruits, Cant. 1.13. My wel-beloved is as a Cluſter of Camphire unto me, in the Vines of Engedi. Vineyards ſaith our Tranſlation. See Engedi.

Vine flouriſhing] The fruits of the graces of God in the Church, and the ſign of the approaching of the marriage day, Cant.7.12. Let us ſee if the Vine flouriſh.

Vineyard] The true Church of Chriſt committed to faithful Miniſters, as to the keepers of it, Cant.8.11. He gave the Vineyard unto keepers. An intellectual myſtical Vineyard, planted by Gods right hand, grounded in faith, rooted in charity, watered by the Word of the Preachers, digged & manured by the diſcipline of Magiſtrates, the Wine whereof hath the ſavour and taſte of a good conſcience within, the colour and cure of an holy converſation without, and the Winepreſſe by which it runneth abroad, is the tongue of open and thankful confeſſion to the praiſe of God. Dr. Kings Sermon. pag. 3. See Keep, and Keeper.

Virgins] Therefore doe the Virgins love thee, Cant.1.3. Theſe are the fellow-friends of the Spouſe, Pſal.45.15. by which are meant all ſuch as are choſen and called of God and faithful, (whether whole Churches, as 2 Cor. 11. 2. or particular perſons) who with with chaſt and pure mindes ſerve the Lord only, and worſhip him in ſpirit and truth, and ſtand with Chriſt on the Mount Sion, having his Fathers name written in their foreheads, Rev.14.1.41. Aynſw. Particular Churches which ſhould be as Virgins, chaſte and meek, and pure both in heart and converſation, 2 Cor. 11. 2. and who are called and choſen of God to be ſo, and who are waſhed and clenſed by the bloud of Chriſt from every ſpot and impurity. Annot. The Virgins in this ſong are ſuch as Chriſt hath not yet eſpouſed unto himſelf, nor ſpoken for in way of marriage; ſuch as carnal Jews, or the Gentiles. Cotton. As a ſober Virgin abſtaineth from all ſuch things that might be offenſive to her Beloved, ſo is it our duty (neither if we be of Chriſt can we be herein careleſs) to eſchew all ſuch miſdemeanors as might bring a grievance to the Spirit of Jeſus. Clapham. Faithful ſouls which within the Church are by Baptiſm regenerated, 1 Pet.2.2. or ſuch as by repentance as by a certain ſecond Baptiſm are clenſed and waſhed from their old ſins. There's alſo in this name of Virgins inſinuated, the incorruptions and purity of holy ſouls, which are not addicted to other loves, but love Chriſt only as their Spouſe, with pure minde, and devotion. Or, becauſe of the ſavour of thy good ointments, even they who by reaſon of their tender age, are more laſcivious and wanton, and more addicted to the world and the vanities thereof, and not expert in ſpiritual things, are drawn to love thee. Titleman. Theſe words make nothing for the Virginity of the body, oppoſite to marriage, but are to be underſtood of ſpiritual ſhamefaſtneſſe and chaſtity, which are contrary unto all impure affections and actions of the fleſh, or old man. Beza. The worldlings whom the Scripture calleth adulterers and adultereſſes, Jam.4.4. becauſe they doe by giving their heart to the world, even to unclean luſts of the fleſh, commit ſpiritual whoredome againſt God, are drowned and overwhelmed in the ſtink of filthy uncleanneſſe, and cannot ſmell the ſweet oyntments of Chriſt, and therefore they doe not, nor cannot love him. Giffard. Mr. Brightman underſtandeth hereby ſuch as ſtood firm for David amidſt all his troubles.

Virgins without number] Cant.6.8. Damſels or maids waiting upon a Queen, or Concubine to a King, as in Pſal. 45. 15. Eſth. 2. 9. without number, or innumerable, as ſome, as the phraſe is uſed, Job 21.33. or as others, of no number; that is, inconſiderable, and not to be eſteemed. Annot. Nullius numeri, of no reckoning. Cotton. Which may very well be, if compared to the Dove, the true Church, who is but one, yet a choyce one, the onely one of her mother, as its in the following verſe.

V N.

Undefiled] One which is free from filthineſſe and ſpot of ſin, being waſhed in the bloud, and ſanctified by the Spirit of Chriſt, Cant.5.2. My undefiled. The Church is undefiled (eſpecially) in that it is, the Spouſe of Chriſt, and cloathed with the robes of his righteouſneſſe. Chriſt and his Church are not to be conſidered as two, but as one, when we ſpeak of this undefiledneſſe. The Church in Chriſt is undefiled, yea even then when it feels its one defilements. She may be called undefiled alſo in reſpect to her undefiledneſſe in purity of diſpoſition, tending to perfection; and God reſpects her according to her better part, and according to that he will bring her in due time. Sibs.

V O.

Voyce] The Word of Chriſt, by which he calleth the elect to him, Can.2.8. It is the voyce of my wel-beloved.

2. The prayers, ſupplications, thankſ-givings, whereby the Church doth (as it were) talk with Chriſt, Cant.2.14. Let me hear thy voyce.

The voyce of my Beloved] Can.5.2. A Chriſtian ſoul doth know and may diſcern the voyce of Chriſt, yea that, even in a lazy ſleepy eſtate, but much more when in a good and lively frame. It is the Ear-mark as it were of a Chriſtian, one of the characters of the new man, to taſt words by the ear, as Job ſaith, Job 12.11. See Joh.10.3,26. Again, The Church of God and every Chriſtian takes notice of the means that God uſeth for their ſalvation; namely his voyce, in the Miniſtery of the Word. Sibs.

Voyce of the Turtle] The ſinging or ſweet melody made by the Turtle, Cant.2.12. The voyce of the Turtle is heard in our land.

V P.

Upright] The upright love thee, Cant. 1. 4. Heb. uprightneſſe (or righteouſneſſe) love thee, where by righteous or upright perſons are meant (the Virgins forementioned in v. 3.) who have upright hearts, and righteous converſation, as pride in Jer.50.31. is for a proud perſon; ſin in Prov.13.6. is for a ſinner, thankſgivings in Neh. 12.31. for companies panies of thanksgivers, and many the like. Aynsw. It's usual to put the abstract for the concrete. This is the fruit of sanctified memory to encrease and strengthen love. The more we minde God by contemplation, the more doe we admire and seek him. If we desire to love Christ, we should first labour to get pure and upright hearts. As our bodies are upright, so our souls should be, that we may see God. It is a monstrous shame to carry a crooked soul in an erect body; the soul of a beast in a divine body. Such can never love Christ, nor any but the upright. See Judg. 16.15. Annot. Righteousnesse doe love thee, as if she should say, whatsoever is righteous in my minde, righteous in my will; yea whatsoever floweth from both, as an action of righteousnesse, all loveth thee, and thou art beloved of all that. There is then no righteous sense, no righteous affection, no righteous action, but it is a lover of God, and Gods friend. And all unrighteousnesses, even every particular branch thereof, is an enemy to God. Clapham.

W A.

To waken] To disturb the quietnesse of the Church, which she hath in Christ, or by any offence and provocation to grieve her, Cant. 2.7. Stir not up, nor wake my love. See Awake.

Heart waketh] That faith and Spirit of Sanctification, working still in the regenerate children of God, though they be sometime taken with a spiritual slumber and sleep in security, Cant. 5.2. I sleep, but mine heart waketh. In all the powers of the soul, there is something good, and something ill, something flesh, and something spirit. A Christian hath two principles in him, that which is good, and that which is evill, whence issueth the weaknesse of his actions and of his affections. A Christian may know how it is with himself, though he be mixed of flesh and spirit. We should acknowledge that which is good, as that which is evill in our hearts. The Church in her sleepy estate hath,

1. Her judgement sound in that which is truth, of persons, things, and courses.

2. A working in the will, chusing the better part which she will cleave to.

3. Affections answerable to her judgement.

4. Her conscience awake in some comfortable measure, though perhaps it may be dreaded in a particular act.

5. A course of obedience. The state of a Christian is a waking state in the inward man, the bie courses he falleth into are but fits out of which he recovereth himself. We must distinguish between a state and a fit, a man may have an aguish fit in a sound body. Gods children never totally fall from grace, though they sleep, yet their heart is awake. A Christian is what his heart and inward man is, and therefore the Church values her self here by the disposition and temper of her heart. A Christian by the power of Gods Spirit in him, is sensible of the contrarieties which are in him, complains, and is ashamed for the same. A waking state is a blessed state. Sibs.

Wall] A City built up, such as is the Church, consisting of Jew and Gentile, the partition wall of Ceremonies being beaten down in the death of Christ, Cant. 8.10. I am a wall. Or, I became a wall, that is, I grew up and waxed strong in the faith and love of Christ. Aynsw.

Expert in war] Men skilful in feats of arms, wise in matters of warfare, how to order battails, Cant. 3.8. They all handle the sword, and are expert in war. See Expert.

Washing] The making clean and white, by purging in water, Cant. 4.2. & 5.3. I have washed my feet, how shall I defile them? See Defile.

Washt with milk] Made exceeding bright, Cant. 5.12. Which art washt with Milk.

Watchmen] Such as by night keep watch in a City, or over-look the watch, to see that the watchmen doe their office, Cant. 3.3. The watchmen that went about the City, found me.

2. Pastors which watch over the City of God, whereof some be negligent and blinde, as false Priests and Prophets, Popish Prelates, ignorant guides, and idle Shepheards under the Gospel. And some be diligent and faithful, as true Prophets, Apostles and other godly Ministers, Cant. 3.3. Also Cant. 5.7. The watchmen that went about the City. By the Watchmen here are meant especially Governours of State and Church. It is a borrowed speech taken from the custome of Cities that are beleagered; for policies sake they have watchmen to descry the danger they are lyable unto; so Magistrates be watchmen of the State, Ministers are the watchmen for souls, watching over them for good. God useth such subordinate watchmen, not for defect of power, but for demonstration of goodgoodneſſe; he manifeſts his goodneſſe in that he will uſe variety of ſubordinate watchers. And likewiſe to ſhew his power in uſing many inſtruments, and his care for us, when he keeps us together with his own ſubordinate means. And in this that God hath ſet over us watchers, Miniſters eſpecially, it implyes that our ſouls are in danger, and ſhews the wondrous worth of it. Sibs. We, we will run after thee Cant.1.4. I and mine. All my members, which are one with me, and indeed my ſelf. The Church is large and tender in her charity, to every part. Her love is like his name, poured out, not reſtrained; and where it once begins to flow, it runs apace. Annot.

Much water] Many waters, great force and violence uſed by Tyrants, to avert and turn the Church from the love of Chriſt, Cant. 8.7. Much water cannot quench love, &c. See Quench.

W E.

Well-beloved] One dearly loved with a vehement affection of pure and ſound love; ſuch as Chriſt is to his Church, and the Church to Chriſt, Cant. 1. 12,13,15. Alſo Cant. 5. 10. & 7. 10, 11. I am my wel-beloveds, and his deſire is towards me. See Beloved.

Well of living waters] Chriſt Jeſus author of all good gifts, whoſe bounty is infinite, as an over-flowing Well, Cant.4.15. He is a Well of living waters, that is, ſpringing and running waters, which dry not up with heat, nor putrefie, but are alwayes wholeſome and give life. See Joh. 10.4,14. & 7. 38,39. Aynſw. Grace is truly ours, but it is conveyed unto us from him, who is the eternal ſpring, that can neither decay nor putrifie. Annot.

W H.

Wheat] See Heap.

White] Such a colour as joyned with ruddy, ſhews as a moſt excellent conſtitution of body, and very perfect beauty, Cant. 5.10. My well-beloved is white and ruddy. See Ruddy.

White Ivory] The precious beautifulneſſe, or beautiful preciouſneſſe of Chriſt, Cant.5.14. His belly like Ivory. See Bright.

Wholly delectable] One every way, and perfectly delightful, Cant.5.16. See Altogether lovely.

W I.

Wilderneſſe] A waſte, barren, deſolate place.

2. The oldman, with his luſts and affections, which are to be forſaken of ſuch as will come to Chriſt, Cant.8.5. Who is this that cometh out of the Wilderneſſe. The peoples of this world, out of which the people of God are choſen and called, Ezek. 20.35. Joh. 17. 19. It ſignifieth alſo her former miſery under perſecution, or under the bondage of ſin and Satan, from which ſhe eſcapeth by Chriſt, ſee Ezek.19.13. Jer. 2.6. Aynſw. Who is this that from the comfortleſſe deſerts of ignorance, of infidelity, of tribulations aſcendeth thus up into the glorious light and liberty of my choſen? Hall.

Window] The types and figures of the Law, under which the Prophets and Patriarchs ſaw Chriſt, Cant.2.9. Looking forth of the windows. Or, looking in at the windows. This word uſed only here and in Pſal.33.34. & Iſa. 14.16. ſignifieth a looking narrowly, and an intentive obſervation of that which is done or ſuffered by others: ſo it noteth Chriſts providence and care of his Church, and all her ways; to ſee how ſhe would accept of him, and his Word. Aynſw. This is not civil nor comely among men to ſpy, and peep in at the windows; but Chriſt may, and will. He is our Shepheard, our Lord; and a narrow attentive obſervation of our inward and moſt ſecret actions is the Prerogative of his Sceptre and Providence. Thus Wiſdome is ſaid to do, Prov.7.6. and he is that Wiſdome. Therefore we ought to watch over our ſelves, and not upon preſumption of his abſence take any liberty to doe wickedly. Annot. That is, he giveth ſome glimps of hope, of further enlargement to the Church. Cotton. What can a man behold through a wall but by the windows? and what knowledge can be taken of Chriſt in Sacrifice and Sacrament, but by the untolding of Scripture? Clapham.

Wine] See Better. The graces of the Spirit of Chriſt are ſo acceptable to him, that they feed him and delight him, as Honey and Wine doe us, becauſe in the Covenant of grace he filleth us by the Spirit of grace, to have comfort in us, as we have in him, for, Except there be a mutual joy in one another, there is not communion. Sibs on Cant. 5. 1.

Winter] A time of the year cold and unprofitable; as alſo unfruitful, when all trees cauſe to bring forth.

2. The ſtate of the elect, while they are the ſevrants of ſin, under the power of darkneſſe, Cent. 2.12. Behold winter is paſt. It may be applyed to outward troubles and grievances in this life, by the malice of the world, (ſee Rain). Aynſ. This winter may be underſtood either of the Law, which was cold, darkneſſe, and auſterity compared to Chriſt and his light; wherein that Spirit of grace that was in a manner bound up and darkened before was manifeſted with greater freedome and glory, or elſe of the troubles of the world which eſtrange us, and ſet us at diſtance from Chriſt, by reaſon of our weakneſſe, as it was with the Apoſtles at the Paſſion, when they fled from their Lord, but they ſhall not endure alwayes, no more then winter does, nor ſhall the expectation of the poor periſh for ever, Pſal. 9. 18. & 125. 3. Annot. What winter is to the earth and to the fruits of her wombe, even that is the Law of Moſes to earthly man, and the fruits of his Nature. Doth winter nip the earths fruits in the head, doth it pluck his plumes, and doth it cauſe the ſap to recule back to the root, where it reſts unſeen till the Spring time? The Law of Moſes doth all this, for his ſtormy threats and curſing ſhowres applyed truly & powerfully to the conſcience, it nips my Gallant in the head, it cools his courage; it pulleth his high looks down to the earth, ſeeing himſelf to be but a lump of earth. Clapham.

withdrawn] My Beloved had withdrawn himſelf, Cant. 5. 6. or, turned away, Chriſt doth uſe ſometimes to leave his Church, and that both outwardly (by taking away the means of ſalvation the Miniſtery, or by taking away outward comforts) and inwardly, either in reſpect of peace and joy; or in regard of ſtrength and aſſiſtance. This is true of the whole body of the Church, Iſa. 49. 14. True alſo of the ſeveral members, eſpecially of the moſt eminent, Job 7. 2. Pſal. 60. 1. & 77. 9. & 88. 1 Jonah, 2. 4, 5. And is by him done,

1. To indeare former ſlighted preſence.
2. To try the truth of our graces and affections.
3. To teach us wiſdome how to deal with others.
4. To wean us from the world.
5. To correct our ſecurity.
6. To prepare the ſoul for a neerer communion with him.
7. That we may know throughly what the bitterneſſe of ſin is.
8. That we may taſte a little what Chriſt ſuffered. Hereof the cauſe reſts in our ſelves, Namely,

When 1. We are unkinde unto Chriſt.
2. Improve not the precious means of ſalvation that we enjoy.
3. We are careleſſe of our converſation and company.
4. We linger after carnal liberty and eaſe.
5. We yeeld to carnal policy.
6. We linger after earthly things and comforts.
7. We tremble not at Gods jndgements and at the ſignes of them. But howſoever Chriſt be provoked by the Churches ingratitude, drowſineſſe and careleſſe carriage, to leave her in regard of her feeling, and of inward comforts, yet notwithſtanding he is ſo gracious as to leave ſomething behind him, that ſhews indeed that he had not left the Church altogether, but only in ſome regard. He left Myrrhe behinde him, &c. Sibs. See Gone.

without] When I ſhould finde thee without, Cant. 8. 1. To finde him without, (or in the ſtreet) where the Wiſdome of God cryeth and teacheth, Prov. 1. 20. Luk. 13. 26. ſignifieth her ready minde to go forth to meet him (as the Virgins ſhould to the Bridegroome, Mat. 25. 6.) and both loving and boldly to entertain and welcome him, by receiving and obeying his Goſpel. Aynſw. For without ſome read At the door, in the market, in the ſtreets, and for when I ſhould, they have, that I may, or might. The ſenſe is the ſame, which is beſt rendered of the cheerful and bold readineſſe of the Church to receive and imbrace Chriſt in an open and publick profeſſion of him. Annot.

women] O thou faireſt among women, Cant. 5. 9. What! now fair, when her vail was taken away? Now fair, when the Watchmen abuſed her? Now fair when ſhe was diſgraced? Yes, now fair, and now fair, in the ſight of the Daughters of Jeruſalem, and in the ſight of Chriſt that cals her the faireſt among women. So that under all diſgraces, infirmities, and ſcandals, under all the ſhame that riſeth in the ſoul upon ſin, and under all theſe clouds, there is an excellency of the Church, ſhe is the faireſt among women, notwithſtanding all theſe. Sibs.

wounded] They wounded me, Cant. 5. 7. Drew blood of me, for it is a further degree of hurt then ſmiting, Exod. 21. 25. 1 King. 20. 37. So the husbandmen wounded the Lords ſervants, Luk. 20. 17. Aynſw. They wounded her with their cruel perſecutions, taking away by ſchiſms and hereſies her peace and union. Annot. They wounded me, with the Canons of the ſecond Councel of Nice; whither that Councel aſſembled in the Temple of Byzantium, and ſcattered by the people was afterwards tranſlated by the counſel of the Biſhops of Rome. In this councel Images were again reſtored to the great grief of the godly, yea to the wounding of their hearts. The ſentence of a General Councel in the behalf of any error, is no ſmall wound to the whole Church. Cotton. So Mr. Brightman.

To wound the heart] To ſtrike ones heart with a vehement affection and paſſion of love, Cant. 4. 9. My ſiſter, thou haſt wounded my heart. See raviſhed.

A ſign or token of the approaching of the Spring, whereby the change and converſion of a ſinner is ſignified, Can. 2. 13. The Fig-tree hath brought forth her young figs. Or, her green figs, or her unripe figs; ſuch as the fig-tree thruſteth out in ſted of flowers which appear on other trees. Aynſw. See fig tree. Thus doth the fig-tree betimes, bringing forth her firſt fruit (for it bringeth forth three or four times a year) that again and again it may be more fruitful. Doth it thus? How much more ſhould mankinde haſten the fruits of godlineſſe, for advantaging the Lord with moe fruits? Clapham.

Jarchi* expoundeth it, The fawn of a choyce Hinde, or Hart. Aynſw. See Hart, and Hindes.

Two young Roes] The two breſts of the Church, to wit, the two Teſtaments, whence ſweet nouriſhment is drawn out for the feeding of the Church, Cant. 4. 5. Thy two breſts are as two young Roes. See Two breſts.

¶ This Epiſtle being ſomwhat more dark then other the writings of the New Teſtament, I have therefore alloted a peculiar Dictionary unto it for the explanation of it, That word which you finde not opened here, ſeek it in the Common Dictionary. Farewell and take all things well.

A A.

Aaron] Heb.5.4. But he that is called of God, as was Aaron. Aaron did not of his own accord intrude himſelfe into the Office of High Prieſthood, but being thereto enjoyned and commanded by God, he accepted of it, by way of obedience to him that enjoyned it, Exod.28.1. 1 Chron.23.13. A calling is moſt requiſite in all things we take in hand, eſpecially in the Miniſtery. If thou comeſt uncalled, God will ſay to thee, Friend how cameſt thou hither? The calling is null, if it hath not God for the Author, and caller. That Aaron was thus called, appeared by his rod that budded, (Numb.17.8.) which was kept in the Ark of the Covenant, Heb.9.4. The world may ſeek to depreſſe Aarons rod, but it ſhall bud and flouriſh notwithſtanding of all oppoſition.

Above] Heb.10.8. Above when he ſaid, that is, in the former place of the teſtimony above cited; in the firſt place, when he ſpake of ſacrifices and offerings to be rejected, before he ſpake of his coming to doe the will of God.

Abrahams ſeed] Humane ſubſtance or nature of the poſterity of Abraham, Heb.2.16. But he took Abrahams ſeed. The original word ἐπιλαμβάνεται (he took) ſignifieth to lay hold upon one that is flying away, or in danger: anſwerable hereunto it may in this place ſignifie Chriſts redeeming not the Angels, but the ſeed of Abraham, that is man, when he fled from him, Gen.3.8. Annot. His helping, aiding, ſuccouring the faithful.

See chap. 9. 13. Annot.

But by the Grammatical conſtruction it is rather to be referred to the nown πάντα, almoſt all things, for there were ſome things purged by water, ſome by fire, Numb. 31. 23. Annot.

Altar] Heb. 13. 10. We have an Altar, underſtand hereby Chriſts Divine Nature, whereby his fleſh, or humane nature, was ſanctified, and qualified, to be a ſufficient Sacrifice to make an atonement for the ſins of the whole world; and this was typified by the legal Altar, which ſanctified the gifts which were offered upon it, Mat. 23. 19. Or, Chriſt may be called our Altar, becauſe we muſt offer up our prayers and thankſgivings unto God, by him, verſ. 15. Rev. 6. 9. & 8. 3. Or, underſtand by Altar, the Sacrifices offered upon it; that is, the fleſh, or humane Nature of Chriſt, which is the true food of the ſoul, Joh. 6. 55. 35. Annot.

A R.

Jam. 1.6. Some are of opinion that here and in other places there is an alluſion unto ſhips under full ſail, and then the Tranſlation may be this, *viz. So in effect Pareus, Heb. 13. 13. bearing his reproach, denying our selves, and taking up Christs crosse and following him. Annot. Our reproach, if it be for Christs sake, is Christs reproach. The Original word signifieth a foundation, or prop which upholds the building, hence faith is denoted thereby, because it is the foundation of all spiritual graces, and prop which upholds Christians in this vale of tears, Jude 20. Or by it we may understand expectation, it being by faith that we certainly expect things hoped for, Heb. 11. 1. Psal. 39. 7. Annot.

Better] Heb. 1. 4. Being made so much better then Angels. Being made; being; being declared, red, or, acknowledged more excellent, of greater worth and dignity, then the Angels, and that both as God by eternal generation, and as man by assumption of our nature in unity of one person, according to which he is not the adopted, but natural son of God. *Annot. 1. Because they depend upon faith, Rom. 4. 13, 16. Gal. 3. 16, 17.

Gal. 3. 2. Annot. Heb. 9. 23. better Sacrifices then these. Then those of the Old Testament; not in substance, but in manner of exhibiting; Christ was then slain only in types and figures; in the New Testament there is a real and personal offering up of Christ himself. Leighs Annot. Heb. 11. 35. That they might obtain a better Resurrection. It is usual in Scripture sometimes to put a comparative, for a positive, or superlative, that is, a good, or the best Resurrection; if we take it comparatively, it is meant of a better Resurrection then the persecutors offered them: they were at their enemies disposal, and as dead men; but if they would have turned from the faith, they should have been restored to life; therefore it is elegantly called a resurrection, because they were as dead men being in their power; yet they hoped to obtain a better resurrection, viz. from an afflicted death to an eternal life. Leigh. Annot.

Body of Jeſus] The whole manhood of Chriſt, which was the oblation and ſacrifice given for our ſins to take them away, Heb. 10.10. Even by the offering of the body of Jeſus once made.

To ordain a body] Almuch as to pierce ones ears, by making one obedient and willing to hear. A phraſe borrowed from ſervants under the Law, who in token of perpetual ſervice, had their ears bored through, Heb 10.5. But a body haſt thou ordained me. Heb. a body haſt thou prepared me. Thou haſt perſonally deſigned me, to thy perfect and entire ſervice; both in doing, and ſuffering, and thereby art reconciled to the world Hall. Heb. mine ear haſt thou opened, or digged open. It is a proverbial manner of ſpeech, whereby there is implyed the qualifying, or fitting a man unto obedience in ſervice; the ear, or opening of the ear, being an embleme or ſymbole, or a metaphorical ſign of obedience. See Iſa. 50 5. Job 33.16. Now St. Paul following the Tranſlation of the Septuagint, and being directed by the Spirit of God, expounds this of Gods ſanctifying and fitting a body unto Chriſt, wherein he was obedient, even unto the ſhameful death of the Croſſe. Annot.

In the body] Heb. 13.3. that is, as members of the ſame body, 1 Cor. 12.25 &c. or, as being yet living, and ſo ſubject to the ſame afflictions. Annot.

Our bodies waſhed with pure water] Heb. 10.22. Our bodies waſhed as with baptiſmal water, whereby we are initiated into the Church, ſo alſo ſanctified by the Spirit of God, and delivered from all filthineſſe of ſin. Hall. Both ſoul and body are named, becauſe every ſin is either of the ſoul or body, ſee 2 Cor. 7.1. Annot.

Boldly to goe to God] With conſtant perſwaſion and good aſſurance to pray to God, Heb. 4.16. Let us goe boldly to the Throne of Grace.

Boldneſſe] Heb. 10.19. or, freedom, liberty, marg.

Bondage] That ſlavery and ſubjection to the Devil, by the guilt of ſin, working in us fear and terror of eternal death, ſuch as is in bondmen, toward their Lord, leaſt he ſcourge or kill them, Heb. 2.15. Which for feat of death were all their life ſubject to bondage.

Book] Heb. 9. 19. and ſprinkled both the book and all the people, the book of the Law and the people, to ſignifie that neither that law could be fulfilled, nor the people freed from their ſins, but only by the bloud of Chriſt. Hall. We read not that the book was ſprinklen: it ſeems therefore that the book was upon the Altar, and ſo ſprinkled with it. This was ſome ſhort ſum of the firſt Covenant, which Moſes himſelf did write, ſee Exod. 24. 4. Some are of opinion that thereby are meant the 20, 21. & 23. chapters of Exodus, Anaot.

B R.

Brethren] Such as not only have ſociety with Chriſt of fleſh and bloud, but are born of God and become partakers of his Spirit. Heb. 2. 11, 12. He is not aſhamed to call them brethren.

Holy Brethren] Such as being ſanctified by the Spirit, are received into his fellowſhip to be one with him, Heb. 2. 1. Therefore holy brethren.

Brightneſſe of glory] Chriſt Jeſus, the ſecond Perſon in Trinity, in whom alone did ſhine forth eternally the Image and beauty of his Fathers glory, having alſo many wayes ſhewed forth unto men his Fathers bright glory, in his teaching and cleer manifeſtation of the Goſpel: alſo in his working of miracles; in both which he ſet forth a glorious light of the power and goodneſſe of God, for the ſaving of the elect, Heb. 1.3. The brightneſſe of his glory. Who in reſpect of his Divine Nature, is very God of very God; light of his Fathers light; the brightneſſe of thoſe glorious beams of his eternal eſſence, and infinite Majeſty. Hall.

Brotherly] Heb. 13 1. Let brotherly love continue, Rom. 12.10. Epheſ. 4.2. 2 Pet. 1.7. The Apoſtle ſpeaketh not of that love that ſhould be between natural brethren and kinſfolk, though this is required, but of that which ſhould be between thoſe who profeſſe themſelves to be brethren through faith in Chriſt, chap. 2.11. Col. 1.2. Annot.

B U.

To build all things] To make all things in heaven and earth, but chiefly to ſet up the Church of God, which is an houſe or building, Heb. 3.4. But he that hath built all things is God.

Burned] Heb. 6.8. Whoſe end is to be burned, with unquenchable fire, Matth. 3. 12. in the furnace furnace of fire, where ſhall be wailing and gnaſhing of teeth. Mat.13.50. Fiery indignation ſhall devour thoſe adverſaries, Heb.10.27 As husbandmen burn ſuch an earth as bringeth forth nothing but thorns and bryars; ſo God the true Husbandman will caſt this curſed ground, which brings forth thorns and bryers, whereby they prick as much as in them lyes, Chriſt Jeſus himſelf and the holy Ghoſt too, into the forementioned furnace of fire. Jones.

C A.

Called] Effectually drawn to Chriſt by the Miniſtery through the Spirit. Heb.9.15. That they which are called. Heb.5.10. Called of God an High Prieſt after the order of Melchiſedec, that is, appointed or publickly declared, viz. at or by his reſurrection. Annot.

Calling] Heb 3.1. Partakers of the heavenly calling, that is, effectual calling, whereby they beleeved and obeyed the Goſpel of Chriſt; called heavenly.

1. In reſpect of the Author, God, Phil. 3.14.

2. In reſpect of thoſe things whereunto they were called to be partakers of, which were heavenly, 1 Theſſ.2.12. 2 Theſſ. 2.14. 2 Tim.1.9. 1 Pet.2.9. & 3.9. & 5.10. 2 Pet. 1.3. ſome underſtand thereby the Goſpel, or preaching thereof, which was the outward means of their calling. Annot.

Camp] Heb. 13.13. Let us goe forth unto him without the Camp, bearing his reproach, that is, let us courageouſly and cheerfully imitate the example of his ſufferings, bearing that reproach of impurity and unworthineſſe, which is caſt upon us for his Name ſake. Hall. This may be underſtood, either of our forſaking the Legal ceremonies, which were adminiſtred within the Camp, (or, Tent) cleaving ſtedfaſt to Chriſt and his Doctrine; and of our forſaking the world in our affections, viz. of our denying our ſelves, and taking up Chriſts Croſſe and following him. Annot. We goe out of the world, actu, at our dying day; affectu, in our life time. We are in the world, but are not of the world. The time muſt come when we muſt leave houſes, gardens, gold, ſilver, wives, children, &c. in the mean ſeaſon let us goe out of them, let us ſet our hearts on nothing in the world, but on God alone. Jones.

Carkaſſe] Heb.3.17. Whoſe Carkaſſes fell in the Wilderneſſe, τὰ μέλη, joynts, limbs, members, bodies, the parts put for the whole, (which by little and little languiſhed) yet the word members is very emphatical. Come into a field where a ſore battel hath been fought, and you ſhall finde here a legge, and there, an arm, one member in this place, another in that; ſo their members were ſcattered in the Wilderneſſe, ſome lay in this place, ſome lay in that. They fell, ſome one way, ſome another; ſome ſtung to death by Serpents; ſome the earth ſwallowed up quick, &c. Jones. Where ſin went before, the Angel of God would follow upon the ſin. Dickſon. Oh what deſtruction can ſin bring upon thouſands in a ſhort time! How ever men and women pamper their bodies, are proud of their beauty, ſtrength, &c. will they not be carkaſſes ere long? The ſoul dyeth not with the body; Their carkaſſes fell; their ſouls did not.

Carnal rites] Certain outward Ceremonies, which did not come to the ſoul, but were placed in terrene and earthly matters. Heb.9.10. Which only ſtood in carnal rites. Or, carnal ordinances, Or, ceremonies, or, juſtifications of the fleſh, called carnal ordinances, or, juſtifications of the fleſh, becauſe they did ſanctifie onely to the purifying of the fleſh, verſ. 13. that is, freeing thoſe who uſed them from legal pollutions and irregularities. See 2 Chro. 30.19. Joh.11.55. Annot.

Carryed] He.13.9. Be not carryed about with divers and ſtrange doctrines, that is, as the waves of the Sea, or as the clowds of the air, are now this way, now that by the windes, Eph.4.14. Jude 12. but be conſtant in that faith which you have received. Be not carryed ſometimes with this, ſometimes with that doctrin, being different and diſagreeing to that faith which you once received, Jude 3. Annot. Be not raſhly moved, wandering hither, and thither, which happens to thoſe that have nothing fixed in their minde to follow. Leigh. Annot. Be not carryed about (as a wheel, as ſtubble, or ſtraw, (chaffe, feathers, &c.) with the winde) with uncertain doctrines, which neither agree with themſelves, nor with the truth, doctrines unknown to Chriſt and his Apoſtles, faigned of men, not agreeable, repugnant unto the foundation of the Goſpel. Pareus.

To caſt away confidence] To make loſſe of; or to loſe the free and ingenuous profeſſion of the truth, whereof the confidence is in the heart, Heb.10.35. And caſt not away the confidence. Caſt not away, as faint-hearted ſouldiers diers are wont to doe their weapons. We are wont to caſt away thoſe things that be hurtful and cumberſome unto us. This heavenly weapon of confidence and boldneſſe is very neceſſary and commodious for us. It doth import not onely an inward boldneſſe, but an open profeſſion of it before all the world. παῤῥησία, quaſi πανρημία: when men are not afraid to ſpeak all and deliver their whole minde. Jones. Confidence, or cheerfulneſſe, your cheerful profeſſion, ſpringing forth of the cheerful confidence of your faith and hope. Annot.

1. In tempting man to ſin.

They were once enlightened by the great beams of the Goſpel, the Sun of righteouſneſſe Jeſus Chriſt ſhining in their hearts: in ſo much as they ſee plainly the work of mans redemption performed by him, confeſſe and profeſſe it, and embrace it with a kinde of joy. Jones.

Eſcape] Heb.2.3. How ſhall we eſcape if we neglect ſo great Salvation? How ſhall we avoid, be freed from, not draw upon our ſelves the vengeance of God? Certainly, with great difficulty, for the careleſſe neglect of the Goſpel pulleth down damnation. Jonse.

To eſtabliſh the earth] (Or laid the foundation thereof) to create the earth in a firm and ſtable condition, Heb.1.10.

2. To ſettle a thing that it may be perpetual, Heb.10.9. Heb.13.9. It is a good thing that the heart be eſtabliſhed with grace, not with meats, that is, It is a good and happy thing to have the heart truly ſetled in a ſtate of regeneration, and not to be taken up with frivolous diſquiſitions, concerning the choyce or cleanneſſe, and uncleanneſſe of meats. Hall. To place firm and fixed confidence in Chriſt, rather then in meats. Pareus. Grace, that is, either with the doctrine of grace, or elſe with thoſe graces which are wrought in the ſoul by the Preaching of the Word, or doctrine of grace; as faith, love, &c. Annot.

E V.

For ever and ever] Not for a long ſpace of time, but eternally, Heb.1.8. Alſo Heb. 10.12,14.

Evidence] Setting forth to the eye, or making after a ſort viſible, Heb.11.1. or, conviction, Joh.16.8. that is, whereby the ſoul of a beleever is aſſured of the certain truth of thoſe things which appear not unto ſenſe, becauſe it reſteth it ſelf upon the immutable truth of Gods Word, and the infiniteneſſe of his power. Annot. ἔλεγχος ſignifies the demonſtration that convinceth the ſoul throughly of the certainty and truth of ſuch things as by reaſon and natural parts are not ſeen, that is, by beleeving a man doth make a thing as it were viſible, being otherwiſe inviſible and abſent. It's a convincing demonſtration. Leighs Annot.

E X.

Example of diſobedience] The imitation or following of their diſobedience, and for the ſame to periſh, as thoſe diſobedient ones did, Heb.4.11.

E Y.

Eyes] Divine knowledge, or infinite underſtanding of God, Heb.4.13.

F A.

Fail] Heb.12.15. Leſt any man fail of the grace of God, fall from, marg. leſt any man languiſh in and come ſhort, of that grace of God, which he either had, or might have had; Hall. fall from or come ſhort of the free favour and mercy of God offered in the Goſpel, 2 Cor.6.1. Tit.2.11. or the doctrine of grace in the Goſpel. Annot.

To faint] To ſuffer ones heart and courage to ſink and fall, Heb.12.3.

Faith] That gift of God by which we firmly beleeve the whole Word of God to be true; but eſpecially the promiſe of ſalvation by Chriſt, with application of it to our ſelves, Heb.11.1. & 4.3. Heb.10.22.

Faith] Heb.11.6. without faith it is impoſſible to pleaſe God. Becauſe faith is that grace which unites us unto Chriſt, 2 Cor.13.5. Epheſ. 3. 17. in whom God is well pleaſed with us, Epheſ.1. 6. 2 Pet.1.17. Mat.3.17. Annot.

To fall away] To oppoſe, or ſet himſelf againſt the grace of God, as a malicious adverſary, Heb.12.15. Alſo Heb.6.6. that is, by univerſal apoſtaſie into Judaiſm or Paganiſm, maliciouſly and deſpitefully contemning, perſecuting or oppoſing the faith of Chriſt; of whoſe truth they are convinced in their conſciences by the holy Ghoſt. Annot. This is to be underſtood of a wilfull malicious apoſtaſie, not from any temptation, but out of meer hatred to the truth. Leighs Annot. If they ſhall fall away from all theſe points of doctrine mentioned before; if they reject the doctrine of repentance, counting it but a policy to keep men in awe withall; if they reject the doctrine of faith, counting it but a meer and idle device; that will have no uſe of the ſacred Miniſtry, to the which men were conſecrated by the Impoſition of hands; that ſay baptiſm is of no force, the water in the river is as good as the water in the font; if they make a mock at the Reſurrection, and the day of Judgement: it is impoſſible they ſhould be renewed again unto repentance. The Elect cannot ſin againſt the holy Ghoſt, neither doe all the reprobate. They that thus ſin muſt fall

1. Toti. They fall wholly both in their underſtanding and in their will; obſcuring the light which they have received, choking the good motions that were in them, with their whole will, might, and main, running againſt the truth they profeſſed.

F E.

Fear] Extream terrours and horrour of minde, through expectation of eternal death, due for ſin, Heb. 2.15.

2. The thing which is feared, not without great anxiety and anguiſh of heart. Thus was Chriſt delivered from eternal death, that he was not ſwallowed up of it, as in the infirmity of humane Nature, he feared. See Mat. 26. & Joh. 12. Heb. 5.7. He was heard from his fear.

3. Religious awe, ſuch as is in good children towards their fathers, Heb. 12.2. That we may ſerve him with fear. Heb. 12.21. Moſes ſaid, I exceedingly fear and quake. Some conceive that this may be gathered from Exod. 19.14. Others, that the Apoſtle had it either by Tradition, as thoſe names of Jannes and Jambres, 2 Tim. 3.8. and the Prophecy of Enoch, Jude 14. or elſe by divine revelation, as Moſes had the hiſtory of the Creation, and of other things before his own time, Annot. Such is the Majeſty of God; that it makes the holieſt men in the world to quake becauſe of ſin in them. Jones.

Fell] Heb. 11.30. By faith the wals of Jericho fell down. Not one peece of the wall, but the whole, on every part and ſide of the City, in ſo much that it lay all open, and the Iſraelites entered in on all ſides at their pleaſure. This the Apoſtle aſcribeth to faith, and indeed it was wholly the work of faith. For what was the blaſt of the Trumpets of Rams horns to hurl down a City withall? What the compaſſing of it ſo many days together, &c? Jericho ſtood in the entrance of the land of Canaan, and as this their firſt victory came of faith, ſo did all the reſt. Faith then is the beſt weapon to goe to war withall, whereby we muſt depend upon God, how mean ſoever the means be, where this is, even wals are no ſtrong munitions. Jones.

Fellows] Godly Chriſtians, which by grace communicate with Chriſt in his merits, being thereby heirs of God, even fellow-heirs with Chriſt, Heb. 1.9. Above thy fellows. Above, not by meaſure, but in fulneſſe, that all others of his fulneſſe might receive grace for grace. Fellows, all men; becauſe all men are his fellows, in reſpect of our humane nature which he aſſumed; or, all thoſe who have received the Spirit of God; or all Kings, Prieſts, and Prophets, becauſe thoſe in ancient times were wont to be anointed. Now our Lord Chriſt being a King, Prieſt, and Prophet, thoſe in an eſpecial manner, may be called his *fellows. which ſhall be as a conſuming fire to devour the wilful adverſaries of the truth. Hall. The Scripture often ſetteth forth the pains of hell by the metaphor of fire, not that there is any elementary fire there, but for that the torments of fire are moſt grievous. Pareus.

Fight] Heb. 11.34. waxed valiant in fight, as Joſhua, the Judges, Kings, David, Aſa, Jehoſaphat.

Figure] Heb. 9.9. which was a figure for the time then preſent, or, which parable was for, that is, which ſimilitude or type of the High-Prieſt, of the Tabernacle, and of the furniture and ſervice thereof, was for the time then preſent, that is, of the nonage or minority of the Church. Ann. Heb. 11.19. from whence alſo he received him in a figure, Gr. parable, or, after a ſort, which is to be underſtood either of Iſaac's iſſuing from the dead body of Abraham and Saras dead womb, Rom. 4.19. or of his neerneſſe unto death, when his father was about to ſacrifice him, Gen. 12.10. Annot.

Dickſon. Hall.*

Finiſher] Heb. 12.2. Jeſus the Author and finiſher of our faith, If Chriſt be both the author, beginner, leader, and finiſher of our ſalvation, what is left to us? juſt nothing. Therefore the whole praiſe muſt be aſcribed to him alone, Joh. 15.3. Phil. 1.6. Jones. He is tearmed the Author and finiſher of our faith, for that in him all the things that we beleeve, are perfect and compleat. He is the onely object of our faith, and therein confirms us for our ſpiritual combate. Hunnius.

Humane nature, Pſal. 16.9. and 27.2. Joh. 1.14. called fleſh, becauſe of the infirmities and weakneſſes thereof, Pſal. 78.39. And whereby his Divine nature was vailed and covered over; even as the Ark of the Covenant, the Mercy-ſeat, and the moſt holy places were by the vail. Annot. Heb. 9.13. ſanctifieth to the purifying of the fleſh, that is, freeing thoſe who uſed them (the carnal ordinances) from legal pollutions and irregularities. Annot.

Parens.* The true faithful ones ſhall enter thereinto. Thoſe did not enter into the land of promiſe; Theſe did into heaven.

I M.

Image] Heb. 1.3. The expreſſe Image of his Perſon. There is nothing in the Perſon of the Father, but it is expreſſed in lively colours in Chriſt. He that beholdeth the one, beholdeth the other, Joh. 14.9. Col. 1.15. The eternity of the God-head, his wiſdome, power, juſtice, and goodneſſe may be ſeen in Chriſt. Jones. See Ingraved form.

Imbraced] Heb. 11.13. Were perſwaded of them, and imbraced them, laid hold on them. It may be an alluſion to the cuſtome of ſaluting one another by embracings or laying hold of each other. Some are of opinion that the Apoſtle alludes to the cuſtome of Mariners who when they ſee land, joyfully ſalute it though afar off. Annot.

Impoſſible] Heb. 6.4. It is impoſſible for thoſe who were once enlightned, &c. namely, in reſpect of Gods wiſdome and juſtice, giving them up unto an impenitent heart. Annot.

K I.

King] Heb.7.1. King of Salem. Herein Melchiſedech was a type of Chriſt, becauſe he was both a King and a Prieſt. And for Salem ſome are of opinion, that it is that place which is called Sichem, Gen.33.18. and that it is that Salem mentioned, Joh.3.23. a place neer unto Jordan: but it is moſt probable that it was that place which afterward was called Jeruſalem, for Salem and Sion was all one, Pſal. 76. 2. Now Sion is Jeruſalem. Annot.

To receive a kingdome] To lay hold upon the inheritance of heaven, Heb.12.28.

Knowledge] Heb.10.26. After that we have received the knowledge of the truth. The ſin againſt the holy Ghoſt is deſcribed in this verſe, not to be any particular ſin againſt the Law, but againſt the Goſpel; not a ſin againſt ſome point of Truth, but againſt (the Truth) Chriſts whole doctrine; not of infirmity, but wilfully; not of raſhneſſe, but of deliberation; wittingly and willingly; not of ignorance, but after illumination and profeſſion; ſuch as Jews turned Chriſtians, revolting from Chriſtianity, back again to their former hoſtility againſt Chriſt, did commit. Dickſon.

L A.

Laying on of hands] The whole miniſtry of the Church, and order of Church policy, Heb.6.2. This is uſually called Confirmation, which ſtood

1. In examining thoſe who had been baptized, what progreſſe they had made in the doctrine of Chriſtianity.

2. In praying for them, that God would continue them in the faith, and give them more grace, ſtrengthening them by his holy Spirit. Now when the chief Paſtor or Paſtors of the Church prayed for them, they laid their hands upon them, whence the Apoſtolical conſtitution was called, the laying on of hands. Or underſtand thereby a certain ceremony uſed in the Ordination of Miniſters. Annot.

L E.

Learned] Heb.5.8. Though he were a Son, yet learned he obedience, by the things which he ſuffered, that is, Though being the natural and eternal Son of God, he was repleniſhed with all perfection of graces and vertues; yet that he might be a merciful High-prieſt for us, he was willing by the experience of his ſufferings, to be tutored to an exact obedience. Hall. Patiently to ſubmit his will unto his Fathers.

Leave] Heb.13.5. I will never leave thee, &c. which promiſe was made unto Joſhua, Joſh. 1.5. And hence it appears that particular promiſes may be generally applyed, when the thing promiſed appertains unto all, ſee Rom. 15 4. Annot. Heb.6.1. leaving the Principles of the doctrine of Chriſt. Not caſting them for ever behinde our backs, ſuffering them to ſlip quite out of our memories; but not ſtaying only upon theſe, let us goe forward, as good travellers in our Chriſtian race. Annot.

Leſſe] Heb.7.7. The leſſe is bleſſed of the better, The Original rendered the leſſe, is of the newter gender, but put by an Enallage for the the maſculine, as Epheſ. 1. 10. bleſſed, that is, by way of Prieſtly Office; but otherwiſe by way of common charity, the leſſe did bleſſe the greaaer. Annot.

L I.

Liberty] Heb. 13. 23. Our brother Timothy is ſet at liberty. Hence it is certain that the ſubſcription of this Epiſtle is ſuppoſititious, becauſe what need ſhould there be of certifying that Timothy was ſet at liberty, if ſo be that this Epiſtle was ſent by him? Annot.

To be lightened] to be endowed with the true knowledge of God, but not effectual, to the converſion of the heart, Heb. 6. 4.

Like] Heb. 2. 17. In all thing it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, (in excepted, ch. 4. 15.) Hereby we are given to underſtand that Chriſt was perfect man, conſiſting of a humane body, and a humane ſoul, ſubject to all the common infirmities and weakneſſes of both; or all thoſe infirmities, whether of body or ſoul, which imply neither pollution nor impotency in his ſufferings. Annot. Heb. 7. 3. made like unto the Son of God, or, tranſformed and turned out of his proper ſhape and likeneſſe, that he might be like unto the Son of God. Annot. In the particulars mentioned in this verſe, reſembling the Son of God. Hall.

Fruit of Lips] The Sacrifice of praiſe and thankſgiving. Heb. 13. 15.

Little lower] Heb. 2. 7, 9. Thou madeſt him a little lower then the Angels, who was made a little lower then the Angels, or, a little while inferiour. The Original both in the Hebrew and in the Greek ſignifieth both a little deal, as Gen. 18. 4. & 24. 17. Joſh. 6. 7. and, a little while, as Gen. 30. 30. Exod. 17. 4. Levit. 25. 52. Luk. 22. 58. Act. 5. 34. and the place may be underſtood of both, according to the two fold ſenſe, or, as theſe words ſpeak of the baſeneſſe and dignity of man, we may underſtand them of a little deal, but according to the Prophetical ſenſe: as they ſpeak of Chriſt we may underſtand them a little while, and of a little deal. Annot.

Little while] A very ſmall ſpace of time, and then the reward will come to all ſuch as be conſtant, Heb. 10. 37.

Live] Heb. 10. 38. Now the juſt ſhall live by faith, that is, ſhall ſuſtain himſelf by expectation of the promiſes. [Leighs Annot. Heb. 7. 8. Of whom it is witneſſed that he liveth, becauſe his death is not recorded. Annot. Heb. 10. 20. living way, that is, everlaſting way, which ſhall never fail, Joh. 4 10. & 6. 51. & 7. 38. and which ſhall bring into eternal life. Annot.

To live] To enjoy eternal life in heaven, Heb. 10. 38.

Lively] Operative, effectually to pierce their hearts, which hear the word, either to convert, or to convict and harden them, Heb. 4. 12.

L O.

Look] Heb. 9. 28. unto them that look for him, that love and look for his glorious appearance. Hall. That look for him with faith and fervency, Heb. 12. 2. looking unto Jeſus. The Original word ſignifieth an averting or drawing off the eye from one object to another. In our Chriſtian rule we muſt take off our mindes from every thing which might divert and diſcourage us, and we muſt fix them upon Chriſt for our imitation. Annot.

Love] Heb. 6. 10. Labour for love, 1 Theſ. 1. 3. becauſe they manifeſted their love with much danger, and through many diſcouragements. Annot.

M A.

Made] Heb. 1. 2. By whom he made the worlds, that is, created, (as Joh. 1. 3. Col. 1. 16.) the worlds continuation through its ſeveral ages, and all things viſible and inviſible, meaſured by time, or whatſoever hath any duration or ſucceſſion, ch. 11. 3. Neh. 9. 6. Annot.

Higheſt Majeſty] Supreme and moſt ſoveraign greatneſſe, ſuch as is proper unto the God-head, Heb. 1. 3. or, of God the Father.

Every man] Heb. 2. 9. ſhould taſte death for every man, or every thing, or creature, who all theſe be, the context ſheweth.

1. Sons that muſt be led unto glory, verſ. 10.
2. Chriſts brethren, verſ. 11.
3. Such children as are given of God unto Chriſt, v. 13. Some Proteſtant Divines urge this Scripture to ſhew that Chriſt dyed for all, though not equally for Judas as for Peter. Some diſtinguiſh thus, they ſay Chriſt is ſufficiens remedium, there is vertue enough in Chriſt, but not ſufficiens medium, becauſe beſides the work of Chriſt, there is required faith to apply it, Mark. 16. 16. Leighs Annot. Dr. Hall hereby underſtandeth Gods faithful ones.

Manifeſt] Open, bare, eaſie to be ſeen, as a face uncovered, Heb. 4. 13.

After divers manners] Not fully and all at once, in perfect clearneſſe, but by little and little, till at laſt the Sun of righteouſneſſe, Chriſt, Chriſt, did ariſe in the preaching of the Goſpel, which brought a full Revelation, Heb. 1.1. Thereby is meant thoſe ſeveral and different kindes or ſorts of revelation, whereby the Word of God was revealed, as ſometimes by Angels, ſometimes by Viſions in the day, ſometimes by dreams in the night, &c. ſometimes more plainly, ſometimes more obſcurely, Numb. 12. c. Annot.

M E.

Strong meat] More perfect doctrine, ſet down exactly and at large, to feed ſtrong Chriſtians withall, Heb. 5.12.

Melchi edec] A man ſo called, who was both Prieſt of the high God, and the King of Salem, which was afterwards Jeruſalem, Heb. 5.10, 11. Heb 7.1, 2.

Melchiſedec] Heb. 7.1. This Melchiſedec, &c. The things ſpoken of him, verſ. 3. are not to be underſtood ſimply and abſolutely, but by a figure.

1. Becauſe the Scriptures mention no more who were Jobs, or the three childrens, then it doth who were his Parents.

2. Becauſe he being a type of Chriſt, hath eternity aſcribed unto him by reaſon of Chriſt, who as he is man hath no Father; and as he is God, hath no mother; and as he is the eternal God, hath no beginning of days. Some think that this Melchiſedec was Sem the ſon of Noah, for he was living when Iſaac was 50. years old. He was without beginning in the new world, for he was born in the old; & without end in the old world, becauſe he continued in the new after the flood. Leigh's Annot. See Mr. Broughtons Treatiſe of Melchiſedec, proving him to be Sem, wherein divers opinions touching him, are mentioned and confuted: and he is found to have outlived Abraham, his Nephew in the 10. degree, thirty and five years. See alſo Mr. Gregory his Notes and Obſervations upon ſome paſſages of Scripture, Epiſtle to the Reader, where he quoteth an Arabick Author ſetting down his Genealogy thus, Melchiſedec ſon of Heraclim, which was the ſon of Phaleg, which was the ſon of Eber, which was the ſon Arphaxat, &c. and Another that maketh him directly ly to be the ſon of Phaleg, interpreting the ἀγενεαλόγητος in Heb. 7.3. not without deſcent or pedegree, as we. He is not therefore ſaid (ſaith he) to be without father or mother, as if he had none, or no known ones, but becauſe he hath no father or mother put down among the reſt of the Genealogies. If any alleadge that the Genealogy of Sem is deſcribed, as that he was the ſon of Noah, &c. it may be anſwered, that his Genealogy is not ſet down under the name of Melchiſedec.

Men juſt and perfect] True beleevers, and godly perſons, Heb. 12.23.

Without mercy] Without ſparing or pardon at mans hands, Heb. 10.28.

2. The Spirit of God makes uſe of the Law, to put a ſutable diſpoſition into the heart, to what the Law requireth.

3. In converſion the Lord puts the whole Law into the heart: there is a conformity to the Law in all things.

4. The Lord ſo puts it there, that he writes it; by which expreſſion he ſignifies, that it ſhall for ever abide there. It is an alluſion (ſaith Eſtius) unto the two Tables of the Law. They were firſt written by the finger of God, and then put into the Ark; ſo God firſt writes the Law in our hearts, and then puts it in our mindes. Leighs Annot.

Miniſters] Servants which by their Miniſters doe help the elect, Heb. 1.7. 14.

M O.

Mount Sion] The Church of Chriſt, whereof Mount Sion was a figure, Heb. 12.22.

N A.

Naked] Open or plain to be perceived, Heb. 4.13. γυμνα, naked, as, when the skin is pulled off, τετραχηλισμενα, opened as the intralls of a Sacrifice cut down the back. Heuſeth a Metaphor taken from a ſheep, whoſe skin is taken off, and he hanged up by the neck with his his back towards the wall, and all his entrails laid bare, and exposed to open view. He alludes to the anatomizing of a creature (say some) wherein men are curious to finde out every little vein or muscle, though they be never so close. They are naked, therefore God sees their outside; and opened, dissected, quartered, and cleft asunder through the back-bone, so that he sees their inside also, opened is more then naked: naked is that which is not cloathed or covered: opened is that whose inwards are discovered, and made conspicuous. A speech borrowed (saith Mr. Weemes) from the Priests under the Law, who when they killed the beast, all things that were within the beast were laid naked before the Priest, and he saw what was sound, and what corrupted. Leighs Annot.

Necessity] Heb. 7.12. for the Priesthood being changed, (or translated, namely from the tribe of Levi, to Judah) there is made of necessity a change (or Translation) also of the Law. This place is much used and urged by them that hold against the payment of Tithes; but they must prove them to be of the Levitical ceremonies, which were abrogated by Christ, else this place makes nothing for them.

Need] Heb. 4.16. to help in time of need, Gr. for seasonable help, when God in his infinite wisdome shall see it most needful. Annot.

New] Heb. 10.20. a new and living way, new which the Apostle opposeth unto the old way, either by the bloud of beasts, wherewith the High-Priest entred into the Holy of Holiest once in the year, or by the material vail, or unto both. Annot.

O A.

Oath] Heb. 7.20. and in as much as not without an oath he was made Priest. It is as if the Apostle had said, It must needs be a great thing, and of singular weight and importance, which God Almighty ratifieth with an oath. Annot.

To obey] To believe the Word, yeelding unto the truth of the promises, and imbracing them by Faith, which is the principal obedience of a Christian, and a root of all other obedience, Heb. 5.9. Heb. 13.17. Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit your selves. The Apostle useth two words to set forth the duty of the people to their Pastors, obey and submit, there being two sorts of things, which they ought to come under, their Sermons, and their censures; obey them preaching, submit to them punishing. Leighs Annot.

4. To render praise to God, for mercy and Alms to the poor which be needy and miserable. Thus Christians offer to God, Heb. 13.15.

Offering for sin] Sacrifice expiatory, as peace offerings signifie Sacrifices gratulatory, Heb. 10.5.

Oft-times] Something which for insufficiency, from the promise in Paradise, must be done again, Heb. 10.11.

O L.

Old] That which with time vanisheth, and doth not last ever, as the estate of this world, such as it is now, shall not, Heb. 1.11.

Old-time] The time which was till Christ, Heb. 1.1.

O N.

Once] At one time onely, and no more, not oftner, Heb. 9.27,28.

Once for all, and one sacrifice] That which being done, is so sufficient, that it needs no repetition or doing again, Heb. 10. 10. 12. 14.

Once more] One turn, or for one time, and then to cease, to note unto us the firm and stable condition of the Gospel, and such as beleeve it, Heb. 12. 26.

Of one] Of one Father, to wit, Israel or Jacob, of whom came Christ and the Hebrews, to whom this Epistle was sent: Or of one, that is, of one God, of whom is Christ, and all true Christians, Heb. 2. 11.

O P.

Open] Heb. 6. 6. put him to an open shame, To make him a mocking stock to all the word. Jones.

O R.

Ordained] Heb. 5. 1. Ordained for men in things pertaining to God, that is, for their good, that they might teach them, pray for and blesse them, and on their behalf offer gifts and Sacrifices. See chap. 2. 17. Annot. The Ministers of the Gospel have now some Sacrifices to offer up, being either common with all Christians; As

1. To offer up themselves, souls and bodies, an holy Sacrifice to God.

2. To be plentiful in the works of mercy to their power.

Or proper to their Ministery: As 1. To present the prayers of the people to God, the Minister being as the mouth of the Congregation.

2. By the Preaching of the Word to sacrifice the people to God; by the Sword of the Spirit cutting the throat of sin, and so offering up the people as a glorious sacrifice to the world, an odour that smelleth sweet. Jones.

Order of Melchisedec] The fashion, manner or likenesse and similitude, Heb. 5. 6. Also Heb. 7. 14.

Ordinances] Heb. 9. 1. The first Covenant had Ordinances of Divine service. The first Testament did not only consist of bare and naked words, but it had, (for the date of it is ours) certain Ordinances, or Ceremonies, to adorn it withall, λατρείας of service, wherewith God was served or worshipped, or justifications, the ceremonies being so called, not because they did justifie, but because they shadowed out our justification by Christ. Jones.

O V.

Over the house of God] One, that is Ruler and Governour of Gods Church, Heb. 10. 21.

To have oversight] To have the room and function of a Pastor and guide to Gods flock, Heb. 13. 7, 17.

To be out of the way] To take offence and stumble, putting his salvation in hazard, by back-sliding and declining, Heb. 12. 13.

O Y.

Oyl] Heb. 1. 9. Hath anointed thee with the Oyl of gladnesse above thy fellows. Hath anoynted thee from everlasting, as the King, Priest, and Prophet of thy Church, with that heavenly Oyl, whereby he hath gladded the hearts of all thy chosen people, and hath endowed thine assumed Humanity with all Divine graces, above all meer mankinde. Hall. Hath qualified thee for the administration of thy Kingdome with his Spirit, compared to Oyl, because as Oyl strengtheneth the body, so the Spirit of God strengtheneth and rejoyceth the soul, 1 Thes. 1. 6. This anointing was when the Son of God assumed our humane nature into the unity of his Person, whereby the Spirit of God, and all the graces of his Spirit were communicated unto his humane Nature, so far as it was capable of them. Annot. The Oyl wherewith Christ was anoynted, is called the Oyl of gladnesse, because the sweet savour of it gladdeth the heart of all his members, that is, all true Christians, who are his fellows, and partners in the anointing. He was Christ, as they Christians; but he more then they. His manhood was filled with the gifts and graces of God, both in measure, number, and degree, above all men and Angels. Leighs Annot. Oyl was a token of consecration in the time of the Law; so we by this heavenly Oyl of the Spirit are dedicated to God, as a royal Priesthood, &c. Oyl gives a sweet taste to the meat; so this spiritual Oyl of Gods graces makes us a sweet and pleasant meat to the Lord. Oyl supples the wounds that be in a mans body; so the Oyl of the Spirit supples us against the wounds of sin. Oyl makes a man nimble; so the graces of the Spirit makes us more lively in Gods service. Oyl keeps the body soluble, and is a means to purge it from many grosse humors; so the graces of the Spirit cleanse us from many sins, which are the corruptions of the soul. Oyl swims aloft above all other things; so the Oyl of the Spirit carries us aloft, makes us to have our conversation in heaven. Oyl makes the lamp to burn; so the Oyl of the Spirit makes us to continue burning in zeal and all good

good works. Oyl makes a man cheerful, ſo the graces of the Spirit infuſe unſpeakable cheerfulneſſe into the faithful. Jones.

P E.

Peace] Heb. 12. 14. follow peace with all men, He doth not ſay, embrace peace when it comes to you, and offers her ſelf to you: but though ſhe run away, follow her; lay hold on her; and bring her whether ſhe will or no: and that not with ſome, but all. But though we may be at a general peace, even with the enemies of God, yet we muſt not be familiar with them; and though we be at peace with their perſons, yet muſt we not with their vices. Jones. In Heb. 13. 20. God is called the God of Peace, and that in reſpect of the Goſpel of peace, whereby there is proclaimed peace between God and man, and the ſame alſo really communicated unto us, Rom. 5. 1. Annot.

People] Heb. 8. 10. and they ſhall be to me a people, that is, worſhip me, depend on me by a lively faith, live in obedience to me, ſerve me, and no other. Jones. Heb. 9. 7. and for the errors of the people, that is, all ſorts of ſins, (committed by the people) becauſe all ſorts of ſins ariſe from ſome errour in judgement; chap. 5. 3. & 7. 23. Luk. 16. 16. Annot.

Perdition] Heb. 10. 39. The deſtruction both of body and ſoul.

Perfect] Conſecrate to God, and ſanctified with the Fathers, who lived before Chriſt, were not by the Levitical rites ſevered from Chriſt, the ſubſtance of them, Heb. 11. verſe laſt. Alſo Heb. 7. 11, 19.

Perfection] Heb. 6. 1. Let us go on unto perfection. We muſt be as Travellers that are ever walking and going on and on, never reſting till we come to our journeys end, which will not be till death it ſelf ſhall come. Jones. Heb. 7. 11. If perfection were by the Levitical Prieſthood, that is, if the Levitical Prieſthood could have juſtified, ſanctified, and ſo conſequently brought unto ſalvation. Annot.

Perſwaded] Heb 6. 9. We are perſwaded better things of you. He doth not ſay, we expect better things from you, we are in good hope you will prove better then thus, and the like: but we are perſwaded, and nothing can remove us from this perſwaſion: we take you to be other manner of men, far different from the former. The things that be in them are ſtark naught, but we perſwade our ſelves moſt excellent things of you. They are Reprobates, but we are perſwaded that you are the elect children of God We muſt have a good and charitable opinion of them, that ſit in the lap of the Church, that ſubject themſelves to the Miniſtery of the Word, though there be ſome defects and blemiſhes in them. Jones.

Pertaining] Heb. 2. 17. in things pertaining to God. In divine not in humane matters. Jones.

P I.

Pilgrims] Heb. 11. 13. confeſſed that they were ſtrangers and pilgrims on earth. Strangers are a people abſent from their own country; Pilgrims are ſtrangers that have not any abiding where they are; Paul hath reference to the place, Gen. 23. 4. & 47. 9. Leighs Annot.

P L.

Holy place] Heaven, even the third heaven, called Paradiſe, Heb. 9. 12.

Pleaſe] Heb. 11. 6. Without faith it is impoſſible to pleaſe God. That God may be pleaſed, all duties muſt be done out of a principle of faith; and not of reaſon only, or an inlightned conſcience. There are three rules to know this.

1. Such a one hath alwayes an eye to the promiſe, as well as to the precept; he looks to the Law as his rule, and to the Goſpel for his power.

2. He looks not unto the duty, but on Chriſt for acceptation, Exod. 28. 38. Rev. 8. 3.

3. He is not diſcouraged for want of a preſent income in duty, 2 Cor. 5. 7. Leighs

Annot. Heb.11.5. he pleased God, εὐηρεστηκέναι is the word which signifieth, he gave God content, or kept Gods favour and good will. Id. ibid.

Pleased God] His person to be accepted into favour by faith, Heb.11.5.

Pleasure] Heb.10.38. My soul shall have no pleasure in him, more is meant then spoken, after an Hebrew manner of speech; as though he should say, I abhor all those that fall away through unbelief. The word is a military word, taken from souldiers who recoyl, and leave their standing, in whom the Captain delights not. Nor can we in our Christian fight by retyring and recoyling please our Captain; but the Martial law for such is in the Text, they withdraw themselves to perdition, Id. ibid. Heb. 11.25. pleasures of sin, or, sinful pleasures. Annot. Honours, pleasures, delights are called the pleasures of sin; not because they are so in themselves, but because they are occasions and instruments of sin; and are seldome had or held without some sin or other. Leighs Annot.

Pleasure] Allowance, approbation, (as satisfactory for sin) Heb.10.6.

2. Liking and will; yea sometime unreasonable and unjust, Heb.12.10.

P O.

Pot] Heb.9.4. wherein was the golden pot. He saith that there were three things laid up in the Ark, the pot of Manna, Aarons Rod, and the Tables of the Covenant. They conceit it well, that say, the Ark is the Church; the Tables, the Word; the Manna, the Sacraments; and the Rod, the Discipline. Leighs Annot.

Powers of the endlesse life] The strength and vertue of a life which knows no end, but is eternal, Heb.7.19. Heb.1.3. by the Word of his power, that is, by his powerful Word, or by his word of powers, by his mighty command, and according to his own will and pleasure, chap. 11.3. Annot. Heb.2.14. that hath the power of death, that is, through sin whereunto he had seduced man, and under which he kept him still, 1 Cor.15.56. Annot.

Powers] Heb.6.5. and the powers of the world to come. Some interpret it of the world under the dayes of the Gospel, they may have a taste of the Gospel Ordinances and priviledges. Some understand the gift of miracles in the Gospel time, which is the world to come, in respect of the Jewish pedagogie, rather the wonderful works of the life to come, as Glorification, and Salvation, whereunto most refer it. A hypocrite may apprehend some excellency of the Resurrection, conceive the manner of the day of judgment. God lets in a glimpse of heaven, (Numb.23.10.) or a flash of hell upon the conscience. Leighs Annot.

P R.

Praise] Heb.13.15. By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise, &c. By the sacrifice of praise he means the Eucharist, as it is called usually in the antient Liturgies, and writings of the Fathers. For to this purpose is the whole dispute of the place, that in the Sacrament Christians communicate in the Sacrifices of Christ crucified (which the Jewes can have no right to) in stead of all the sacrifice of the Law. And therefore by doing good and communicating, he means the oblations of the faithful, out of which at the beginning the poor and the rich lived in common at the Assemblies of the Church. Leighs Annot. Out of Thorndikes discourse or the Rights of the Church in a Christian State. Others understand it of the duty of thankfulnesse, to the offering of which sacrifice infinite be the occasions which at all times may induce every one of us, as our creation, redemption, health, strength, peace, &c.

Preached] Heb.4.2. The Word preached, Gr. the Word of hearing, for faith cometh by hearing, Rom.10.17. Annot.

Prepared] Heb.10.5. a body hast thou prepared me, or thou hast fitted me. Annot. That in this body I might offer that expiatory sacrifice, of which all other were but shadows. Leighs Annot.

Presence] Heb.9.24. To appear in the presence of God for us. An expression borrowed from the custome of humane Courts: for in them when the Plaintiffe or Defendant is called, their Atturney appeareth in their behalf, 1 Joh.1.2. The Levitical Priest was wont to appear before God in the peoples name; he was but a figure; in Christ is the solid truth, and full effect of this figure. Id. ibid.

Thing pressing down] Whatsoever heavy weight or burthen which makes slow, and hinders us in the course of piety and sin, Heb. 12.1.

High Priest of our profession] The chief and only Priest, from whom we are to take, both the doctrine which we professe, and the religion too, Heb.3.1.

Principles of the world] The Catechising Doctrine, familiarly taught and in few words, tempered and fitted to the understanding of the weak in knowledge, Heb. 5. 12. It is an allusion unto Children, who are first taught their letters, before they can be taught taught to ſpel, or to read perfectly; herein their great negligence is taxed, in as much as they were yet to learn their Catechiſm, the A. B. C. (as it were) of the Doctrine of Chriſt. Annot.

Prince of ſalvation] One which is Captain or Chieftain and guide to eternal life, Heb. 2. 10.

Profeſſion] The faith or religion which we profeſſe, Heb. 3. 1.

2. The publiſhing, or open and free acknowledgement of our faith, Heb. 10. 23. whom we beleeve with our hearts, and whom we confeſſe with our mouths, Rom. 10. 10. or, of the doctrine which we beleeve and ought to confeſſe, chap. 4 14. & 10. 13. 2 Cor. 9. 13. 1 Tim 6 12, 13. Annot.

Profit] Heb. 4. 2. But the Word preached did not profit them, not being mixed with faith in them that heard it. Profiting may be taken here for the truth of grace, or for growth in grace; men cannot grow in grace, that have no grace; but the Word worketh true faith on that perſon which came to it without any true grace or faith at all. Leighs Annot. Not being mixed, &c. Or, becauſe it is not received by faith, that is, not being joyned or accompanyed with faith. It is thought that herein the Apoſtle alludes unto a potion not well mingled, which rather hurts, then doth any good. Annot. An exceeding ſtrong drink not tempered and qualified profits not nature; ſo thoſe great promiſes ſo much exceeding opinion and expectation of reaſon, not being mixed with faith did not profit them. Leighs Annot.

Promiſe] The Word of God, touching the exhibiting and ſending Chriſt into the world, Heb. 11, 39. This is a general promiſe to all the faithful before Chriſt, Heb. 6. 17. & ch. 7. 6.

2. Things promiſed; as the Kingdom to David, &c. Heb. 11. 33. Theſe be ſpiritual promiſes.

3. The Word of God, touching the calling of Abrahams ſeed in Iſaac, and bleſſing all Nations in that ſeed, Heb. 11. 17, 18. Heb. 11. 13. not having received the promiſes, that is, the land of Canaan which was promiſed, and which was a type of heaven. Annot.

Prophane] Heb. 12. 16. or prophane perſon as Eſau, that is, impure perſon, or rather a deſpiſer of, or trampler upon holy things; as upon Chriſt, and thoſe benefits which are offered through him, chap. 10. 29. as Eſau who in deſpiſing his birth-right, which he ſold at ſo low a rate, became a type of ſuch who deſpiſed Chriſt, of whom the firſt-born were a type. Annot. This example may ſerve to expound what he means by prophane. The Lord had annexed to the birth-right the promiſe of the land of Canaan as a figure of heavenly felicity: wicked Eſau not conſidering this, deſpiſed it. So God hath appointed his Ordinances to be means of grace and life to men; when they doe not know and believe this, and receive it by them, they are prophane. Prophaneneſſe lies in two things:

1. In a low eſteem of ſpiritual ſervices, Amos 8. 5.

2. In a low eſteem of ſpiritual priviledges. Leighs Annot.

Proper] Heb. 11. 23. becauſe they ſaw he was a proper childe, or goodly, or very fair childe, or comely. Annot.

Prophets] Heb. 1. 1. God ſpake by the Prophets, or, in them. Both prepoſitions both in the Hebrew and in the Greek, are promiſcuouſly taken one for the other; yet this latter ſeems to be more emphatical in this place, intimating that God moved their hearts and tongues, Mat. 10. 20. 2 Cor. 13. 3. 1 Pet. 1. 10, 11. 2 Pet. 1. 21. A King ſpeaketh by; he doth not ſpeak in his Ambaſſadours; God doth both. Annot.

Proved] Heb. 3. 9. When your Fathers proved me, out of unbeliet, notwithſtanding they had experience of my power and preſence with them. Annot.

Provided] Heb. 11. 40. God having provided ſome better thing for us, that they without us ſhould not be made perfect, or, having foreſeen, or, ordained, a better condition and far greater priviledges for us under the Goſpel, (in that he hath now ſent his Son in the fleſh, and made him the Mediator of a better Covenant, chap. 7. 22. & 8. 6. under which the doctrine of ſalvation is more manifeſtly revealed, Col. 1. 16. 2 Tim. 1. 9, 10. and the gifts of the Spirit more plentifully poured out, Act. 2. 16.) that they (who were under the Law or firſt Covenant) without us ſhould not be made perfect, that is, be made partakers of that better condition without us, or before us. Annot. Not that they were not taken to heaven, but before Chriſt they had not that perfect ſtate in heaven, which now we and they are preſently poſſeſſed of, for they expected in heaven their redeemer, even as ſouls now expect the reſurrection of the body. Leighs Annot.

To provoke] To whet and quicken unto love, Heb. 10. 24. Thus we provoke one another.

2. To ſtir God unto wrath by tempting him, and ſtriving with the Miniſters, Heb. 3. 16. Thus men provoke God.

P U.

Pure water] Either the bloud of Christ; whereof the purifying water in the Law, was a Type and shadow; or the grace of Christ his Spirit, which is like water in operation, cleansing us; which because the Spirit doth by application of Christs bloud; therefore both significations may stand together, Heb. 10.23.

To purge with bloud] To ratifie, confirm, and dedicate things by the bloud of beasts. Thus the Old Testament was purged, Heb. 9.22.

To purge sins] To take away the guilt and punishment of sin, by making a ful satisfaction for them by his death, Heb. 1.3.

Purifie] To establish and consecrate, setting them apart to holy uses, by the bloud of Christ, Heb. 9.23. Thus the new Testament is purified.

Put away] Heb. 9.26. to put away sin, that is, to abolish or make void the guilt or obligation of sin, whereby it bindes over unbeleevers unto condemnation: so that unto beleevers, sin is of no force to accuse or condemn them, or to shut them out of heaven. Annot.

Q U.

To quench fire] To stay and hinder the operation and force of the fire, that it burn not, as the three children did in Daniel, Heb. 11.34.

Quick] Heb. 4.12. the Word of God is quick. Some by the Word, understand the Word written or spoken, and of the great power thereof, of which St. Paul speaks, 1 Cor. 14. 24. but with more probability, if we observe both the Antecedents and Consequents of the place, we may understand it of Christ who is called the Word, Joh. 1.1. Rev. 19.13. because he was to reveal the will and counsel of God his Father unto his people: (but it is likewise applyable unto the Word, written or preached,) here tearmed quick, living, whereby he is opposed to the Idols of the Heathen, who had eyes, and saw not; ears and heard not, &c. but Christ the Word of God is living, b holding all the thoughts and actions of men, that so he might give to every man according to his deeds, who is not only Omniscient, but full of power to execute his wrath upon those that are disobedient. Annot. Quick or living,

1. Formally in its own nature, in that it abides for ever, in regard of the sense or matter contained therein, not as it is written in paper.

2. Essentially, and that in these respects.

1. It giveth life at the first; it is appointed by God as the instrument to beget the new life of grace in us, Jam. 1.18. Joh. 17.17. the savour of life.

2. It increaseth spiritual life, 1 Pet. 2.

3. It directs and teacheth us the way to eternal life, Joh. 5. Leighs Annot.

Quiet fruit] Fruit ful of tranquillity and peace, Heb. 12.11.

R A.

Race] Heb. 12.1. Let us run the race that is set before us. This race is the course it self wherein we strive by running, for in the Greek it is ἀγὼν, a strife-race, whereby it signified all kinde of strife in this manner, whether it be by running, wrastling, hurling, or any other way, but here he speaks of running. To run the race, is to strive by running, he meanes especially the strife of our faith, 1 Tim. 6.12. see 2 Tim 4.7. Leighs Annot.

Rain] Heb. 6.7. the earth which drinketh in the rain. All is an Allegory. The earth is man, Jer. 22.29. The rain Gods Word, Deut. 32. 2. Amos 7.16. The hearbs are graces, and the blessing is a sweet retribution and accumulation of mercy, Id. ibid.

Raised] Heb. 11.35. Women received their dead raised to life again, see 1 King. 17. 22. & 2 King. 4.35. Annot.

R E.

Rebuke for Christ] Reprochful speeches from wicked men for the cause and Word of Christ, Heb. 11.26.

2. Correction and chastisement from a gracious God, for amendment of life, Heb. 12. 5.

To receive] To imbrace with love, as a Father his childe, Heb. 12.6.

2. Kindly to entertain or take into house, to harbour and comfort, Heb. 13.2.

3. To injoy and possesse a thing promised, Heb. 11.39. Heb. 10.36.

4. To understand and see by spiritual enlightning, Heb. 10.26, 32. In the former place is meant a slight enlightning, by receiving knowledge into the Brain, without change of of the heart. In the latter an effectual enlightning by taking knowledge into the heart and affections, is meant.

5. To finde and obtain what we pray for, Heb. 4. 16.

Received] Heb. 6. 5. Received Tithes of Abraham. In the Greek it is δεδεκάτωκε τὸν Ἀβραάμ, which in plain English is, he tithed Abraham, and took them of him as his due. Leighs Annot.

Recompence] The rendring or giving of blessednesse in mercy, according to promise, Heb 11. 26. & 10. 35.

2. The revenging of sin in justice, Heb. 10. 30.

Reconciliation] Agreement and atonement with God, by dying to take away sin, or by remission of sins through his death, Heb. 2. 17.

Redemption of transgressions] The freedome and deliverance of transgressours from guilt and pain, Heb. 9. 15. It is not the meaning of the Apostle, that sins committed under the Old Testament were not pardoned before Christ dyed, but that they were pardoned only by vertue of Christs death, who was the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world, Rev. 13. 8. Annot.

Reformation] Direction, leading aright, (not by windings and turnings as under the Law) and directly to Christ the mark and scope of our faith, Heb. 9. 10. until the time of Reformation, that is, of Christs coming, who should and did reform the carnal Rites, or Ceremonies, and services of the Law by fulfilling them; exhibiting the truth and those spiritual blessings typified and signified by them; and by instituting a more simple and spiritual worship. This is that which is meant when God promises to create new heavens, and a new earth, Isai. 65. 17. and when St. Paul saith, all things are made new, 2 Cor. 5. 17. Annot. Greek, the time of correction; that is, the time of Christs revealing, who was the body of all those shadows. Leighs Annot. Of correction, not as if any thing were amisse, simply evil in the Ceremonial Law. A reformation, properly to speak, is of abuses: there was no fault, no abuses in the Law it self, it was a good and holy thing for the time: but it is said to be reformed by Christ, because he did perfect that which was wanting in the Ceremonial Law: he actually introduced the Justification and Sanctification of the faithful, which the Ceremonial Law could not effect, of and by it self. And it may be termed the time of Reformation, because Christ abolished those old Ceremonies and Sacrifices, and brought better in their room, namely the sacrifice of his own body once offered, which was a thousand times more effectual for the redemption of mankinde then all the Sacrifices of the Law. The Gospel is a time of Reformation; and shall we our selves remain unreformed? Jones.

Refuge] Heb. 6. 18. Who have fled for refuge to lay hold of the hope set before us, that is, who have in all our doubts and distresse, fled to him as our sure stay and refuge; laying hold upon that glory and happinesse which is set before us, by the hand of a lively and stedfast hope, and confident expectation thereof. Hall. The Greek word rendred to lay hold, doth not signifie to hold any way, but so to hold and imbrace a thing, that thou suffer it not to be taken from thee. Leighs Annot.

Refuse] Heb. 12. 25. See that ye refuse not him that speaketh. See that ye refuse not Christ, which speaketh unto you in his heavenly Gospel. Hall. See that ye shift not him off that speaketh. Leighs Annot. Look to it, that ye despise him not; the danger is great if ye doe. Christ is despised by some openly, by refusing to hear him at all, or hearing contemptuously; by others secretly, by careless and negligent hearers. Jones.

Regarded] Heb. 8. 9. And I regarded them not saith the Lord, or, loathed (Greek, I did not care for them. Leighs Annot). In the Prophet (Jer. 31. 32.) it is, should I have continued a husband unto them? Annot. They have played the harlot, and broken the Covenant on their part, and shall I stand to the Covenant, shall I be as an husband to them, when as they are no wife to me? Nay, I will set them as light as they doe me. I regard them not, I cast off the care of them. He was even with them; they cast off him, and he cast off them. Jones.

Rejected] Heb. 6. 8. But that which beareth thorns and bryars is rejected. As the earth painfully tilled, and plentifully watered with rain from heaven, is good for nothing but to be burnt, if in stead of good fruit, it bringeth forth thorns and thistles: so these who have been plentifully watered with many sweet showers of the Word of God, and inriched with divers excellent graces, are good for nothing but to burn in hell fire for evermore. See Isai. 55. 10, 11. Annot. Heb. 12. 17. He was rejected, viz. by by his Father, Gen. 27. 35, 37, 40. he obtained not that which he would. Leighs Annot.

Rejoycing] Heb. 3. 6. And the rejoycing of the hope firm unto the end, that is, glorying in those things for which we hope, Col. 1.5. 1 Thes. 5.8. Tit. 1.2. or, our hope, which makes us to rejoyce, Rom. 5.2. Annot. The doctrine of the Gospel whereby these are dispensed and confirmed. Leighs Annot.

To remember] To call to minde and thinke upon with purpose to punish, Heb. 10.17.

2. To call to minde something done and past, to profit by it, by patience and thankfulnesse, Heb. 10.30.

Remission] Heb. 9.22. And without shedding of bloud is no remission. If Christs bloud had not been shed for us, we could never have had remission of sins. Then how are we beholding to the Lord Jesus? And as by Christ alone we have the forgiveneſſe of our sins, which all the Sacrifices in the Law could not purchase, nor any thing that we can doe under the Gospel: So let the love of Christ in dying for our sins, cause us to dye to sin dayly more and more: and as he in wonderful love offered up himself as a sacrifice for the putting away of our sins; so let us offer up our selves, our souls, and bodies, as a holy, living, and acceptable Sacrifice to him all the dayes of our lives; that the power of Christs passion appearing in us in this world, we may reign with him in the World to come. Jones.

Renew] Heb. 6. 6. To renew them again to repentance. If ever they come to repent, they must be reduced to that former estate, though that be not enough; that is, to have knowledge and light of minde only, it must be in a more powerful way. Leighs Annot.

Repentance] Penitency or remorse in Isaac, who would not with Esau's tears be moved to recall his blessing, Heb. 12.17.

2. True conversion or turning of a sinner to God, after a fall, Heb. 6.6.

Good report] Credit and estimation from good men upon good grounds, Heb. 12. 2.

Reproaches] Slanderous and disgraceful words, Heb. 10.33.

Rest] Ceasing from the works of sin, as mortified men doe from all sin and misery, as glorified persons do, Heb. 3.18. and 4.3,4.

Reverence] The holy fear and aw of Gods Majesty and Word, Heb. 11.7. & 12.28.

2. Submission and dutiful respect to our superiours, Heb. 12.9.

Reward] A good thing freely given after the labour and travel of this life ended, Heb. 10.35.

Rewarder] One who bountifully and freely blesseth his servants, Heb. 11.6.

Righteousnesse] Most just and upright, Heb. 1. 9. wrought righteousnesse, Heb. 11. 33. that is, that which was righteous in the sight of God. Annot. Heb. 12. 11. It yeeldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousnesse, unto them that are exercised thereby: that is, afflictions and chastisements which seise upon Gods children do leave after them amendment of life, as the needle passeth through the cloth, and leaveth the thread behinde it. And correction is called an exercise, because it makes the faithful as certain champions more strong and invincible in patience. Leighs Annot.

R V.

Rule] Heb. 13. 7. Remember them which have the rule over you, or, are the guides, marg.

Run] Heb. 12. 1. Let us run with patience, &c. We must not creep like Snails, but run like Roes. All must run, Ministers and people, let us run; and it must be the race of Christianity, and that unto the end, and with patience, Jones. Our race is long, and full of rubs and difficulties, and therefore there is great need of patience, lest we faint, and give over our course. Annot.

S A.

Sacrifice] Beasts slain and offered under the Law, to the honour of God, and for strengthening the faith of his people, in the Messiah to come, Heb. 10.3.5. also 5.1.

2. Christ Jesus, the substance and truth of all Legal Sacrifices, Heb. 9.26. & 10.26.

3. Prayer, alms, works of piety and mercy, which are as a pleasant Sacrifice to God, Heb. 13.15. See Common Dictionary.

Sacrifice greater] A Sacrifice of more price and value, Heb. 11.4.

Sal-

Salvation] Our glorification, begun by remiſſion of ſins and ſanctification, when we firſt beleeve in Chriſt, Heb. 2. 3. that is, the means of it. So he cals the doctrine of the Goſpel, metaphorically from the effect, (ſaith Pareus) becauſe faith in the Goſpel brings to us eternal ſalvation. For the Goſpel is the power of God to ſalvation to every believer. Leighs Annot.

2. Glorification, compleat and perfect, when the Saints, being raiſed again, doe poſſeſſe heavenly bleſſedneſſe, Heb. 9. 26.

Same] Heb. 1. 12. Thou art the ſame, that is, immutable, unchangeable. Chriſt remains ever without any change or alteration, either in reſpect of his promiſe or Eſſence, which may cauſe us both to put our truſt in him, to believe whatſoever he hath ſaid, and to depend on him, as a ſtrong and unmoveable pillar. Jones. Heb. 13. 8. Jeſus Chriſt, the ſame yeſterday, and to day, and for ever; yeſterday, that is, the time paſt before his coming in the fleſh; To day, while in the fleſh, and for ever, that is, after. The ſame afore time, in time, and after time. Leighs Annot. He was declared after one manner in the Law; in Types, Figures, Sacrifices; after another manner now; but alwayes the ſame Chriſt, the head and foundation of the Church, 1 Cor. 3. 11. He was the foundation of the Church in Adams time, in Abrahams time, in Iſaiahs time, in Pauls time, in the Law, in the Goſpel, and ſhall be to the end of the world, Chriſt is ſemper idem. Jones. See To Day.

Samſon] Heb. 11. 32. He is numbered in the Catalogue of the faithful, nor were the effects of faith wanting in him, as amongſt others, his deſiring a wife of the Philiſtims. Which was of the Lord, that he ſought an occaſion againſt the Philiſtines, Judg. 14. 2. 4. his killing a Lyon, verſ. 6. his ſlaying the Philiſtines at Askelon, verſ. 19. his breaking the cords that were upon his arms, Judg. 15. 15. in all which it is ſaid, the Spirit of the Lord came upon him. And for his death he had been a madde man ſo to have dyed if he had not had a warrant from God, which without doubt he had (though it be not expreſſed) as theſe circumſtances prove.

1. He doth it not raſhly, but with prayer, Judg. 16. 28. that prayer came from faith, and God heard it.

2. God himſelf did ſtrengthen him to that buſineſſe.

3. He did it in the execution of his calling, as who was ordained of God to avenge Iſrael on the Philiſtines. Hyperius, Jones. And herein he was a type of Chriſt, who by his death procured deliverance to his people, deſtroyed his and their enemies.

Sanctifie] Heb. 2. 11. Both he that ſanctifieth, and they who are ſanctified, are all of one. By ſanctifie here underſtand not only the renewing of our natures, but alſo our juſtification, chap. 9. 9. & 10. 10. Epheſ. 5. 26. by both which the Prince of our Salvation brings ſons unto glory; or, Chriſts conſecrating us unto his Father, Revel. 1. 6. both he and we being of one maſſe or lump, or of the ſame nature. It is conceived by ſome, that this rule is taken from the manner of ſanctifying under the Old Teſtament, under which the High Prieſt and thoſe whom he ſanctified were of one, and the ſame nature; and ſo the firſtlings and firſt fruits were of the ſame nature with the whole flock and crop which was ſanctified in them. Annot. Heb. 10. 10. by the which will we are ſanctified, that is, freed from the guilt of our ſins, and conſecrated to Gods ſervice. Annot.

Heb. 10. 29. Wherewith he was ſanctified.

1. Sacramentally.
2. Putatively.
3. Or at moſt, by way of Diſpoſition. Leighs Annot.

True Sanctuary and Tabernacle] The body of Chriſt, wherein the fulneſſe of the God-head dwels, as in a Sanctuary, and by offering whereof, Chriſt miniſtred both to God and to the elect, Heb. 8. 2. Alſo Heb. 9. 24.

To ſave] To deliver and free, either from ſpiritual or bodily enemies and evils, Heb. 3. 7. Heb. 11. 7.

S C.

Scepter] Adminiſtration or government, Heb. 1. 9. See Common Dictionary.

S E.

Season] Heb. 11. 25. Then to injoy the pleaſures of ſin for a ſeaſon, Gr. then to have the momentary fruition of ſin. Leighs Annot.

To ſee death] To dye or feel death, Heb. 11 5.

Seem] Heb. 4. 1. Any of you ſhould ſeem to come ſhort of it, that is, ſhould come ſhort. So Luk. 8. 18. compared with Luk. 19. 26. & 25. 29. 1 Cor. 11. 16. as thoſe who run in a race, and yet come not to the goal, and ſo receive not the prize, 1 Cor. 9. 24. or, come late, as the fooliſh Virgins, Matth. 23. 10. Annot.

Sepa-

Separate] Heb. 7. 26. Separate from ſinners. He converſed with ſinners for the reclaiming of them, as the Phyſitian keeps company with ſick perſons for the curing of them; but he neither gave allowance to their ſins, nor received any contagion from them, Jones.

Set by] Heb. 5. Who ſerve unto the example and ſhadow of heavenly things. The whole earthly Tabernacle, with the Prieſthood, Sacrifices, and Ceremonies, appertaining to it, were Types and Shadows of Chriſt, and of heavenly things to be obtained through him. Their ſervice as for the matter thereof, it conſiſted of corporal things, ſo for the manner, it was but a ſhadow of the true Sacrifice. Annot. Heb. 9. 14. Purge your conſciences from dead workes to ſerve the living God. Implying that no ſervice is acceptable to God unto ſalvation, unleſſe the conſcience be firſt purified by the bloud of Jeſus Chriſt, ſee 1 Pet. 2. 5. purged I ſay, 1 Joh. 1. 9. both in reſpect of juſtification and ſanctification. Annot. Heb. 13. 10. which ſerve the Tabernacle. Which ſtill ſtubbornly obſerve the Levitical Ceremonies. Such cut themſelves off, from the communion of Chriſt, Gal. 5. 3. Annot.

S H.

Shadow] Heb. 10. 1. The Law having a ſhadow of good things to come. Some are of opinion that here St. Paul alludes to the cuſtome of Painters, who firſt make a rude draught, and then out of it a perfect and lively picture. Theſe make the ſenſe this, viz. That the Old Covenant did contain onely dark reſemblances and Types of heavenly things, no lively repreſentations of them; this being reſerved unto the time of the Goſpel, wherein Chriſt and all ſpiritual bleſſings in him are clearly and plainly manifeſted. Others are of opinion that St. Paul alludes unto the ſhadow of a body, and theſe make this the ſenſe of the words, viz. That the Old Covenant had only Types, wherein Chriſt and heavenly things through him, were darkly repreſented, not the ſubſtance and truth of the things themſelves. This is the more probable opinion, ſee Col. 2. 17. Annot. Ye cannot perceive in a ſhadow the diſtinct parts and members of a body, the eyes, the face, hands, &c. Only the ſhadow tels you there is a body; but an Image hath the whole lineaments and proportion of the body in it. In it ye may behold the ſeveral parts and dimenſions of the body; ſo in the Law, they had a ſight of Chriſt, yet it was darkly in a ſhadow; we have the very expreſſe form and Image of Chriſt with all his benefits. Jones. It was not ſo much as an Image, a ſhadow is not ſo much as an Image, but the Image is not ſo much as the thing it ſelf; It was not an Image, but a ſhadow. Leighs Ann.

To ſhake Heaven and Earth] To ſtrike with admiration men and Angels, by a ſuddain and mighty abrogation of the Moſaical Ceremonies and Ethnical Idolatries through the power of the Goſpel, Heb. 12. 26. The Civill State and Eccleſiaſtical too, ſay ſome, the frame it ſelf of Heaven and Earth, and the Inhabitants of both, ſaith Pareus. Leighs Annot. This was fulfilled in thoſe Prodigies and ſignes which appeared upon the Earth, and in the Heavens, before, and at our Saviours coming in the fleſh, to proclaim and confirm the Goſpel. Some underſtand it of Chriſts ſecond coming, that is, of judgement, whereof St. Peter ſpeaks, 2 Pet. 3. 10. but it is plain, that the Prophet ſpeaks of ſhaking the Earth and the Heavens, which ſhould be while the ſecond Temple ſtood; for it is ſaid, that the deſire of all Nations, that is, the Meſſias ſhould come, and fill the ſecond Temple with glory. See Hag. 2. 7, 8. Annot.

Shepheard] Heb. 13. 20. That great Shepheard of the Sheep. Jeſus Chriſt ſo called, not only becauſe he delivered his Sheep in an an extraordinary manner; but becauſe he is the Shepheard of all other Shepheards, Joh. 10. 11. & 1 Pet. 5. 4. Annot. He is the Great Shepheard.

1. Great in the extent of the flock, the Univerſal Shepheard of the whole Church throughout the world: the Shepheard of Jews and Gentiles.

2. Great in authority, The ſheep are his, he owns them.

3. Great in the charge which he hath taken on him; he is the Shepheard of Soul and Body too.

4. Great in humility; the King of Kings; yet he abaſed himſelf to be a Shepheard.

5. Great in knowledge. He calleth his own ſheep by name, and knoweth them, Joh. 10. 3. 15.

6. Great in love and kindneſſe, He gave his life for the ſheep, Joh. 10. 11.

7. Great in power, No man ſhall pluck them out of his hand, Joh. 10. 28. He is the Shepheard of the ſheep, that is, the righteous who are moſt fitly reſembled to ſheep, as being 1. Humble 2. Harmleſſe. 3. Profitable. 4. Ruled by their Shepheard. 5. By him led into Paſtures and folds. 6. Ob-

6. Obnoxious to many dangers. Jones.

S I.

Signes] Heb. 2. 4. God bearing them witnesse both with signes and wonders. Signes, becauſe they ſignifie the Divine power and Majeſty of God. They are any miracles in general: as the fleece to Gedeon. Hezekiahs ſigns, &c. Jones. Wonders, things that happen contrary to the courſe of nature; and ſtrike fear into men. Leigh. Crit. Sac. in the word τερας. Some call them prædicidia, becauſe they doe prædicere aliquid mali; are terrible miracles of Gods wrath and judgement; as the ſtriking of Ananias and Saphira with ſudden death, the killing of Herod by the Angel, the blindneſſe of Elymas the Sorcerer: but they are ſometimes taken alſo for Miracles of mercy. Jones.

Similitude] Heb. 7. 15. After the ſimilitude of Melchiſedec there ariſeth another Prieſt. Wherein conſiſteth this ſimilitude? It muſt needs be in this, and nothing but this, (ſay the Jeſuites) that as Melchiſedec offered Bread and Wine, as a ſacrifice of praiſe to God after Abrahams victory: So our Saviour Chriſt offered his body and bloud under the ſhape of Bread and Wine in the Supper. But cannot Chriſt be a Prieſt after the ſimilitude of Melchiſedec, unleſſe it be in this? Surely then he is not a Prieſt at all after the ſimilitude of Melchiſedec, for Melchiſedec offered no Bread and Wine. The Hebrew is Hotziah, protulit, non obtulit, (Gen. 14. 18.) as their own Vulgar Interpreter doth tranſlate it, and the Septuagint expounds it ἐξενεγκε, that is a confirmation of Melchiſedecs Kingdome, not of his Prieſthood: as a King, of his Princ-like liberality he brought forth out of his ſtore-houſe plenty of Bread and Wine to refreſh Abraham and his men after the battel. But in ſundry other reſpects, he is a Prieſt after the ſimilitude of Melchiſedec.

1. As Melchiſedec being a Prieſt of the moſt high God bleſſed Abraham, and prayed to God for him: ſo Chriſt bleſſeth and prayeth for his Church, verſ. 25.

2. As Melchiſedec is ſaid to live for ever, becauſe there is no mention of his death in the Scripture; ſo Chriſt liveth for ever, and of his Prieſthood there is no end.

3. As Melchiſedec was a Prieſt, yet not made after the manner of other Prieſts, but had an extraordinary calling from God; ſo Chriſt is made a Prieſt, not after the manner of the Levitical Prieſthood, but after a more excellent ſort, as Melchiſedec was.

4. As Melchiſedec was a King and a Prieſt too, ſo was our Saviour Chriſt. Jones.

Sin] Sinners; to wit, perſecutors, Heb. 12. 4.

2. Tranſgreſſion of the Law, Heb. 9. Alſo 10. 4.

3. Blaſphemy againſt the Spirit, Heb. 10. 26.

4. Guilt and puniſhment of ſin, Heb. 10. 2.

5. Sacrifice for ſin, Heb. 9. 28.

6. Naughtineſſe and corruption of nature, Heb. 12. 1. See Common Dictionary.

S O.

Soul and Spirit] The will wherein the affections are ſeated, and the more noble part of man, called underſtanding or reaſon, Heb. 4. 12. My Soul, Heb. 10. 38. either it may be ſpoken in the perſon of the Apoſtle: or in the Perſon of God. Neither any good Chriſtian nor God himſelf will take any pleaſure in ſuch a one as draweth back, but he is rather deteſted of God and man. Jones.

S P.

Spake] Heb. 1. 1. God ſpake unto the Fathers by the Prophets. God, that is, the Father (for when the name God is mentioned in the Scriptures, with relation unto the Son (as here) thereby we are to underſtand God the Father). Annot. Spake by the Prophets, ſo in this the Old and New Teſtament are equal; God is the Author of them both. God ſpake by the Prophets then, and he ſpeaketh now by his Miniſters, Mat. 10. 20. 2 Cor. 5. 20. when we teach, God teacheth; when we exhort, God exhorteth; when we reprove ſin, God reproveth ſin. Jones.

To ſpeak from Earth, and Heaven] To ſpeak as a ſervant; as Moſes did: or as a Son, as Chriſt did, Heb. 12. 25. Moſes ſpake from the earth, Chriſt from heaven, who himſelf came from heaven, Joh. 3. 13. Annot.

Spirit] Heb. 9. 14. Who through the eternall Spirit, that is, God-head, Act. 20. 28. Rom. 1. 4. 1 Pet. 3. 18. Implying thereby that the Sacrifice of Chriſts death had its value and vertue both to ſatisfie and ſanctifie from his Deity. Annot. From this his his infinite and unspeakable Deity the bloud of Christ received a power to make satisfaction for our sins, whereupon it is called the bloud of God, Act. 20. 28. The bloud of none that was meer man could doe it; If Christs bloud had not been offered up by his eternal Spirit, it could not have purchased our redemption. Jones.

Spirit of grace] The holy Spirit, which doth certifie the elect of the favour of God towards them, Heb 10.29.

Spirits] Heb. 1. 7. Who maketh his Angels, Spirits, and his Ministers a flame of fire, that is, as the Windes, as the Lightnings, by both which we are to understand their readineſſe to execute Gods will; for as the Windes and Lightnings, suddenly passe from the one end of the earth to the other, so the Angels presently fulfill Gods will; Matth. 6. 10. Annot. Heb. 12. 9. the Father of Spirits, Souls, Numb. 16. 22. & 27. 16. Eccles. 12. 9. Isai. 57. 16. Zech. 12. 1. 2 Cor. 7. 1. 1 Pet. 4. 6. God is more especially styled the Father of our spirits, because our souls are immediately created by him. Annot. Heb. 12. 23. The spirits of just men made perfect. The Elect here on earth may be said to be gathered to those departed, because they make but one Church, whereof one part is on earth, the other in heaven, made perfect according to their souls not bodies. Annot.

Spoken] Heb. 1. 2. Spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things. Spoken, fully and plainly by his Son, that is, his natural Son, co-essential, or of the same Essence with the Father, called therefore the only begotten, Joh. 1. 14. & 3. 16. for others are called the sons of God by grace and adoption, Joh. 1. 12. Rom. 8. 14. Gal. 4. 6. Whom he hath appointed Heir, that is, ordained Lord, Possessour, and dispenser, which is not to be understood of that Essential Dominion or Lordship which he had common with the Father, and the holy Ghost, being God equal with them; but of that œconomical, dispensed or delegate Dominion, or Lordship, whereunto he was fore ordained before the foundation of the world, being appointed the Mediatour of the New Testament, and wherein he was actually constituted and placed, after he had finished the work of mans redemption, Psal. 89. 27. Matth. 28. 28. Luk. 24. 26. Joh. 5. 27. Act. 2. 36. Rom. 14. 9. Ephes. 2. 20. Phil. 2. 9, 10, &c. Revel. 4. 21. all things, whether they belong to this life or the life to come; so that whatsoever we want, wee must seek in and through him, Joh. 3. 35. & 13. 3. Annot.

Spot] Heb. 9. 14. Offered himself without spot to God, or fault. Typified by the spotlesse Sacrifices commanded to be offered under the Law, Exod. 12. 5. Numb. 19. 2. & 28. 3. Rom. 3. 25. 1 Pet. 1. 19. Annot.

Spoyles] Heb. 7. 4. Abraham gave the tenth of the spoyles; or, of the best things; not that Abraham made choyce of the best things, and of them gave the tenth part only: for it is said vers. 2. that he gave a tenth of all; but that he made choyce of the best things to pay the tenth part of the whole, as it was afterward ordained, Numb. 18. 12. Annot. ἀκροθινια properly signifieth the chief parts, or top of the heap. Leighs Annot. Ministers are Gods Embassadours, and workmen with him, and the tithes are a tribute which the people are bound to pay them for their work. The receiving of Tithes from the people, argues the greatnesse of the Ministers to whom Tithes are paid. Jones.

Sprinkled] Heb. 10. 20. Having our hearts sprinkled from an evill conscience, that is, being sprinkled in, or as touching our hearts (that is, our souls) the heart being the chief seat of the Soul) by the bloud of Christ, chap. 12. 24. 1 Pet. 1. 2. from the accusation of an evil conscience. So long as our consciences are under the guilt of sin, we cannot draw neer unto God with confidence of acceptation in any duty. See chap. 9. 14. Annot. Heb. 12. 24. And to the bloud of Sprinkling, that is, to the bloud of Jesus Christ sprinkled, as the Word of hearing is the Word heard; chap. 4. 2. see 1 Pet. 1. 2. and this is added because Christ, by his bloud confirmed the New Covenant, &c. Annot.

Stableneſſe of his counsel] His unchangeable and firm purpose, Heb. 6. 17.

Stedfast] Heb. 3. 14. If we hold the beginning of our confidence stedfast unto the end. All Interpreters with one consent refer this to faith, and indeed it is called ὑποστασις, Heb. 11. 1. the beginning of that lively faith, hope, and confidence that we have in him, which is as a sure foundation that cannot be shaken. I do not deny but it is a good sense; yet without any circumloquution or violence offered to the words, it may fitly be translated,

If

If we hold fast the beginning of the subsistence, and being that we have in him. For Hypostasis most properly doth signifie a Subsistence according to the Etymologie of the Word. If as we have begun by faith to have a being in Christ, so we hold fast this our being to the end, growing up dayly in him, till we come to a perfect age in Christ Jesus. Jones.

Strange] Heb. 11. 9. He sojourned as in a strange Countrey, Gen. 17. 7. & 23. 4. for there he was constrained either to buy, or hire, or borrow both a place for his dwelling, Gen. 14. 13. as also for the burial of his dead Annot.

Strangers] Heb. 11. 13. Confessed they were strangers on earth. If we be strangers on the earth, as we must all confesse our selves to be, then let us carry our selves as strangers.

1. Let us meddle no more with the world then needs must.

2. We must not make account to domineer in it, to have all men at our controll; must be content to be underlings here.

3. We must be abstemious, 1 Pet. 2. 11. lead a sober life, take no more of the world then will serve us for our journey, we must reserve our feasting til we come to that place, where we shall eat bread with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

4. We must look for no great love. Dogges will fawn on them that be in the house, but they will bark at strangers, fly on their faces, and be ready to pull them down.

5. We must have a longing desire to be at home.

6. Must not heartily love this world. It must be as Wormwood to us in respect of the joys of heaven.

7. What accommodations soever we have here, yet must not we conceive this to be the place of abode, but that we must forgot them all. Jones. Heb. 13. 2. Be not forgetful to entertain strangers, Rom. 1. 13. 1 Tim. 3. 2. & 5. 10. 1 Pet. 4. 9. The study of this vertue was then very necessary, when there were no publique Innes, and the godly were often banished, lest they should either want entertainment, or else goe to Infidels. Leighs Annot.

Strife] Heb. 6. 16. an Oath of confirmation, is to them an end of all strife. Here we see what a reverend estimation we are to have of an oath: it must be the end of contradiction: after men have sworn we should be as mute as Fishes, not have a word to say. An oath was sacred among the Heathen, 1 Sam. 30. 15. Abimelech and Phicol his Captain were satisfied when they had Isaacs Oath, Gen. 21. 22. But now a dayes such is the corruption among Christians, that small credit is to be given to many mens oaths. Jones.

Striving against sin] Heb. 12. 4. that is, as Interpreters of good note observe, either against the wickednesse of the enemies of the Gospel, which by cruel and bloudy courses, strive to force men from the faith; or against sin, that is, against sinners, vers. 3. or, against sin in your selves Leighs Annot. Striving with all your might and main, as combaters and wrastlers were wont to doe. Annot.

Strong consolation] Heb. 6. 18. against all crosses and and afflictions of this life; not weak, but strong, coming from a strong God, confirmed by two strong means, the promise and oath of God, and continuing strongly a great while, to the end of our lives. Many are our crosses in soul and body, in goods, name, children, and servants; against them all we have strong consolation. Jones.

To study] To muse or meditate earnestly upon a matter, Heb. 4. 11.

S V.

Subjection] Heb. 2. 5. Unto the Angels hath he not put in subjection. The word ὑπέταξε, doth signifie to subject in a Military rank or order, when as the whole Army is subjected to one Captain, Leader, or Governour, as the Church is to Christ. Jones. Heb. 2. 8. Thou hast put all things in subjection under his feet. All power was given unto Christ at his Resurrection, Matth. 28. 18. Joh. 5. 27. but yet he doth not fully exercise this power: this is left to the judgement of the great day, when all his enemies shall be put under his feet. See chap. 1 13. Annot.

Substance] A treasure, or a chief good thing, Heb. 10. 34. Heb. 11. 1. Faith is the substance of things hoped for, or ground, or confidence, or expectation, See chap. 3. 14. This verse some have translated thus. Now Faith is the expectation of that which is hoped for, and the hope of things which are not seen. Annot. The meaning is, that though there are many things promised by God, which men doe not presently enjoy, but only hope for, because as yet they are not: yet faith doth after a sort give a subsistence or being unto them. Leighs Annot.

Suffer the Word of exhortation] Heb. 13. 22. The Apoſtle ſpeaketh this to qualifie the ſeeming boldneſſe of ſome exhortations ſprinkled here and there in this Epiſtle; eſpecially in the ſixth and tenth chapters. Annot.

Sufferings] Heb. 2.10. To make the Captain of their ſalvation perfect through ſufferings. It was moſt comely, fit and convenient for God, which ſo graciouſly gave his Son for us, for the better illuſtration of his own glory, for a more lively demonſtration of his mercy and juſtice to the world, to conſecrate unto his everlaſting Kingdome and Prieſthood the Arch-duke, the Captain, the Leader, the Author of our Salvation, (for whom, and by whom are all things) through afflictions, in the whole courſe of his life, eſpecially at his death and paſſion. So that Chriſts afflictions are ſo far from being a ſhame or ignominy to him, that they be ſolemn Rites, or ſacred Ceremonies, whereby he was conſecrated Biſhop of the univerſal Church. If Chriſt had not become man, afflicted and put to death; he could not have carryed men into the Kingdome of heaven. If the Prince could not get to heaven without afflictions, ſhould the ſubjects imagine to goe thither without croſſes? Jones. Annot.

Sware] Heb.3. 11. So I ſware in my wrath, God ſwears ſeldom, Swears by himſelf, by no creature. And it's a matter of weight that makes him ſwear; Nor ſweareth he raſhly in heat and choler, but for the confirmation of his mercy and gracious promiſes to his children, chap.6.13. and the ſtrengthening of his juſtice, and threatnings againſt the wicked, as in this place. God, as ye ſee, ſwears, ſo may we doe; if we could keep our ſelves within thoſe limits, that he did. Jones.

T A.

Tabernacle] Heb.9.2. There was a Tabernacle made, &c. What the Apoſtle called the wordly or earthly Tabernacle or Sanctuary, here he further deſcribeth with the principal furniture thereof; dividing it into two parts, making as it were two Tabernacles of one, whereof the firſt was a Type of Chriſts humane nature, chap.8.2. The ſecond of heaven, v.12. Annot. Heb.8.2. And of the true Tabernacle, which the Lord pitched, and not man, chap.9.11. that is, of his own body or humane nature, whereof the corporal Tabernacle was a Type. Hence St. John ſaith, that the Word Tabernacle with us, Joh.1.14. ſpeaking of his being in our fleſh, or his taking upon him our humane nature, chap.7.27. & 9. 14. See Joh.2.19. Col. 2. 9. It being conceived of the holy Ghoſt, and was erected by the hand of man; or not conceived by concurrence of the man, ſee ch. 9.11. Annot.

To take away] Utterly to remove a thing, as if it had never been, Heb. 10. 4. 9, 11.

Take] Heb. 5. 4. No man taketh this honour unto himſelf, that is, ought to take. Verbs active in the phraſe of the Scripture, ſometimes import, not the act it ſelf, but duty, or office, as Gen.20. 9. Lev.4.2.13. Pſal.32. 8. Uzziah though a King muſt not take the Prieſts Office upon him, 2 Chron.26.16. Annot.

To taſte] To have a ſlight and ſlender belief in Chriſt and light feeling of heavenly bliſſe, Heb. 6.5. Heb. 2. 9. that he ſhould taſte death for every man, that is, dye, Mat.6.28. Mar. 9.1. Luk. 9. 27. or it may be underſtood of Chriſts dying without ſeeing corruption, Pſal.16.10. Act.2.17. & 13.35. or, Chriſt may be ſaid but to taſte of death, becauſe he continued but a ſhort time under the power thereof, it being impoſſible that he ſhould be holden of it, Act.2.24. Annot.

T E.

Teach] Heb. 8. 11. And they ſhall not teach every man his neighbour, &c. for all ſhall know me. The teaching of men ſhall not be laid aſide, but they muſt not depend on it; the teaching of God ſhall make it effectual to them. All Gods people, little and great, weak and ſtrong, ſhall know him; by knowing is not meant a bare apprehenſion and notion of his being and nature, but a knowledge of acquaintance, a knowing him to be ones God reconciled to him in Chriſt. So Hoſ. 2.20. Leighs Annot.

Tears] Heb. 12.17. Though he ſought it carefully with tears. All tears are not acceptable to God. There be lachrymæ compunctionis, ſuch as Mary Magdalens were, lachrymæ compaſſionis, ſuch as Chriſts were when he wept over Jeruſalem, lachrymæ devotionis, ſuch as the Jews tears were that wept becauſe the ſecond Temple was not ſo glorious as the firſt, Ezra 3.12. lachrymæ deſperationis, ſuch are tears of the damned in hell, lachrymæ ſimulationis, as Jer. 41. 6. lachrymæ rancoris & indignationis, ſuch were the tears of Eſau, he wept more upon ſtomach, being vexed in his minde, that he ſhould be thus defrauded by his brother, then for any grief for ſin, more for the losse, then the fault. It seems he never wept because he had displeased God in selling away his birth-right, but because he saw into what misery he had plunged himself. Jones.

Temptation] Heb. 3.8. In the day of Temptation in the Wilderneſſe. Hereby understand, not only that special time mentioned, Exod. 17.1. &c. Numb. 14. & 20.1, &c. & Deut. 6.16. But the whole space wherein they tempted God in the Wilderneſſe, see Psal. 78.1, &c. Annot. It were fittest to expound it generally of the stubborn and contumelious behaviour of the Israelites in the Wilderneſſe, then of any particular temptation.

1. Because he names no particular place, but the Wilderneſſe in general.

2. Because the tempting he speaks of here, lasted the whole forty yeats.

3. The word day is often taken in Scripture, not for any set and prescript time, but for an indefinite time, a continuance of time, Joh. 8.56. Psa. 25.5. all the time that the temptation lasteth, Psal. 50.15.

4. Numb. 14.22. It is apparent that they tempted him many times. Jones.

Tempted] Heb. 2.18. Being tempted he is able to succour them that are tempted. He was tempted both in body and soul, yet without sin: tempted of God in his agony: Luk. 22.44. Of the Devil, Mat. 4.1. and by his instruments through his whole life. Annot. As Christ was like to us in nature, so he was tempted as we are. Being clothed with our nature, he knows what belongs to pain, and will succour us in all our distresses. Being rich he would become poor: he would be a man, that he might the better pity us that be men; that he might be a merciful High Priest to us all. And shall we be unmerciful one to another? Jones. Heb. 11.37. were tempted: when their enemies saw, they could doe no good with violence, they made them great promises, and tryed whether they could prevail that way, as appears in the Martyrologie. Leighs Annot.

Tenth] Heb. 7.2. To whom Abraham gave a tenth part of all. Seeing our Lord remaineth for ever a Priest after the order of Melchisedec, why should not Tithes belong unto him, and in him unto those who in his stead exhort us to be reconciled unto his Father, 2 Cor. 5.20? Annot.

Testifying] Heb. 11.4. God testifying of his (Abels) gifts, that is, of the acceptance of his gifts, either by fire from heaven, Levit. 9.24. 1 King. 18.38. 1 Chron. 21.26. or by some like token. See Gen. 4.4. Annot.

Testimony] Heb. 11.5. He had this testimony, either in that it is said, that he walked with God, whence it may be inferred that he pleased God: or else because God did by some more then ordinary means testifie so much of him, as he did of Abels sacrifice, v. 4. Annot.

T H.

Thanks] Heb. 13.15. Giving thanks to his Name. Gr. confessing to his Name. marg.

Better things] Something more worthy and excellent, Heb. 11.40.

Things concerning God] Which concern the pleasing and worship of God, Heb. 5.1.

Things hoped for] The glory and blisse of heaven, Heb. 11.1.

Things not seen] Of nothing, Heb. 11.1.

Things shaken] Things of an unstable condition, as things not shaken, signifies things of a firm and constant nature, Heb. 12. 27,28.

Thoughts] Heb. 4.12. A discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart. Ἐνθυμήσεις rendred thoughts, are properly the secret and inward workings of passions and affections: ἔννοια, intents are the secret and first workings of mens understandings and apprehensions. Leighs Annot.

Throne] Heb. 4.16. come boldly unto the Throne of grace, that is, God reconciled unto us in Christ, typified by Gods sitting between the Cherubims upon the Mercy-seat, Exod. 25.22. Annot.

T I.

Time past] Heb. 1.1. that is, both before and under the Law. Annot.

Tithes] Heb. 7.6. received Tithes of Abraham, &c. If Abraham by paying Tithes, acknowledged Melchisedecs superiority; much more should all Abrahams off-spring acknowledge Christs Superiority, whom Melchisedec typically represented, by paying what is due for the maintenance of his service, &c. As receiving Tithes proves Superiority in office; so paying of Tithes, or maintenance in room of Tithes, proveth subjection to that Office, and Office-bearers who receive the same; and so maintenance of Ministers should be a matter of honouring them; or rather of him that sent them, of its own proper institution; though men turn it into a beggerly stipend, and count the more basely of the Office, because of the manner of maintenance. Dickson. The ground for the payment of Tithes of old were,

1. Because they were holy unto the Lord, Levit. 27.30.

2. That the people might learn to fear the Lord their God alwayes, Deut. 14.22.23. and be bleſſed of him, Deut. 26. 12--15. Mal. 3. 10.

3. That the Prieſts and Levites might be maintained thereby, as is often expreſſed.

4. That the poor, ſtrangers, fatherleſſe, &c. might be relieved. Now (if in ſtead of the Prieſts and Levites which did ſerve at the Altar, we take in the Miniſters of the Goſpel, who preach the Goſpel, for whom the Lord hath ordained, that they which Preach the Goſpel, ſhould live of the Goſpel, 1 Cor. 9.14.) the ſame cauſes remaining, Tithes are even ſtill payable. Hyperius. Tithes are a tribute which people are bound to pay their Miniſters for their work. Tithes are due to the Miniſters of the Goſpel, not of alms or of benevolence, which the people may pay us if they will, but of juſtice, we have a right and intereſt to them; as the labourer hath to his hire, the ſouldier to his ſtipend, &c. 1 Cor. 9.7. &c. And Tithes are perpetual:

As 1. Which were paid to Chriſt before the Law.

2. Are the Lords, Levit. 27.30.

3. Were in the Law of Nature.

4. Were neither Judicial nor Ceremonial.

5. There is no proof in all the New Teſtament for any other ordinary maintenance of the Miniſtery.

6. After the times of perſecution, they were reſumed and eſtabliſhed again in the Church.

7. The cauſes remaining, (as hath been ſhewed they doe) the things themſelves (Tithes) do ſtill remain. Jones, who largely handleth this ſubject.

T O.

Tormented] Heb. 11. 37. κακουχούμενοι, malè vexati, malè habiti; laborantes, qui malis premuntur: evilly intreated (many kinde of ways) they which ſuffer adverſity, Heb. 13.3.

Tortured] Heb. 11. 35. ἐτυμπανίσθησαν. Their bodies were racked out as a Drum. The word implyes a torture of that kinde, that their bodies were extended, and rackt as upon a Drum, and then beaten with ſtaves. The Septuagint uſe it in 1 Sam. 29.13. Leighs Annot. Tympanum was an inſtrument like our rack, whereunto the parties were ſtraight tyed, the nerves of their hands and feet ſtretched out, their bodies alſo cruelly beaten, even to death; thus was Eleazer tormented, 2 Mac. 6. 30. Jones.

Touched] Heb. 4.15. Which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities, that is, not able to ſympathize with, or pained with our infirmities. Leighs Annot.

T R.

Tranſlated] Heb. 11. 5. By faith Enoch was tranſlated, or, taken away. The manner how is not determinable by man. Thus Elijah was afterward tranſlated, 2 King. 2. 11. See 1 Cor. 15.51. & 1 Theſ. 4.17. Annot.

Trouble] Heb. 12.15. leſt any root of bitterneſſe trouble you, ἐνοχλῇ. The Greek word doth properly ſignifie to trouble, and hinder a mans reſt; it is uſed only here. Leighs Annot.

True] Heb. 10.22. Let us draw neer with a true heart, that is, with an upright and ſincere heart, without hypocriſie, Pſa. 51.6. and with a conſtant heart, without drawing back, verſ. 38. Luk. 16.11. Luk. 6.32. Hereunto is oppoſed an evill heart of unbelief, chap. 3.12. See Mat. 15.8. Annot. A true heart, He doth not ſay ſinleſſe, but a true heart, without guile, which is abſolutely neceſſary, in worſhip; not ſo abſolutely the full aſſurance of faith, here mentioned, that is, to be ſure of the acceptance of our perſons and ſervice, when we come into the ſervice of God. Leighs Annot.

T U.

Turn away] Heb 12.25. If we turn away from him that ſpeaketh from heaven. If they eſcaped not, who refuſed to hearken to the Law, which God by an Angel, (or by Moſes) delivered to man, here upon earth; how much leſſe ſhall we eſcape, if we deſpiſe the Goſpel, which is delivered unto us from heaven? Hall. As much as Chriſts perſon is more excellent then Moſes, and his authority above his; and the heavenly clearneſſe of Chriſts gracious offer, above his dark types: as much more heavy and certain wrath, ſhall overtake the deſpiſers of his doctrine, (the refuſers, or (as the word importeth) ſhifters off of Chriſt) then the deſpiſers of Moſes Law.

V A.

Vail] The fleſh or body of Chriſt, Heb. 10.20.

2. That hanging or cloth, which divided the holy place of the Temple, from the moſt holy, Heb. 9.3.

Valiant

Valiant] Heb. 11.34. waxed valiant in fight, as Joshua, the Judges, King David, Asa, Jehoshaphat, whose war-like successes are ascribed to faith, not arms. Pareus. Was it not valiantly done of Abraham with the servants of his own house to encounter with five Kings? Was it not valiantly done of little David a young stripling, never acquainted with war, to fight with that huge Giant Goliah, that had been a man of war from his youth up? Jones. Nothing is so terrible or difficult, but a man, who hath Gods Word to be a ground for his faith, may adventure upon it, with assurance of prevailing. If he be called, he may encounter, with the hardest party. Dickson.

V E.

Vengeance] Punishment for sin, Heb. 10. 30. May not the Magistrate revenge? His throne, is Gods Throne; his sword, Gods sword; his vengeance, Gods vengeance. No private man may revenge. The King of Kings saith, Vengeance is mine, and wilt thou wrest Gods sword out of his hand? Wilt thou intrude thy self into Gods Office? Jones.

Vesture] Heb. 1. 12. And as a vesture shalt thou fold them up, and they shall be changed. Or, we may read it thus. As a garment doest thou shake them and they shall passe away: or if we read fold, the words allude unto a tent, which when it is to be removed, is folded up. Annot.

V N.

Unbelief] An utter absence and want of lively faith, Heb. 3. 19. Take heed lest there be in any of you an evill heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God. Heb. 3.12. He shews five degrees of Apostasie.

The 1. is consenting unto sin, being deceived with the temptation of it.

The 2. hardnesse of heart upon many practises of sin.

The 3. the heart being hardened becomes unbelieving, and cals the truth of the Gospel into question.

The 4. by unbelief it becomes evill, having a base conceit of the Gospel.

The 5. this evill heart brings a man to apostasie, and falling from God, which is the extinguishing of the light of the Gospel. This evill heart is a great evill.

1. From the Nature of it. It is an inward evill, seiseth on the most principal part of man, the soul; is an inveterate evill, which we brought with us into the world; and an insensible evill.

2. In the Effects. It indispoſeth us to all good: is the root of other evils, Mat. 15.19. and maketh a man unfit to live or dye. Leighs Annot. Infidelity is the original and fountain of all disobedience. Annot. Our other backslidings and variations from God, how wide and distant so ever, yet may be thought to be but like those of the Compasse, more or lesse according to a lesse or greater interposition of earthly mindednesse, but this is like to that of the Magnet it self, which while it lyeth couched in the Mineral, and united to the Rock, it conformeth to the nature and verticity of the earth, but separate it from thence, and give it free scope to move in the air, and it will desperately forsake its former and more publick instinct, and turn to a quite contrary point. So as long as a man is fastened to the rock Christ, and keepeth but any hold there, he will still be looking lesse or more towards the Author and finisher of his faith, but broken off once from thence, and beginning to be in the open air, and under the Prince of that, he presently turneth aside from the living God, and pointeth to a pole of his own. Gregories Notes. p.163.

Unchangeable Priesthood] Heb.7.24. Or, which passeth not from another. Annot. Such a Priesthood which cannot passe from him to any other, as the Priesthood of Aaron did. Leighs Annot.

Undefiled] Heb.7.26. Christ was undefiled, actively, of all things; passively, of any person. The Priests might keep their bodies from being outwardly defiled, yet they were stained with sin in soul and body too; Christ had no defilement any kinde of way. Jones.

Understand] Heb. 11.3. Through faith we understand, &c. that is, according to the particular circumstances of the creation, though something thereof may be known by the light of reason, 2 Pet.3.5. Rom.1.20. Annot.

Unholy] Heb.10.29. hath counted the bloud of the Covenant--an unholy thing. Gr. Common. Mar.7.2. Act.10.15. They make no more account of the bloud of Christ, then of the bloud of some Malefactor, or of a brute beast. Annot.

Unpossible] Not that which absolutely can never be, but something which cannot be, because it is against Gods decree and counsel, Heb.6.5. & 11.6.

Unprofitable] Heb.13.17. and not with grief, for that is unprofitable for you.

1. In this life; And that two kinde of wayes.

1. Being grieved they cannot discharge their Ministery so well to your edification: they they cannot ſtudy ſo well, preach ſo well, as otherwiſe they might do; and that makes againſt your profit.

2. The Preacher and Paſtour being grieved, muſt needs pour out his grief into the boſome of God Almighty, whoſe workman he is; he cannot but complain unto God of it; and doe ye not think that God will take his cauſe into his hand, look upon the grief of his Steward, and plague the people for it, that are the Authors thereof?

II. In the life to come. Will not Chriſt then ſay unto ſuch as have oppoſed his Miniſters, vexed his ſervants; Depart from me, &c? By grieving them, ye grieve the Spirit, grieve Chriſt. Jones.

Unrighteous] Heb.6.10. God is not unrighteous to forget your work and labour of love, that is, unfaithful or inconſtant, ſo as to forget his promiſes of rewarding. See 2 Theſ. 1. 6. 1 Joh.1.9. It is but fooliſh which Popiſh writers here conclude for the merit of good workes: It is juſt with God ſo to doe, not in regard of mans merits, but of his own promiſe. Annot.

Unskilful] Heb.5.13. Unskilful in the Word of righteouſneſſe, Gr. hath no experience in that righteous Word, or which teacheth the righteouſneſſe both of juſtificiation and ſanctification, Pſal.19.7. Prov.8.6. &c. Annot.

Upholding] Heb.1.3. Upholding all things by the Word of his power. Suſtaining and bearing them up, that they fall not and periſh; continuing their natures and governing them, (Numb.11.14. Deut.1.9.) by his powerful Word, or by his word of power, by his mighty command, and according to his own will and pleaſure, chap.11.3. Annot.

V S.

Uſe] Heb.5.14. Who by reaſon of uſe have their ſenſes exerciſed, &c. or, of an habit, or perfection, marg. or habit attained by hearing, reading, and meditating on the Word; by reaſon whereof their faculties of underſtanding and judgment (for words of ſenſe often import faculties of the underſtanding part, and that both in general, Luk 9. 45. compared with Luk.18.34. Phil.1.9. as alſo in particular, as Gen.42.1. & 2.31. and 11. 7. Pſal. 34.8. 1 Pet.2.3.) chooſe the good, and refuſe that which is evill, 1 Cor.2.13, 15. Annot.

V T.

Uttered] Heb.5.11. hard to be uttered, or, to be expounded, interpreted, to be fitted in the utterance or expreſſion of them to your capacities. Leigh. Annot.

Uttermoſt] Heb.7.25. able to ſave them to the uttermoſt, or evermore, that is, fully, perfectly, or to the end; ſo that no part of our ſalvation, muſt be ſought either in our ſelves, or in any other. The Original word ſignifieth all manner of perfection. Annot.

W A.

Waſhed] Heb.10.22. and our bodies waſhed with pure water, that is, That according to the ſignification of that legal rite, their outward converſation be blameleſſe and holy (for unto a ſprinkled conſcience within men muſt joyn an holy and blameleſſe converſation without) ſin being ſo curbed within, that it raign not in their mortal body; ſo ſoughten againſt within, as it break not forth in ſcandalous workes of darkneſſe in the actions of the body. Dickſon. He alludes to the old rites, in which the Iſraelites being to come to the Tabernacle and Worſhip of God, purged themſelves with many waſhings; or to the Sacrament of Baptiſm, in which there is an external waſhing of the body; but men are purged from all ſin inwardly by the bloud and Spirit of Chriſt. Some ſay he alludes to Numb. 9. 9. the ſprinkling water made of the aſhes of the red Cow, wherewith the people were ſprinkled. Leigh. Annot.

Watch] Heb.13.17. for they watch for your ſouls. They watch not over your goods and bodies, as the Magiſtrate; but over your ſouls, which are more precious; not as the Fowler watcheth for the Bird to catch it, and to call it, but they watch for the preſervation and eternal ſalvation of your ſouls. All Miniſters have Curam animarum. None can be a Miniſter without that charge. Your ſouls are ſubject to many enemies; there be innumerable devils that ſeek to carry away your ſouls: As the Hen watcheth for the Chickens againſt the Kite; ſo doe they for you againſt the Devil. There be ſundry Hereticks that goe about to infect your ſouls with the poyſon of falſe doctrine, Papiſts, Anabaptiſts, Schiſmaticks, Prieſts and Jeſuites, Arians, Neſtorians, &c. The Miniſters watch for you againſt them. There be Sectaries that for ſmall matters would draw you from the Church: there be many dangerous ſins, that are ready to cut the throat of your ſouls, covetouſneſſe, pride, ignorance, &c. They keep a watch over you, and labour to bring you out of thoſe thoſe ſins. Jones. The charge of Church-Rulers, is the heavieſt of all charges, becauſe of Souls. And it is the moſt aſſiduous and painful, ſetting not the body only, but the Spirit on work, becauſe it is a charge of watching. Dickſon.

New and liuing way] Chriſt Jeſus crucified and dead by the merit of his bloud ſhed, quickning all the elect, Heb. 10.20.

Out of the way] Tranſgreſſors or ſinners, Heb. 5.2. He maketh two ſorts of ſinners, Ignorants and Tranſgreſſors. But, though there be difference of ſinners, yet no ſinner that ſeeketh to Chriſt, is ſecluded from his compaſſion. Dickſon.

Wayes] Either Gods works of mercy and juſtice, whereby God comes to us; or his Commandements, whereby we come to him, Heb 3.10.

W E.

Weakneſſe] Heb. 7.18. For the weakneſſe, and unprofitableneſſe thereof, Gal. 4.9. namely, of the Covenant to juſtifie, ſanctifie, and bring unto Salvation, by reaſon of the fleſh, Rom. 8.3. that is, of us men who are not able to fulfil the Law, by reaſon of that corruption which dwels in our fleſh, Act. 15.10. Gal. 3.21. and note, that here St. Paul ſpeaketh of the Old Covenant as underſtood by the Jews, viz. of fulfilling the Law; for otherwiſe the Covenant was a perfect Covenant, for thoſe times, or the nonage of Gods people, though not ſo perfectly revealed, as in the time of the Goſpel. Annot.

Wearyed] Heb. 12. 3. Leſt ye be wearied and faint in your mindes, or, leſt fainting in your mindes ye be wearied, wearied; Rev. 2.3. or remiſſe and ſlack in the Chriſtian race. Annot. If we be not armed againſt contradiction, by certain knowledg of the truth, and faith in Jeſus, we cannot hold out; but upon force, weary under the Croſſe, and be loſt or diſſolved like water, as the word imports. Dickſon.

Weight] Heb. 1.12. Let us lay aſide every weight, that is, all wordly contents, ſo far as they are a burthen to us, and hinder us in our journy to heaven, Mat. 5.29. Secondly, all manner of ſin, and eſpecially pride, and ſelf-ſufficiency, Rom. 10.3. Annot. Every weight, that preſſeth down, that is, all earthly affections, and what ever may hinder us in our ſpiritual courſe. Leighs Annot.

W I.

Will] Heb. 10.10. By the which will we are ſanctified, that is, of the Father, who appointed his Son to take our nature, and therein by death to make ſatisfaction for our ſins. Or, of the Son in his willing obedience unto the Father. Annot.

Wilfully] Heb. 10.26. If we ſin wilfully, ſee chap. 6.4. The Apoſtle doth not ſpeak here of all kinde of wilfull ſin, or falling away, but only of that which our Lord Chriſt calleth blaſphemy againſt the holy Ghoſt, Mat. 12. 3. and which St. John cals a ſin unto death, 1 Joh. 5.16. Annot.

To withdraw] To diſtruſt God in his Word, chap. 10.29.

Within the Vail] In heaven, Heb. 6.19. whereof the holy of holyeſt was a type or ſhadow, chap. 9.24. Annot.

Without the Camp and Gate] To be accounted and reckoned for unpure and wicked men, Heb. 13.2.

Wonders.] See Signes.

Word of the Oath] Heb. 7.28. that is, the propheſie, or promiſe of God by the Pſalmiſt, confirmed by an oath. Annot.

Word of righteouſneſſe] The Goſpel, which teacheth the righteouſneſſe of God, and the way to attain it, Heb. 5.13. which teacheth the righteouſneſſe both of juſtification and ſanctification. Annot.

Work] Heb. 6.10. Your work and labour of love, that is, thoſe duties, which out of love to him, we perform with labour and ſtriving. Leighs Annot.

Good works] Merciful and charitable actions, chap. 10.24.

2. Holy duties of all ſorts, towards God and man, chap. 13.21.

Our own works] Our corrupt nature and the evill fruits of it, chap. 4.10.

Working] Heb. 13.21. Working in you that which is well-pleaſing in his ſight, Gr. making in you, viz. by his holy Spirit, Phil. 2.13. Annot. It is not by any ſtrength of our own, whereby good works are wrought; but even by the power of God working in us gratiouſly. Dickſon.

World to come] Heb. 2.5. The Apoſtle following the Tranſlation of the Septuagint, Iſa. 9.6. cals the Church under the Goſpel, eſpecially after Chriſts Reſurrection and Aſcenſion, when he had entered upon his eternal Prieſthood, the world to come.

1. In relation of the Church before and under the Law.

2. Becauſe of the reſtauration of all things by Chriſt begun already, 2 Cor. 5.17. and ſhall be finiſhed hereafter at the general day of reſurrection, which is called the time of the reſti- reſtitution of all things, Act. 3. 21. Epheſ. 1. 10. Annot.

Heb. 6.5. And the powers of the world to come. The joyes of heaven. Annot.

Condemned the World] Heb. 11.7. that is, by building of which Ark through faith and obedience unto God, he witneſſed againſt the diſobedient and ungodly (1 Pet. 3.20. 2 Pet. 2. 5.) of the old world, to the greater condemnation of their infidelity. Annot.

When he cometh into the world] Heb. 10 5. Joh. 16.28. & 18.37. 1 Tim. 1. 5. underſtand it of his being made fleſh, Joh. 1. 14. or being manifeſted in the fleſh, 1 Tim. 3. 16. Annot.

Worldly Sanctuary] Heb. 9. 1. that is, earthly and corporal, it being here oppoſed to the heavenly and ſpiritual Tabernacle. Annot. Hereby we are taught to think of all the external glory of Levitical ſervice, only as the earthly repreſentation of heavenly things: and under al theſe earthly ſhadows to ſeek into an heavenly ſignification. Dickſon.

Made the worlds] Heb. 1. 2. See Made. There is another world beſides this, Mat. 12.32. or elſe it is ſo called for the variety of times and ages, and ſorts of the creatures, one ſucceeding another. Leighs Annot.

Worſhip] Heb. 1. 6. Let all the Angels of God Worſhip him.

Whence 1. The Father communicateth to Chriſt, as his own Nature and Godhead by Generation; ſo alſo his own glory, by commanding the creatures to adore him.

2. What the creatures adore they acknowledge by adoration to be God; ſo God eſteemeth.

3. And Chriſt is the Angels God, becauſe they muſt adore him. Dickſon.

Heb. 11.21. And worſhipped leaning upon the top of his ſtaffe. Lifting up his body to doe reverence to God, thereby teſtifying his humility, faith, and hope. Leighs Annot. It is not ſaid, that he worſhipped the top of his ſtaff, but upon the top of his ſtaff leaning, for his weakneſſe cauſe, by approaching death: becauſe he would for this foreſeen bleſſing of God upon his poſterity teſtifie by ſigns of worſhip in his weak body, how he eſteemed of that favour. Dickſon.

Worthy] Heb. 11.38. Of whom the world was not worthy. Notwithſtanding they were hated and perſecuted of all, Mat. 24. 9. and accounted the filth and off-ſcouring of the world, 1 Cor. 4.13. Annot. They have that excellency that the world is not worthy to enjoy them, they are not worthy of their preſence, that they ſhould ſo much as live amongſt them; they are rather fit to be ſet as ſtars in heaven, and be before the Lord in his glory. Leighs Annot. One beleever is more worth in Gods eſtimation then all the world beſide, Nor doe any deſpiſe ſuch, but worthleſſe and deſpicable ſouls. Dickſon.

Wrath] Heb. 3.11. So I ſware in my wrath, Though it be here ſaid, he ſware in his wrath, yet it was a juſt and adviſed anger; not cholerick fury as ours is, Jones.

Written in heaven] Choſen of God to eternal life, by Chriſt Jeſus, Heb. 12.23.

Zion] Heb. 12. 22. But ye are come unto Mount Zion, Gal. 4.26. That is, To the Church under the Goſpel, whereof Mount Zion was a type, Pſal. 14. 7. & 50 20. and where the Goſpel was firſt proclaimed without that terrour wherewith the Law was delivered, Iſa. 2. 3. Annot.

A Dictionary for that Myſtical Book, called The REVELATION of St. JOHN.

¶ Of this Book it hath been ſaid, that every word is a Myſtery, and ſurely not without cauſe: for not only is the truth of it hid from the naturall man (as all other Divine truths be, which concern our ſalvation by Chriſt) 1 Cor. 2. but being a Propheticall Book, of things long after to be done, and penned in dark phraſes, borrowed from the old Prophets, the underſtanding of it hath been found hard, even to the godly, and the learned. Whence it is that ſome eſchew the reading of it privately, others decline the publick reading, others forbear to Comment upon it, and ſome have refrained from Preaching out of it. Howbeit, it being a part of holy Scripture, penned by the Spirit, for the comfort and inſtruction of the Church, in theſe laſt and worſt dayes; there being a gracious promiſe of a precious bleſſing, made to the reading and hearing of it; and the event of the Propheſies therein, now for the moſt part fulfilled, (the beſt Commentary of Propheticall writings) giving great light to the true knowledge of things, therefore as their labour is much to be commended, who have by their Sermons and Interpretations (Preached and Printed) indevoured to make clear this obſcure Scripture: ſo let not me be thought to have taken in hand a bold or needleſſe enterpriſe, by adventuring to anatomize and unbowell this whole Book in a ſhort Dictionary, pulling the words in ſunder, and putting them in Alphabeticall order, for help of young Students in Divinity, and vulgar Chriſtians, which will more willingly aſſay to read and ſtudy this Book, when they ſhall have at hand a declaration of all myſticall words familiarly delivered. Howſoever I pleaſe or profit others by my endevour, yet I hope to offend the leſſe, becauſe I tread in the ſteps of our moſt learned and ſoundeſt Expoſitors, whoſe opinions with their reaſons, I do report, leaving it to the Reader to conſider. Farewell.

A B. A C.

Abaddon and Apollyon] One that burneth with a deſire of hurting and deſtroying men; ſuch an one is the Devill principally, and his Vicar Antichriſt, or the Pope. Rev. 9. 11. They have a King over them, whoſe name in Hebrew is Abaddon, and Apollyon.

Abomination] That which deſerveth to be abhorred and held as loathſome, for ſome great ſpiritual filthineſſe. Rev. 21. 8. Abominable, &c.

Abundance of pleaſures] All kinde of earthly delights which the Church of Rome moſt rioteuſly and exceſſively being given unto, did by that means enrich the Merchants of the earth, which ſold ſuch wares. Rev. 18. 3. And the Merchants of the earth have waxed rich of the abundance of her pleaſures; that is, (ſaith Brightman) by the great plenty of all ſorts of delicacies, by immoderate luſt of enjoying them, entiſing men, like Xerxes, to deviſe and invent new kindes of pleaſures. This (upon the matter) is all one with the former ſignification.

A C.

According to their works] As the thoughts, words, and works of men, have been good or evill, ſo they ſhall receive at the hand of the Lord. Rev. 20. 12. And they ſhall be judged according to their works.

Accuſer of the Brethren] Satan, or the Devil, who (ever ſince the fall of our firſt parents, whom he deceived) doth inceſſantly day and night complain of the godly unto God, requiring him by his Juſtice to condemne them all. Rev. 12. 10. The accuſer of our brethren is caſt down.

Aire] That Element wherein we breath, called the Aire, which ſpreading it ſelf over the earth and water, doth compaſſe them in both on every ſide.

2. The dominion and power of Satan, (the Prince that rules in the air) upon the which, and namely upon that part of it which is the Kingdome of Antichriſt, Almighty God towards the end of the world will pour out a moſt grievous vengeance, and alſo an univerſal wrath, which ſhall moſt fearfully ſtrike the whole body of Antichriſt, ſo as he ſhall not have ſo much as the air for him to breath in, otherwiſe then as a creature armed againſt him for his deſtruction. Rev. 16. 17. And the ſeventh Angel poured out his vial into the aire.

A L.

Alas, Alas] A voyce of lamentation, and exceeding great grief of heart is ſignified thereby, in reſpect of greatloſſe unto Merchants by the fall of Rome. Rev.18.16. Saying, Alas alas, the great City, &c.

Almighty] One of infinite power, moſt able to defend his poor Church, and to break down and deſtroy the power of the Dragon, of Antichriſt, of Sin, of Death, even of all our enemies. Rev. 19. 6. The Lord God Almighty hath reigned.

Alpha] Chriſt that moſt mighty and eternall Son of God, who gave beginning to all things (for all things are of him) and at his pleaſure can put an end to all things. Rev.22.13. I am Alpha and Omega, the firſt and laſt, the beginning and the end. Alpha, one of the firſt Greek letters; and Omega, one of the laſt, be here expounded to be that firſt and laſt, beginning and end; that one eternall and Almighty God, which never changeth his minde, and is able to perform what he promiſeth. Such an one is Chriſt, therefore worthy to be beleeved when he ſpeaks of things paſt, or to come. See ch. 1.8.

Altar, golden Altar] Chriſt his Prieſthood and Mediation, which was ſhadowed under the figures of the Law, whereunto this Scripture alludeth. Therefore here is no ground for Popiſh Prieſthood, Sacrifice, and Altar; for the which, ſeeing there is no Scripture at all neither is there any alluſion in Scripture to ſuch things, as the Rhemiſts fooliſhly dream upon this place, Re.8.3. Another Angel ſtood before the altar, and upon the golden Altar. Other Divines underſtand by the Altar, and golden Altar, the ſelected company of Saints, or the company of moſt holy men. The former is the more received ſignification.

A M.

Amen] The conſtant truth, even Chriſt faithfully fulfilling his promiſes, which are all yea and Amen. Rev. 3.14. Theſe things ſaith Amen.

2. So be it, or, let it be ſo. Rev. 22. 21. Amen.

A N.

Angel] A created Spirit, or ſpirituall ſubſtance, which is called a man, becauſe it aſſumed and took the ſhape of a Man. Rev. 21. 17. By the meaſure of man; that is, of the Angell. This ſame is underſtood of the Miniſters of the Goſpel, which do nothing in their ſervice after their owne pleaſure, but (as Angels of God) in all things do reſpect the will of God.

4. The Miniſter of the Word, which is Gods Meſſenger, ſent to declare his Will to ſome Church, over which he is ſet by the holy Ghoſt. Rev. 2.1. Unto the Angell of the Church of Epheſus, write.

3. The Lord Jeſus Chriſt, our King and Saviour, who maketh interceſſion for the Saints, with God the Father, offering up their Prayers (as the Calves and Sacrifices of their lips) Rev. 8. 3. Then another Angell came. By the mediation of this Angel, the Church is kept ſafe amidſt great dangers, and receiveth many heavenly gifts. Some by this other Angel, underſtand a certain man, after the uſe of Scripture; to wit, Conſtantine the Great. Others take the word properly for a created Spirit: the firſt is the moſt received expoſition.

An Angel ſtanding in the Sun] An heavenly Spirit, Miniſter, and Proclaimer, even in the Sun; that is, openly, and in the ſight of all; (as Proclamations are wont to be made by one ſtanding in ſome high place, where he may be heard) of a glorious conqueſt and victory, which Chriſt and his Church ſhould have and get over the Beaſt, and the falſe Prophet, his ſtrong enemies. Rev.19.17. And I ſaw an Angel ſtand in the Sun. Yet ſome Divines interpret this of ſome particular man, which ſhould be a member of ſome particular Church, brightly ſhining above other Churches, in purity of heavenly doctrine, and light of the holy truth. By compariſon with Rev. 12.1. this rare Man ſhould ariſe out of the Weſtern Church, to call Chriſtians of the Weſt unto battel, or rather to take the ſpoyl of the Beaſt and the falſe Prophet, being ſubdued in war. The former expoſition is of Interpreters more commonly received, yet both may ſtand together; for Chriſt the author and giver of the victory over the Antichriſtian Army, and his inſtrument whoſoever, are not contrary.

Four Angels] Four unclean ſpirits, or devils of hell, as appears by this, that the plagues which theſe four Angels muſt execute, are ſpirituall, tending to the deſtruction of ſouls, ſuch as Devils do execute. Rev. 7. 1. I ſaw four Angels ſtand upon the four corners of the earth. Theſe foure Angels were four wicked ſpirits. 1 Of Contention. 2 Of Ambition. 3 Of Hereſie. 4 Of War. Alſo ch. 9.14. by four Angels is meant the four chief heads or authors of the Turkiſh government, ruled by Devils.

Seven

Seven Angels] So many created spirits, as Servants and Ministers of God, being always in readineſſe (which is meant by standing before God) to execute his heavy judgements upon the wicked, namely Antichriſt and his members. Revel. 8. 3. I saw seven Angels which stood before God. These Angels whether good or bad it appears not by the Text.

Another Angel] Christ Jesus, who is another, differing from the common Angels, not onely in Number, but in Eſſence, Office, and Operation, exceeding all Angels, being an eternall Angel or Word of God, Mediator of the covenant. Rev. 7. 2. I saw another Angel come up from the East. So is another Angel taken, ch. 8. 3. & 10. 1. But others do underſtand that other Angel, ch. 7. 1. of Conſtantine the Great, who came out of the East parts, and ſucceeded Diocletian in the Empire. Howbeit, ſithence it is Christ alone, who hath the ſeal to ſet upon all the elect; therefore the former ſignification is to be received in mine opinion.

2. A created ſpirit, throughly furniſhed with power, and with light of glory (as enſigne of power) deputed and appointed to this ſervice of ruinating Babylon. Rev. 18. 6. I saw another Angel. This is to be noted through this book, that the Angels, both holy and unclean ſpirits, according to the Nature of the work to be done, are the adminiſters and executioners of Gods decree and counſel, both for ſafety of his true flock, and for the overthrow of the falſe Antichriſtian Church and Turkiſh conventicles aſſembled againſt Christ.

3. The Miniſters of the truth, which lived in the ſucceeding age; whereof John Huſſe and Hierome of Prague were chief, mightily ſtriving againſt the Primacy of the Pope. Rev. 14. 8. And there followed another Angel.

Another Beaſt] The Eccleſiaſticall Dominion and Kingdome at Rome, exerciſed with tyrannous and beaſtly fury and fierceneſſe. It ſucceeded the politick power of the Emperors, being now to be found reſident in the corporation of the Pope and his falſe Prophets, and forgers of falſe doctrine. This dominion and power Eccleſiaſticall though it be the ſame with the former Politick power of Emperours, in nature and conſtitution both being bloody and beaſtly, yet it is called another beaſt, becauſe this power had another Originall and beginning. For the former Beaſt with ſeven heads came out of the ſea: this other beaſt came up out of the earth; that is, his authority was encreaſed and raiſed up even above Laymen, not exempting the Emperour himſelf, which became underling and Vaſſal to the Pope, having before great authority over the Clergy alone. This hapned in the time of Gregory the ſecond. Hence it is, that the Monarchy and Dominion of the Pope, was both the ſeventh head of the former Beaſt, deſcribed in the beginning of the 13. chap. And alſo a Beaſt of himſelf, even in reſpect of the double power, which this ſecond Beaſt did challenge; that is, the higheſt power Civill over all Emperors and Kings: alſo, the higheſt power ſpirituall over the Faith, over the conſciences and ſouls of men. Rev. 13. 11. And I beheld another Beaſt coming up out of the earth, &c. It is uſual in Scripture, by Beaſt, to underſtand Kingdomes and Dominions ruled in a beaſtly faſhion. As in Daniel often, and in the Revelation.

A P.

Apples deſired, or luſted] The fruits deſired and luſted after, by a Synecdoche of the part for the whole. When it is ſaid here theſe are departed, it ſignifieth, either that their deſired and longed for harveſt of all ripe and delicate fruits was periſhed, ſo as they had not their wonted ability; or elſe their wonted luſt after ſuch fruits (about which they ſpare no coſt to procure them) was now extinct and quenched, which cauſeth the friends of Rome to mourn. Rev. 18. 14. And the apples which thy ſoul luſteth after, are departed from thee.

A R.

Armageddon] The Mountain of Megiddo, where Joſiah was ſlain, 2 Chron. 35. 22. as ſome think, or the deſtruction of an Army, as others think; or as others think, a cutting down ſubtilty; or the Towne Megiddo, mentioned Judg. 5. 19. where Debora and Baruch with a ſmall number overthrew Siſera. Certain it is, that by this name is ſignified the place of that unrecoverable deſtruction, given to ſuch wicked Kings and their forces aſſembled in battle, for that great Whore of Rome, againſt the Lord and his people, which affords a ſpecial comfort to Gods Church. Rev. 16. 16. And they gathered them together into a place, called in Hebrew, Armageddon.

A S.

To aſcend into heaven] After much labour taken in preaching the Goſpel, and many reproaches ſuffered for it, to be raiſed up to ſo great dignity and honor here in the Church (which is called Heaven in this Book of Revelation) and after this life ended, to be made partakers of heavenly glory. This is the portion and comfort of all the faithfull witneſſes of Chriſt, as experience of all times doth prove. It was fulfilled to Luther, Calvin, Melanchthon, Peter Martyr, Bucer, and many others. Rev. 11.12. And they ſhall aſcend up to heaven in a cloud.

A T.

Athirſt] One who feeling a great want of waters of life, (the graces of the Spirit) doth highly value them, and earneſtly covet and ſeek after them, never giving over till he be ſatisfied. Rev. 22. 17. Let every one that is athirſt come. Rev.21.6.

A V.

To avenge] To recompenſe unto the wicked after their merits, puniſhing juſtly the cruel injuries done by them to the Saints, for the Name of Chriſt. Rev.19.2. And to avenge the blood of his ſervants.

B A.

Babylon] The City of Rome, and the Romane power, exerciſed there by the Pope and his Clergy. For Rome the Weſtern Myſticall Babylon, was to the Chriſtians in reſpect of tyranny and cruell perſecution, what the Eaſtern Babylon was unto the Jews; being alſo like to that Babylon in Aſſyria, for idolatry, ſuperſtition, and worſhip of devils; as it muſt at laſt be like it for fearfull events, in a grievous ruine and downfall; and for this likeneſſe ſake, Popiſh Rome bears the name of Babylon. Rev. 14. 8. Babylon that great City is fallen; alſo ch. 17. 5, 9, 18. Where it is plain to him that will underſtand, that by Babylon is meant Rome; this being the onely City in the world, which in St. John's time was ſeated on ſeven hils, and which raigned over the Kings of the earth, and by a ſtrong hand, or cunning enticements, compelled Kings and Nations to admit her Idolatries and Hereſies, which is to commit fornication with her, as it is ſaid in ch. 17. verſ. 2.

Balaams doctrine] The doctrine taught by the Nicolaitans, touching the lawfulneſſe of Fornication, and of eating things offered to Idols, which doctrine to make it more odious, is here called the doctrine of Balaam, who gave counſell to Balak, to entice the Iſraelites to Fornication, ſo as afterwards they might more freely commit Idolatry. Rev. 2.14. Thou haſt them which maintain the doctrine of Balaam. Other Divines do diſtinguiſh between the doctrine of the Nicolaitans, which was touching bodily fornication, in the promiſcuous uſe of women; and the doctrine of Balaam, which beſide the defiling of the body, tended to the polluting of the minde by Idolatry. And thus it ſeemeth to me, the holy Ghoſt doth diſtinguiſh them in this Epiſtle to the Church at Pergamus, ſpeaking of them ſeverally; of the one, verſ. 14. of the other, verſ. 15. The Church of Epheſus was troubled with the error of the Nicolaitans, ch. 2.6. This Church of Pergamus, with the doctrine of Balaam that curſed Charmer.

Ballance] The tongue, beam, ſtalk, or handle of the Ballance, and by Synecdoche of the part, the whole Ballance: an inſtrument apt for weighing of victuals, as it is uſed to be done in time of great famine and dearth, repreſented here by the black Horſe, and the Ruler, with Ballances in his hand. Rev. 6. 5. He that ſate on him had ballances in his hand.

Battle in heaven] That great ſtriſe and combate, either which Chriſt in his owne perſon fought with the great Dragon the Devil, when Jeſus ſpoyled him, and triumphed over him on the Croſſe, Col. 2. 15. whereof the Pſalmiſt propheſied, Pſal. 68. 18. Or that which is in the militant Church fought continually between the godly and ungodly, elect and reprobate, under the conduct of thoſe two great Captains, Chriſt and the Dragon. Or finally, that war which Conſtantine the Great, as Chriſts champion, armed with his virtue, did make fiſt upon Maxentius, the wicked Emperor, and after upon two other Tyrants, perſecutors of the Chriſtian Church, Maximius and Licinius. And ſome Divines will have this battle in Heaven, to be that moſt dangerous endevor and attempt of Satan, when he firſt (in the very ſpring of the Church) labored to deſtroy the eternall ſalvation thereof, being founded in Chriſt. Rev. 12.7. And there was a battle (the laſt Tranſlation ſaith war) in heaven. Let the learned judge of theſe ſeveral ſignifications: whereof the two firſt (in mine opinion) cannot be meant, becauſe this part of the revelation is of things to come, and of particular events.

B E.

A Beast coming out of the bottomlesse pit] Antichristian Kingdome and power, which in the spirituall combate shall be inferiour to the witnesses or servants of Christ, but not so in the bodily and carnal war, wherein Antichrist shall prevail. He is said to come out of the bottomlesse pit, not to signifie (as some think) that the great Antichrist should be a devil, but because the beastly power of Antichrist should be given him of the devil; as chap. 13. 2. and exercised for the Devil, to establish his Kingdome of darknesse, by fighting against the true doctrine of Religion (with the faithfull followers of it) for the upholding of heresie and idolatry. Rev. 11. 7. And the beast that came out of the bottomlesse pit, shall war against them, and kill them. In ch. 9. 11. he is there called the Angel of the bottomlesse pit.

A Beast rising out of the Sea] The Romane Empire, or Civil Monarchy of Rome, which should be a main instrument of the Dragon, to make war against the Church. This Empire is likened unto a Beast, because it should in a furious brutish manner persecute Gods people. It is said to come up out of the Sea, to signifie, that at first it did arise out of the contentions and divisions of other Nations (which are as a raging Sea) and that the rule and Kingdome of the Emperours, should be turbulent, tempestuous, various, and unconstant. Of this Empire, the estate, acts, effects, and use, for instruction of the godly, are described in chap. 13. 10 where beginneth the History of another Beast, the Ecclesiasticall and Propheticall body, or corruption; to wit, the Pope of Rome, and his Clergy. Others expound this Beast of that Antichrist, and apply to him the things here spoken: but the former is plainest and soundest; for having in ch. 12. described the arch-enemy to the Christian Church, to wit, the Devil, good order required the two principal instruments, to wit, the Civill and Ecclesiasticall estate of Rome, should be opened, which is done in this 13. chap. Rev. 13. 1. And I saw a Beast arise out of the Sea, having seuen heads, and ten horns.

Foure Beasts] The Angels of God, those heavenly spirits, the chief and principall Ministers of Gods power, alwayes attending about the Throne of God, being most vigilant servants, full ready with all expedition, to serve God in the government of the world, and of all creatures; which are here expressed by foure most noble Creatures amongst others; to wit, a Lyon, Calf, Man, Eagle; to shew, that over those, and all other creatures (even to the least) God ruleth by the ministery of his Angels. Or else, as some will have it, the Lyon resembleth the noble courage of Angelicall spirits; a Calf, their strength; an Oxe being the strongest of beasts, as a Lyon is most couragious; a Man representeth their wisdome and great understanding, wherein Man excelleth all inferiour creatures; and an Eagle, which soareth aloft, signifieth their knowledge of high and great secrets. Howbeit, some there be, which think these foure beasts to be all such servants of God, as have employed their labour faithfully in delivering unto the Church the truth of Doctrine, and in administring other holy things. The first signification is most commonly embraced. Revel. 4. 7. Round about the throne were foure beasts full of eyes before and behinde; the first beast was like a Lyon. They do erre, which apply these four Beasts to the four Evangelists.

That Beast] All the Heathen Emperors of Rome, with all them that joyned with them in the persecution and murder of Gods servants. Rev. 20. 10. Where that Beast and that false Prophet are.

Here note, that false Prophet being distinguished from the Beast, signifies the Pope with his Clergy. All these shall suffer eternall pain, together with the Turk, for corrupting the Word with lies, errors, superstitions, and destroying the Saints.

Wed] Not for pleasure and delicacy, but affliction and calamity, as punishment of adulterous doctrine, Rev. 2. 22.

Beginning] Christ the eternall Son of God (in respect of his eternity) who himself is before all things created, and of whom all things which be made had their beginning, and without whose sustaining virtue, they all should quickly come to nothing. See Joh. 1. 1, 2. also Col. 1. 15, 16. Therefore such as covet to be blessed, must resolve to cleave to him out of whom there is nothing save corruption and destruction. Rev. 1. 8. I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end.

2. Christ, in respect (not so much of eternity, as) of his preheminence and principality, which he holdeth over all things, even as Mediator, God and man, having all things subject unto him. See Ephes. 1. 22. And hath made all things subject unto him, &c. Therefore all creatures, reasonable and unreasonable, owe to him that whole entire obedience, as Phil. 2. 10. That in the name of Jesus every knee shall bow. Rev. 3. 14. That beginning of the creation of God.

Be with you all] The continual presence of all spiritual blessings, even unto the salvation of the Church, and every member of it. Revel. 22. 20. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all.

Bitter belly] The indignation and grief of godly Ministers, to see the doctrine of the Word despised, and errors preferred. Also the molestations which they are put to suffer for the publishing of it. Rev. 10. 9. It shall make thy belly bitter.

B L.

Black horse] Famine, dearth, which is full of sorrow, therefore resembled by a black colour, which is a sad and doleful colour, and well agreeth unto persons famished, whose bodies lacking juice and blood, are discoloured, and become blackish, Lam. 4. 7. Rev. 6. 5. Loe, a black horse.

To blaspheme] To utter reproachful and railing words against God, as the Papists do sundry wayes:

1. They ascribe the plagues wherewith God plagueth them, to his injustice, not to their owne iniquities.

2. They rail upon the holy Gospel, and charge it to be the cause of all evils in the world.

3. It is an usuall thing with Italians and Spaniards (the Popes creatures) in their rage and fury to utter blasphemous speeches against God. Rev. 16. 9. They boyled in great heat, and blasphemed the Name of God. Again, Vers. 11.

Names of blaspheme] Infinite blasphemies, and most plentiful reproaches, which in progresse of time the Antichristian Kingdome did abound in, being full of all kinde of impieties and injustices in the Pope their head, and in the whole body: in their Orders, Decrees, Doctrines, Worship, and Manners, nothing amongst them free from blasphemy. Rome now (especially since the Councel of Trent) being an heap of most execrable blasphemies, having many names, whereas at the first it had but a name of Blasphemy born in the head only. Rev. 17. 3. Full of names of blasphemy. Who so considereth with how many horrible errours (saith one) the three great Volumes of Bellarmine be stuffed, will say, There is not one leaf but is spotted with blasphemy.

To be blessed] To be endowed in this life with spirituall and heavenly blessings, and after a short life led in the favour of God, stored with graces and comforts of the Spirit, to be at last lifted up into blisse and glory in the Kingdome of God, first in soul, afterward in body. This is the fruit which is promised them, who in all ages since Christ, read and keep, know and doe, the words of this Revelation. See chap. 1. 3. Blessed is he that readeth, and they which hear the words of this Prophesie. (Also chap. 19. 9. & 22. 19.) Away then with that dotage of the Jesuites, who strain this prophesie, and the fruit of it, unto the three yeers next before the coming of Christ to judgement.

To be blessed fully, or to be henceforth blessed] To be perfectly happy, when the souls of the faithful after Martyrdome constantly suffered, shall enter into that celestial glory, which they had long looked for, and greatly longed after. Rev. 14. 13. The dead which die in the Lord are fully blessed. If it be translated [are blessed from henceforth] that is, presently, or forthwith; the Gr. word [ἀπάρτι] will bear it well, and the truth also. What then becomes of Popish Purgatory, wherein Souls departed are sore tormented with infernall pains (if we beleeve them) and do not rest from their labours?

Blood] Cruel slaughter and death, which should happen by the plague of war upon the Antichristian Armies or Souldiers which fight for the Pope, as a just and meet recompence of that cruel slaughtering and shedding the blood of Gods children. Rev. 16. 4. The rivers and fountains of water became blood. These Rivers and Fountains some expound of the Jesuites; whence other Papists draw instructions (as the Sea is nourished by fountains and rivers:) the turning of these into blood, is the putting of those to death, which were chief Masters in Popery; which was done in this our Kingdome and Dominion, 1581. when an Act was made to make their coming into the Realm (to dissuade Subjects from their Allegiance) to be Treason.

Blood of a dead man] The cruell wars which God would send upon the Popish Kingdomes, which should be as a Sea of blood, wherein men should dye by the sword as the fishes dyed in Ægypt, when the waters were turned into blood. Rev. 16. 3. The Sea became as the blood of a dead man.

Blood of the Lambe] The Sacrifice of Christ his death, together with his perfect justice and holinesse imputed: Rev. 7. 14. They washed their robes in the blood of the Lamb; Rev. 12. 11. The Saints overcame the Dragon and his Army, not by their constancy to death, but by their faith in the blood and death of the Lamb Christ Jesus, 1 Joh. 5. 1, 5.

To drink blood] To take in blood as men take in other drink, as Cyrus did by the compulsion of Tomyris.

a To have their own blood abundantly shed, till they swim in it, and to drink (as it were) their owne blood. A fit punishment for Papish and all other cruel persecutors, that they should one slaughter another, till they be bathed in their own bloods: as it hapned to the Midianites in the Judges; and to Papists also as Stories witnesse. Rev. 16. 6. Thou hast given them blood to drink. This phrase seemeth to be fetched from Ezek. 16. 38. I will give thee the blood of wrath; that is, I wil cause thee to be cruelly slain, as they which are killed in fury and wrath.

To shed the blood of the Saints] To exercise cruelty upon the Saints and Prophets of God, even to death; yea, and to torment also, many times by the Antichristian, Popish, or other Tyrants, to satisfie their owne fierce and bloody disposition, and malice, conceived against them for Christ and his Gospels sake. Rev. 16. 6. For they shed the blood of the Saints and the Prophets. Rev. 6. 10.

To blow] To breath or inspire the heart with graces, as the holy Spirit useth to do by the Ministery of the Word, which is here threatned to be for a time removed and hindered. Rev. 7. 1. That the winds should not blow.

B O.

Book] This Propheſie or Book of Revelation (as appeareth by opening the seals of this Book here shewed John in a Vision) containing the decrees, counsels, and will of God the Father, touching the government of the world, namely, of his Church, till Christ come. Whereas these counsels are written in a Book, it signifieth the certainty of them, that they are surely determined. And whereas the Book was written within and without, (after the fashion of writing in Parchments, usuall in those times) it signifieth the largeness of this Prophetie, that there be many things to be revealed. And whereas it is sealed with seven seals, it signifies these decrees onely to be known to God, until he was pleased to manifest them: and whereas no creature was able to open the Book, or to look on it, this signifies both the difficulty and dignity of these secrets, that they must be with great honour reverenced. Rev. 5. 1. I saw a Book written, &c.

To eat this Book] To hide the knowledge of it in the heart, and to digest it by godly meditation. Rev. 10. 9. Take it, and eat it up. The effect of this Book should be sweetnesse (like the sweetnesse of honey) in the mouth, but bitternesse in the belly. To know and beleeve it, brings exceeding delight to the Christian minde; but the earnest desire to vent and publish it to others, the heavynesse and sorrow for the contemning of it, shall be as gall to Gods Servants. In this phrase there is allusion to that in Ezek. 3. 3. Jer. 15. 16. Job 32.

Book of life] Gods immutable and eternall Decree, wherein (as in a Book) the names of the Elect are written (as Souldiers names use to be written in a Muster-book.) Upon this most firm and mercifull decree of salvation to eternal life by Christ, doth depend the election of the godly, who otherwise are not without many blots, and very foul ones too, in their Consciences, which yet are wiped out by the blood of Christ, according to Gods everlasting love and purpose. Rev. 21. 27. Written in the Lambs book of life. Also Rev. 22. 19.

Little Book] The Scripture, containing the doctrines of grace, by the powerful preaching whereof, in the latter end of the world, Antichrist is to be overthrown, as hath been begun to be fulfilled through the publishing of the divine truth written in that Book, by Luther, Wicliffe, and others. Revel. 10. 8. Go and take the little Book. So Vers. 9, 10. Some expound the taking of this little Book to be the restoring of Propheſie, or preaching the truth unto the Church, which is all one with the former.

Books opened] Mens consciences, or records and testimonies of every mans conscience, being unfolded and manifested through the mighty power of God, wherein (as in books) are written all mens thoughts, words and works. Rev. 20. 12. And the books were opened.

Bottomlesse pit] Hell, where the devils be tormented, and whence cometh all tyrannicall and wicked beastly savage both power and practises of the cruel enemies of the Church. Hell, for the largeness of the place and deepnesse of the pain suffered there, is called [Bottomlesse;] and a [Pit] because it is below, in the nethermost parts of the world, a darkish uncomfortable place, like a pit or dungeon. Rev.

11. 7.

11. 7. The beaſt that cometh out of the bottomleſſe pit.

2. The company of reprobates and earthly minded men, among whom Satan reigneth as King. Rev. 20. 3. And caſt him into the bottomleſſe pit. Comparing this place with chap. 12. 13. it is plain that Bottomleſſe pit ſignifies the earth, that is, earthly minded men, which are but Chriſtians in ſhew onely, and name; for unto ſuch Satan is ſent.

Bought from the earth] The elect of God the Father, redeemed by Chriſt, ſealed up to the day of Redemption by the holy Spirit, by whoſe effectuall ſanctification they have eſcaped the fellowſhip of the falſe Church, ſignified by earth, as it were brands pulled out of the fire, and are made members of the true Church, even God his ſincere Worſhippers. Theſe alone can praiſe the Lamb with joyfull hearts. Rev. 14. 3. Forty four thouſand which were bought (redeemed) from the earth.

Bow] The tongues of Gods Miniſters, out of which wholſome words (as ſharp arrows) are ſent to pierce even the hearts of men. Rev. 6. 2. Had a Bow.

To burn in great heat] To feel great diſtemper, and torment in the body (upon the extreme heat of the Sun) ſcorching and drying the fruits of the earth, and all green things, whereof commonly follows grievous diſeaſes, as burning Peſtilences, hot Agues, with other noyſome pains, which cauſe Idolaters (though not openly and directly, yet obliquely and ſecretly) to blaſpheme God. Even as Herodotus reporteth of the people Athlantici, that they uſe to ban and curſe the Sun, becauſe it broyls them with the too much and immoderate heat thereof. Rev. 16. 9. And men boyled (were ſcorched) in great heat, and blaſphemed God.

B R.

Bright morning ſtar] Chriſt Jeſus, who to us (being covered with the night of ſpirituall darkneſſe) is the beginning of all light, both of holineſſe and happineſſe (even as the Morning ſtar is to the day) and at length, all darkneſſe both of ſin and miſery being utterly diſperſed, he ſhall bring us to the full brightneſſe of heavenly glory, where there ſhall be no night, but a perpetuall and moſt clear light of bleſſedneſſe. Rev. 22. 16. I am that bright Morning-ſtar. in the ſame ſenſe, he is called, John 1. The light of the world; and by the Prophet, the Sun of righteouſneſſe. See Rev. 2. 28.

Brimſtone] The extreme cruelty of the bloody enemies of Chriſt and his Church, in terrible manner deſtroying mens bodies with death, and their ſouls with falſe religion. Rev. 9. 17. And of brimſtone. Alſo verſ. 18.

2. The ſharp bitterneſſe of hell pains. Rev. 21. 8. With fire and brimſtone.

To bring forth] To beget children ſpiritually unto God, as the Church doth by the Miniſtery of the Goſpel, through the power of the Spirit. Rev. 12. 4. To devour her childe, when ſhe had brought it forth.

B U.

Burden] Affliction and tribulation, by exile, impriſonment, &c. for the Goſpel. Rev. 2. 3. Thou waſt burdened (haſt born) and hadſt patience.

2. Propheſie of calamity. Rev. 2. 24. I will put upon you no other burden; that is, I will ſpeak to you no worſe thing, but onely to require what to do; no calamity will I propheſie or denounce againſt you, as againſt other Churches. In this phraſe there is alluſion and reſpect unto the form of ſpeech, uſed by the old Prophets, who uſed to call the Prophetical predictions of publick calamities by the name of burden; as the burden of Babel, the burthen of Moab, of Ægypt, &c. Iſa. 13. 6. & 15. 1. & 19. 1.

To buy and ſell] To exerciſe Arts belonging to the ſuſtentation of this life, or to have traffick and entercourſe of Merchandiſe with men; which was denyed to all, ſave ſuch as were ſubject to the Romane Popiſh powers. Rev. 13. 17. That no man may buy and ſell, &c. whereof we read in their Decrees, that no man might have to do with him to whom the Pope was enemy.

To buy ware] To entertain the doctrine and ſuperſtition of Rome, and all means which ſerved outwardly and pompouſly to deck the Church of Rome, and to ſet forth her Idolatry, all theſe ſhall wax vile, no man ſhal give any more price for them, after the full fall of the Romiſh City, and Impiety. Rev. 18 11. For no man buyeth their ware any more.

C A.

Cage of unclean Birds] Not a place commonly called a Cage, wherein Birds are ſo kept, as they cannot fly out; but ſome hollow, vaſt, ruinous place, wherein ravenous and il-favoured Birds, as Vultures, Owles, Kites, Ravens, &c. uſe to neſtle and abide.

2. A ſeat of fierce, cruel, ſavage, and unclean men, which live by ſpoyl and violence; of which kind of men, Rome the Weſtern Babel is as full as Eaſtern Babel was of ugly horrible Birds, when it was deſolated; whereof we read in the Prophets, Iſa. 13. Jer. 51. Unto which places John alludeth, Rev. 18. 2. Babylon is a cage of every unclean and hateſull bird.

Calfe] Strength, becauſe among beaſts, Calves and Oxen be ſtrong; and becauſe the Oxe is profitable, therefore ſome Divines think, that under this one kind by a Synecdoche are meant, all beaſts which are for uſe and profit. Rev. 4. 7. The ſecond beaſt like a Calfe.

Carkaſſes, or Corps] The dead bodies of the Saints, but eſpecially of the Prophets of God, expoſed and laid forth to opprobry and the ſcorn of the world by the followers of Antichriſt. Rev. 11. 8. And the carkaſſes (dead bodies) ſhall be in the ſtreets of the great City. Verſ. 9. And they ſhall not ſuffer their carkaſſes (dead bodies) to be buryed. Hereby is expreſſed the great cruelty of the Papiſts, not content to kill the ſervants of God, and that with torment, but diſhonor their dead bodies, by caſting them in the ſtreets, and denying buryall to them. Alſo by a proportion, theſe carkaſſes may be expounded of the holy Scriptures; whereof the Papiſts have but (as it were) the bare and naked corps, having by their gloſſes and interpretations, of the (ſo falſly called) Apoſtolique Sea, corrupted the ſenſe and true meaning of them, which is the life and ſoul of the Scriptures, which conſiſteth in ſenſe, not onely in Letters and Syllables.

Carryed away of the flood] To be overcome and maſtered with grievous perſecution, as a houſe drowned and carryed away with a violent flood. Rev. 12. 15. That he might cauſe her to be carryed away of the flood.

To be carryed by the Spirit] To be raviſhed after a divine extraordinary ſort, as the Prophets were when viſions were ſhewed unto them. Thus was John raviſhed here, when he muſt ſee the viſion of the great Whore. Rev. 17. 3. So he carryed me away in the Spirit.

To be carryed into the wilderneſſe] Either the place where John muſt ſee this Viſion, to be ſolitary, as apteſt for contemplation; or that this great Whore was ſeated in the viſible Church, being now laid waſte and deſolate as a Wilderneſſe; or elſe that the manifeſtation and knowledge of this Whore and her Dominion, muſt be fetched from men living in ſome obſcure place (as it were in a Deſert) from whence there was no ſuch matter to be looked for, Rev. 17. 3. He carryed me away into the Wilderneſſe.

To be caſt into the earth] To be thrown out of the bounds of the true and holy Church, to exerciſe his rage amongſt the reprobates, both Heathen and all others ſeeming godly, yet ſtrangers from true godlineſſe. Rev. 12. 9. He was even caſt into the earth.

To be caſt into the lake of fire, &c.] To be tumbled and thrown down into hell, which is here called a lake of fire, and bottomleſſe pit, to ſignifie the horror and ſharpneſſe of infernal pain. Rev. 20. 14. Death and hell were caſt into the lake of fire, &c.

To caſt out] To be refuſed as profane. Rev. 11. 2. The Court which is without the Temple, caſt out (or leave out) and meaſure it not.

To caſt out water] To inflame the Nations, and put them into raging tumults againſt the Church of Chriſt. Thus Satan did, when he ſtirred up many people to perſecute the Chriſtian Church, even in her infancy and Cradle. Rev. 12. 15. The Serpent caſt a water out of his mouth after the Woman. Some, by theſe Waters underſtand, great ſtore of Hereſies, Lies, Slanders, Reproaches, wherewith the Serpent ſought to drown the poor Church.

C H.

Great chain] The doctrine of the Goſpel, and namely, that part of it which concerns Chriſtian liberty, whereby (as it were by a chain and faſt bond) Chriſt kept Satan faſt bound for a long time. Rev. 20. 1. And a great chain in his hand.

Chalcedone] A rich, precious, pure, and glorious ſtone and Pearl, repreſenting the ſpirituall purity of the holy Church on earth, and the celeſtial glory of the triumphant Church in heaven. So much is meant alſo by the Jaſper, Chryſolite, &c. Rev. 21. 19, 20.

Childe

Childe, or Manchilde] Either Christ alone, or joyned to the Church his body, to which he communicateth his owne power; according to his promise, Revel. 2.27. & 12. 5. She bringeth forth a manchilde.

Chrystall] A most cleer Glasse, through which our eye-sight may run to espy every the least spot.

2. Either the whole world, through which Gods sight pierceth, seeing every thing more cleerly then we see a spot in Chrystal; or, as some Divines think, the most holy and pure doctrine of the Gospel, in which, as in a Chrystal Glasse or Mirror, we see the glory of God with open face, and not darkly, as the Jews did before under shadows of the Law. Rev. 4. 6. And before the throne was a Sea of glasse like to Chrystall.

Clear as Chrystall] The water here spoken of, not to be foul and troubled, like muddy water, and puddle of mans inventions, but most pure, and of excellent cleernesse, Rev. 22. 1.

Church] A company of men called out of the world by the voyce of Christ, to know and worship one true God, according to his Word. Rev. 1. 20. Seven Starr, are the Angels of the seven Churches.

Church of Ephesus, Pergamus, &c.] That particular company gathered at Ephesus, Pergamus, &c. unto the Faith and Religion of Christ. Rev. 2. 1. Unto the Angel of the Church of Ephesus.

C I.

City beloved] The holy Church, here Militant upon earth, which because it is loved of God, through Christ, therefore neither the Turk from the East, nor Antichrist from the West, shall utterly destroy it, howsoever they fiercely assault it. Revel. 20. 9. And they compassed the tents of the Saints about, and the beloved City. Some Divines understand this, not of the whole Church, but by an excellency, of the company of beleeving Jews, which toward the end of the world shal be gathered and joyned unto the Church of beleeving Gentiles.

The great City] Not any one Town environed with walls, the people whereof are linked together by bonds of the same Laws, but the intire and full jurisdiction of some one Town (as namely of Rome the seat and place of Antichrist) together with the whole company of them that are subject to the proud power of Antichrist. Rev. 16. 19. And the great City was divided into three parts.

Holy City] Jerusalem, which is above, or the celestial Church, whereof Jerusalem that holy City in earth was a figure. Rev. 22. 19. He shall have no part in the holy City.

2. The Church of Christ here on earth, consisting of holy members, sanctified by the blood and Spirit of Christ, Rev. 21. 2.

Cities of Nations] The company of such people as joyn to Antichrist, and fight against Christ. Rev. 16. 19. The Cities of the Nations fell. These Cities some others expound to be the whole regiment of wicked men; as of Turks, Jews, Barbarians, and others, that embrace false and strange religions. All which it is certain that they must perish at the second coming of Christ, although all be not alike Christs adversaries.

C L.

Cloathed with a cloud] One full of Majesty. A cloud in Scripture being a visible signe, to represent divine Majesty. As Exod. 33. 9. 1 King. 8. Rev. 10. 1. I saw another mighty Angel, cloathed with a cloud. Some other Divines expound this cloathing with a cloud, to signifie the obscure knowledge of Christ, being yet not so fully known, as afterward. The former is the more received exposition.

Cloathed in Sackcloth] Men, full of grief and lamentation, as if they did alwayes fast and mourn. Also, stirring up others to repent and be sorrowful for their Idolatry, and other works of darknesse, whereof wearing sackcloth is a signe and token. Finally, this cloathing his Witnesses with Sack, admonisheth that Christ would call men to repentance, even by very mean and contemptible servants, covered not with Purple, but with a Sack. Revel. 11. 3. They shall prophesie 1260. dayes, cloathed in sackcloth: This alludeth to the fashion of the old Prophets, who were thus apparelled.

Clouds] Powers, Dignities, Honours, Principalities, in high place, yet not supreme; as clouds which be placed high, yet are under the heavens. Revel. 14. 15. The Angel cryed to him that sate on the cloud.

To come with clouds] To return as Christ shal do with great glory to judge the world, having ready before him, storm, tempest and thunder to revenge himself upon the wicked his enemies. Rev. 1. 7. Behold he comes with clouds, and every eye shall see him. In this speech there is an allusion unto the praise of the Prophets, who thus describe the notable judgements of God, using the Clouds and all other all other creatures for the good of his own, and deſtruction of the ungodly. See Dan. 7. 17. Alſo Pſal. 18. 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, &c.

Sitting on a cloud] A glory peculiar to Chriſt, who as he aſcended ſitting on a Cloud; ſo at his ſecond coming, he ſhall return glorioufly, (a Cloud being to him in ſtead of a Chariot or Throne rather) as in Act. 1. & Rev. 1. 7. & 14. 15. Crying to him that ſate on the cloud. Some Divines (not without great ſhew of reaſon) interpret this cloud here ſpoken of, of Civil powers, lifted up as Clouds in the air; and him who ſate on it, to be ſuch Rulers and Princes as Chriſt did uſe for the furthering of his Church, and hindering the Kingdome of Antichriſt. The reaſon is, becauſe the Son of man who ſate upon this Cloud, doing all at the Commandement of the Angel, as appeareth in the words of this Text, cannot be Chriſt Jeſus, who is ſubject onely to his Father, and that as he is a Mediator. This latter expoſition ſeemeth for this reaſon to be the better.

White clouds] The uprightneſſe and integrity (repreſented by White) of Chriſt the Judge, not miſcarryed in his ſentence by ignorance or crooked affections (in their opinion, who underſtand this Text of the laſt Judgement.) But ſuch Divines as refer this Text to things done between the firſt and ſecond coming of Chriſt, do interpret this White cloud, of courteous, loving, beneficiall and healthful Princes and Eſtates; as, Saxony, Haſſia, Pruſſia, the free Cities of Argentorate, Tiguris, Berne, &c. with their good and religious Governours; as they expound the Angel coming out of the Temple, to be Juſtus, Jonas, Philip, Melancton, Bucer, Zuinglius, and others, which ſtirred up good Rulers to aboliſh Popery, and erect the faith and religion of the Goſpel, in their Juriſdictions and Dominions, Rev. 14. 14.

The cluſters of the vineyard] The wicked men of the world, which be compared to Cluſters, becauſe they grow ſo thick, even on heaps. Do but conſider how many renounce the name of Chriſt, how many are Idolaters amongſt ſuch as acknowledge his Name: how many hypocrites and wicked men, even where the Goſpel is maintained: and this wil appear a meet compariſon. Revel. 14. 18. Thruſt in thy ſickle, and gather the cluſters of the vineyard.

Some very learned reſtrain theſe Cluſters unto Popiſh religious buildings, and perſons which did abound and flouriſh, even as a Vine ſpread full of cluſters, and that in this our Kingdome, till the dayes of Henry the Eight, when through the zeal and courage of Cranmer and Cromwell (two great men) this Popiſh Vine was lopped and cut, yea and rooted out.

C O.

To come down from heaven] To have God for the Authour and founder (not men) of any thing, or to have a heavenly originall and beginning. Rev. 21. 2. And I ſaw new Jeruſalem come down from heaven.

2. To be deputed and aſſigned to ſome great ſervice and work, about the ruinating of Babylon by the appointment of God. Rev. 18. 1. I ſaw an Angel come down from heaven. Thus alſo is the Devil ſaid to come down into the earth, Rev. 12. 2. to ſignifie, that he was ſent among the reprobate, the children of this world. by the juſt judgement of God, to execute his vengeance on their ſouls and bodies.

To come] To invade and take upon him the Tyrannical government and power over Gods people, as Antichriſt ſhall doe. Rev. 17. 10. Another is not yet come, but when he cometh, &c. Some underſtand this of the Emperor Nerva, and his ſhort and cruell reign, but the former is better and fitter.

Secondly, To approach, draw neer, or be preſent; ſo do the whole Church preſent, and that which is to ſucceed, and every true member in whom Chriſt his Spirit dwelleth, all and every one, earneſtly deſire the full accompliſhment of good things, promiſed and propheſied of in this Revelation, to be preſent and to draw neer, eſpecially, the Marriage of the Lamb. Rev. 22. 17. The Spirit and the Bride ſay, Come; and let him that heareth ſay, Come, &c.

To come anon, or quickly] To follow or fall out ſhortly, within a ſmall time. Thus the Scripture uſeth to ſpeak of the laſt day, when eternall woe (here called the third woe) ſhall be executed upon reprobates; as, the end is at hand, the Judge is at the dore, theſe be the laſt dayes, &c. becauſe in Gods account, a thouſand yeers are but as a day. Rev. 11. 14. The third woe ſhall come anon, or quickly. Other learned men think the meaning to be that the calamities which ſhall happen to Gods enemies before the coming of Chriſt, ſhall be but ſhort, in compariſon of ſome miſeries which ſhall happen under the ſecond trumpet. Both expoſitions may ſtand well together.

To commit fornication] To partake with the Romiſh Church in her ſpiritual whoredome, dome, namely, in the corruption of true Faith and Religion, by Herefie and Idolatry. This is one cauſe of Babylons downfall, that ſhe was not content onely to adulterate and deprave Gods worſhip, but drew people, yea Kings and Princes, into the ſociety of her errors and ſuperſtition. Rev. 18. 3. The Kings of the earth have committed fornication with her.

To compaſſe the Saints] To bring the Church into a narrow ſtraight, being beſet with the Devils Army on every ſide. Rev. 20. 9. And they compaſſed the tents of the Saints about.

To conquer] To overcome the enemies of God by arrows of Peſtilence (as ſome think) ſhot out of the Bow of Gods wrath, but (as it is moſt reaſonable to think) by the glad tydings and promiſes of the God, ſhot as arrows out of the tongues of the Apoſtles and other Miniſters of the Word, as out of a Bow, whereby the Nations were ſpeedily ſubdued under Chriſt. Rev. 6. 2. He went forth conquering, that he might overcome.

To corrupt the earth] To defile and pollute men of earthly mindes, both with bodily and ſpiritual adultery, whereinto the great Whore, to wit, the Romiſh Synagogue hath led Nations and Kingdomes. Rev. 19. 2. He hath condemned the great Whore, which hath corrupted the earth with her fornication. Of their bodily fornication, their Vaults and Privies were witneſſe, and their Temples of ſpirituall.

To count] To reckon, or to make a computation of a number. Rev. 13.18. Let him that hath wit count the number of the beaſt.

C R.

Crown] Victory, triumph, and heavenly glory, which ſhall be given to faithfull Miniſters at the end of their labours, as a crown or reward. Rev. 3.11. Hold that which thou haſt, that no man take thy Crown. Some do refer this Crown, not to the reward of eternall life, but to that honour mentioned in verſ. 9. It may be both: the one a forerunner and pledge of the other.

2. A ſigne or token of conqueſt and victory. Rev. 6. 2. And a crown was given unto him.

Crown of twelve ſtars upon her head] The bright ſhining, and glorious Miniſters of the Goſpel, to wit, the twelve Apoſtles chiefly, and other Apoſtolical men, which all received from that ſame moſt bright Sun, the Fountain of all divine wiſdome, the heavenly doctrine (as their chief ornament and crown) even as the Stars do borrow their light from the Sun. Rev. 12. 1. And upon her head a crown of twelve ſtars.

Crucified] Slain, and put cruelly to death, either by the death of the Croſſe, or any other kinde of violent death. Rev. 11. 8. Where our Lord alſo was crucified. Chriſt our Lord was not ſlain at Rome (whereof this Text ſpeaks, by the figure of Sodom and Ægypt) otherwiſe then in his Members, according to that which is ſaid, Act. 9. 5. Saul, Saul, why perſecuteſt thou me? Yet Chriſt was ſentenced to death by a Romane Governour, and to a kind of death peculiar to the Romanes.

C V.

Cup of gold] The Title of the Catholick Church, of Peter's Chair, of Chriſts Vicar, and the wole externall profeſſion of Chriſtian Religion; whereby, as by a fine goodly Cup, both people and Princes of the world have been enticed to drink up, and draw in, moſt abominable and filthy Superſtitions, Idolatry and Hereſies, which the Romiſh Church offered unto them, in that golden cup of fair goodly titles and ſhews. Revel. 17. 4. And had a cup of gold in her hand full of abomination. Or, to ſhew that golden means are uſed by the Popes to draw men to Idolatry. Annot.

D A.

Day and night] Continually, or time without any end, or any ceaſing, even for ever and ever. Rev. 20. 10. And ſhall be tormented even day and night for evermore.

Day nor night] Never, at no time ceaſing to praiſe God, but keeping on therein a perpetual tenor. Rev. 4. 8. And they ceaſed not, day nor night, ſaying, Holy, holy, holy, &c.

Day ſmitten, or ſhone not] The light of divine truth obſcured and darkened by a moſt thick cloud of filthy ignorance, ſent by the juſt judgement of God, to puniſh ſuch as were willingly blinde, at the ſhining forth of the Goſpel. Rev. 8. 12. And the day was ſmitten, or ſhone not. Some other by the [Day-ſmitten, or ſhone not] do underſtand the taking away of the gladneſſe and joy which men had in the fruition and injoying of the light of the Goſpel. Theſe two ſenſes, although although they seem to differ, yet they doe after a sort meet in one: the latter, being as the effect; and the former, as the cause. For the darkening of the truth of God must needs diminish the joy of Gods people.

Dayes] A certain compasse and space of time, appointed of God for certain purposes. Rev. 10.7. In the dayes of the voyce of the seventh Angell.

D. E.

Dead bodies] See Carkasses, or Corps.

That first begotten of the dead] Christ, which title is given him in respect of his Priesthood, by which by his owne death he hath overcome death, and made a full expiation and satisfaction for all our sins. For this is to be the first begotten of the dead, death being vanquished and overcome, first to rise from the dead: now he is called the first begotten, for two causes: First, because he is the Prince and Head of those which rise, as the Apostle declares, Col. 1. 18. In which respect also he is called the first fruits of them which sleep, 1 Cor. 15. 20. Secondly, because all the faithfull and redeemed shall in their time through the vertue of his resurrection, and this his mighty conquest of hell, death, grave, and Satan, be raised up, and set free from the bondage of corruption.

Death] A most grievous plague, more speedily bringing death then the other plagues forementioned, and vexing by more sorts of feeling then one. Rev. 6.8. And his name that sate thereon was Death. A Metonymie of the effect for the cause. See the like, Rev. 18. 8. Death being put therefor the plague or Pestilence hapning in Rome, during the siege thereof, as the cause of ensuing death.

2. Persons, men and women, guilty of the second death, which is eternal torment in hell. Rev. 20. 14. Death and hell shall be cast into the lake of fire. Others, in a good sense do expound it thus: After the vocation of the Jews, there shall be torment of death and hell, saving in the burning lake, where Death shall for ever feed upon the reprobate. But the first exposition is best in my judgement.

3. Dissolution of the soul from the body, and separation of both from God for ever. Rev. 21. 4. There shall be no more death, nor crying, nor pain.

Second death] The eternall separation of soul and body, even of the whole man, from the glorious presence of God, to be delivered unto endlesse pain and torment in hell. Rev. 2.11. He that overcometh shall not be hurt of the second death. Rev. 20. 6. On such the second death hath no power.

To deceive] To lead into error, by making men beleeve they see true miracles and signes, when they see onely a shew and false appearance; or by some signes which be not fained and false, to establish men mindes in false Doctrine and Idolatry; therefore called by the Apostle, 2 Thess. 2. 9. Lying wonders. Such are all the wonders done in Popery. Rev. 13. 14. And deceived them that dwell on the earth, by signes and wonders, which were permitted him to do.

To deceive no more] Not to be able to seduce and mislead men so strongly and openly as had been suffered Satan to doe, by that we read, ch. 12. But now being fast chained up, and mightily by the power of Christ restrained, he had no might for a thousand yeers so to prevail. Rev. 20. 3. He should deceive the people no more.

Not to deny Christs name] Not to give place to the punishments and threatnings of Tyrants, as by the fear thereof, to be moved to forsake the truth. Rev. 3. 8. Thou hast kept my word, and hast not denyed my name.

Depths of Satan] Either the vain bragging, as of some which boasted, as of great and plentifull knowledge in the secrets and mysteries of God, which yet in truth, deserved to be called no better then the deepnesse of Satan; or else the sleights and subtilties of Satan, which certain men presumed alone to be privy to, and of the manner how they were to be resisted; under which pretence they permitted the promiscuous and common use of women in the Church of Thyatira; esteeming all other Teachers as simple fellows in comparison of themselves. This latter exposition is very probable, but the former is more received. Revel. 2. 24. Neither have known the depths of Satan, as they speak.

Devil] An egregious and notorious Calumniator, delighting exceedingly in accusing and detracting others. Thus hath Satan done from the beginning, accusing God to man, of envy, Gen. 3. 3, 4. and men to God, of hypocrisie, as Job 1. Hence he is called the Devil. Rev. 12. 9. That old Serpent, called the Devil. Rev. 20. 10.

To devour her childe] To take out of the way, and destroy, either by fraud or open force, all that should spiritually be begotten of the Church, especially such as should stand up to maintain the Religion of Christ. Thus hath Satan alwayes attempted to doe, but especially in the first age of the Church.

Rev. 12. 4. The Dragon ſtood before the woman to devour the childe.

To devour the enemy] By fervent prayer, and publiſhing the judgements of God, to threaten and procure Gods vengeance upon their heads, that maliciouſly reſiſt the truth, ſpoken by his witneſſes. Rev. 11. 5. If any man will hurt them, fire proceeds out of their mouths to devour their enemies. In this, there is an alluſion unto that which was done by Moſes, Numb. 16. and by Elias, 2 King. 1.

To devour by fire] By ſome extraordinary judgement to deſtroy, as God did the Turkiſh Armies, when he poured out his wrath from heaven upon them, according to that which is written. Rev. 16 21. Ezek. 39. 19. Rev. 20. 9. Fire came down from heaven from God, and devoured them.

D O.

To do his Commandements] To endevour obedience unto the voyce of Chriſt, by keeping his precepts, and beleeving his promiſes, according to the meaſure of grace received. Rev. 22. 14. Bleſſed are they that do his Commandements.

Doctrine of Balaam] That which the Nicolaitans taught (after the example of Balaam) touching the common uſe of Women, and that all things offered to Idols without difference, might lawfully be eaten. Rev. 2. 14. That maintain the doctrine of Balaam. See Balaam.

Doze] The conſcience and heart of ſinners, whereby Chriſt findes entrance into us. Rev. 3. 20. He ſtands at the dore. According to ſome, [Dore] ſignifies all hinderances, inward and outward, to keep Chriſt from entring. This is a good interpretation, becauſe our heart is the houſe, rather then the dore.

2. An open way, mean, and paſſage, given of God to John the Evangeliſt, that he might ſee and underſtand ſuch deep and hidden ſecrets, ſo ſhut up in heaven, as no humane capacity could ever have reached to perceive them. Rev. 4. 1. Behold, a dore was open in heaven.

D R.

Dragon] The Devil, for his terrible fierceneſſe likened to a Dragon, being the Prince of that Army, that maintaineth war againſt Chriſt. Rev. 12. 8. Michael fought againſt the Dragon. Some other, by the Dragon, underſtand unrighteous and cruell Princes, aſſiſted and ſtrengthned by falſe Teachers, Corrrupters of the truth, Hereticks, &c. All which joyn in battle together againſt the truth, and the ſincere maintainers of it: but in chap. 20. 2. the Dragon is there expounded to be the Devil and Satan, who yet muſt work by meet inſtruments. All which having one common work, and being but one corporation with the Devil their Captain, are therefore well comprehended under one name; as the whole company of the faithful bear the name of Chriſt their head, 1 Cor. 12. 12.

Drunk with the blood of the Saints] The blood of the Saints to be ſo abundantly ſhed by great Babylon (the Mother of whoredoms, the Romiſh Church) as ſhe was wholly imbrued and coloured in blood. Rev. 17. 6. I ſaw the woman drunk with the blood of the ſaints. The meaning is, that ſo great was her cruelty, as intemperate perſons do not more greedily draw in the moſt delicate wine, then ſhe ſhed the blood of Gods people.

Drunk with the wine of fornication] Such as are never ſatisfied with Idolatry, (ſpiritual fornication) which they drink in, as men do drink in wine. Rev. 17. 2. The inhabitants of the earth are drunk with the wine of fornication.

D W.

To dwell on the earth] To be a reprobate, not predeſtinated to life eternall, nor regenerate by the Spirit, whom Antichriſt ſhall have power to ſeduce and corrupt, and to lead to deſtruction. Rev. 17. 8. They that dwel on the earth ſhall wonder.

To dwell with the Saints] To have communion with the elect, and holy men and women, by a moſt perfect and immediate fellowſhip, ſuch as ſhall be in heaven between God and his people, after the laſt judgement; whereas they are knit together now imperfectly, and by means of the word and Sacraments. Rev. 21. 3. And he will dwell with them.

D Y.

To dye in the Lord] Either to ſuffer death, as the Martyrs do, for the Lords cauſe in defence of his truth, againſt Antichriſt; or to fall aſleep in Chriſt, dying in his faith, as all the Saints do. Rev. 14. 13. The dead which dye in the Lord, are bleſſed henceforth.

E A.

Eagle] Either all Fowles and Birds (by a Synecdoche of one principall Bird the Eagle, named in ſtead of all) as being all, both great and little, governed by the providence of God: or elſe the knowledge of great and high myſteries, repreſently fitly by the Eagles mounting aloft in the ayr. Others, by the Eagle underſtand John the Evangeliſt, who dived deepeſt into that high myſterie of the Divinity of Chriſt, and his Incarnation. The middle ſignification is beſt, the laſt is worſt; becauſe theſe words muſt be taken of Miniſters, which ſhould be after this Viſion, not of ſuch as had been before (as Apoſtles were:) as it is written in the firſt verſe of the fourth Chapter, Come and I will ſhew thee things that muſt be done hereafter. Secondly, ſuch as apply theſe foure Beaſts to the four Evangeliſts, do vary much. One ſaith, Mark is the Eagle, as Aretas: others ſay, the Eagle ſignifies John. Some ſay, John is figured by the Lyon, as Aretas: others ſay, Mark: and Auguſtine ſaith, Matthew is the Lion. Rev. 4. 7. The fourth beaſt an Eagle. See Four Beaſts.

Ear] The outward organ of the body, to wit, that ſenſe which is the inſtrument of underſtanding.

2. The minde, wherewith we underſtand things, and attend to get more underſtanding. Rev. 2. 7. He that hath an ear, &c.

To have ears] To have the minde prepared, or the underſtanding opened, obediently to hear and attend the things of God; ſuch are called upon to mark, in the concluſion of every Epiſtle. Others will but contemn the Word. Rev. 2. 11. Let him that hath an ear to hear.

Inhabitants, or dwellers on the Earth] Men and women, whoſe names are not written in heaven in the Book of life; reprobate perſons, which minde earthly things, and imbrace falſe Religion for filthy lucre ſake. Thus alſo the word [Earth] often ſignifies in this Revelation, men of Terrene and earthly mindes. Rev. 12. 9, 12, 13, 16. Woe unto the inhabitants of the earth. Alſo 8. 5. Fire caſt into the earth. Alſo verſ. 7. & ch. 13. 8. & 16. 2. In all which places, by the earth, and ſuch as dwell in it, is meant the wicked world, or the Church falſly (ſo called) conſiſting of earthly minded men, which are not choſen and ſanctified of God, to have their converſation in heaven.

Earthquake] A moſt vehement ſhaking of the Earth, with horrible trembling. Rev. 6. 12. Lo, there was a great earthquake. This is a fearfull judgement, whereof many examples in all ages, and a fore-runner of great mutations.

2. Great alterations and changes of Religion and Civill governments throughout the world, after the cuſtome of the Scriptures, which uſe to call ſome notable change, a ſhaking of the Earth, as Heb. 20. 26. & Pſal. 68. 9. The delivering the Iſraelites out of Ægypt, is called the moving of the Earth. Rev. 16. 18. And there was a great earthquake, ſuch as was not ſince men were upon the earth. Meaning hereby, ſome extrordinary puniſhment inflicted upon the ungodly world, by ſome great and unlooked for alteration of State.

To come up from the Eaſt] Chriſt Jeſus our Lord, the Sun of righteouſneſſe, to ariſe in the doctrine of the Word, and to ſhine upon the Chriſtian Churches, to expell from them ſpirituall darkneſſe, even when a whole rout of infernall ſpirits are let looſe to fill the world with the darkneſſe of hell, to wit, with ignorance, ſuperſtition, idolatry and hreeſie. Rev. 7. 2. I ſaw another Angel came up from the Eaſt. Thus the Scripture elſewhere ſpeaketh of Chriſt, as in the Song of Zachary, Luk. ch. 1. alluding unto the cuſtome and manner of the Sun, which from the Eaſt ſeemeth ſtill to ariſe and aſcend, till it come to the midſt of heaven, which ſome do interpret of Conſtantine, who aſcended out of the Eaſt parts of the world, as Stories ſhew, namely Euſebius; and by whom, as a main inſtrument of God, the light of the Goſpel did break forth, to the ſcattering of the miſts of errors, and the enlightening of the Church, after moſt darkſome times: This expoſition differs herein from the former (which is more commonly received) in pointing to the Miniſter, or inſtrument; whereas the former pointeth to the authour of ſuch a mercy. In which caſe, both ſignifications agree well; becauſe author and inſtrument be not contrary, but ſubordinate one to the other.

Eaſt, Weſt, North-gate] The commodious ſituation of the ſpirituall City, the Church (as ſome think) or the celeſtiall City, the Kingdome of heaven (as others think) by compariſon to the convenient ſite of earthly Jeruſalem, where the entrance by gates, diſpoſed in all foure quarters of the wind, was very convenient for the comers unto it from all coaſts of the Countrey of Judea. See Ezek. 48.30. Rev.21.13. On the Eaſt part there were three gates, &c.

To eat the fleſh of the whore] To endevour (out of a deep deteſtation) the utter ruine of Romiſh Dominion and Popiſh Prelates; by cutting ſhort their revenues, refuſing their pardons, forbidding appeals to Rome, and go to Rome for conſecration of Biſhops, caſting down their ſuperſtitious buildings, and conferring their Demains and Livings to better uſes, denying Peterpence: which all and much more, hath already been done in our Realm of England, and in ſome other Nations and free Cities, which have called back the profits that went from amongſt them to feed and enrich Rome. This is here called the eating of her fleſh. Rev. 17.16. They ſhall eat her fleſh.

E G.

Egypt] Rome, together with Romiſh juriſdiction, which in St. John's time did reach unto Jeruſalem, where Pontius Pilate was Deputy to Cæſar, the Emperor of Rome; which is likened to Ægypt, in reſpect of Idolatry, and the bondage wherewith ſhe held Gods people, moſt cruelly enthralled. Rev. 11.8. Which ſpiritually is called Egypt.

E N.

Enemies] Wicked men, Pope, Popelings, and other ungodly perſons, which hated, afflicted, and killed Gods ſervants. Revel. 11.12. And their enemies ſee it.

To enter into the Temple] To be able to have acceſſe to the Majeſty of God, and to abide his glory. Others take it to mean thus much, to be kept from having approach unto the Church of Chriſt here on earth for a time, as yet the Jews are. Rev. 15.8. No man was able to enter into the Temple. Here is an alluſion to that which is written, 1 King. 8.10, 11. where it is ſaid, The cloud filled the houſe of the Lord, ſo as the Prieſts could not ſtand to miniſter.

E U.

Euphrates] A River called by that name, being both broad and deep, which did run along by the great City Babel, ſeated in Aſſyria, and was thereunto ſuch a great defence, as when Cyrus and Darius, Kings of the Medes and Perſians, would take Babylon, they had this device, to cut out great Ditches and Trenches, and ſo let out the river above, before it came to the City; by which means the waters being made ſhallow, and almoſt dryed up, the Souldiers waded over, entred the City, and ſurpriſed it.

2. All impediments, lets, and hindrances, whereby the paſſage unto Rome, the myſtical Babylon, and Seat of Antichriſt, was ſtopped up againſt the Kings of the Eaſt, that they could not come at it, to beſiege and ſubdue it; the removing of theſe impediments, to wit, (the great honor, glory, riches, and ſtrength of Rome) is here ſignified by the drying up of Euphrates. Rev. 16.12. The ſixt Angel poured out his vial upon the great river Euphrates, and the waters thereof dryed up.

E X.

Excellent, or goodly] That which in his kinde is beſt and moſt worthy, Rev. 18.14.

E Y.

Eye-ſalve] The Spirit of light and of true wiſdome, which doth open and illuminate the eyes of our ſoul, being before utterly blinde. Rev. 3.18. And anoint thine eyes with eye-ſalve, that thou mayſt ſee. It is a ſpeech borrowed from a medicine, proper and peculiar to the curing of the eyes, called of Phyſicians, Collyrium.

F A.

Face] The bright countenance of Chriſt ſhining upon the faithfull, to the exceeding comfort and rejoycing of their hearts, expelling and driving from them heavyneſſe and ſorrow. Rev. 10. 1. And his face was as it were the Sun. Some other Divines by the face of Chriſt, do underſtand the pure worſhip of Chriſt (as it is commanded in his Word) wherein he is to be ſeen and known of his, as clearly, and as plainly, as we may know any one by his face. And touching this interpretation, the very truth is, that the Scriptures, by the Face of God, do often ſignifie his worſhip; therefore Cain being ſeparate from Gods publick worſhip, is ſaid to be hid from Gods face, Gen. 4.14. And to goe out from the preſence of the Lord. Verſ. 16. Again, the imploying of our ſelves in Gods worſhip, is called in the Pſalms, the ſeeking of his face, Pſal. 27.8. & & 105.4.

2. The

2. The terrible and dreadfull presence of Christ, being through his might and majesty, very fearfull to all things and persons, save his own. Rev. 20. 11. From whose face fled away the earth and heaven.

Face as the Sun] The exceeding great glory of Jesus Christ, being to such as know him by faith, the same, for sweet and comfortable aspect, to cheer their hearts in tribulations, that the Sun is to the world, after clouds, mists, and darknesse. Rev. 10. 1. His face was as the Sun.

Pens faces] Dissembled humanity, counterfeit courtelie, when the countenance and behaviour is not terrible and fierce, nor words rough, but all in shew, amiable and fair, yet without all truth and sincerenesse, the sooner to allure and entice men to fall in and joyn unto them: The Ministers of Antichrist, religious men (as they are called) do excell in this kind of shadowish humanity, being most notorious flatterers for their own gain, and to draw mighty ones to their side. Rev. 9. 7. Their faces were like the faces of men.

To be faithfull unto death] Constantly to keep and hold the faith of the Gospel, not being driven from Christ for any fear, or persecution, or death it self; seeing such as are couragious should be richly rewarded, Rev. 2. 10.

To fall before ones feet] To prostrate the body before one, in signe of religious divine worship, which John of infirmity did to an Angel. Rev. 19. 10. And I fell before his feet. It is a signe of submission to the true God alone. Rev. 5. 8. They fell downe before the Lamb.

Is faln] Rome, and Romish, both City and Dominion, (as it standeth now under the Pope, and his Mitred Bishops and Clergy) not onely to be subject unto ruine and destruction, but that most certainly it is to be pulled down, losing by little and little their riches, glory, strength, credit of Religion and holinesse, which made them honored, followed, and feared of Kings and Nations. And for the undoubted truth hereof, therefore (as if it were down and fallen already) the holy Ghost in the present time, saith, It is fallen; yea, doubleth it, (to note the certainty and greatnesse of the fall) saying the second time, It is faln. And because all men should take knowledge, beleeve, and mark the better, Gods rare judgement upon Romish Babylon, therefore her fall is proclaimed by an Angel from heaven, and with a mighty loud voyce. The event of which prophesie, as in a good part, we have seen already fulfilled, in the decay of their Religious houses, of their revenues, and falling of many Kings and people from that whorish Synagogue, through the doctrine of the Gospel; so the full fall draweth on apace: God hasten it. Rev. 18. 2. Babylon is faln, &c.

Fat, or dainty things] Things of the best, most pleasurable and commodious to the flesh; as Monasteries, Abbies, goodly dignities and promotions, which raised much pomp, delight, and pleasure. Popery was full of such fat things, the losse whereof shall make them mourn. Revel. 18. 14. All things which were fat (or dainty) are departed.

F E.

Great fear] That terror and trembling of heart, which should possesse the enemies of Christ, upon the restoring to life of the two dead and slain Witnesses: which was fulfilled in the year of our Lord, 1550. when God marvellously revived the fainting Spirits of the professors of his name at Maydenborow, who so couragiously defended the doctrine of the former Prophets and Witnesses which were slain, as the King of the Romans, the Emperor also, and the Fathers of the Councel of Trent, through great fear conceived of their valour, and forces of the godly professors of Christ, were driven to their heels, as is to be seen in Sleyden. Rev. 11. 11. And great fear shall come upon them who see them. Others refer this to the dayes of Calvin, Martyr, Bucer, Wycliffe, Husse, &c. who so stoutly maintained the truth against Antichrist, which others before (guided by the same Spirit, and were now dead) had now done, as it caused the friends of Antichrist much to fear.

To fear his great name] To worship God by a true faith, serving him according to his Word, and studying to live godly. Revel. 11. 18. To them that fear thy name, small and great. Some do restrain those that fear Gods Name, more specially, to the Jews which should beleeve.

Fear of torments] The dread and horror which the friends of Rome shall conceive, for the horrible vengeance which God in his appointed time shall take upon her, for her idolatry, luxury, and cruelty, so as that they shall not dare come near to rescue her, but shall keep aloof. Rev. 18. 15. They shall stand afar off, for fear of her torment.

Fearfull] Such timorous faint-hearted men (Emperors or Subjects) who for fear of them which can kill the body, denyed Christ before men. Rev. 21. 18. But unbeleevers, fearfull, &c.

Feet like Bears feet] Continuance and stableneſſe joyned with cruelty. For Bears feet being plain, flat, and long, with broad nails, do afford him more ſtrength, and enable him to more fierceneſſe. This is applyed to the Romane Empire, which exceeded the Perſians, Medes, Aſſyrians, and Babylon, in rapacity and ſtability. Rev. 13. 2. His feet like Bears feet.

Feet like fine braſſe] The conſtancy of Chriſt, in an unwearyed deſire of providing for the good of his Church: alſo, his firm power to tread down all the enemies thereof, together with the moſt excellent purity and brightneſſe of his wayes. All this is repreſented by the metal of braſſe, fine, burning, &c. Rev. 1. 14. His feet is like to fine braſſe, burning as in a furnace, &c. Other do interpret theſe feet of Braſſe, of the ſtableneſſe of the Churches, namely, of Smyrna and Pergamus, firmly, and with invincible conſtancy abiding afflictions for the name of Chriſt, when they were not onely not hurt, but did ſhine more brightly like fine braſſe; as if alluſion herein were made to thoſe viſions of Ezek. 1. 7. & Dan. 10. 6. Both theſe interpretations may well ſtand together, for the perſeverance of the Church in tribulations; and their being more purified by their afflictions, may and doth proceed from Chriſt his invincible power, ſupporting them; and exceeding purity communicated to them.

Fellow-ſervant] One, who in common with the Prophets, and Miniſters, ſerveth the ſame God, as Angels doe, eſpecially in reporting the ſecrets of God unto his Prophets, which might declare them unto the Church. Revel. 19. 10. For I am thy fellow ſervant, &c.

F I.

To fight, or make war] To proclaim and make war, in the behalf of Antichriſt, againſt Chriſt and his Church. Rev. 17. 14. They ſhall fight (or make war) with the lamb.

To fill double] To inflict and bring upon the great Whore, to wit, Rome, moſt grievous calamity, with extreme ſharpneſſe and rigor, in recompence of all her abominable wickedneſſes. This muſt be done to Rome in the laſt laying of it waſte; and it is to be done by thoſe which were ſometimes Citizens, and Subjects of Rome. Revel. 18. 6. In the cup that ſhe hath filled to you, fill her double.

To finiſh their teſtimony] To accompliſh and perform the charge and function, delivered unto them, by giving bold teſtimony unto Chriſt and his Goſpel. Rev. 11. 7. And after they have finiſhed their teſtimony, &c.

Fire of the Altar] A holy and conſtant profeſſion of the truth, proceeding from the Spirit of Chriſt, which is like a fire enflaming the hearts of the faithfull, and ſtirring up troubles among the wicked. Rev. 8. 5. He filled it with fire from the Altar.

Fire and brimſtone] The moſt extreme and ſharp torments wherewith the wicked, but eſpecially the Turk, the Romane Antichriſt, with their ſervants, ſhall be tormented in hell. Rev. 20. 10. Was caſt into a lake of fire and brimſtone.

Burnt with fire] Some extraordinary and fearfull judgement, which ſhall ſo deſtroy Romiſh Babylon, as things be burnt in a fire. Rev. 18. 8. And ſhe ſhall be burnt with fire.

Flame of fire] Moſt lightſome and piercing, entring into all things, even the moſt ſecret and hidden, bringing darkneſſe it ſelf into light. Of this property be the eyes of Chriſt. Rev. 19. 12. And his eyes were as a flame of fire. See Rev. 1. 14. or Breaſt-plates of fire.

Fiery habergions] The terrible cruelty and fierceneſſe, both of the Horſes, and ſuch as ſate upon them, fighting for the wicked Religion of Mahomet under the Turk. Rev. 9. 17. Having fiery habergions, or breaſt-plates.

Fire and hail mingled with blood] A ſpiritual tempeſt, and ſtorm of error, lies, and ſtrong deluſions, caſting down, overſpreading, and waſting grievouſly mens ſouls, even as if Fire, Blood, and Hayl, were all mingled together, and caſt down unto the earth, to beat down, corrupt, and waſte the fruit thereof. Rev. 8. 7. There was hail and fire mingled with blood.

Fire from heaven] Such lying ſignes and wonders, as Antichriſt and his Miniſters ſhould be ſuffered to do; thereby to deceive the world with errors. See Mat. 24. 2 Theſſ. 2. 12. Rev. 13. 13. He made fire to come from heaven.

Fire out of their mouth] The doctrine of the Goſpel, devouring and conſuming as fire, ſuch as reſiſt and fight againſt it; for that Word which is the ſavour of life to ſome, is the ſavour of death to others. Rev. 11. 5. If any will hurt them, fire proceedeth out of their mouth, and devoureth their enemies.

Fire and ſmoak] The fowre bitterneſſe of Gods plagues, even unto choaking and ſtrangling ſtrangling of men, which is the property of ſmoak. Rev. 9. 17. Out of their mouths went forth fire and ſmoak.

Firſt heaven] Heaven, as it is now under vanity; or, as ſome think, the former good and pure eſtate of the Church, giving place to a purer, or to the calling of the Jews. Rev. 21. 1. Firſt heaven is paſſed away.

Firſt love] Charity toward God, and toward our neighbours, which the Angel of the Church of Epheſus did ſhew forth at the beginning of his Miniſtery, very zealouſly performing all good means, and uſing all duties, for the furthering of Gods glory, and the good of his flock. Rev. 2. 4. Becauſe thou haſt left thy firſt love.

Firſt voyce] That revelation which from heaven John did firſt receive touching thoſe things which were to be done for the time to come. Rev. 4. 1. And the firſt voyce which I heard, was like a trumpet.

Firſt works] Great diligence in preaching the Word, and adminiſtring the cenſures of the Church, for the preventing of crimes, or recovery of ſuch as be faln. Rev. 2. 5. And do thy firſt works.

Five months] A ſhort ſpace of time, (as locuſts are bred in April, and die in September) a definite number put for an indefinite, for the comfort of the faithfull, leſt they ſhould imagine that this plague was to increaſe without meaſure. Rev. 9. 5. That they ſhould be vexed five moneths. Others by five moneths do underſtand 150. yeers, reckoning every day for a yeer. Others by five months, do think five ages to be finiſhed. But Mr. Bullinger doth interpret the five moneths wherein theſe Locuſts here ſpoken of, ſhould be ſuffered to rage and vex men, of that whole ſpace of time, whatſoever it was, wherein it ſhould continue, which yet is limited by a few moneths, for the conſolation of the Elect. This is the beſt expoſition, as I do judge.

F L.

Fleſh of the Kings, Captains, &c.] The great dainties wherewith God will feed ſuch as he calleth to this feaſt, even all ſorts of men which fight for Antichriſt. See ſuch a deſcription, Ezek. 39. 17, 18. Rev. 19. 18.

F O.

Forehead] Openly, before men, in profeſſion and practiſe. Rev. 17. 5. And in her forehead was a name written.

Form, or ſhape of the Locuſts] The figure, likeneſſe, and guiſe; to wit, ſuch as be ſtrong Horſes, prepared to battle. Such are the Popiſh Clergy, ſtrongly linked together with ready and prepared mindes, againſt all ſuch as ſhould any way mutter againſt the uſurped power of the Pope and Sea of Rome. This hath been, and is apparent enough, though the fierce inſurſions of the Saracens, have been more famous. Revel. 9. 7. And the form (or ſhapes) of the locuſts, was like unto horſes prepared to battle.

Fornication] All ſorts of bodily uncleanneſſe about generation, whether whoredome, adultery, rape, inceſt, buggery, or fornication. For all theſe (as it is too wel known) were rife, and ſtill be, in the Kingdome of Antichriſt. Revel. 9. 21. They repented not of their fornication.

Four Angels bound] Adminiſters of the wrath of God (in that number that is convenient) for the ſlaughtering of the foure quarters of the world: theſe Angels being reſtrained before by the power of God, were now to be ſtirred up, and have the bridle given them licentiouſly to practiſe tyranny, as God had ordained. Rev. 9. 14. Looſe the four Angels which are bound.

Foure corners of the earth] The chief quarters and coaſts of the world, which were occupyed and poſſeſt by the foure Angels ſent with commiſſion to ſtop the foure winds. Rev. 7. 1. I ſaw four Angels ſtand on the four corners of the earth.

Four horns of the Altar] The higheſt part or top of the golden Altar of Incenſe, which ſtood before the Vail, againſt the Ark of Covenant, where ſolemn prayers once a yeer were made by the High-prieſt unto God, who heard and accepted them through Chriſt, repreſented by the golden Altar; in whom, and by whom alone, the oblations of our prayers are pleaſing unto God. Rev. 9. 13. I heard a voyce from the foure horns of the golden Altar.

Foure-ſquare] That which is ſteddy, of continuance and profit, ſuch is the true Church, leaning upon Chriſt as a foundation. Revel. 21. 16. And the City lay foure-ſquare.

Foure and twenty Elders] The holy Catholick Church, even the whole company of Gods elect; eſpecially, ſuch as having now ended their warfare, do triumph in heaven gloriouſly, every one (as it were) ſitting upon a throne as a King; which honour the Elect do attain unto, by and through Chriſt, who hath made all the faithfull, Kings and Prieſts unto God. In the number of 24. there is an alluſion unto that diſtribution of ſacred offices, and the ſervants of the King, mentioned in 1 Chr. 24. 25, 26, 27. Rev. 4. 4. Upon the ſeats I ſaw four and twenty Elders ſitting. Whereas ſome by 24 Elders, underſtand the 12 Prophets, and the 12 Apoſtles, it cannot ſtand with the ſcope of this Viſion here ſhewed to John, which reſpects not any number or company which were paſt and gone, but rather that which was to come, even the whole number of beleeving Gentiles, which as Kings and Princes ſhould miniſter to God their Soveraigne King.

Four winds] One and the ſelf-ſame wind in nature, being divers, according to the Regions and coaſts from whence they blow, as from Eaſt, Weſt, &c.

2. The efficacy and ſecret mighty force of the holy Spirit, which by Chriſt himſelf is compared unto wind. Joh. 3. 8. The wind bloweth where it liſt, ſo is every one born of the Spirit. Rev. 7. 1. Holding the four winds of the earth.

Fourth part of the earth] The fourth part of men, dwelling in earth, which by the juſt judgement of God, were to be puniſhed for the contempt of the Goſpel, with thoſe foure great plagues here ſpken of, Levit. 26. and here again diſtinctly mentioned; to wit, the ſword, famine, peſtilence, and wilde beaſts. Rev. 6. 8. Power was given to them over the fourth part of the earth.

Found no more] To be no more at all, to be utterly rooted out, as if it had never been. Rev. 18. 21, 22. And ſhall be found no more.

From the foundations of the world] Before the beginning of the world, even from all eternity, God choſe certain unto ſalvation, whoſe names are ſaid to be written in the book of life, and the other not written. Rev. 17. 8. Whoſe names are not written in the book of life, from the foundation of the world. Ye have the like phraſe, Rev. 13. 8. to note the eternall decree of God, touching the force and efficacy of his Sons death.

Fountain of waters] The ſprings from whence do flow and iſſue waters and rivers, for the uſe of men. This is the proper ſignification.

2. The Miniſters of the Goſpel, from whom (as Fountains and Springs) the doctrine of the life doth flow forth unto others, by a continuall flux or iſſue, which were to be depraved and corrupted by hereſie and impiety of ſome principall teachers. Rev. 8. 10. And it fell into the third part of the rivers, and into the fountains of waters.

F R.

Freely] By the meer mercy of God, without any of our merit, and deſert of our endevour, and working at all. Rev. 21. 6. It ſhall be given him of the well of life freely.

Fruit every moneth] Such fruit as ſhall be continually new and freſh. This tree here ſpoken of, being laden with fruit all the yeer long. Revel. 22. 2. Bring fruit every moneth.

F V.

Full of abomination] Abounding in abominable and moſt filthy errors, ſuperſtitions, idolatries. Rev. 17. 4. A cup in her hand full of abominations.

Full of eyes] One moſt watchfull, and quick-ſighted, beholding and knowing, not onely manifeſt and open things, but even inward and hidden things which be furtheſt off from our knowledge. Rev. 4. 8. They were full of eyes within. See verſ. 6. Full of eyes before and behinde.

Full of names, &c.] Moſt plentiful blaſphemies, all being repleniſhed with horrible impieties and iniquities, full of reproach unto God. Revel. 17. 3. Full of Names of blaſphemy. See Blaſphemy.

To fulfill the will and words of God] To exerciſe and accompliſh the Decrees and Propheſies of God, both touching the exalting of the great Whore, to wit, Rome; and touching her pulling down and deſtruction. Rev. 17. 17. God hath put in their hearts to fulfill his will, and to do with one conſent, &c.

To fulfill the wrath of God] In due time to execute the full puniſhment upon the great enemies of his Church; which for the certainty of it, John uttereth in the time paſt, though it were yet to come, when he wrote this Book of Apocalyps. Rev. 15. 1. For by them is fulfilled the wrath of God.

G A.

Garment dipt in blood] A warlike and fierce attire, ſuch as Warriours wear, which have overcome their enemies in battle, having their garments ſprinkled and ſtained with the blood of the ſlain.

2. The vengeance which Chriſt as King and conquerour will take upon the Beaſt, and and upon the Kings of the earth which take his part. This is repreſented by this bloody garment, wherein there is an alluding to that ancient figure in Iſa. 63. where Chriſt is brought forth with his garments dipped in blood, having made ſlaughter of the enemies of the Church. Fearfull is the end of Chriſt his enemies. Rev. 19.13. He was cloathed with a garment dipt in blood. His garments are not ſprinkled with blood, as Iſa. 63.2. but dipt or dyed in it, Iſa. 9.5. What could his enemies look for from him now, ſeeing the marks of his former victories, but deſtruction? Annot.

Some expound this garment, of Chriſt his humane nature, wherein by his bloodſhed he reconciled the elect to God. But the former ſignificatton agreeth beſt with the Text.

Garment down to the feet] The perfect righteouſneſſe of Chriſt imputed, wherewith his Spouſe the Church (for whoſe covering the garment ſerveth) is cloathed from the crown of the head to the ſole of the feet. Rev. 1. 13. He was cloathed with a garment down to his feet. Some expound this of the purity and innocency of that Prieſthood, which Chriſt did exerciſe for his Church. Others of the venerable dignity and majeſty of Chriſt, as King of his Church: and indeed Kings did wear long robes in token of Majeſty. Alſo, Prieſts by Gods appointment. But the firſt expoſition I hold beſt. We often find Chriſt his imputed juſtice, compared to a garment. Pſal. 31. 1. Mat. 22. 12. & Rev. 16. 15.

To keep his garments] To hold faſt and preſerve without loſſe and ſpot (as much as may be) ſuch gifts and graces (of righteouſneſſe and forgiveneſſe of ſins by faith) as Chriſt giveth to cover and deck the ſoul withall. Rev. 16.15. Bleſſed is he that watcheth and keepes his garments.

To gather together] To bring ſuch as were far ſcattered aſunder into one place; either to make war, or arm them againſt the people of God, as Rev. 20.8. Gather them together to battle; or elſe to help to effect and work the worthy and moſt deſerved deſtruction of the enemies of Gods people which fight for the Beaſt, and to take their part in the prey. Rev. 19. 17. Come and gather together your ſelves unto the ſupper.

G E.

Gentiles, or Nations] The people and Nations ſubject unto Romiſh tyranny; and namely, ſuch as were out of all Regions gathered to the Councel of Trent, who triumphed over the Scriptures, being now ſmothered and ſtrangled (as it were) and the interpreters thereof alſo murthered. Rev. 11. 9. And they of the Gentiles (or Nations) ſhall ſee their corps.

G I.

To give] To recompenſe and reward good things to the godly, according to mercy: or out of juſtice, to render evill unto the ungodly. Rev. 22. 6. I will give to, &c. & 22. 12. To give, &c.

To give glory to God] To glorifie God, by renouncing Idols, ſuperſtitious vices and errors, and to turn to the Creator of the world, to confeſſe and worſhip him after his owne will. This fruit is known to have followed upon ſome great plague inflicted and ſent to the Antichriſtian rout. Re. 11.13. The remnant were ſore feared, and gave glory to the God of heaven. Rev. 16. 6. And they repented not to give glory to God.

G L.

To glorifie her ſelf] To exalt and lift up her ſelf, her doctrine and decrees, with great pride and inſolency, preferring her Traditions and Ordinances, above Gods written Word and his ſacred Ordinances, as Eccleſiaſticall Rome hath done. Rev. 18. 7. In ſo much as ſhe glorified her ſelf, &c.

To glorifie his name] To ſet forth the glory of Gods great name, by acknowledgement and praiſing his juſtice, in his vengeance on the wicked, and his exceeding love and benignity towards the Saints. Rev. 15. 4. Who would not fear thee, nor glorifie thy great name?

Glory of God] His glorious preſence, teſtified by ſome viſible ſigne, like unto that, Exod. 40. 34, 35. Rev. 15.8. And the Temple was full of the ſmoak of the glory of God. The preſence of God in and with his Church now under the Goſpel, though it be with more brightneſſe of knowledge, and more plentifull graces then it was under the Law, yet is it obſcure in reſpect of that revelation which the Saints ſhall enjoy in heaven. Withall, this ſmoak of Gods glory in the Temple, may import, that howſoever Gods glorious preſence with his Church, now be manifeſt enough, yet the wicked cannot ſee it, as if their eye-ſight were darkened with ſmoak, which laſtly, may ſhew forth his anger (uſually ſignified in Scripture by ſmoak) againſt ſuch enemies.

2. The brightneſſe of God (for divine brightneſſe) brightneſſe) immediately communicated unto the Saints in heaven, who ſhall have ſo exceeding great light from the moſt perfect preſence of God, and Chriſt the Lamb, as they ſhall need neither Sun, Moon or Star. Rev. 21.23. For the glory of God did light it. Alſo verſ. 11. Having the glory of God; that is, moſt admirable, divine, and celeſtial glory. Some do underſtand this of a moſt glorious divine brightneſſe of Gods preſence, as withall they reſtrain it to the ages of the Church, which ſhall be next afore the end of the world. Both may be underſtood; the one, as a forerunner and preparation to the other.

Glory, honour, &c.) Praiſe increaſed, when the holineſſe, majeſty, and truth of God is acknowledged and much extolled. Revel. 4. 11. To receive glory, honor, and power.

Glory and honour of Kings and Gentiles] All that majeſty, with thoſe great and excellent things, which Kings and people had, ſhall be laid down, at what time the glory of the heavenly City is given them. Revel. 21. 24, 26. Shall bring their glory and honour to it.

G N.

To gnaw their tongues] To take moſt grievouſly the fall of their pomp, dignity, and authority; alſo furiouſly, for extreme ſorrow, to bite their own tongues. Rev. 16. 10. And they gnawed their tongues for ſorrow. Some do expound this, of renouncing their owne proud words and writings. But the former ſignification is better.

G O.

Before God] In the preſence of Chriſt, the Judge of the world, being God equall to his Father. Revel. 20. 12. I ſaw the dead ſtand before God. 2 Cor. 5. 10.

God of heaven] The true God, Creator of the whole world, whereof heaven is a chief and principall part. Rev. 11. 13. And gave glory to the God of heaven.

His God] A God favourable unto him in Chriſt, even ſo far as to make him everlaſtingly happy. Rev. 21. 7. And I will be his God.

To be their God] To be joyned unto God, by perfect and immediate fellowſhip, which ſhall be the portion of the faithfull in heaven. Rev. 21. 3. And God himſelf ſhall be their God with them.

To go out no more] To remain for ever in the Church triumphant, being moſt firmly joyned unto Chriſt, and immediately. Rev. 3. 12. And he ſhall go no more out. He alludeth unto 1 King. 7. 15. Some underſtand it of the ſtableneſſe of Gods children in the Church Militant; namely, of ſuch faithfull ones as were members of the Church at Philadelphia. But it may well bear both ſignifications, for Chriſt his true members ſhall continue ſtedfaſt in the Church Militant, till they be tranſlated into the Church Triumphant.

To go into deſtruction] To periſh finally, and utterly to be deſtroyed. Revel. 17. 11. And ſhal go into deſtruction.

To go, or come out of Babylon] To depart as far as may be from all ſociety and fellowſhip with the Romiſh Synagogue, in their hereſies and idolatries. Rev. 18. 4. Go (or come) out of her my people, &c. This exhortation and charge here in the Apocalyps, is like to that in Jeremy, ch. 51. 45. My people, go out of the midſt of her. This of Jeremy was ſpoken, touching departing from Babylon in the Eaſt, when it was to be deſtroyed, and that in the Revelation, concerneth the ruine of Babylon in the Weſt, to forewarn the godly to avoyd it, by departing away.

Gog and Magog] All the ſecret and open enemies of Chriſt and his Church, both Papiſts and Turks, banding themſelves againſt the Goſpel, in theſe laſt times, ſince the looſing of Satan. And thus much the very names themſelves import; for Gog ſignifieth one covered, and Magog ſignifieth one uncovered. Rev. 20. 8. Even Gog and Magog, to gather them to battle. For the better underſtanding of this place, we muſt have recourſe to Ezekiel, ch. 38, & 39. where under the names of Gog and Magog, are comprehended ſuch Princes as gathered great Armies to fight againſt Iſrael, after they came from the Captivity of Babylon. This ſtory is here in the Revelation applyed to thoſe enemies as Satan ſhould muſter together againſt the Church of Chriſt, a little before his coming to judgement. Other Authours refer Gog and Magog to the Turks and Perſians, and ſuch Regions as are at their command. Certain it is, that a mighty Army of ſuch Heatheniſh people, ſtirred up by the Devill (being now let looſe) is meant here.

Golden Altar] Chriſt Jeſus, who is both High-Prieſt, Sacrifice, and Altar. This place alludeth to Exod. 30. 3. Unto the Altar of Incenſe which was before the veyl. Some expound it of the ſelect company of Saints, the firſt fruits of the world. See Altar. Rev. 8. 3. To offer upon the golden Altar.

Golden cenſer] An inſtrument belonging to the holy of holies) wherein the Prieſt did did burn ſweet Incenſe before the Lord; which did figure the Mediation of Chriſt, in which the prayers of the Saints were acceptable. Rev. 8. 3. Having a golden cenſer.

Golden crown] Kingly dignity and power, wherewith Chriſt himſelf, or the executioner of his judgements ſhall be endowed. Revel. 14. 14. Having on his head a golden crown.

Golden girdle] The diligence and readineſſe of Chriſt in governing his Church, whoſe work herein is precious and acceptable to God. Rev. 1. 13. Girt with a golden girdle.

Golden reed] An inſtrument to meaſure withall (which being of gold) doth ſignifie the Church meaſured, to be of a moſt excellent work, and of a worthy workmanſhip. Rev. 21. 15. And he had a golden Reed, to meaſure the City with.

Streets of pure gold] All, even the meaneſt parts (as ſtreets in a City) of the Church, to be moſt precious beautiful, and glorious. Rev. 21. 21. And the ſtreet of the City is pure gold. Some hereby underſtand, that the actions of Gods children, ſhall be pure, holy, and unblameable.

Everlaſting Goſpel] The gladſome tidings of everlaſting reconciliation with God, through faith in Chriſt alone, according to the eternall decree of God. Rev. 14. 6. Having an everlaſting Goſpel. This gives a ſore check to ſuch as charge the Doctrine of ſalvation by faith in Chriſt, with novelty, ſlanderouſly calling it a yeſterdayes bird, a ſtart-up doctrine.

G R.

Green graſſe] The fruits of the earth, of all ſorts, by a Synecdoche of the part for the whole. Rev. 8. 7. And all green graſſe was burnt up. Some do underſtand this ſpiritually, of the great famine and ſcarcity of the Word, and of Chriſtians in ſhew, which have taken no ſound root, but were (as green graſſe) ſoon ſcorched and ſindged with the heat of perſecution.

Great Babylon] Rome, as it is now governed by the Pope, being like unto Babylon, a great City (in Chaldea) for tyranny, pride, power, Idolatry, ſuperſtition, iniquity, Rev. 17. 5. That great Babylon, mother of whoredome. This cannot be meant of Heatheniſh Rome, under the Emperours, who did not thruſt their Idolatry upon other Nations and Kings, but left them every one to their Religion: neither had Heatheniſh impiety any ſuch myſtery in it, as with ſhew of piety it ſhould deceive numbers, ſeeing Heatheniſh ſuperſtition was palpable and execrable to all ſorts of Chriſtians; therefore, this muſt ſignifie Popiſh Rome, which with her great ſhew of religion and godly devotion, enticed Kings and people unto her way.

Great City] Some large Town inviroued with walls, and inhabited by Citizens, joyned together by the band of ſome Laws, &c.

2. The whole juriſdiction and regiment of Antichriſt ſitting at Rome, and reigning with great tyranny over mens conſciences, and raging cruelly againſt the body of the Saints. Rev. 11. 8. Their corps ſhall lie in the ſtreets of the great City.

3. Whatſoever dominion, power, and government, either of Pope or Turk, or which any enemy of the Church doth enjoy and exerciſe againſt Chriſt and his Church. Rev. 16. 19. And that great City was rent into three parts.

4. The Town and Juriſdiction of Rome, as it was governed by the Emperors, which had Empire and rule even in John's time, over not people onely, but Kings alſo; Rome then being the Queen of Nations, and Miſtris of the world. Rev. 17. 18. The woman is that great City.

5. The holy Catholick Church, conſiſting of beleeving Gentiles and Jews, called and joyned unto the communion of Saints, in the latter end of the world. Others underſtand it of the Celeſtial Church. Rev. 21. 10. And ſhewed me that great City.

Wings of a great Eagle] The ſwiftneſſe which the Church uſed, in avoyding the malice and tyranny of Satan, that old Serpent, furiouſly perſuing her, while ſhe was yet (as it were) in her ſwathing clouts. Rev. 12. 14. To the woman were given the wings of a great Eagle.

Great earthquake] See Earthquake.

Great hail] Stones of a marvellous greatneſſe, ſufficient not onely to kill, but even to cruſh and bruiſe men to pieces. Rev. 16. 21. A great hail.

Great

Great and marvellous] That which for the exceeding greatneſſe and grievouſneſſe of it, doth deſerve to be wondred at, and admired. Rev. 15. 1. I ſaw another ſigne in heaven, great and marvellous.

Great whore] The City of Rome, being become Eccleſiaſticall and Pontificall, by the government of the Popes and Cardinals. For ſhe it is, that ſits upon many waters, ruling over many Nations, Kingdomes, and Tongues, and hath committed ſpiritual fornication with the Kings of the earth, enticing by marvellous craft both Princes and people to her Idolatry. Rev. 17. 1. Come and ſee the damnation of the great whore.

2. A voyce of exceeding joy and gladneſſe, ariſing and ſpringing up in the faithfull, for the reformation of the Church, according to the Word of God. Rev. 11. 15. There were great voyces in heaven, ſaying, &c. This is a voyce of thankſgiving and praiſe from men to God.

G U.

No guile] Sincerity, truth, uprightneſſe in doctrine and converſation. Rev. 14 5. In whoſe mouth is found no guile. Some underſtand this of the moſt pure integrity which beleevers have, not by perfection of their owne virtues, but by imputation of Chriſts perfect holineſſe. Both theſe ſignifications may well ſtand together, for the Saints themſelves have an unperfect uprightneſſe, by infuſion of grace, and a perfect integrity from Chriſt, by imputation of his righteouſneſſe.

H A.

Habergions, or Breaſt-plates of Iron] The well fenced eſtate of Popiſh Clergy, Monks, Fryers, &c. who were as ſafe, as men armed with iron Habergions; and vain was all endevour againſt them, till the time of their Kingdome was expired. Habitation of devils] A place or houſe haunted by devils, or wherein devils were ſhut up as in priſon. Rev. 18. 2. And it became the habitation of devils. Such a City now is Rome, where the doctrine is the doctrine of devils, being flat contrary to the written Word, their worſhip the worſhip of devils, being but idols and rotten bones; and their works, works of the devil.

Half an hour] A very ſhort ſpace of time, wherein the Church ſhould enjoy an happy reſt, after the open enemies thereof were bridled, and Conſtantine the Great aroſe out of the Eaſt. Rev. 8. 1. There was ſilence in heaven about half an hour.

Hallelujah] Praiſe ye the Lord. It is an Hebrew voyce or word, whereby the people of God were wont mutually to exhort and ſtir up one another joyfully to praiſe God, for his vengeance againſt his and their enemies, (as here againſt the great Whore) and for their merciſull deliverance. Revel. 19. 1. Saying, Hallelujah. The cauſe of receiving theſe Hebrew words, in Scripture, (as Hoſanna, Abba, Amen, Hallelujah, &c.) it is to be as ſignes and tokens of that conjunction which beleeving Gentiles have with the holy Nation of the Jews, to whom there is but one God, and one Religion. See Allelujah in the Supplem.

Harps] An inſtrument uſed in the Temple under the Law, whereon they praiſed God, according to thoſe times, when the Church was in her infancy.

3. The ſweet conſent of godly Teachers in Churches, making a pleaſant harmony, Rev. 14. 2.

To hate the whore] To hate the Church of Rome degenerated, in execration, even with loathing; to abhor her as a Whore, a Mother of whoredome, which hath bewitched the Kings of the earth with her golden cup, the butchery of Gods Saints, like to Sodome and Egypt, therefore worthy to be hated. Revel. 17. 16. They ſhall hate the whore.

Hateful birds] Unclean and evill-favoured Fowls, ſuch as haunt and frequent forſaken and deſolate places, being odious to all other fowls for their ravening; ſuch be the Vulture, the Crow, the Raven, the Owle, the Kite, &c.

2. Unclean and filthy men (ſuch as now the Romiſh Synagogue doth, and long hath abounded with) which live by rapine and iniquity; and in that regard are hatefull to all civil honeſt men, but moſt hateful to the Saints. Rev. 18. 2. Unclean and hatefull birds.

Ober, or upon his head] Above him, or upon his head. Rev. 10. 1. The rainbow was over (or upon) his head.

Heads] All Turkiſh Princes, Baſſaes and Begles, together with their Emperour the Grand Sultan, all alike inſtruments and miniſters of execrable cruelty and fury, exerciſed both by themſelves, and others under them. Rev. 9. 19. Having heads wherewith they hurt.

Heads of Lyons] Moſt notable cruelty and fierceneſſe, wherein the Turks do excell all other Nations and people, that ever were heard of, both Saracens and Romans. Revel. 9. 17. The heads of the horſes were as heads of lyons. Hereby is noted unto us, that to the ſternneſſe of their countenance, they added the ſtrength of their jaws, to expreſſe their ſingular inhumanity.

To heal the Nations] To preſerve in health, and keep from all diſeaſes, preventing them, and removing all cauſes of them. Revel. 22. 2. And the leaves to heal the Nations with. This health Chriſt doth afford the ſouls of beleevers, unperfectly here, and moſt perfectly in heaven.

To hear] To bend the mind inwardly, to heed well, and mark the admonitions of the Spirit in the Word. Rev. 2. 7. Let him that hath an ear, hear. Revel. 13. 9. Let him hear; that is, let him be attentive.

Heat of the fire] Inward indignation, blinde zeal, and bitterneſſe of minde, together with outward ſtrife, contention and debate, wherewith not onely open enemies, but Hypocrites ſhould be vexed, for ſtriving againſt the Sun and light of the Goſpel, ſhining upon their conſciences, and checking them. Rev. 16. 8. It was given him to torment men with heat of fire, or to ſcorch men with fire.

Heaven] The Church on earth, and the godly, which be the true members of it. Rev. 12. 12. Rejoyce ye heavens, and ye that dwel therein. Alſo Rev. 13. 6. And them that dwell in heaven. Rev. 6. 13. Stars of heaven; that is, the Miniſters of the Church. The reaſon why the Church reformed here on earth, is called heaven, is becauſe of that heaven (which is the ſeat and habitation of the Saints) there is no more lively image and picture here in earth, then the univerſall company of Saints, which is the true Militant Church of Chriſt.

Heaven departed] The whole face of the Church (and not the Miniſters alone) to be covered with that black darkneſſe of calamity which is here threatned. Rev. 6. 14. And the heaven departed.

Heaven to rejoyce] The company of the godly, to leap for joy and gladneſſe, becauſe of the victory and ſalvation which Chriſt giveth them over their ſpirituall enemies, delivering and ſaving them from their fury. Rev. 18. 20. O heaven rejoyce over her.

New heavens] The heavens which are now under vanity and corruption, reſtored into a perfect eſtate and liberty. Rev. 21. 1. I ſaw new heavens. Some Interpreters, which think this Chapter to give, not a deſcription of heaven, the ſeat of the bleſſed, (ſhewing what ſhall be the happineſſe of the Saints, after the reſurrection and judgement,) but of the Church which ſhall be on earth, a little afore the judgement, when the Jews ſhal be reſtored to the Communion of Saints, do interpret [new heavens] of the moſt pure way of worſhipping God; and the [new earth] to ſignifie a new people, in whoſe aſſemblies God will be honoured. Let the learned judge which ſignification is fitteſt, for both are true.

Heavens open] The great glory of Chriſt his holy Church, manifeſted, and apparently ſhewed to the eyes of all. Rev. 19. 11. After I ſaw the heavens opened.

Hell] The grave, which is the companion of death, or the eſtate which follows after death; both the Greek words ſignifie grave, and the matter requires this ſenſe. For many Saints were to die amongſt others; but it were wickedneſſe to think the Saints to be devoured of the Hell of the damned. Rev. 6. 8. And hell followed after him. Rev. 20. 13. Death and hell delivered up her dead. Alſo v. 14. If here we ſhould underſtand hell for the place of the damned, it would be abſurd to ſay, That hell was caſt into the burning lake, that were to ſay, Hell was caſt into Hell.

H I.

High Mountain] The eminencie of the Chriſtian Church (as it ſhall be reſtored before the coming of Chriſt) excelling whatſoever dignity is in earth; or the place and ſtately ſeat of the Church (more purely reformed) ſhadowed out by a Mountain. Rev. 21.10. And carried me to a great and high mountain. Herein there is an alluſion unto that which is written, Iſa. 2. 2. In the laſt dayes, the mountain of the houſe of the Lord, &c. The meaning of both places is, that the glory of the Spouſe of Chriſt, ſhall be revealed in the ſight and face of all the world, ſo as no high mountain ſhall be more eminent and conſpicuous, or eaſier to be ſeen and beheld.

H O.

An hold of foul Spirits] A priſon or ſtraight place, faſt kept, where the devils are penn'd and ſhut up; at the pleaſure of the ſoveraign Judge of the world. Such a place ſhall Rome (now fallen) be unto the Devils which reigned once there; but now, that they have none ſo to abuſe and deceive as before, it ſhall be as a priſon, hell, or place of torment to them. Rev.18.2. An hold (or cage) of foul ſpirits.

To hold the Stars] To defend and uphold the Miniſters of the Church, with ſpecial care of them, and mighty power. Rev. 2.1. Theſe things ſaith he which holdeth the ſeven ſtars.

Holy] A true beleever, or godly Chriſtian, who is partaker of Chriſt his holineſſe by imputation, and hath holineſſe begun in his own ſoul, by the Spirit of ſanctification, ſeparating him from the world, and ſtudy of worldly things, that he may be dedicate unto God, both in body and ſoul to ſerve him. Rev. 20. 6. Bleſſed and holy is he which hath part in the firſt reſurrection.

Holy Apoſtles] Not thoſe twelve, which in an excellent degree were holy, and laid the foundation of the Chriſtian Church after Chriſt his Aſcenſion, but ſuch godly men as ſhall execute the function of teaching in the latter ages of the world, who becauſe they are as dear and precious in Gods ſight, as the old Apoſtles and Prophets (though they be inferiour in gifts) they are therefore called here Holy Apoſtles and Prophets, by the Spirit who provoketh them by name to rejoyce, becauſe the great Whore had more ſpecially hated and moleſted them. Rev.18. 20. Rejoice ye holy Apoſtles and Prophets.

Holy City] The Church, in ſingular manner renewed and purged in earth, a little before the laſt day, as a type and ſigne of that moſt holy and glorious Church, which ſhall be in heaven after the laſt judgement. Revel. 21.2. And I ſaw that holy City. The ſame is meant by holy Jeruſalem. Verſ. 10.

Holy Jeruſalem] The univerſall Church then being on earth, far more excellent and glorious, by a more illuſtrious preſence of God, then before was wont, as an Image of the Celeſtial Church. Rev.20.10. That holy Jeruſalem.

To be holy ſtill] To increaſe, proceed, and perſevere in a godly life. Rev.20.10. Let him be holy ſtill.

Horſes] The Saracens likened to horſes, for their ſwiftneſſe and promptneſſe to battle. See Job 39. 25. Rev. 9.7. The form of the locuſts was like unto horſes.

To the horſes bridles] Very deep, very far and wide: It is an exceſſive ſpeech, noting the greatneſſe of the ſlaughter: as alſo the greatneſſe of ſpoyl, like unto the overflowing of grapes preſſed in a Wine-preſſe, wherein horſes may ſwim even to the necks. Such abundance of ſpoyl ſhould ariſe by the fall of the Clergy, and ſuperſtition of Rome. Rev. 14. 16. Blood came out of the Wine-preſſes unto the horſes bridles.

White horſe] Chriſt, ſubduing and triumphing ſwiftly and mightily by his word, not over the profane Gentiles (as was figured in the Viſion, ch. 6. 2.) but over the obſtinate Jews, being now converted to God. Rev. 19. 11. And behold a white horſe.

Hoſts, or Armies] Armies, or companies of Warriors and Souldiers, prepared unto battle under Antichriſts Banner. Rev.19.19. I ſaw their hoſts (or Armies) gathered together to make battle.

At, or for an hour, at a day, &c.] In a ſhort time, and with ſpeed, being ready to do miſchief when the determined time is come, and ſo to continue without wearineſſe, till their appointed time is expired; which is thought will be when the yeer of our Lord ſhall be 1696. for ſo long the name and tyranny of the Turks ſhall endure. Rev. 9.15. Which were prepared at an hour, at a day, at a moneth, at a year.

Hour of judgement] The certain time appointed of God, to bring ſome grievous vengeance on the followers and friends of Antichriſt, for their horrible impiety and unrighteouſneſſe. This is called Rev. 10.7. The finiſhing of the myſtery of God. Rev. 14. 7. For now cometh the hour of his judgement.

Hour of temptation] A time of tryall, by great calamities, but very ſhort, being to laſt but an hour (as it were) Rev. 3 10. I will keep thee in the hour of temptation. What is a great time in reſpect of eternity?

H V.

An hundred forty four thouſand] A certain number, which doth ariſe juſt of twelve times twelve thouſand, to note unto us, not that the twelve Apoſtles did multiply their talents, every one twelve times: but that the number of the elect and faithfull amongſt the Jews, in the dayes of the Goſpel, ſhould be not onely certain to God, but ſuch as may be meaſured and told of men; whereas the number of the elect Gentiles, (howſoever certain to God, yet unpoſſible to be numbred of us) See verſ. 9. of this chap. Rev. 7.4. And there were ſealed an hundred forty and four thouſand.

Husband] Chriſt Jeſus, which hath by faith eſpouſed the Church unto himſelf, who decketh and ſpiritually trimmeth her ſelf in this her Pilgrimage, that ſhe may be ready and prepared at that great and ſolemne Marriage day. Rev. 21. 2. As a Bride trimmed for her Husband.

H T.

Hyacinth, or Jacinth] Smoak, which is of colour like to a Hyacinth, to wit, blew and red; one of the inſtruments of Turkiſh tyranny and cruelty in killing men, which they ſhall do by fire, ſmoak, and brimſtone. Rev. 9.17. Having fiery Habergions of Hyacinth (or Jacinth) and brimſtone.

J A.

Jacinth] A precious ſtone, called a Jacinth. One of thoſe ſtones whereof is made the gate, which ſignifies Chriſt, the onely way and dore unto life, by whom if any enter, he ſhall be ſafe. Rev. 21.20. The eleventh a Jacinth.

Jaſper ſtone] A moſt renowned and noble Jewel, (being the Mother-pearl) both for antiquity and variety. For there be divers ſorts; one kinde is here mentioned like unto Cryſtall, moſt cleer, and of a through and moſt pure light, which cannot be darkned and bſcured by any other colour.

2. The bright glory of God ſhining in his Church, being now more exactly purged from all filth of mans inventions, than ever before. Rev. 21. 11. Her ſhining was like a ſtone moſt precious, as a Jaſper ſtone, cleer as Cryſtall.

3. The exceeding glory and majeſty which God hath himſelfe, and in himſelfe incommunicable to any creature. Rev. 4. 3. And he that ſate, was to look upon like a Jaſper ſtone. Some Interpreters think by theſe three precious ſtones, Jaſper, Sardine, and Emerald, the myſterie of three Perſons in one glorious Godhead to be reſembled, and in ſome ſort opened. The Father, fountain of Deity, ſhadowed by Jaſper, (which is Mater Gemmarum) moſt ancient, and of greateſt variety. The Son (who was made fleſh for us) ſignified by the Sardine, which is of a fleſhy colour; therefore called Carneoll. The Spirit, by the Rain-bow, or Emerald, which is for beauty and pleaſure, moſt delightfull; to note the unexpreſſible ſweetneſſe of the holy Spirit; ſuch then is God; one in Eſſence, three in perſons.

Idolater] One who maketh Images for religious uſe, or worſhippeth the Image of the true God, or of the falſe. Rev. 21.8. And Idolaters.

J E.

withstood and persecuted the Lords holy Prophets, and kept a Table for foure hundred false Prophets; whereof she was a King-leader and a Captain, bearing her self as an open professed enemy of God and his truth.

2. A certain notorious evill woman, not named Jezabel, yet bearing her name for likenesse in qualities; being a Whore, a Witch, and Idolatrous faigning her self to utter doctrine from the holy Ghost (as a Propheteſſe) yet she had it from the Devill himself. Her doctrine was the same which before is called Balaam's doctrine. See there Rev. 2. 20. Thou suffereſt the woman Jezabel, which calleth her self a Propheteſſe. What she was it is not known, but some notable filthy woman, which seduced and poysoned many.

I M.

Image of the beast] Not a picture set up to represent one (such as Painters make for their gain sake.) Neither any bodily Image, made to be worshipped and honoured (as corporall Images set up in the Churches for religious worship be.) But the expresse and lively portraiture and representation of the Honour, Kingdome, Power, and Soveraignty, which the first Beast (to wit, the Romane Heathenish Empire) had; and the second Beast (to wit, Ecclesiasticall Rome) sought to revive. Rev. 13. 14. That they should make an Image of the Beast.

Images, or Idols of silver, gold, &c.] Pictures made of gold and silver, for religious use, and divine adoration, whereof Papistry is full. Rev. 9. 20. That they should not worship Images (or Idols) of silver, gold, &c.

To worship the Image of the Beast] To adore and give divine honour unto the Pope, (who bears the Image of the Heathenish Emperour) by acknowledging a divinity in him; which whosoever refused to doe, though they were Kings and Emperours, they lost not onely their living and dignity, but their head and life too; whereof the Ecclesiasticall Stories give plentifull proof. Rev. 13. 15. As many as would not worship the Beast, should be killed. Rev. 16. 2.

I N.

Inchantment, or Sorceries] Spirituall Witch-craft, whereby Papists bewitched both Kings, and People, that they should be deceived with such grosse trumpery, and dote upon such a foul strumpet as Rome is. Rev. 18. 23. And with thine inchantments (or sorceries) were deceived all Nations. Yet even the other kind of Witchcraft, condemned in Mos. Law, was much practised in Rome, not by Monks and Friers onely, but even by some Popes, who were known Sorcerers and Inchanters. Howsoever this is not meant here.

Inhabitants of the earth] Not such as do dwel and abide here on earth, for so the faithfull do; but such as minde earthly things, being reprobate and unregenerate men. Rev. 12. 12. Woe be unto the inhabitants of the earth.

None in heaven, earth, &c.] Neither Angel nor man, good nor evill. Rev. 5. 3. But none in heaven nor in earth was able to open the Book.

In heaven] In the Church of Christ and company of the Saints, with exceeding great harmony and concent praising Christ. Rev. 19. 1. I heard a great voyce in heaven.

In the Spirit] One ravished by the Spirit, as the old Prophets were, Rev. 17. 3.

J V.

To judge] To be revenged, to punish, or to take punishment, according to the use of the Hebr. tongue. See Gen. 15. 14 Deu. 23. 36. Rev. 18. 5. Because thou hast judged these things.

2. To give an upright sentence upon our persons and works, being first laid open. Rev. 20. 12. And the dead were judged according to the things which were written in the Books.

3. To moderate and governe his owne, by framing and ordering their lives unto justice and righteousnesse. Rev. 19. 11. He judgeth righteously. These words are drawn from Ps. 96. 10, 13. He shall judge the people in righteousnesse.

Judgement in one hour] A great and sudden vengeance, even the fall and ruine of Rome, which shall come in a moment, when it is not looked for. Rev. 18. 10. For in one hour is thy judgement come.

To manifest his judgements] To open and make known the arguments and sure tokens of divine justice, which may declare God unto the whole world, to be a most just Judge. Rev. 15. 4. For thy judgements, &c.

Judgements true and righteous] Gods deliverances of his Saints; which are true, because they are performed according to his promises; and being fulfilled, by destroying his and their enemies, according to their merits. Hence they become righteous. Rev. 19. 2. For true and righteous are his judgements.

Just, or righteous] One extremely hating bloody cruell men, and punishing Romish murtherers, with due punishment of death. Rev. 16. 5. Lord, thou art just (or righteous) &c.

To

K E.

To keep his Word] To abide in that duty which the Word commandeth, and to beleeve that doctrine which it teacheth. Rev. 3. 10. Because thou hast kept the Word of my patience.

To keep, or deliver out of temptation] Not wholly to free from tryall by affliction, but to bestow strength to abide the combate and get the victory. Rev. 3. 10. I will keep thee out of temptation.

Key of David] All power and rule, in commanding, forbidding, delivering, and punishing, loosing, and binding, (by a Metaphor of Keys which were a signe of government) to represent the Regall power of Christ, whereby he casteth out of his Church or receiveth into it, as he thinks good. Rev. 3 7. Which hath the Key of David, &c. These words are taken out of Isa. 22. 22. This power of opening and shutting, he bestoweth on his sincere Ministers who execute it; especially in that part of Church government, whereby obstinate sinners are delivered to Satan, and truly repentant ones are restored to the Church.

Keys of hell and death] The power of Christ, in delivering unto death and hell, such as have sinned. Rev. 1. 18. I have the Key of death and hell. Fearfull is this power, whereby Christ is able to shut the gate of glory upon such wicked men, as are thrust into hell, and to open the gate to the godly, whereby they may enter into life.

Key of the bottomlesse pit] Power over the darkenesse of hell, which is shut up in the deepest and innermost part or gulf of hell. Rev. 9. 1. To that Angel was given the Key of the bottomlesse pit.

K I.

To kill with the sword] To put to any violent death; one kinde of violent death being named, to signifie the rest. Revel. 13. 9, 15. If any kill with the Sword, he shall be killed with the Sword. v. 15. Should be killed.

King] Principally Satan (that great destroyer, who driveth the whole world, both unbeleeving Jews and Gentiles, into destruction) and under him Mahumet, whom the Saracens obey as their King. Also the Pope, (namely Boniface the fift, and Hildebrand) whom religious Locusts, to wit, Monks and Friers, acknowledge as their King and Founder, from whom they receive (as from their King) institution and orders. Revel. 9. 11. Now they had a King set over them.

2. Such as rule as Princes over their Subjects here in earth, under whom (by a Synecdoche) comprehend Emperours, Dukes, and all earthly principalities. Rev. 10. 11. Over Nations, and Tongues, and many Kings. Rev. 16. 18. The flesh of Kings.

3. Elect partakers of Christ his Kingdome, in whom they conquer sin, the world, and Satan. Rev. 1. 6. Made us Kings to God.

Kings of the earth] The mighty men, which have greatest power here in earth, being themselves wicked and earthly minded men, vassals unto their owne lusts, and unto the lusts and will of the Devil, Pope, or the false Prophet Mahumet. Rev. 16. 14. And go to the Kings of the earth. Rev. 18. 3. The Kings of the earth, &c. Also vers. 9. & 23. The great men of the earth. Rev. 19. 19. & 6. 15.

2. Chief Christian Rulers, and godly Princes of the Gentiles, who shall bring their whole power and riches, and whatsoever glorious thing they have to amplifie and beautifie Gods Church, collected now out of Jews as well as Gentiles. Revel. 21. 29. The Kings of the earth shall bring their honour and glory to it.

King of Kings] Christ Jesus, a Soveraign King, to whom all other Kings are but Subjects, receiving their Kingdoms from him. Rev. 19. 16. King of Kings. This is a name of supreme majesty and government, written in Christ his garment, to manifest unto all, that he is above all: and in his Thigh, to signifie, that which may be thought lowest, least, and meanest in Christ (this most mighty King) to be higher then the greatest height and dignity which is in earth. This Soveraign Empire of Christ (whereof we read, Dan. 2. 44, 45.) shall appear far more gloriously in the latter ages of the Church, by subduing his enemies, and protecting and purging his Church, then ever it did in former ages.

King of Saints] God himself, to whom all the Saints yeeld obedience (as to their Soveraigne King) Rev. 15. 3. Just and true are thy wayes, O King of Saints. The Saints having the Almighty God for their King and Protector, and living according to his most pure Laws, they need not fear what devils or men do against them.

Seven Kings] Seven sorts, degrees, or orders of government and rule, which are the speciall marks to discern what City that is, which is the ſeat of that Antichriſt; namely, that which together with ſeven hills (a permanent mark, which even in St. John's time was to be ſeen) hath alſo for a fitting mark, ſeven forms and ſorts of Regiments and Dominions; whereof ſix had been whileſt John was alive; to wit: 1 of Kings, 2 of Conſuls, 3 of Dictators, 4 of Decemviri, 5 of Triumviri, or Tribuni militum. Theſe five were now already paſt and aboliſhed, before the time that St. John lived: as it is written, Five are fallen, chap. 17. 10. The ſixt was of Cæſars, or Emperors, who governed Rome when John wrote the Apocalyps; therefore he ſaith, One is, verſ. 10. The ſeventh was of the Pope, of which he ſaith in the ſame verſ. Another which is not come, &c. becauſe the Pope reigned not in Rome, till a good while after the death of St. John. Here then is a plain deſcription of Rome to be the ſeat of the Beaſt, even of that great Antichriſt; no other City in the world having ſeven hils, and ſeven kinds of government ſucceſſively, ſaving the City of Rome. Rev. 17. 10. They are alſo ſeven Kings. Such then are deceived, as do think by theſe ſeven Kings to be meant, either the firſt ſeven Kings, who in the beginning did ſway the Scepter in Rome, or the ſeven Electors of the Empire; the former were paſt, and the latter remain all ſtill. Or, they who reſtrain it to ſeven ſeverall and ſingular perſons, which ſhould be Galba, Otho, Vitellius, Veſpaſianus, Titus, Domitianus, and Nerva: All which were Emperors of Rome, between Nero and Trajanus. But of all other, they moſt erre, who interpret theſe ſeven Kings (as Ribera the Jeſuite, and Claudius, a Fryer Carmelite of Paris do) of ſeven ages of the world, whereof five ſhould be expired at the firſt coming of our Lord, the ſixt ſhould laſt from thence to the coming of Antichriſt, and the ſeventh from thence to the end of the world. This is to be rejected as a Popiſh dream, fitting theſe ſeven heads to any City in the world: whereas the holy Ghoſt purpoſed here to give an evident note to know where the throne of the Beaſt (that is Antichriſt) ſhould be.

Kingdome of our God] The royall adminiſtration of God in the Church, (the tyrannical enemies thereof being extinct, which delighted to glut themſelves with the blood of the Saints) and godly Kings ſet up to govern his people in his wayes. Rev. 12. 10. Now is come the Kingdome of our God.

Not to receive a kingdome] To want, and to be without that Regall and Princely power, which enableth men to rule over Kingdomes and people. Rev. 17. 12. Which yet have not received the Kingdome.

Kingdomes of the world are Chriſts] Heatheniſh Kings, converted to Chriſt, who after a ſort maketh his royall Majeſty viſible in ſuch godly Kings, framing their hearts ſo, as to cauſe them to caſt down their Crowns and Scepters at Chriſts feet; and both in themſelves and their Subjects, to ſtudy chiefly how to promote his glory. Thus Chriſt reigned by Conſtantine the Great, and other godly Emperors of old time, and of late, by ſundry worthy and religious Princes, in Germany, England, Scotland, Poland and Denmark. Rev. 11. 15. The Kingdomes of this world are our Lords, and his Chriſts, who ſhall reign for evermore.

L A.

Lake of fire burning] The extreme torments of hell, called before, the ſecond death; alſo deſtruction, ch. 17. 8. To be caſt into this Lake, is to be adjudged to moſt grievous damnation and pain there, by an unrecoverable ſentence. This ſhall be done as a moſt juſt reward to Antichriſtian doctrine and tyranny, which ſhall be moſt ſeverely puniſhed without any hope of recovery, either for the Papacy it ſelf, or the men which imbraced it, and fought ſo fiercely for it; for out of hell no redemption. Rev. 19. 20. Theſe both were alive caſt into a lake of fire burning, &c.

Lamb] Chriſt and his Church, humble, mean, and meek as a Lamb. Rev. 17. 14. They ſhall fight againſt the Lamb.

Lambs Marriage-ſupper] The participation and fellowſhip with Chriſt, in his heavenly joyes and bliſſe, when the Church (his Spouſe) ſhall be fully bleſſed. Revel. 19. 9. Called to the Supper of the marriage of the Lamb. Some underſtand this to belong to the time of the calling of the Jews, which ſhall be afore Chriſt his coming to judgement; in which calling they ſhall not refuſe upon vain excuſes, as at firſt, Matth. 22. But at the firſt hearing (through the moſt effectuall grace of Chriſt) they ſhal very readily obey the doctrine of faith, wherein they ſhal joyntly delight themſelves, as men which ſit together at a great Supper, which being in the the evening and end of the day, doth ſignifie, that this calling of the Jews, ſhall be in the evening and end of the world, as a forerunner and repreſentation of the great Supper which the Church and Chriſt ſhall have together in heaven. This expoſition is not raſhly to be rejected.

L E.

To lead into captibity] To expell or drive out of ones Countrey, and to make them bond men and ſlaves. Rev. 13. 10. If any lead into captivity.

Leaves of the tree] The moſt certain hope which the faithfull now have by Chriſt of the glory to come, which follows after a Chriſtian hope, as fruit in the ſeaſon doth accompany and follow leaves and flowers. Rev. 22. 2. And the leaves of the tree healed the Gentiles. Some underſtand this of the graces and merits of Chriſt, fully enjoyed in heaven; where ſeeing there ſhall be no difference between Jew and Gentile, nor any ſorts to be healed, therefore the former ſignification is better.

Length as large as the breadth] The durable continuance of the Church of Chriſt (meant by length:) Alſo the comely beauty and form which it ſhall ſhew (meant by the breadth:) and the one being as large as the other, ſignifies a wonderfull proportion in the durance and comelineſſe of the Church. Rev. 21. 16. The length was as large as the breadth.

Leopard] A certain beaſt (which ſome call the Cat of the Mount, others a Libbard) very full of ſpots, diverſly coloured, alſo, exceeding ſwift, ſubtle, and fierce, being moſt furiouſly inraged againſt men, ſo as if it ſee but the picture of a man on a Table or paper, it will moſt fiercely run againſt it to tear it. Laſtly, it is of ſuch a ſweet ſavour, as alloureth all other beaſts unto it, by which means they are caught and devoured.

2. The Romiſh Biſhop with his aſſiſtants, his Popiſh Clergy, even that Antichriſt conſiſting of that Corporation, which very fitly is likened to a Leopard, whoſe ſpots repreſent the horrible filthyneſſe which ſticketh in that Romiſh beaſt ſo faſt, as there is no more hope they will change, then that a Leopard will forſake his ſpots. Alſo that Romiſh rabble be moſt hatefull to true Chriſtian men, not being able to endure the Image of ſuch (being adorers of all other Images:) they are ſwift to miſchief, uſing not more celerity in effecting cruelty, then they do ſubtilty in contriving it, enticing many thouſands into their ſnares, by a kind of venerable majeſty, and counterfeit piety. Finally, they be ravenous as Bears, proud, ſtout, and intolerably inſolent and ſavage withall as Lions, having (to be ſhort) all ſuch immanities and deformities in them alone, as Dan. 7. 4, 5, 6. under ſeveral beaſts, ſeverally applyed to thoſe three great Monarchies, to wit, Aſſyrians or Chaldees, Perſians or Medes, and Greeks. Rev. 13. 2. This Beaſt was like a Leopard, his feet like a Bear, and his mouth was like the mouth of a Lion. Whereas ſome Interpreters underſtand this Leopard of the Romane Empire, civill, or become Chriſtian, but tainted with corrupt error, it doth not ſo well agree as to that Antichriſt, to the corporation of the Papacy, whereof the Biſhop of Rome is head and chief, who hath exerciſed and doth practiſe cruelties of all ſorts, wanting no kinde of ſpirituall nor bodily ſpots and filthineſſe.

L I.

Lies] Error in doctrine, hereſies, diſſimulation in Religion, and counterfeit manners. Rev. 22. 15. And ſuch as love and make lies.

Liers] Hypocrites, diſſemblers, and all which delight in errour and falſe doctrine. Rev. 21. 8. And liers.

To lift up the hand to heaven] To ſwear, or by oath to confirm a thing. It was a geſture of old, uſed by ſuch as did ſwear, and at this day is in uſe with the Ethiopian. Rev. 10. 5. He lift up his hand to heaven. Very often in the Old Teſtament, lifting up his hand is put to ſignifie ſwearing, Gen. 14. 22. Numb. 14. 30. Ezek. 20. 5. To theſe texts doth John allude.

Light of a candle] The very leaſt commodity of this life, (as a candle lighted in the night) which the pooreſt will not be without. So great ſhall be the fall of that City, wherein the leaſt good thing ſhall be wanting, and cannot be had. Revel. 18. 23. And the light of a candle ſhall ſhine no more in it.

To lighten the earth with his glory] To illuminate mens mindes by the brightneſſe of the pure Word of God, expelling darkneſſe of ignorance, and damnable hereſies, which had long covered the face of the world. Rev. 18. 1. And he lightned the earth with his glory.

Lightnings] The terrible and unavoydable puniſhments, which God from heaven ſhall ſend upon the perſecutors of his Church. Rev. 4. 5. Out of the throne come lightnings.

Linnen

Linnen pure and bright, or white] Angelicall purity, by the alone imputation of Christ his holineſſe to the Saints, who be all Prieſts to God, all now entring into Gods Temple, whereinto the Levitical Prieſts onely were wont to come. Rev. 15. 6. Cloathed in pure and bright (or white) linnen. He aludeth herein to the cloathing of the Prieſts under the Law, Exod. 28. 42. Some underſtand by this pure linnen, the equity and integrity of Gods judgements upon his enemies; Junius writeth, that this kinde of cloathing with fine pure linnen, it was of old time a ſigne of royall and Princely dignity.

Little book] A ſpeciall book concerning the affairs of Gods Church, which is kept with Chriſt the Redeemer, out of which he took this Apocalyps: thus Mr. Junius. Rev. 10. 2. And he had in his hand a little book open.

2. The holy Bible, which though a large Book conſidered by it ſelfe, yet if it be compared with the huge Volumes of Popiſh Ordinances and Decrees, it is but little. Mr. Gifford takes it thus.

3. All divine myſteries, which to reveal is in Chriſts power. Claudius doth thus interpret it.

4. All conſolatory Scripture, of Evangelical promiſes, which are written in a book, that they might be extant to comfort Chriſtians in all ages; and becauſe they lead directly as a ready way to the throne of grace, (through one Mediator) and not by long windlaſſes and circuits; therefore it is ſaid to be a little book. Mr. Fulke expounds it thus.

5. An uncertain work or book, written very anciently, touching the eſtate of latter times; affirming, that as the doctrine of grace was preached firſt to the Jews, then to the Greeks, and laſtly to the Latines; ſo contrariwiſe, it ſhould return from Latines to the Greeks, and ſo back again to the Hebrews, whence it firſt came; ſaith an unknown Author.

6. The ſlender, mean, and weak knowledge of divine truth, given to ſome one certain age, whereof John ſpeaks. M. Brightman takes it thus. Let godly Readers take what ſenſe of theſe they ſhall think meeteſt; I moſt encline to Mr. Gifford's expoſition: That the holy Bible, which long had been ſhut up from the people by the craft and malice of Antichriſt, ſhould at length be clearly known unto the people.

Little ſeaſon] A ſhort ſpace of time, wherein the tyranny of Antichriſt ſhould laſt, which of the learned is accounted to be about 390 yeers, or 4000. In which time the Devil let looſe, did deceive the world with abominable ſuperſtition, idolatry, wicked errors, and ſuch ſtrong deluſions, as was wonderfull. Revel. 20. 3. And afterward he muſt be looſed a little ſeaſon.

Lively, or living fountains] All good things, (which the memory of former evils cannot diminiſh) and to be led to theſe Fountains, ſignifies to be partakers of all thoſe good things; and that by the Lambe Chriſt his mediation onely. Rev. 7. 17. And ſhall lead them to the lively (or living) fountains. Theſe words contain the cauſe of the felicity deſcribed in the former verſes. See Joh. 7. 33, 39. what is meant by the waters of life. All ſpirituall good or graces of the Spirit, abundantly ſhed upon the thirſty ſouls which deſire them, and feel an extreme need of them.

Every living thing, or ſoul] All the worſhippers of the Beaſt, as well the Clergy and Popiſh Teachers (ſignified by the Seas) as the Laical Papiſts (ſignified by the earth) one and other ſhall be horribly ſlaughtered in the great day of Gods vengeance upon them (for which, God is praiſed in the next verſe:) even as Fiſhes died in the Sea, turned into blood in Ægypt, and men were driven to drink blood when the freſh waters were ſmitten. Rev. 16. 3. And every living thing (or ſoul) dyed in the Sea.

L O.

Locuſts] The falſe Prophets, and all the worſhippers of Mahomet in the Eaſt, ariſing out of groſſe errors and ignorance, flying (as it were) by companies, and feeding, not upon their owne, but the things of others, like locuſts, till they had in a manner devoured and miſerably waſted both the Eaſt Regions of the world, and the Weſt Countreys of Europe. Alſo, by theſe locuſts are meant eſpecially the great ſwarms of Popiſh Prieſts, Fryers, Monks, and Cardinalls, even the whole Popiſh Hierarchy, and Pontificall Clergy in the Weſt. Theſe are fitly likened unto Locuſts, which are a little and vile vermine, ſpringing (as ſome ſay) out of ſmoak; flying together by great heaps and ſwarms, eating up and deſtroying green things and fruits of the earth, being a very ſlothfull and idle creature; even ſuch for all the world as the Popiſh Clergy men. They are bred out of the ſmoak and darkneſſe of helliſh ignorance; they are ſlow-bellies, living upon the ſweat of other mens browes:

whatſo-

whatsoever in any Region or Countrey is most pleasant, they draw it unto them, and eat it up, laying waste all the green things in the Church, overspreading the earth in great heaps and rabblements, stinging thousand thousands with their damnable devices, and devillish inventions. Rev. 9.3. And there came out of the smoak, locusts upon the earth, which have power as the scorpions of the earth have power. The Popish Writers themselves doe acknowledge by these Locusts to be meant the Masters of errors, hereticall Teachers, such as should give heed to Spirits of error, and doctrine of devils, bringing in dangerous errors, and denying the Lord; as Franciscus Chaudius a Carmelite Fryer hath expounded this place. The Rhemists also upon this Text, confesse thus much in their marginall notes.

Long white robes] See Robes.

To loose] To give liberty and power more fully to execute his rage and cruelty against the truth, and professors of it, to vex them by all the means he can. Rev. 20.3. He must be loosed.

Lord of Lords] A Soveraign Lord, to whom belongs all power and dominion, over all Emperours and Kings of the earth. Rev. 17.14. For he is the Lord of Lords, and King of Kings.

Strong Lord] Christ Jesus, Infinite in power, which no earthly or hellish power is able to resist; therefore howsoever it seem unpossible that Rome being propped up with the might and riches of many great friends and confederates, should be destroyed, yet it must be so, sithence he that executeth the judgement is so strong a Lord. Rev. 18. 8. For he that condemneth (or judgeth) her is a strong Lord.

Not to love their lives] To preferre the truth of the Gospel, and faith in Christ, before their owne lives, being prodigall to spend even their blood, rather then by any torments to be removed from the Gospell. Rev. 12. 11. And they loved not their lives unto death; that is, not their lives more then Christ. A comparative speech, like that in 1 Cor. 1.17. Christ sent me not to baptize, but to preach; that is, rather, and more sent to preach then to baptize.

L V.

Lukewarm] One which is neither hot nor cold, being indifferent, ready for all companies and religions, without love or zeal to God: such are loathsome to the stomach of Christ, and shall be spewed forth of his mouth, as vomit is offensive to the stomach, mouth, and man that speweth it Rev. 3. 16. Because thou art lukewarm, and neither hot nor cold. It is an Allegorical speech, borrowed from lukewarm things, which provoke the stomach to vomit, and signifies that Neuters and Time-servers shall at last be cast out with loathing and detestation.

To lust after] Wantonly to desire things delicate and pleasant. Rev. 18 14. That thy soul lusted after.

M A.

To make all] To compell and enforce every person, one and other, of what sex or condition soever. Rev. 13. 16. He made all, both great and small.

2. To create things of nothing; as where it is said, Thou O God, madest heaven and earth.

3. To restore and renew things decayed and corrupt. Rev. 21.5. I will make all things new. Some understand this of restoring the doctrine, worship, and people of God, to more purity here on earth, before Christ his second coming. Others, of the renovation of the world, at the last judgement. Both me thinks, may well be comprehended in these words, of making all new.

To make the Image of the Beast] To have any Image in honour and great price, giving to it great glory and respect. Revel. 13.14. That they should make the Image of the Beast. What this Image signifies, see before, Image.

Measure of man] A description which shall be made by godly Ministers, doing in all things (which concern the administration of the Church) after the will of God, even as the Angels doe continually respect Gods pleasure. Rev. 21. 17. By the measure of a man, that is, of an Angel.

Number of a man] Not any particular individuall Man, living at such time as John wrote (as Peter, Thomas, James) but a Kingdome, whose name may be sought out by a Man; and being found out of the Letters numerall of that name, there will arise just the number of six hundred sixty six. This name is Lateinos, as shall be shewed in the word [Number] Rev. 13. 18. It is the number of a man.

Many waters] Many people, Nations, Languages, over which the great Whore reigneth. Rev. 17. 1. The great Whore sitteth upon many waters. Theſe waters are expounded Verſ. 15. The waters are peoples, multitudes, nations and tongues. This proves Rome to be the great Whore, and throne of the Beaſt; for doth not that City ſit upon many waters? Are not now many Countreys and Kingdomes ſubject to the Biſhop of Rome? And many more have been ſubject to him heretofore.

Mark of the Beaſt] Some publick ſigne or token, whereby men were known to others, and did profeſſe themſelves to be the ſervants of the Beaſt; as the Jews were ſevered from other people, by the mark of Circumciſion, and Chriſtians are marked by the ſigne of Baptiſme, whereby they are ſealed to Chriſt. So the followers of Antichriſt are markable and known by ſome externall ſigne and ceremony: but what this mark is, Divines doe not all agree. Some will have the Mark to be, the profeſſion to be a member of the Latine Church, or Romane Church. Some, the Chriſme in their Sacrament of Confirmation. Some ſay the Mark to be all one with the Name of the Beaſt. But I like beſt of them which think that the Beaſt had ſundry marks, wherewith he branded his worſhippers, becauſe we ſee in the Text, the Mark, the Name of the Beaſt, and the Number of his Name, diſtinguiſhed by the holy Ghoſt. And it is known by experience, that ſome were more neerly marked to the Pope, and with a more ſpeciall brand then other were. For Emperors, Kings, and other great men of the earth were obliged to the Pope, by the mark of a ſolemn oath, promiſing and binding themſelves to be Defenders and Protectors of the chief Biſhop and holy Church of Rome: as did the Emperor Otho, the firſt of that name, in the year of our Lord, 1442. ſwear to Pope John the twelfth, that to his utmoſt power he would extoll him and the holy Church. Now, the Popes Clergy of all ſorts, as Cardinals, Fryers, Monks, Nuns, &c. they had their peculiar mark, even the ceremony of Popiſh Orders, called amongſt themſelves, an Indeleble character. Furthermore, the Laypapiſts profeſſe themſelves to be the Popes vaſſals, worſhippers of him, as of their ſpirituall Lord, by calling themſelves after his name [Catholick Papiſts] as their High-prieſt, the Biſhop of Rome doth intitle himſelf [the Catholick Biſhop.] Finally, the Greek Church, which a great while withſtood the power of the Pope, at the length took upon them the number of his Name, when Michael Paleologus the Grecian Emperor, promiſed for himſelf and all his Subjects, to ſubmit himſelf, and yeeld the Primacy to the Latine Biſhop, to be ſubject unto the Mother Church of Rome. Thus of theſe 3 ſignes, the Character or Mark of the Beaſt, belongs to the Princes and Clergy, as unto Sons; his name unto the people and vulgar ſort, as unto his Slaves; and the number of his name unto the Grecians, as unto Strangers. Rev. 13. 17. That no man might buy or ſell, ſave he that had the mark, or the name of the Beaſt, or the number of his name.

To receive a mark in the right hand, and in the forehead] To witneſſe the ſubmiſſion unto Antichriſt, the Romiſh Beaſt, by reſerving unto him and his Sea (the Church of Rome) the Prerogative in all their actions, advancing and preferring it with their beſt might and force; which is to receive the mark in the hand (the inſtrument of ſtrength and action.) Alſo, publickly every where, profeſſing their homage and ſubjection unto the holy Apoſtolick Catholick Sea of Rome (as they call it) which is to have the mark of the Beaſt imprinted in the forehead. Rev. 13. 16. And he made all to receive a mark in the right hand, and in the forehead. Some underſtand this of having their forehead and hand ſigned with Chriſme in Confirmation, or with their greaſie oyntment. Others interpret it of maintaining Papiſme, both ſecretly and openly. But the firſt interpretation is beſt.

Marriage of the Lamb] Moſt neer and ſtraight conjunction between Chriſt and his Church, to be gathered out of beleeving Jews and Gentiles; not Gentiles alone. Rev. 19. 7. The marriage of the Lamb is come.

Marriage-ſupper] See Supper.

Martyr faithfull] A conſtant witneſſe-bearer to the truth of God, which he is ready to give teſtimony unto, with loſſe of his life, and doth it indeed when need is. Rev. 2. 13. Antipas my faithfull Martyr was ſlain.

M E.

Meaſure of a man] See Man.

To meaſure the City] To deſcribe accurately the Church of Chriſt. Rev. 21. 15. He had a golden reed to meaſure the City withall.

A meaſure of wheat] Such a portion of bread as would ſerve a man for a day, if he eat Wheat; and three Meaſures of Barley, ſignifies three mens Breadcorn, if they would eat Barley bread. This great ſcarcity of victuals, is threatned as a plague for contempt of the world. Rev. 6. 6. A meaſure of wheat for a penny.

Merchants

Merchants of the earth] Such as transport and import for money, wares, and commodities by Shipping, thereby to enrich themselves.

2. Such as make merchandise and sale (for filthy gain) of mens souls, through false Doctrine and Idolatry, and by this kind of ware, gain great glory and wealth to themselves, therefore are called the great men of the earth, vers. 23. See vers. 13. Such were the rich Cardinals, and other Popish Prelates. Rev. 18. 3. And the Merchants of the earth waxed rich by the abundance of her pleasures.

M I.

Michael with his Angels] Christ Jesus that great and strong Prince and Captain of the hoste of God, head of the Angels, and of his Church. Rev. 12. 7. Michael and his Angels fought, &c. Some by Michael, understand the faithfull, who professe the mighty God, and are assisted with the Angels in the battle against Satan. Others think Constantine the Great to be noted out by Michael, because of the great strength wherewith he was endowed of Christ (who therefore lent his owne name) to fight his battles against Maxentius and other cruel enemies of the Christian Church. We may well understand both him as instrument, and Christ as Captain and chief Commander, in this battle.

Midst of the four Beasts] The company of the Saints, the Church of Christ, which onely knoweth the counsell of God in his plagues, which he sendeth upon the unfaithfull world, for what causes they are sent, and what use to be made of them. Rev. 6. 6. And I heard a voyce in the midst of the foure Beasts, say.

Midst of heaven] See Heaven. Rev. 8. 13. & 14. 6. & 19. 17. All these places have one meaning, to wit, of such as have avoyded grosse superstition, but not attained such purity as is meet, and therefore hang in the middle, as ye would say, between heaven and earth, purity and impurity.

To be in the midst of the throne of foure Beasts and the Elders] The equality of Jesus Christ (that Lamb) with the Father, in the essence and glory of the Godhead. Also his special and gracious presence in the Assembly of faithfull ones in the midst of his Church. Rev. 5. 6. And loe, in the midst of the throne, and of the foure Beasts, &c. stood a Lamb.

Mightily] Forcibly, with a strong voyce, and great vehemency of speech, to stir up attention, and to note the efficacy and unchangeable certainty of the things denounced by this one Angel. Rev. 18. 2. And he cryed out mightily, &c.

Minde having wisdome] The most wise interpretation of that secret, touching the seven heads here mentioned; or a mind indued with understanding from God, wisely to know and mark this secret. Rev. 17. 19. Here is the mind that hath wisdome. It is a preface to prepare attention, like to that, Rev. ch. 2. He that hath ears to hear, &c. So here, Attend to the interpretation of these things, in the understanding whereof there is wisdome.

Mingled with fire] The doctrine of heavenly Truth, clear as Crystall, coloured with hot contentions and strife, (as it were with fire:) or as others expound it, accompanyed with bitter persecutions, as sharp as fire. For it is usual in Scripture, by the tearm of fire, to understand both fervent contention, as Matth. 10. Luke 12. and also fierce tribulation, as in Job 1. 1 Pet. 4. 12. Rev. 15. 2. I saw a Sea of glasse mingled with fire. Junius by mingling of fire, understands the treasures of Gods judgements to be dispensed at his pleasure.

M O.

Moon] That creature or great light, which gives shine by night. Revel. 21. 23. Neither of the Moon to shine in it.

2. The vanity of all earthly things, subject to changeablenesse, as riches, honors, &c. which the members of the Primitive Apostolicall Church despised, being far from that ambition and lust after honours and wealth, which hath since entred in, and raged. Rev. 12. 2. And the Moon was under her feet. It is a godly and learned exposition, by the Moon to understand that light and truth of doctrine, concerning manners, received from the Word (as the Moon borroweth her light of the Sun) after which the members of the first Apostolicall Churches directed their feet and steps; being for worship, government, life, and manners, both uniform, and as yet) undefiled with humane inventions. But the first signification is godly, and also more usuall.

Song of Moses the servant of God] Such a song of rejoycing and triumph, for delivery out of the cruel jaws of Antichrist; as Moses (who for honour sake, by an excellency is called the servant of God, Deut. 34. 10.) did sing with the Israelites after their deliverance deliverance from the Ægyptians, Exod. 15 there being no leſſe power and goodneſſe of God, ſhewed forth in ſaving from Antichriſt, than from Pharaoh. Rev. 15. 3. And they ſing the Song of Moſes the Servant of God.

Mother of whoredomes, or Harlots, &c.] One that is the Miſtris and Teacher of Idolatry, (which is ſpirituall fornication.) As alſo the Mother and the Nurſe of wickedneſſe of all ſorts and kinds. Such an one is Rome, the Synagogue of Antichriſt, boaſting her ſelf to be the Mother Church, the pillar of truth, out of which there is no ſalvation; yet indeed approves her ſelf to be that ſtepmother of all thoſe ſuperſtitions and impieties, which ſo long time have been derived and ſpread abroad into the Weſtern and Eaſtern Churches, under the appearance of piety, and the title of the holy Church. Rev. 17. 5. That great Babylon, the Mother of whoredomes, and the abominations of the earth. This is that myſticall name, which John in a Viſion ſaw written in the forehead of the great Whore: and it is of great force, to ſerve us how to finde out who that Antichriſt is, even ſuch an one as doth not openly and profeſſedly, but ſecretly and in a myſtery fight againſt Chriſt, his truth, all Religion and honeſty: which how it doth fit Baptiſme, one with half an eye may eaſily ſee. For Heatheniſh Rome, which Papiſts would have to be this Mother, did not put her ſuperſtitions upon other Cities and Countreys which they conquered, but left them to their owne Religion, neither were their ſuperſtitions any myſteries.

Mount Sion] The true Church of Chriſt in this world prefigured by Mount Sion, and like to it by firm ſtableneſſe, being unremoveable and invincible by any aſſaults of afflictions. Revel. 14. 1. A Lamb ſtood upon Mount Sion.

Mountain burning with fire] Proud Tyrants, and arrogant Princes, ſwolne with ambition and luſt of honour, like Mountains; alſo eagerly and fervently ſtudying and ſtriving (as men ſet on fire with deſire of dignities) for getting and maintaining their pomp and promotion. Rev. 8. 8. A great mountain burning with fire was caſt into the Sea. It is very uſuall in Scripture by Mountains to deſcribe mighty Kingdomes, Empires and Principalities; alſo haughty and high minded Princes, as in Iſa. 2. 14, 15. Unto what Kingdome doth this ſo fitly agree, as to that proud Kingdome of Antichriſt, advancing it ſelfe not onely over earthly Emperors, Kings, and their Empires and Kingdomes, but even above heaven?

2. Great and ſtrong hils, which by Gods horrible judgement ſhall be ſo ſwallowed up as they ſhall be ſeen no more, or be any more extant. Rev. 16. 20. And the mountains were not found.

To ſee no mourning, or ſorrow] To taſte or feel any want or calamity, which may cauſe men to mourn and grieve. Rev. 18. 7. I ſhall ſee no mourning, or ſorrow.

Mouth of the Dragon] The Commiſſion, authority, and commandements of the Devill and his adminiſters (called here the Beaſt and the falſe Prophet) Rev. 16. 13. I ſaw three unclean ſpirits like Frogs, come out of the mouth of the Dragon, and out of the mouth of the Beaſt, and out of the mouth of the falſe Prophet.

2. Rayling ſlanderous ſpeeches, and wicked blaſphemous calumniations and reproaches, wherewith the Devill endevoured to bring the Chriſtian Church into great hatred and danger among worldly men. Rev. 12. 16. Which the Dragon had caſt out of his mouth.

A mouth was given him] Power of blaſpheming, with reproachfull words, was by Gods juſt judgement permitted unto him, for the juſt puniſhment of the wicked world. Rev. 13. 5. A mouth was given to him to ſpeak great things and blaſphemies.

To open his mouth to blaſpheme] To ſpread abroad and caſt out by ſpeeches, execrable contumelies and reproaches againſt the Divine Majeſty, his Religion, his true Church in which he dwels by his Spirit, and againſt all the true members of his Church, the Saints of God. Rev. 13. 6. And he opened his mouth againſt God, to blaſpheme his Name, his Tabernacle, and them that dwell in heaven. How juſtly may this be verified upon the Pope and his Creatures, boaſting himſelf as God, reproaching the Chriſtian Church as a conventicle of Hereticks, and with their unpure mouths, traducing all for Heretical, Schiſmaticall, and moſt wicked men, which ſeparate themſelves from their Synagogue. A plentifull proof of theſe Blaſphemies, is extant in one Bull of Leo the tenth, againſt Luther.

Out of his mouth went there a ſharp ſword] The doctrine of the Word of God (which is a ſpirituall ſword) and proceeds from the mouth of Chriſt the Son of God, ſubduing all people unto the obedience of his Ordinances and Laws. As in Rev. 19. 15. And out of his mouth went there a ſharp ſword, that with it he might ſmite the Heathen.

M Y.

Mystery] A mysticall name, which is discerned and known onely by wisdome. Thus Beda saith of it. Or a name which is otherwise to be interpreted, then the shew and appearance of it is, deceiving men under the title of Religion, being most abominable indeed Rev. 17. 5. And in her forehead a name written, a mystery. Some Interpreters think, that the name of the woman is called a Mystery, because her description is set down in a figurative speech, and not in plain tearms: and this doth well agree with the former significations: they are deceived therefore, which read mysterie with a great character, as if [Mystery] were the name of a woman; whereas it shews out the condition of her name, that it is secret, and removed from common understanding, needing interpretation.

The mysterie of the woman] That which is secret or hid from our understanding (through our negligence and unskilfulnesse) concerning the Woman and the Beast, that is, Rome, which God promised here to open and declare unto John, and by him unto the Church. Rev. 17. 7. I will shew thee the mystery of the woman, and of the beast that beareth her. No marvell then, if so many be ignorant still of the Woman and the Beast, seeing her name is Mysticall; and what thanks owe the faithfull to God, for declaring this mysterie of the name unto them, to keep them from being deluded to their destructions, as a thousand thousands be?

The mysterie of God] The restoring of the Jews by their calling to Christ, which being a thing far from all thought and hope of men, is therefore called a Mysterie. Rev. 10. 7. The mysterie of God shall be finished. Some by this Mysterie, understand the doctrine of the last judgement, touching the rewarding of good and evill: Others, the whole doctrine of thglorious redemption of the Church of Christ; which things, because none comprehend so as they shall be, are therefore called Mysteries. But I prefer the first signification.

N A.

Naked] One exposed and laid open to shame, reproach, and contempt. For garments are used to hide shame. Revel. 3. 17. Poor and naked.

Name] Opinion, report, or account of men. Rev. 3. 1. Thou hast a name to live; that is, thou art thought to live unto God in the opinion and account of men, but art not indeed what thou seemest to be.

2. The truth of the Gospel, or faith of Christ. Rev. 3. 8. Thou hast not denyed my name.

3. God himself, who is become (through Christ) a Father of the faithful. Rev. 14. 1. Having his Fathers name written in their forehead. Rev. 22. 4.

4. Persons of the Elect and Reprobates, men and women, so perfectly known to God, as Souldiers to their Captain, who hath mustered their names in a book. Rev. 13. 8. Whose names are not written in the book of life. Also the elect and godly alone. Rev. 3. 4.

Name of blasphemy] The arrogant boasting, and titles full of reproach, to God, to Christ, and the Christian Church. For example, in that the Pope is intituled to be neither God nor man, but one between both. Also our Lord God, the Vicar of Christ upon earth, the universall Bishop, the head of the universall Church. Also the particular Church of Rome, which vaunteth her self to be the foundation and form of other Churches, the Mother-Church, from whence Peter's chair cannot be sundred, that she cannot erre; and all to be Hereticks, who in Articles of the Faith and Sacraments, thinketh otherwise than she doth: besides innumerable more blasphemous Names which that Beast bears in his forehead. Rev. 13. 1. And upon his head the name of blasphemy.

Name of my God] A manifestation to the world, that God will take his chosen ones under his speciall protection. Rev. 3. 12. I will write upon him the name of my God.

N E.

New name] The title and name of the children of God, by grace of Adoption. Rev. 2. 17. In the stone a new name written.

2. The society of that glorious Kingdome which Christ shall in this world communicate to his, as far as they be capable of it.

it. Rev. 3.12. I will put upon him my new name.

New Jeruſalem] That City wherein the Saints ſhall live bleſſedly after this life. Rev. 3. 12. & 21. 2. Some by (new Jeruſalem) under a Church in earth, towards the end, which for purity of doctrine and manners, ſhall exceed all Churches that ever were, being a lively Image of a Celeſtial purity.

N O.

Noyſe of thunder] A mighty and glorious voyce, like to the noyſe of thunder. Rev. 6. 1. As it had been the noyſe of thunder.

N V.

Number of a man] Such a number as a man may be able to finde out, not infinite and unſearchable, but which the wit of a man endowed with wiſdome, may finde. Rev. 13. 18. For it is the number of a man. Others interpret the number of a man, to be ſuch a name of a man (as by the Numerall Letters, whereof this number of ſix hundred ſixty ſix will ariſe,) yet meaning not the proper name of any particular perſon, but Nomen Gentile (as it is called of Grammarians) the Name of Nation or Countrey paſſing from the head to the reſt of the people.

Number is ſix hundred ſixty ſix] A name conſiſting of ſo many and ſuch Numerall letters, as being counted ſummed and up, do make the number of 666. which is the number of the Beaſt; both the firſt Beaſt, (to wit, the Romane Emperor, and Empire) and the ſecond Beaſt; (to wit, the Romane Pope and Papacy) for under the Beaſt is comprehended no one particular man, but an order and ſucceſſion of men, even a Kingdome. Irenæus, who lived neer the Apoſtles time, having ſeen and heard Polycarpus, who was one of the Diſciples of St. Iohn, the Pen-man of the Apocalyps) doth report, that before this time, this name (out of whoſe Numerall letters ſhould ariſe 666.) was [Lateinos] and he himſelf judged it likely to be ſo indeed; becauſe (ſaith he) the moſt true Kingdome hath that name. For they be Latines which now do reign, as he writeth, lib. 5. c. 29. Adverſus Hæreſes [Lateinos] nomen ſexcentorum ſexaginta ſex numerum continet Now the Pope is head of the Latine Church, as the Emperour was of the Latine Empire. Therefore if the Emperor with his Empire (by Irenæus judgement) might be called Latinos, much more Popedome, and the Pope; who is ſo much a Latine as he will allow no exerciſe of Religion, but in Latine. He compels all to pray in Latine, h.. eth the Bible of the Latine Tranſlation, which he prefers before the Bible written in the Hebrew and Greek Tongues by the Prophets and Apoſtles. His Laws, Decrees and People are all Latine. His Church Latine, and all condemned as Schiſmaticks, which will not be ſubject to his Latine Law, and his Latine Faith. The Greeks being odious to Papiſts, untill they conſented to ſubmit themſelves to the Latine Biſhop, as Primate and chief, and the Latine ſervice. May not then the name Latinos, well agree to the Popiſh Hierarchy, and better than to the Heatheniſh Empire? And that this ſhould be the very Name (howſoever the judgements of men much differ, and the name may be fitted to other words) which hath the number of a man, containing 666. is apparent by theſe preſumptions. Firſt, becauſe the name here ſpoken of, was ſuch, as wiſe men might finde, and it was a name which then might be found, when St. Iohn wrote (elſe in vain had an exhortation been to ſtudy and ſearch it, had there been no hope to finde it.) Alſo by Irenæus himſelf, and afore him, it was received by common conſent. Laſtly, the Greek letters of the name being numbred amounteth to 666. as may be perceived in this which followeth.

His number is ſix hundreth, threeſcore and ſix, Re. 13. 18.

O D.

Odours, or Incenſe] The merits of Chriſt our Mediator, which (as ſweet odors) make the prayers of the Saints pleaſing to God. Rev. 8. 3. Much odours (or incenſe) was given him.

O L.

Old Serpent] The Devill, or Satan, which through long experience (ever ſince the Creation of man) is wonderfull deep in manifold crafts and ſubtilties. Rev. 12. 9. The devil, that old Serpent.

D Y.

One of the Angels] That Angel or Meſſenger of God, which was laſt of the ſeven Angels that had the ſeven Vials, mentioned before, before, ch. 15. Revel. 21. 9. And there came unto me one of the seven Angels.

One consent] The agreement of minde, and of affections, which shall be (by Gods Spirit) wrought in such Kings as shall execute his deep decreed judgement upon the Whore (the Romish Hierarchy) for her utter ruine and wasting. The Kings did at first no more certainly consent for the exalting, then at length their Successors shall agree to pull her down. Revel. 17. 17. To doe with one consent, &c.

At one day] Suddenly, in short space, at an instant (as ye would say) after the Whore hath long flourished and tyrannized, she shal be by a strange and sudden calamity destroyed, both the people by death, sorrow, and famine; and the City of Rome it self by fire, being burnt up by the besiegers, and turn'd into ashes. This shall be the perfect fall of Babylon, which is already much decayed, and hastening to ruine. Rev. 18: 18. Her plagues shall come at one day.

One hour] The suddenness of the judgement, which should crush Rome, and make her Favourites mourn and die for sorrow. Rev. 18. 18. In one hour that judgement shall come.

One minde] One counsell, consent, or purpose, which all the ten Kings had with their united forces and power to defend the tyranny of that Beast, the Romane Bishop. Rev. 17. 13. These have one minde.

O P.

To open the Book] To unseal the Book, by declaring and revealing unto John, and by him to the Church, such secret mysteries as were before hidden in Gods counsel. This no creature could do: Christ the Mediatour he was onely able; for he came out of the bosome of the Father, to declare him to us, having all power. Rev. 5. 2, 3, 5. Who is worthy to open the Book. Such a treasure is this book of Revelation, which is not otherwise communicated to the Church, but by the mediation of Christ, who is the only Interpreter of his Fathers will, and Doctor of his Church.

To open the bottomlesse pit] To set abroach, publish, and manifest such devillish errors and heresies as came from the deep pit of hell, which was done, when Antichrist got power and strength to obscure the truth of heavenly doctrine, and to deceive the world with strong delusions. Rev. 9. 2. And he opened the bottomlesse pit.

An open doze] The liberty and faculty which is given to the Church for preaching pure doctrine, exercising sound worship, and an holy discipline, with great readinesse and joy, both of Ministers and People. Revel. 3. 8. I have set before thee an open dore. Some do too narrowly restrain this to the preaching of the Gospel onely, which indeed is a dore, whereby an entrance is given into heaven. It is better more largely to take it, for the joyning together of word, worship, discipline, zeal of Ministers, Magistrates, and people. When all this meets (as in the Church of Philadelphia it did) there is a large and ready way for piercing into mens consciences.

To open the doze, or the gate] To receive and admit into the heart, the grace and power of Christ. Rev. 3. 20. If any man hear and open the dore. See Dore. Some understand this, of admitting and receiving all such ordinances of Christ, whereby the dore of our hearts may be most speedily and forcibly cast open.

To open the mouth to blasphemies] To utter and belch forth reproachfull and contumelious words (as Antichrist doth, boasting that he is God above all Kings and Emrors.) Rev. 13. 6. He opened his mouth to blaspheme.

Temple opened in heaben] The triumphant celestiall Church opened by the death of Christ to all which beleeve in him, before he came in the flesh; and to all, who since his coming are reconciled to God, through faith in his blood. Revel. 11. 19. Then the Temple of God was opened in heaven. Some understand this Temple opened (not of heaven) but to receive a multitude of Saints, through Gods good providence, scattering persecution raised by Satan against the Church, being by his fury shut up for a time, none or few entring.

O V.

To obercome] To persevere in the faith and obedience of the Gospel, unto the end of our life, without fainting because of tribulations. Revel. 2. 7. To him that overcometh; that is, to him who hy his faith gets the victory, as a good Souldier over the devil, sin and the world. Thus understand [Overcome] throughout this Book.

To ascend, or coming up out of the earth] To have an originall and beginning from earth, breeding and springing from the seſuality of men, and increaſed by earthly power, Rev. 13. 11.

O Y.

Oyle and Wine] Two creatures (the fruits of Vine and Olive) of ſpeciall uſe for neceſſity and comfort of mans life. Of theſe God would have plenty remain when there was a famine and ſcarcity of other things. Rev. 6. 6. Oyle and Wine hurt thou not.

P A.

Pale horſe] Plague, or peſtilent diſeaſes (which make them pale and wan) as a juſt ſcourge from God, for deſpiſing the truth of the Goſpel. Rev. 6. 8. And loe a pale horſe.

Palmes] Teſtimonies and Enſignes of victory over ſpirituall enemies; namely, over Antichriſt. Revel. 7. 9. And palmes in their hands.

Paradiſe of God] Heaven, the ſeat of Glory, whereof the earthly Paradiſe (in which Adam was placed at his Creation) was a figure or Type (as the Tree of life, was a Sacrament of eternall life.) Rev. 5. 7. I will give him to eat of the Tree of life, in the midſt of the Paradiſe.

Part in the firſt reſurrection] Portion, ſhare, and intereſt, in the regeneration of the ſoul from the death of ſin (as ſome expound) or in the reſtitution of the truth unto the world, after long ſuppreſſing of it (as others think:) both expoſitions may well ſtand. Rev. 20. 6. Bleſſed and holy is he which hath part in the firſt reſurrection.

His part] His portion, which he thought he had in Gods election, but he ſhall feel that he had none. Rev. 22. 19. God ſhall take away his part.

To be partakers of ſins] To have fellowſhip with others; namely, with Romiſh Idolaters, in their hereſie and Idolatry, by committing, conſenting, defending, &c. Rev. 18. 4. That ye be not partakers of her ſins.

To paſſe away] To vaniſh, or be aboliſhed, in reſpect of the former vain condition whereunto the world was ſubject, for ſin. Rev. 21. 1. For the firſt heaven and firſt earth are paſſed away. Or if we underſtand by firſt heaven, and firſt earth, the Churches on earth, (as ſome do interpret it) then by paſſing away, is meant, the darkening of the glory of the preſent Churches, in compariſon of the brightneſſe which ſhall be in future Churches, being reſtored to excellent purity in doctrine and manners.

Patience of Jeſus Chriſt] A toleration or ſuffering of tribulations for the glory of Chriſt, and promoting his Goſpel, with a patient and conſtant minde. Rev. 1. 9. Your companion in the patience of Jeſus Chriſt.

Patience of the Saints] The tryall and proof of their patience, which ſhould be known to be true and ſound, if no threatnings nor cruelty of Antichriſt ſhould drive them from Chriſt. Rev. 14. 12. Here is patience of the Saints.

P E.

Peace] Love, concord, and good agreement among men; whileſt they lived without hatred, bloody wars, ſlaughters, tumults and ſeditions, which the devill had power to raiſe and to make; that is, to take away peace and quietneſſe. Rev. 6. 4. Power was given him to take peace from the earth.

Pearle] Chriſt Jeſus, conceived in celeſtiall ſort by the holy Ghoſt, in the wombe of a Virgin, as the Pearle (here mentioned) is begotten, not after an ordinary faſhion, but by a dew falling from heaven. Rev. 21. 21. Every gate of one pearle.

Pearle and precious ſtone] The ornaments and moſt coſtly deckings of the Whore or Beaſt by the parts, as gold, precious ſtone, pearle, &c. all outwardly glorious, not ſpiritually, that ſhe may be thereby known not to be the chaſte Spouſe of Chriſt. Rev. 17. 4. And the woman was arrayed with purple, gold, and pearle.

His people] A people which ſhall willingly ſubmit to be governed of God, who ſhall for ever protect them according to his covenant. Rev. 21. 3. And they ſhall be his people.

People, or Nations out of four quarters] A company of men gathered out of many ſundry Nations and Regions. Rev. 20. 8. He ſhall deceive the people (or Nations) of all quarters, &c.

People, or Nations ſaved] Elect people of all Nations, preſerved from the curſe and tyranny of ſin, by Chriſt: all theſe ſhould be helpfull and favourable to the reſtored Church of the Jews. Revel. 21. 24. And the people (or nations) that are ſaved.

To permit, or to have power] To give power and liberty to work ſtrange things, as ſaith Paul, 2 Theſſ. 2. 9. Rev. 13. 15. And it was permitted to him to give a ſpirit, &c. or, he hath power to give life, &c.

To

To perſecute] To offer violence and injury to ſuch as cannot repell it. Rev. 12. 13. He perſecuted the woman which had brought forth the Man-childe.

P I.

Pillar] One which is firm, and doth ſteddily abide in the Church, being rooted and ſurely built on Chriſt the foundation. Rev. 3. 12. I will make him a pillar in the Temple of God. Some think that this place hath alluſion and reſpect unto thoſe two Pillars placed by Solomon in the Temple, to repreſent the ſtability of the Sons of God. Others do judge that here is an alluſion unto the faſhion of ſuch Countreys, where Pillars and Statues with inſcriptions upon them, were erected by way of gratefulneſſe, to the honour of ſuch as were Captains in war, and returned home Conquerors, as uſed to be done at Rome, in foro & campo Martis. Howſoever this be, the meaning comes all to one paſſe, to note the great ſolidity and unmoveable eſtate of Gods children.

P L.

Place in heaben no moze] Want of power and hope in Satan and his Inſtruments, ſo to aſſault the Church any more, as to diſpoſſeſſe her of her bleſſed eſtate in heaven. Rev. 12. 8. Neither was there place found any more in heaven. Some refer this victory over Satan, to the time of Chriſt his paſſion, whereupon it did depend. Others to the time of Conſtantine the Great, whom Chriſt uſed as an Inſtrument, to procure a victory over the enemies of his Church, which upon the gate of his Palace, he repreſented by the picture of a Dragon lying under his feet, with a Dart thruſt through him. Euſeb. in vita Conſtantini Oratione 3. fol. 137. A. This latter, more agreeing to the truth of this text.

Place prepared of God] A place, to wit, a Wilderneſſe, or the Church (like to a Wilderneſſe) for the ſmall number which did there abide, being aſſigned by the wiſdome of God for defence of the woman, and her Man-childe. Rev. 12. 6. The woman hath a place prepared of God in the wilderneſſe, whither ſhe fled.

Plague of the haile] An extraordinary, and ſome horrible judgement, ſuch as never before was heard of, (as if ſtones of a rare weight and bigneſſe ſhould fall downe upon them to cruſh in pieces) ſent upon the wicked enemies of his Goſpel; namely, the Turk, and their Metropolitan City, Conſtantinople, for her pride, cruelty, and idolatry, (called the great Babylon.) Revel. 16. 21. Men blaſphemed God becauſe of the plague of the haile.

Plagues] Torments and pains to be inflicted on ſuch as ſhall have ſociety with the ſins of Weſtern Babylon. Rev. 18. 4. Leſt ye receive of her plagues. This alludes unto the threatning of God, touching Eaſtern Babylon. Jer. 51. 45. My people go out of her, and every man deliver his ſoul.

Plagues coming] The ſending and inflicting of heavy calamities upon Romiſh Babylon, for the puniſhment of her ryot, ſecurity and pride; like as God had before threatned to do to Babylon in Aſſyria, for the like ſins. See Iſa. 47. Rev. 18. 8. Her plagues ſhall come upon her.

Laſt plagues] Such torments, pains, and dreadfull judgement as ſhould be executed at length after others, upon cruell Antichriſtian perſecutors. Rev. 21. 9. Which had the ſeven laſt plagues.

Plaine, or breadth of the earth] The large and ſpacious compaſſe of ground, which the Turkiſh army ſhould by their huge multitude ſubdue to their power and poſſeſſion. Rev. 20. 9. They went up into the plaine (or on the breadth) of the earth.

To live in pleaſure, or deliciouſly] To paſſe over and lead her dayes in great delicacie, eaſe, and ſolace. Rev. 18. 7. In ſo much as ſhe lived in pleaſure, or deliciouſly. And doth not, I pray you, the Romane Clergy overflow with great abundance of moſt dainty and delicate pleaſures? Her pain muſt be proportionable.

P O.

Power] Might, ſtrength, and ability to hurt and annoy either bodies (as Scorpions do by a naturall ſtrength) or ſouls and bodies both; as Turks, Saracens, Popiſh Monks and Fryers, by their Civil and Spirituall ſtrength, enabling them to put forth the ſting of their tyranny & idolatry, to the wounding and deſtroying of innumerable perſons. Revel 9. 4. And power was given to them, as the Scorpions of the earth have power. Rev. 17. 13. They ſhall give their power to the beaſt.

2. Rule and dominion. Rev. 20. 6. On him the ſecond death hath no power.

3. Praiſe and confeſſion of power and divine might and ſtrength, to belong of right to Chriſt. Rev. 5. 12, 13. Power.

Power of his Chriſt] The unconquerable might, whereby Chriſt protecteth his members againſt all the powers of devils and hell. Rev. 12. 10. Now is the power of his Chriſt.

Power over the fire] The rule and authority which by Gods diſpenſation, is given to ſome Angel, over the Element of fire, for the ordering of it; as to ſome other Angel is like power given over the Waters, as Rev. 11. 6. & 16. 5. The Angell of the waters. Angels being for this purpoſe tearmed principalities, powers, and dominions; becauſe to them is committed of God the ordering and conſervation of the creatures. Rev. 14. 18. An Angel which hath power over the fire. Some expound this of Chriſt, who is ſaid to come, to ſend Fire into the Earth. Some, that the Angel ſhould execute Gods vengeance upon the bloody Kingdome of Antichriſt, with fiery and fervent affection. But others more probably, yet underſtand this of the ability and ſtrength whereby ſome Martyr ſhould bear and overcome the violence of the fire (which is to have power over the fire) applying it to Thomas Cranmer, ſometimes Archbiſhop of Canterbury, who not onely gave his body to be burned of the fire for the truth, but alſo ſuffered his right hand to be firſt devoured, by which he had ſubſcribed againſt the truth: and thus had he power over the fire.

Power over kindreds, and tongues, and nations] The largeneſſe of Antichriſts juriſdiction, that he ſhould ſtretch his throne far and wide, even into all the world, as ver. 3. Alſo the univerſality of his tyranny, which ſhould kill and deſtroy not a few people (as all Hiſtories and lamentable experience witneſs) ſo as the title of Catholick which he aſſumeth, doth well agree to him; to wit, a Catholick Tyrant, and a man of Catholick cruelty. Rev. 13. 9. And power was given him over every kindred, and tongue, and nation.

Power over nations] Victory and dominion over all the enemies of the Church, whether open contemners (as then was Jezabel, Nicolaitans, and ſince Turks; chiefly the Biſhop of Rome, and his Clergy) or ſuch as were members of the Church in name onely, and profeſſion. Theſe are here called Nations and Gentiles, (all Gentiles ſincerely profeſſing Chriſt, being reckoned for Iſraelites.) Rev. 2. 16. I will give them power over the Nations. Theſe are here threatned to be broken in pieces as an earthen veſſel, (which is eaſily cruſhed, and cannot be repaired) by the power given to the Church.

Power over waters] See Power over fire. Howbeit, ſome expound theſe words more myſtically, not unprobably, (this book being ſo myſticall) for power, to turn the truth into lies and errors, as Ægyptian waters were changed into blood. Rev. 11. 6. And have power over waters, &c. See Rev. 8. 8. The third part of water turned to blood; that is, the ſound doctrine corrupted, being turned into a degenerate nature.

P R.

Praiſe] Confeſſion of ſuch perfections and excellencies as be in God, or in Chriſt, &c. and to acknowledge theſe excellencies, is to praiſe. Rev. 5. 13. Praiſe and honour. & 19. 5. Praiſe our God.

To prepare a way] To make an eaſie and ready paſſage unto Rome, the Weſtern Babel, to ranſack it, to rouſe Antichriſt out of his Palace, when the hour of his downfall comes; even as God by the drying up the great river Euphrates, made an entrance into Eaſtern Babylon, when he would deſtroy it. See Iſa. 44. 22. & 51. 10. & 63. 11. Revel. 16. 12. That the way of the Kings of the earth ſhould be prepared.

Preſence, or face of the Serpent] The power of the Devil, and his murthering perſecutors; for howſoever, the Church can be no where, but Devils and perſecutors are at hand, preſent to do miſchief; yet the power to hurt, is not ever preſent, being reſtrained by the providence of God. Rev. 12. 14. From the preſence (or face) of the Serpent.

Prieſts to God, and of God] The elect beleevers made partakers of the dignity of Chriſt his Prieſt-hood, having God propitious to them by his death, and allowed to have acceſſe to God by prayer, through his interceſſion: Theſe elect, to ſignifie that they are moſt excellent Prieſts, are therefore called Prieſts of God, Rev. 20. 6. according to the Hebrew phraſe; and Rev. 1. 6. they are tearmed Prieſts to God, to ſhew that this honour is given them, not to diſturb States and policies of the earth.

Priſon] The reſtraint which divine power for a time, (as bands and impriſonment) had curbed Satan withall, leſt he ſhould rage againſt the Church. Rev. 20. 7. Satan ſhall be looſed out of his priſon.

To propheſie] To preach the Word, opening and applying it to the Church, for comfort, exhortation, and conviction of hereſies. Revel. 10. 11. Thou muſt propheſie again, &c. that is, the preaching of wholeſome doctrine, ſhould after hinderances be reſtored to the Church.

Propheſie] The particular Scripture of the Revelation of St. John, foreſhewing things which were afterward to be done. Rev. 22. 7.

Bleſſed

Bleſſed is he that keeps the word of the Propheſie of this book. Alſo verſ. 10. & 18. Rev. 11. 3, 6.

That falſe Prophet] That Antichriſt; to wit, the Biſhop of Rome, with the whole pontificall order, and Romane Prelacy, worthily comprehended under theſe two names, Beaſt, and falſe Prophet, in regard of their double power, politicall and ſpiritual. Rev. 16. 13. Out of the mouth of the Beaſt, and that falſe Prophet. Alſo Rev. 19. 20. & 20. 10.

Prophets] The Miniſters of the Old Teſtament, ſuch as were Moſes, David, Iſaiah, &c. which inſtructed the people, and foretold things to come. Rev. 10. 7. As he hath declared to his Servants the Prophets.

2. All godly Miniſters, who execute now ſince Chriſt, the function of Miniſters in the Chriſtian Church. Rev. 18. 20. Rejoyce ye holy Apoſtles and Prophets.

To proteſt, or teſtifie] To teſtifie a thing together with another, as we ſee the authority of this Book of Revelation, ratified by ſundry witneſſes. Revel. 22. 18. I proteſt (or teſtifie) to every one that heareth, &c.

P V.

Pure fine linnen, and ſhining, or in fine linnen clean and white] The righteouſneſſe of Chriſt imputed to the Saints, which is called Pure, becauſe it preſents them to God without ſpot or wrinkle; and ſhining, in reſpect of that glory which they have with God and Men, by the fruits of a lively faith. Rev. 19. 8. That ſhe ſhould be arayed with pure fine linnen, or fine linnen clean and white, and ſhining. And verſ. 14. Fine linnen white and clean. See ch. 15. 6.

To put into the hearts] To inſpire the minds of Kings and Emperours with firm thoughts and purpoſes, to execute Gods judgements on Antichriſt, to whom before they had ſubmitted themſelves and their whole power by Gods diſpoſition. Rev. 17. 17. For God hath put into their hearts to fulfill his will, &c.

Never to put, or blot out ones name] To preſerve and keep for ever in the number of the elect, and in a ſincere profeſſion of his truth (from falling away into errors) ſuch as be once choſen and called. Rev. 3. 5. And I will never put (or blot) his name out of the Book of life.

To put, or ſet his right foot on the Sea, &c.] Generally, to rule (as King and Lord) over Sea and Land, ſtanding firmly upon both (as a man ſtands on the ground:) more particularly, to raiſe up ſome even out of the Eccleſiaſtical State (noted by Sea) to be as feet and members. And others out of the Laypeople (meant by the earth) which likewiſe ſhould be his true members, though not ſo excellent and ſtrong as the former. Revel. 10. 2. And he ſet his right foot ont he Sea, and his left upon the earth.

Q U.

Queen] One full of outward pomp and earthly glory and magnificence, challenging to her ſelf power and authority (as a Queen) Thus doth the Church of Rome, proudly boaſting her ſelf to be the Mother Church, the head of Chriſtianity, and to have primacy over all other Churches, and many other like Thraſonicall blaſphemies. Rev. 18. 7. I ſit a Queen.

R A.

Rain-bow upon his head] That Teſtimony or Sacrament which was between God and Man, of his Covenant touching the deſtroying of the world by water. Whereas Chriſt had his Rain-bow about his head, it ſerveth to teſtifie not onely his fidelity in keeping promiſe, but his mercy alſo toward his faithfull Servants, in chaſing away ſtorms, and clearing the boyſterous ſky, making calme, and giving reſt after heavy times, and tempeſtuous. Rev. 10. 1. And a rain-bow upon his head.

To be raviſhed in the Spirit] To be moved and led by a ſweet holy motion of the Spirit, to ſee and underſtand hidden things, far exceeding humane capacity and wit. Rev. 1. 10. I was raviſhed in the Spirit on the Lords day. Thus the ancient Prophets, thus Paul, 2 Cor. 12. were made fit and capable of heavenly viſions, even as John is here, having the Spirit for his guide and teacher.

R E.

Ready to be delivered] One being in travell neer unto childe-birth. Rev. 12. 1. And was pained, ready to be delivered. Some expound this both of the Virgin Mary (that bleſſed woman, the mother of Chriſt:) and alſo of the Church of the Jews, who by their vehement vehement and fervent deſire and expectation of the Meſſiah, were after a ſort in pain and travell to bring him forth. This is a godly ſenſe; but becauſe in ch. 4. 1. John ſhews, that not things paſt before, but things to be done after, were the ſubject of this Propheſie, from ch. 3. forward: therefore their expoſition is more fit, who interpret it of the Chriſtian Church, labouring and groaning under the cruelty of Heatheniſh perſecutors, being pained with grief, to ſee ſome one of her children, which might be a defender of her againſt ſuch injuries. And this hapned when Conſtantine the Great reigned and put an end (at leaſt a great ſtop) to the bloody proceeding of the Romane Emperors.

Ready to die] Such as through weakneſſe and ſinfull infirmities, are likely and neer (without timely and diligent looking to) to fall into the deſtruction of death. Revel. 3.2. Strengthen the things that are ready to die.

To reap] To cut down Corn at the time of ripeneſſe, which we commonly call harveſt.

2. To abrogate and aboliſh the wicked idolatrous worſhip in this world, by ſuch inſtruments as God ordained to do it in his due time; and by his Son Chriſt to judge and deſtroy the ungodly at his ſecond coming to judgement, when the wickedneſſe of the world will be fully ripe. Rev. 14 15. Thruſt in thy ſickle and reap, for the time is come to reap.

To receive the Beaſts mark in the forehead and hand] To conſent to the authority of Antichriſt, and to Antichriſtian worſhip, either ſecretly in heart, or by outward profeſſion of mouth, and by participation in externall ceremonies; whether it be by vulgar perſons of the commonalty, barely profeſſing it, or by Princes or Prelates, with their hand and power maintaining it alſo. Rev. 14.9. If any man worſhip the Beaſt and his Image, receiving his mark in his forehead, or hand, &c.

To receive the print, or mark of his name] To yeeld ſubjection to Antichriſt, and to teſtifie it by any note. Rev. 14.11. And whoſoever receives the print (or mark) of his name.

Red horſe] Cruell and bloody wars for contempt of the Goſpel. Rev. 6. 4. Another horſe that was red.

Reed and Rod] An inſtrument wherewith to mete and meaſure a thing withall; and becauſe things are not meaſured but for repairing and building up, and not to throw them down; therefore the further reſtoring of the Church, is ſignified by meaſuring the Temple with a Reed. Rev. 11. 1. Then was was given me a Reed like a Rod, &c. This place hath reſpect to Ezek. 40. Zech. 1. where the building and reſtoring of the Church, is ſignified by meaſuring.

To reign for ever] To rule not for a ſmal time, but for ever, in thoſe Kingdomes which in theſe latter dayes, afore Chriſts coming, ſhall receive the ſincere profeſſion of his truth. Rev. 11.15. Who ſhall reign for evermore. And Revel. 22. 5. Theſe words teach, that the Kingdome of Saints begun in the earth, ſhall never be broken off, but continue ſtill in heaven.

To reign a thouſand yeers] To rule by the Scepter of the word among the Gentiles, for a great continuance of time, according as we have ſeen it come to paſſe in theſe our Regions and Countreys. Rev. 20. 6. And ſhall reign with him a thouſand yeers. Theſe words muſt not be underſtood of the eternall bliſſe wherein the Saints ſhall reign in heaven, but of the reign of the faithfull here in earth, for the ſpace of thoſe thouſand yeers in which Satan ſhould be bound, that the Goſpel might flouriſh. Some Interpreters will have this thouſand yeers of Satans binding, to begin when Chriſt firſt preached the Goſpel. Others at the death of Chriſt: others at the time when the Apoſtles were diſperſed, and gathered Churches to Chriſt in all parts of the world. But all theſe conjectures are croſſed by chap. 4. 1. which teacheth, that the whole propheſie (from the fourth chap. forward) doth reſpect the years which followed the age and time of John the Evangeliſt, which wrote this propheſie: But hereof more in the word [A thouſand yeers.]

To reign upon earth] To be made Lords and Kings over earth and heaven (as all the faithfull are by Chriſt) through whom they ſhall reign in heavenly glory at laſt, and in mean while they are in earth, though they be in warfare, yet they are Kings, having Hell, Sin, Satan, and Death ſubdued to them; and all things in this world ſubject and put under. See Col. 2. 8. Pſal. 8. Rev. 5. 10. And we ſhall reign on the earth.

To reign ober the Kings of the earth] To rule and exerciſe Dominion and Empire, above and over the chiefeſt of mortall men, over earthly Kings and Monarchs. Now becauſe Rome onely at that time when John wrote, had power over the great Kings of the earth, and the great Antichriſt muſt ſit and reign in that City where the Heathen perſecuting Emperors were: Hence it clearly appeareth, that Rome is the gorgious and filthy Whore ſpoken of in Rev. 17.18. The woman woman which thou ſaweſt, is that great City, which reigneth over the Kings of the earth. Papiſts are deceived, which interpret this City of the univerſality of the wicked in the world.

To rejoyce and be glad] To conceive ſweet comfort and gladneſſe for the acceſſe of the Jews (ſo long divorced) unto the body of the Church, and for the near approach of Chriſt to judgement, when he will take his Spouſe (conſiſting of beleeving Gentiles and Jews) into a moſt neer ſociety in heaven. Rev. 19. 7. Let us rejoyce.

To rejoyce ober them] To make common mirth and joy among themſelves, becauſe the true Prophets of God being ſlain (which were wont to vex and trouble the members of the falſe Church, with their wholeſome interpretations of Scriptures, and ſound reproof of errors and vices) the wicked Antichriſtian crew might now make merry, being eaſed of that yoke, and depending only upon the Popes pleaſure for ſenſe of Scripture. Rev. 11. 10. And they that dwell on the earth ſhall rejoyce over them, and be glad.

Things which remain] That little portion of graces which was left in the Paſtor of Sardis, and in his flock. Rev. 3. 2. Strengthen the things which remain.

To come in remembrance before God] To either execute ſome promiſed mercy, or ſome decreed and threatned judgement, as here. For as God ſeemeth forgetfull whileſt he defers the puniſhment of wicked men, ſo his taking revenge (as here he threatned to doe upon Conſtantinople the Turkiſh Babylon) is called his remembrance. Rev. 16. 19. And that great Babylon came in remembrance afore God. Alſo ch. 18. 5. And God hath remembred her iniquities.

Remnant of men] So many men as were left alive, and not ſlain by the former calamities mentioned in verſ. 16, 17, 18, 19. Rev. 9. 20. And the remnant of men. Alſo Rev. 19. 21. The remnant was ſlain with the ſword.

Remnant of her ſeed] The reſt of the faithfull, which being ſcattered abroad by the iniquity of the time, cannot publickly aſſemble to worſhip God, but privately (as they can) do exerciſe piety. Rev. 12. 17. And made war with the remnant of her ſeed.

To repent] To be truly touched with godly grief for ſins, and to turn unto God to do his will. Rev. 9. 20. And they repented not of the works of their hands. Alſo Revel. 16. 9. They repented not to give him glory: that is, howſoever they made a ſhew of repentance, whileſt God ſcourged them, yet they did not leave their ſin, and amend their lives.

Reſt of the dead men] Such as for the thouſand years wherein Satan lay bound, were drowned in ignorance and ſuperſtition, being faln deadly aſleep in their ſins. Revel. 20. 5. The reſt of the dead ſhall not live again till the thouſand yeers be finiſhed.

No reſt] Eternall torment, without any the leaſt intermiſſion or hope of any eaſe and mitigation. Rev. 14. 11. And they ſhall have no reſt, day nor night.

Revelation] The uncovering of ſomething which is hid, as removing a vail or curtain which hindereth our eye-ſight. This is the proper ſignification.

2. A manifeſtation and diſcovery of divine things, ſecret in reſpect of men, for the common good of the Church. Revel. 1. 1. The revelation of Jeſus Chriſt. This title of [Revelation] being given unto this Book of John, and to the whole Goſpel of God, Matth. 11. 25. teacheth us, that the ſearch and underſtanding of them, doth as far exceed all mortall wit, as the knowledge of things to come till they be opened; or things hidden, till they be uncovered; or dark Riddles, till they be declared. But if this Book be a Revelation, how do they well which terrifie Chriſtians from reading and ſtudying it?

To revenge, or avenge] To take puniſhment at laſt upon the great Whore the Romiſh Church, which had ſo long with impunity vexed the Saints, to whom this ſhould be a great matter and occaſion of joy. Rev. 18. 20. Rejoyce, for God hath puniſhed her to be revenged (or avenged) on her for your ſake.

To reward] To return and repay extreme ignominy and pain, or vexation unto the Antichriſtian crew and Popiſh Babyloniſh rout, in lieu and recompenſe of all that vexation and injury which either by intiſement to their ſins; or by inflicting torment upon ſuch as refuſed to ſubmit to them, they had moſt wickedly offered to the Saints. Rev. 18. 6. Reward her as ſhe hath rewarded you. It is worth our noting that this charge is given to ſuch as before were bid come out of Babylon, verſ. 4. even to ſuch as had been the Citizens of Rome, member of the Papacy, that they ſhould be the Miniſters of this puniſhment and revenge, being likely to do that more thoroughly, through the freſh remembrance of their late oppreſſions: what may we think of them who are ſo favourable and indulgent to this City, that great Whore, as to wink at her ſins, not to execute ſharp wrath againſt them, not to think of ruining, but to attempt the reforming of that deſperate ſtrumpet?

R I.

Rich] One who indeed is indued with ſpirituall ſtore, and plenty of heavenly things. Rev. 2.9. I know thy poverty, but thou art rich. This riches is in two things. Firſt, in aſſurance of pardon of ſins, reconciliation with God, and eternall life. 2 Cor. 8.9. Secondly, in having grace to do good works, 1 Tim. 6.18.

2. One preſuming of abundance of ſpiritual graces, which in truth they have not at all, or not in ſuch meaſure as they ſuppoſe. Rev. 13.17. Thou ſayeſt, I am rich. This was a preſumption in the heart of the Laodiceans, of ſpirituall riches, upon occaſion of their great earthly wealth, wherein they did overflow.

Right hand] The powerfull regiment and government, which Chriſt hath and exerciſeth in matters of the Church; to hold the ſtars in his hand, ſignifies to give the Miniſters of the Word protection and defence, while they be faithfull. Rev. 1.16. And he had in his right hand ſeven ſtars.

2. Confirmation, ſtrength, and comfort of minde and body, coming to John (being caſt down) from the power of Chriſt. Rev. 1.17. And he laid his right hand upon me.

Right to the tree of life] Portion, part, fruit, and fruition of and in Chriſt Jeſus, who (as a tree of life in Paradiſe) ſhall ſatisfie all the faithfull with his fulneſſe of gifts, and moſt excellent beauty. Rev. 22.14. That their right might be to the tree of life.

Righteous] One made righteous by imputation of Chriſt his Juſtice, and endevouring to approve himſelf to be ſo to himſelf and others, by leading conſtantly a righteous life. Rev. 22.12. He that is righteous, let him be righteous ſtill.

Righteouſneſſe of the Saints] The waſhing away of ſins by the blood of Chriſt, with the imputation of his perfect obedience, to be our righteouſneſſe; whereof ſeeing we give declaration to the world, by ſuch good works as come from Sanctification, as we have an inward teſtimony of it before God by faith; therefore it is in the plurall number ſaid, righteouſneſſes or juſtifications of the Saints. Rev. 19.8. For the fine linnen is the righteouſneſſes of the Saints. See Revel. 7.13. Theſe places evidently ſhew, that the juſtification of the elect is not from within themſelves, but ſticketh without in that externall garment, Chriſt Jeſus, whom they put on by faith, whereof their good works be fruits.

To judge righteouſly, or in righteouſneſſe] To govern in righteouſneſſe, when God frameth his owne to a rightneſſe in all their life, as it is written, Pſal. 96.10, 13. whereunto this text alludeth, Rev. 19.11. And he judgeth righteouſly, or in righteouſneſſe.

To riſe out of the Sea] To take beginning out of the tempeſtuous and troubleſome eſtate of the Nations; out of which (as it were out of a Sea) did ſpring at the firſt the Romane Empire, which ſtories prove to have grown from the diviſions of Kingdomes. Revel. 13.1. I ſaw a beaſt ariſe out of the Sea. Note, that out of the Sea of corrupt doctrine, and the Clergy, which at that time taught it, did ſpring the other beaſt, the Romiſh Biſhop and his Hierarchy, which for cruelty and violence is likened to a Beaſt, as the Romane Heatheniſh Empire for like reſpect is compared to a Beaſt.

River Euphrates] The power and force wherewith Rome (which is Babylon myſtically, and in a figure) doth defend it ſelf. Rev. 9.14. Which are bound in the great river Euphrates. Some do underſtand this Euphrates, of a famous river in Armenia, and will have the binding of the four Angels there, to be meant (not of Popiſh force) where the Devill lay bound, waiting by the power of that City to do much miſchief; but of the Turkiſh Army, driven through fear to reſide neer that flood of Armenia (called Euphrates) and for a time ſhut up in priſon (as it were) and kept in fetters. Of this let the learned judge; the former I have allowed as the more received expoſition.

Pure rivers] Thoſe moſt pleaſant good things, and full of joyes, which the faithful ſhall enjoy in the Kingdome of heaven, whereunto men are brought by receiving that plentifully flowing doctrine of Chriſt, with the which, Chriſtians hearts are refreſhed (as a Citizen is refreſhed with a ſtream of pure and clear water, running through the City.) Rev. 22.1. And he ſhewed me a pure river of the water of life.

R O.

Rod of Iron] A mighty over-ruling power, ſubduing & compelling to obedience, or cruſhing them in pieces (as a veſſell of earth is broken) which obſtinately rebell. Rev. 2.27. And he ſhall rule them with a rod of Iron.

To rule with a rod of Iron] To bridle and Root of David] Chriſt, who came of David (as he was man) and is the root, ſpring, and fountain of all life and ſalvation to David, and all the Elect. Rev. 5. 5. The root of David.

S A.

Salbation] Safety of the people of God, by their deliverance from cruell Tyrants, who ſought to deſtroy their bodies, and from Satans malicious power, who would kill their ſouls. Revel. 12. 10. Now is come ſalvation, &c. This is the ſong of victory, which the Church, and multitude of Saints on earth, ſing to Gods praiſe, like to that in Exod. 15. 1, 2, &c. Jude v. 5. 1 Sam. 2. 6, 7.

2. The praiſe due to God, for ſalvation given unto his Church. Revel. 19. Salvation, and honour, and glory to our God.

Sanctuary, or Altar] The Altar (placed in the Sanctuary) upon which, Sacrifices were ſlain. This ſpeech agreeth to ſuch as were ſlain for Chriſt, to whom a place is alotted under the Altar, as before, ch. 6. 9. Rev. 16. 7. And I heard another Angell out of the Sanctuary, or Altar.

Sand of the Sea] A convenient or commodious place, whereon John ſhould ſtand to ſee the ariſing or beginning of the Beaſt, or whereon Satan ſhould ſtand, to work and frame that Beaſt out of the Sea, that is, the contentions amongſt Nations. Rev. 13. 1. And I ſtood on the Sea ſand. Some Interpreters ſuppoſe they have eſpyed a farther myſtery in this ſea ſand, which ſignifies (as they deem) the truth of Doctrine, which is as a ſhore or ſand, whence to behold the ariſing and offſpring of that Beaſt after ſpoken of, being like to that. See ch. 15. 2. They which got the victory of the Beaſt, ſtood at the glaſſie Sea.

Satan] One which is an adverſary, burning with hatred of God and man. Rev. 12. 9. Called the Devill and Satan.

Synagogue of Satan] A company and aſſembly of men which ſeemed to ſerve God, but they worſhipped the Devill. Rev. 2. 9. But are the Synagogue of Satan; that is, a company gathered not for God, but for the Devil.

Satans throne, or ſeat] Any place where ſuperſtition, idolatry, and wickedneſſe is practiſed without controlment: and from whence wickedneſſe is conveyed to other places. Such a place was Pergamus, and now Rome is. Revel. 2. 13. Where Satan hath his throne, or ſeat.

S C.

Scarlet coloured beaſt] The malignant Church, the Romane Synagogue, the Kingdome of Antichriſt, perſecuting with bloody cruelty (repreſented by Scarlet colour) the Saints of God. Rev. 17. 3. A woman ſat upon a Scarlet coloured beaſt.

S E.

Sea of glaſſe] The world fitly compared to a Sea, for the ſtorms and tempeſts of troubles raiſed up therein, and becauſe all things in the world be cleer and open to him that made it (howſoever ſecret to us:) therefore it is likened to a Sea of Cryſtall glaſſe. Rev. 4. 6. Before the throne was a Sea of glaſſe like to cryſtall. Others by the Sea of glaſſe in this place, underſtand the fulneſſe of all giſts which the Church draweth from Chriſt, by an alluſion to that large ſpacious veſſell called the Sea, 1 King. 7. 23. But that was of Braſſe, this of Glaſſe: to ſignifie the difference between the Goſpel, and the Legall Rites and Ceremonies, under which there was great obſcurity, in compariſon of that cleerneſſe which is under the Goſpel, 2 Cor. 3 13, 18.

2. The whole worſhip of God; namely, thankſgiving. Apoc. 15. 2. They that had gotten victory of the Beaſt, they ſtood at the glaſſie Sea, having the Harps of God. Or it ſignifies the Doctrine of godlineſſe, through which as a cleer Cryſtall, the faithfull may and do behold the mercifull and loving countenance of God the Father, reconciled in Chriſt, not altogether pure and bright as Cryſtall, but ſomewhat coloured and obſcured with the fire of contention, as foretold. Luk. 12. 49. I come to ſend fire into the earth; and as the godly have found by experience. Rev. 15. 2. I ſaw as it were a glaſſie Sea mingled with fire.

Sea] The huge multitude of people, like to a Sea, (which is a collection of many waters) fit to repreſent an infinite company of people, diſtinguiſhed into kindreds, tongues, and nations. Rev. 8. 8. A great mountain of fire was caſt into the Sea. Others by Sea in this place, and Rev. 4. 1. do underſtand the Doctrine Doctrine of the falſe Church, being corrupt and troubled: this is ſaid here to be turned into blood, being pure and ſound (ſuch as the doctrine of the true Church is;) it is by falſe Prophets changed into a quite other nature, as a thing degenerate. In this ſenſe alſo, ſome expound the word [Sea] in ch. 21.1. for degenerate and corrupt doctrine, which in that renued age there propheſied of, ſhall have no place.

2. The gathering of waters, wherein innumerable are drowned, Rev. 20.13.

To ſtand upon Sea and Earth] To have dominion, rule, and power over the world, ſuch as Chriſt Jeſus hath, as himſelf ſaith, All power is given me in heaven and in earth. Rev. 10.8. Which ſtandeth upon the Sea, and upon the earth.

To ſeal] To hide or keep back from others the knowledge of ſome things, till there come due and convenient time of revealing them. Rev.10.4. Seale up theſe things.

Seal of the living God] The holy Spirit of Promiſe, even the Spirit of adoption, wherewith all the Saints are ſealed and ſet in ſafety in the midſt of Antichriſts tyranny. Rev. 7.2. Having the ſeal of the living God. Alſo Rev. 9.4.

Sealed with ſeven ſeals] That which is moſt perfectly cloſed, and exceeding ſecret, that it may be had in more reverence and honour. Rev. 5.7. Sealed with ſeven ſeals.

To ſee his face] To have and enjoy a more cleer viſion, and ſight of God, then before, by ſuch a ſingle and pure worſhip of God, as if he were familiarly beheld face to face. Rev. 22.4. See his face.

To ſeek death] With great deſire to be carried after death, rather then to live in ſuch fear, pain, and torment. Revel. 9.6. Men ſhall ſeek death.

Servants] Such as earneſtly and conſtantly obey God. Rev. 22.3. And his ſervants ſhall ſerve him.

Service] Offices and duties of Charity, performed indeed towards the Saints, and not only promiſed. Rev.2.29. I know thy ſervice.

Seven Churches] The whole Church militant on earth, the eſtate thereof is ſet forth of John, by the conditlon of the ſeven Churches in Aſia, in his time. Rev.1.20. Seven Candleſticks are the ſeven Churches.

Seven crowns] The ſupreme majeſty of the Romiſh Emperor, ſubduing other Provinces and Nations unto him, by innumerable and great victories. Rev. 12.3. Having ſeven crowns upon his head.

Seven eyes] The ſeven Spirits of God, or the manifold gifts of the Spirit, wherewith Chriſt endoweth the faithfull. Rev. 5.6. Seven eyes, which are the ſeven ſpirits of God.

Seven heads] Seven hils, and ſeven Kings, or that City which ſhould be famous through ſeven Hils, and ſeven Kings, to wit, Rome, the ſeat, firſt, of the Empire; ſecondly, of the Papacy. Rev.12.3. Having ſeven heads. Some expound theſe ſeven heads of the manifold ſubtilties and crafty devices of the devill and his inſtruments. The former expoſition is better.

Seven horns] The moſt perfect power, whereby the man Chriſt, ſitting at the right hand of his Father, ruling and governing all things, is become able to deſtroy his enemies, and defend his members. Rev. 5.6. Which had ſeven horns. It is a Metaphor drawn from beaſts, whoſe ſtrength and might is in their horns.

Seven Lamps] The manifold gifts of Sanctification, flowing from the holy Spirit of Chriſt. Rev.4.5. And there were ſeven lamps.

Seven laſt plagues] The fulneſſe (for Seven is a number of perfection) of Gods judgements, which being poured out upon Rome, there ſhall follow happy dayes. Rev. 15.1.

Seven Spirits] The holy Spirit of God, plentifully enriching the Church with all kinde of ſpirituall gifts. It muſt be thus interpreted in this place, becauſe the Spirit is made Authour and giver of grace and peace, together with the Father and the Son. Rev. 1.4. And from the ſeven Spirits.

2. The ſeverall gifts which are derived from the third Perſon in Trinity, the holy Spirit of God. Rev. 4.5. Which are the ſeven Spirits of God.

Seven thunders] Moſt grievous judgements of all ſorts, which God ſhal proclaim and inflict moſt ſeverely, upon all wicked contemners of his majeſty; namely, the Antichriſtian rabble. Rev. 10.3. And when he had cryed, ſeven thunders uttered their voyces. Some expound theſe ſeven Thunders, not of ſeverall judgements of God, but of ſeverall zealous Inſtruments ordained of God to reſtore his Religion, and to terrifie the wicked enemies thereof.

One of the ſeven] The Romiſh Biſhop or Pope, exerciſing civil authority in temporall things, like as the former ſeven heads or rulers rulers did, and yet said to be the eighth; either because of his spirituall jurisdiction, or else because he did surpasse all the former sorts of Governors, in impiety or tyranny. Rev. 17.11. It even the eight, and is one of the seven.

S H.

Shine no more] That it, never to give more light, but to be a place desolate. Rev. 18.23. Shall shine no more in thee. This foretels such horror and darkneſſe to be in Rome, at her ruine, as none shall be there to light a Candle.

The third part of ships] Towns and Cities bordering upon the Seas; or as others do judge, the Ministers of the word (which preached in Europe, the third part of the world) were corrupted with hereſie, and swollen with ambition, having more care of worldly dignity, then of their offices. Rev. 8.9. And the third part of the ships were destroyed.

Short space] A small space of time (as it were for an hundred years, or thereabout) which howsoever seemeth long to us, yet short in Gods account. Rev. 17.10. He must continue a short space.

Shortly] Quickly, speedily, without delay, in due convenient time, which is not far off. Rev. 22.6. The things which must shortly be done.

To shut heaven] To do that spiritually, by a drought of the Word, for withering of piety; as Elias did by his sensible miracle of staying the rain from the earth, and to cause the grasse to wither. Rev. 11.6. Have power to shut the heaven. See Heaven.

Sharp sickle] Either the severe sentence of the Judge, cutting down the wicked in the end of the world, (as Corn is cut down with a Sickle) or power and ability to gather the elect unto God out of the Kingdome of Antichrist, by the preaching of the Word, according to that of Christ, Matt. 9.3, 7. Rev. 14.14. He had in his hand a sharp sickle. Also in ver. 18. it signifies power to cut down the wicked.

S I.

Signe in heaven] Some token or wonderous testimony, afforded the holy and purer Church, (meant by Heaven) out of which should come the Word (as before out of Sion and Jerusalem, Amos 1.2.) which should denounce and threaten vengeance, that should vex and destroy the members of Antichrist. Rev. 15.1. I saw another signe in heaven.

Silence in heaven] Rest and peace granted to the Church in earth for a short time, after that the open enemies of Gods truth were bridled by Constantine the Great. Rev. 8.1. There was silence in heaven about half an hour. Others say, this silence signifies consolation or astonishment. Others refer it not to Gods consulting, or celestiall creatures astonished, but to John preparing himself in this great quietneſſe to more attention. The first agreeth best with the place.

To sit upon the throne] To be endowed with spirituall majesty, such as belongs to him, who is King and Judge of the world. Rev. 4.2. A throne was set in heaven, and one sate upon it. This is spoken for our understanding, after the custome of worldly Kings, who by sitting in thrones, declare their majesty to the people.

Six hundred threescore and six] That number which shall arise from the letters of the name of the Beast being numbred. Rev. 13.18. And his number is six hundred threescore and six. The reason why the name of the Beast is set down mystically, and not plainly (yet so plainly as the wisdome of man may count it) was, because it had been dangerous at that time (when the Romane Empire, which was this Beast, flourished) to have published it, and openly laid it forth. Therefore to avoyd unnecessary offence, as also, that worldlings which must fulfill this prophesie, might not see it; for these causes the name is obscurely put down. See the word Number.

S M

Small and great] Persons of all ages, stature and degree. Rev. 20.21. And I saw the dead, great and small, &c.

To smite the earth] To inflict plagues, both spirituall and visible, on men which dwel in the earth, for the corruption of his doctrine and worship. Rev. 11.6. To smite the earth, with all manner of plagues. Thus do Gods true Ministers, as his Instruments. Therefore let all reverence them greatly.

Smoak of her burning] The destruction of Rome (that great City) by fire, sending forth a Smoak, which shall astonish her friends standing afar off, and looking upon him with sorrowfull hearts. Revel. 18.18. When they shall see that smoak of her burning.

Smoak of odours, or of the Incense] Prayers of the godly ascending toward heaven (as Smoak) and having pierced the heavens, prevail with God (through the intercession of Christ, sweetning them as Odours) to obtain things asked. Rev. 8.3. The smoak of the odours (or of the incense) with the prayers of the Saints went up, &c.

Smoak out of the pit] The darkneſſe of Satans Kingdome, ignorance of the Ministers ſters of Chriſt his Goſpel, hereſies and ſuperſtitions ariſing from blinde errors. Rev. 9. 2. There aroſe a ſmoak out of the pit, as the ſmoak of a great furnace. How fitly doth this agree to Popery, where many and manifold traditions, errors, lies, ſuperſtitions, idolatries, darkened the Sun and light of the Goſpel many years? ſhew if they can, any Kingdome that did the like; or, that this can be meant of any other darkning, then of the Goſpel.

Smoak of their torment] That the torments and pain of the Servants and followers of Antichriſt ſhall be perpetuall, as men know the fire never to be quenched, ſo long as the ſmoak aſcends. Rev. 14. 11. And the ſmoak of their torment aſcendeth up for ever and ever.

S O.

Song of the Lamb] That joy and gladneſſe of minde, which the faithful expreſſe, in celebrating God the Father, for the grace of Adoption in Chriſt, who becauſe he teacheth them to praiſe God, and ſtirreth up this joy, and is the Authour and finiſher of their faith and ſalvation, therefore it is called, The ſong of the Lamb; that is, of Chriſt, and a new Song, Revel. 14. 3. Becauſe the grace of adoption by Chriſt is communicated to far more now ſince his death, and the praiſe for this grace remaineth freſh, continuing without decay. Revel. 15. 3. And the Song of the Lamb.

New Song] Spirituall joy, which alwayes remaineth freſh in the faithful; for the Redemption by Chriſt, is this new Song. Rev. 5. 9. And they ſang a new Song. See Song of the Lamb.

Sore] Some loathſome diſeaſe, as the diſeaſe of Naples, which began there, commonly called, the French pox, riſe among Papiſts, or ſome plague ſore. Or as ſome underſtand it, of ſome ſpirituall figurative ſore (vexing the Papiſts no leſſe then a plague ſore, or the botch of Ægypt) as the pulling down of Abbeys, &c. by Henry the 8. and depriving Popiſh Biſhops and Prelates of their dignities and livings by Elizabeth his daughter of famous memory. Rev. 16. 2. And there fel a noyſome and grievous ſore on men.

Sorrow] Grief and heavineſſe, and all cauſes of it. Rev. 21. 4. Neither ſorrow.

Sound of charets] A huge, mighty, and terrible noyſe, ſuch as many Charets of horſes make in time of war. Rev. 9. 6. The ſound of their wings, was like the ſound of many charets.

Sound (or voyces) of many Waters and of thunder, &c.] Undiſtinct and confuſed noyſe, whence profitable notions hardly could be gathered; ſuch was the ſtate of the Church in the Fathers time. As the ſound of Thunder, ſignifies a noyſe more diſtinct and dreadfull, which yet laſted not long; and the voyce of Harpers ſignifies the ſweet voyce of truth fully reſtored; and in the Harmony of Confeſſions, by ſeverall Churches ſung to the world. Thus was the progreſſe of the Church of Chriſt. Rev. 14. 2. As the ſound (or voyce) of many waters.

S P.

To give a ſpirit (or life) to the Image] To give life, as Jannes and Jambres imitated the wonders that Moſes wrought. Rev. 13. 15. It was permitted him (or he had power) to give ſpirit (or life) to the Image. It is an alluſion to the diabolicall practiſes of Idolaters, whereby they cauſed their Idols for to ſpeak diſtinctly, (as if they had been alive) the more eaſily to bring men to admire their ſuperſtition. So the Pope having now raiſed himſelfe to the eſtimation (welnigh) of a God, was no more as a dead perſon, but began to ſpeak, to command, to forbid, to bleſſe, to curſe, to boaſt and brag himſelf, Lord of Kings and Emperors, as Pope Adrian did, when he ſaid, By Us the Emperor reigneth.

Spirit of life] That Spirit of fortitude and courage, which God gave to his Miniſters and children, whom he raiſed up, as new witneſſes of his truth, after other witneſſes had been ſlain by Antichriſt. This was fulfilled about the time of the Tridentine Councel: and a little after in Luther, Melanchon, Calvin, Martyr, and Bucer. Revel. 11. 11. The Spirit of life coming from God, ſhall enter into them. See Life.

Spirit of propheſie] All which ſpeak by the ſpirit of propheſie. Theſe ſhoot at Jeſus as at a common mark, to ſet forth him as onely Redeemer and perfect Saviour. Rev. 19. 10. The teſtimony of Jeſus is the Spirit of propheſie; that is, ſuch as teſtifie of Chriſt, by propheſying of him, or preaching him, their function is equal to the office of Angels revealing him. Therefore John may not worſhip the Angel, being a fellow-ſervant.

Spirit of devils] The very members and inſtruments of the Devils, inſpiring Princes and great perſonages with devilliſh counſel and advice. Rev. 16. 14. For they are the ſpirits of devils.

Three unclean ſpirits] Moſt wicked men, carried and led by the devill, and being his Miniſters Ministers to doe his will, as Jesuites, &c. Rev. 16. 13. Three unclean spirits.

Spiritually] After a more secret kinde of meaning and understanding, and not in proper speech. Thus is Rome Sodome, by resemblance (being like it, for spirituall and bodily uncleanesse and filthinesse) Rev. 11. 8. Which spiritually is called Sodome.

Without spot, or fault] Pure, and without blame, even before God, by the imputation of Christ his perfect righteousnesse to them, wiping away all spots of sin, and cloathing them with innocency. Rev. 14. 5. They are without spot (or fault) before the throne of God. See Without fault.

S T.

To stand afar off] To refuse and be afraid to approach to rescue Rome and Romish Hierarchy and Monarchy in the day of Gods horrible vengeance upon her. Rev. 18. 15. The Merchants shall stand afar off.

To stand before the God of the earth] To minister (as instruments) unto him, who as God, ruleth not in heaven onely, but also in earth, even when Satan and wicked men seem to have their full swing, and to put all out of order. Rev. 11. 4. Standing before the God of the earth. It is a speech borrowed from Servants, and such as attend upon Princes, and Rulers, to minister to them, and execute their commandement. Thus also Rev. 8. 2. Seven Angels are said to stand before God, because they appear before him, to minister to him.

To stand before the woman] To be ready at hand, watching narrowly to destroy the blessed seed of the woman. Rev. 12. 4. And the Dragon stood before the woman.

To stand upon their feet] To revive after one is dead, as the two witnesses did after a sort, when God raised up others in their room, mightily to defend their doctrine and cause by the Word of God, and by giving their lives to death for that truth. Such were Luther, &c. Also Wickliffe, Hieronym of Prague, Husse, &c. Rev. 11. 11. And they stood upon their feet.

Star] A Minister of the Word, which giveth light to the flock, by doctrine and good example. Rev. 1. 20. The seven starrs are the Angels of the seven Churches.

Star fell] Many Pastors of the Church declining together, but amongst them some one Minister of special account and authority, drawing down others by his corrupt teaching. Rev. 8. 10. And there fell a great star from heaven. This great star, some do understand of degenerating Bishops, who through pride and ambition, fell into heresie and impiety. Others doe interpret it of Constantius, Valens, and other wicked Emperors, which favoured the Arrians heresie, and molested orthodox Christians. And surely, the word [Star] though it often signifie Teachers, yet sometime it noteth such as shine aloft in high places (as it were in the air) as Nebuchadnezzar is compared by the Prophet, Isa. 14. 12. See Great.

Morning star] Christ Jesus, who is himself the bright Morning star, having received fulnesse of true glorious light, to communicate it to all the faithfull. Rev. 2. 28. As I received of my Father, so will I give him the Morning star.

Stars fallen from heaven] Ministers and Pastors of the Church, who as Stars did shine by sincere doctrine, and now through tentation and force of persecution, declined and turned from the truth to errours and lies, which is meant by falling from heaven. Rev. 6. 13. And the stars fell from heaven to earth.

Twelve stars] The doctrine of the twelve Apostles (as the crown and glory of the Church) which they borrowed from the most bright Sun, that fountain of heavenly wisdome, and preached to the world, afterward writing it in books called [Scriptures] Rev. 21. 1. Upon her head a crown of twelve starrs.

Stings] Power to hurt, vex, and annoy others: bodily, as Saracens; spiritually, as Popish Monkes and Friers (which are the tails here spoken of) Rev. 9. 10. And there were stings in their tails.

Rev. 12. 16. The earth opened her mouth, and swallowed up the flood. This was verified in the Vandals, Gothes and other barbarous people, who coming to dwell in civilized Countreys; and being turn'd (in shew at least) to Christian religion, did much help the true Church by stopping and allaying the furious mindes of her adversaries. See Flood.

Sword sharp, and sword of his mouth] The Word of God, the force whereof is mighty, for the cutting down of sin in the repentant, and for cutting a pieces, spiritually, and destroying the impenitent. Rev. 2. 12. Which hath a sharp sword with two edges. Rev. 2. 16. With the sword of my mouth. This signifies the same thing with [sharp sword] unlesse haply, some grievous judgement of War be meant, which being pronounced by the Word, is therefore called the Sword of his mouth.

2. The baset of any society, as begging Friers in Popery, &c. Amongst the Turks, the dregs of the Saracens, instruments of cruelty, Rev. 9. 19.

To be taken up unto God] To be miraculously protected of God (as Christ the Son of Mary was) by warning given to the wise men, and willing Joseph to fly, when Satan by Herod would have destroyed him, Mat. 2. and afterwards strangely kept against the subtle and cruell practises of the Herodians, Pharises, Jews and Gentiles. If this text be meant of Constantine the Great because the Revelation speaks not of things past, but forespeaks things to come, Rev. 4. 1.) then to be taken up, signifies to be placed in height of earthly honour and majesty, being made Emperor when he lookt not for it, and with more large power and dominion, upon earnest request of the Romans (burthened and wearied with the tyranny of Maxentius) being assured of victory against his enemies, by voyce and token from heaven (as stories report. Rev. 12. 5. And he was taken up (or caught up) unto God, and to his throne.

Talent] A stone or other thing of very great weight, such as we read of, Josh. 10. 11. to have been cast upon the accursed Canaanites; and such as here are threatned to be cast upon the Antichristian rout, to break them in pieces withall. Rev. 16. 21. There fell a great hail about the weight of a Talent.

Testimony of Jesus] The faith and doctrine concerning salvation by Jesus Christ. Revel. 12. 17. And have the testimony of Jesus Christ.

2. The preaching of Christ, and salvation by him. Rev. 19. 10. The testimony of Jesus, is the spirit of prophesie; that is, they which have the function to teach Christ, are equall to such as have the gift to reveal things to come. By which reason the Angel disswades John from worshipping him.

Time no more, or no longer] Time shall be utterly abolished, the naturall course of Sun and Stars ceasing, whereby years, weeks, moneths, and dayes were distinguished. Rev. 10. 6. He swore that time should be no more, or no longer. Some translate for time, delay; and will have the meaning to be that there should be a small delay, no long space of time, till the consummation of the mystery; and then it doth not signifie the abolition of time, after the consummation & end of all; but brevity or short space of time, untill the consummation come. This latter seemeth better to agree with the circumstances of the text.

T. O.

Torch, or lamp] A lamp or great light, which giveth forth apparently a very cleer and shining fiery brightnesse, which yet lasteth no longer then it hath nourishment, which once failing, the lamp is extinguished. To be tormented] To be most extremely pained and vexed with most horrible and never ending pain. Rev. 14. 10. They shall be tormented in fire and brimstone.

T. R.

To travail in birth] To covet and long to be eased of that most heavy and grievous condition wherein the Church should continue under Heathenish Emperors; even as a woman that is in travel desireth to be eased of her pain. Rev. 12. 2. And cryed travelling in birth. Some refer this to the longing and expectation of the Church of the Jews, vehemently desiring and expecting to see the promised Messiah: but St. John here prophesied of things to come, as ch. 4. 1. is signified to us plainly. Therefore the former interpretation seemeth to be better.

To tread under feet the holy City] To lay waste (as some think) the pure worship and true worshippers; or (as others judge) to frequent the Assemblies daily, under the pretence of worshipping God, as false Christians doe, which are here noted with the name of Gentiles: But both significations well agree together (as I take it) namely, that such as in words professe Christ, yet for life and manners were as the profane Gentiles, should both much haunt the place of Divine worship, and yet as false hearted hypocrites, tread down the truth and true servants of God.

Tree of life] Christ Jesus, who shall be to all his Members as a Tree of eternal life, more plentifull then to-fore, satisfying and refreshing them with the fellowship of himself, which is here meant by eating of this Tree. Rev. 2. 7. He that overcometh shall eat of the Tree of life.

Trees] The company of reprobates and ungodly men in the Kingdome of this world. Rev. 8. 7. The third part of the Trees were burnt.

Such an one is Christ. Rev. 3. 7. These things saith he which is holy and true.

2. One which fulfilleth his punishments which he hath threatned. Rev. 16. 7. True and righteous are thy judgements.

Trumpets seven] The revelations of Gods judgements by Angels or Teachers of the Church, who are likened to Trumpets; and the manifest and famous events which follow such revelations, in all manner and kinds of punishments. Revel. 8. 2. And to them were given seven trumpets.

T. W.

Twelve Angels] The Keepers which watch to open the gates of the new Jerusalem, and to receive the Citizens quickly, without delay. Revel. 21. 12. At the gates twelve Angels.

Twelve foundations] The doctrine of grace, taught the Church first by the twelve Apostles, which were instrumentall and ministerial foundations (Christ alone being the principall Foundation and Head corner-stone, on which, even the Apostles themselves as living stones are laid) and afterward preached by all faithfull Pastors in all ages. Rev. 21. 14. And the wall of the City had twelve foundations.

Twelve gates] The ready entrance and easie accesse (as by gates into an house) which the Children of God, the true Israelites, shall find into the new Jerusalem from above. Rev. 21. 12. And the wall had twelve gates. Here is an allusion to the earthly Jerusalem in Jewry, where the Jews had free ingresse from all quarters, by twelve gates. See Ezek. 48. 30, 31.

Twelve Tribes] The whole number of the faithfull, both Jews or Gentiles, which walked in the steps of their Father Abraham. Rev. 21. 12. Which are the twelve Tribes of the Children of Israel.

Two Candlesticks] All the faithfull Pastors of the Church, from whom the light of Gods word shineth upon men, as Candleſticks bear out the light which be put on them. Rev. 11.4. Theſe are two candleſticks.

Two powres] The powres Regal and Pontifical, Civil and Eccleſiaſtical, which the Pope and Papal Clergy challenge to themſelves, over the Emperors and Kings of the earth; alſo over mens ſoules and conſciences; and becauſe they pretend this double power to be derived and received from Chriſt (though indeed it be from the Dragon, even from the Devill of hell) therefore be they called, the Horns of a Lamb, Rev. 13.11. The beaſt had two horns like a Lamb. Some underſtand theſe two horns, of two French Kings, Pipinus and Carolus Magnus, who ſuccoured the two Popes, Stephanus the ſecond, and Adrian (whom they took to be innocents and harmleſſe as Lambs) againſt the Kings of the Lombards, Ariſtulphus and Deſiderius.

Two and forty moneths] Three years and a half, which is half a Propheticall week, according to Dan. 9. and jumpeth with the other numbers; of a time, two times, and half a time: alſo, a thouſand, two hundred, threeſcore dayes. Which ſeveral numbers do note and point out one thing, to wit, that the time of the tyranny of Antichriſt, perſecuring the Saints, is certain, fixed and determined, which he cannot paſſe, and that it ſhall not be very long; which greatly maketh for the conſolation of the Saints. Rev. 11.2. The holy City they ſhall tread under foot two and forty months. Where theſe months took their beginning, and where they are determined, I take not on me to judge; certain it is, that in theſe 42. moneths, every day is put for a yeer (as in the propheſie of Weeks by Daniel) and every week for ſeven yeers, and every moneth to conſiſt of thirty dayes, according to the Egyptian account: and finally, that it is the whole ſpace of time, wherein Antichriſt ſhall ariſe, increaſe, or wax; be wounded, revive, and take heart again, to execute his cruelty in that City wch was the Queen of the World (as it were) where he and his Favourites ſhould bathe themſelves in pleaſures. Therefore, they do erre, which do preciſely underſtand theſe moneths of three yeers and a half, where by this number myſtically is ſignified the whole time of Antichriſts reign, which is by the former computation, twelve hundred and threeſcore yeers.

Two witneſſes] A competent number of faithfull preachers, which teſtifie againſt the errors of Antichriſt, and for the doctrine of Chriſt, Rev. 11.3. I will give the power to my two witneſſes. Theſe witneſſes, though few, weak, and contemptible, yet ſhall be a ſufficient number to help and confirm one another.

VI.

Vials golden] The hearts of the faithful, filled by the Spirit with fervent prayers, which are pleaſing to God through Chriſt (as ſweet odours be to our ſenſe) Rev. 5.8. They had golden vials, full of ſweet odors, which are the prayers of the Saints. Theſe words teach how precious veſſels the hearts of true beleevers are, & how ſweet the prayers be which come from them, by alluſion to the manner of the Temple at Jeruſalem. See Zac. 14.20. Pſ. 141.2.

2. The holy minds, not of all the faithfull, but of the true Servants and Miniſters of Chriſt, filled not with fervent pure prayers onely, but with the ſevere judgements of God, which they are ready to denounce by threatning with integrity againſt and upon the Kingdome of Antichriſt, and Popiſh worſhippers: and becauſe God is pure and holy, even in his judgements threatned and executed on the wicked, therefore thoſe Vials are ſaid to be of gold; and becauſe God will be throughly avenged on his enemies, therefore the Vials are ſaid to be full of wrath, which being the wrath of him who liveth for ever, amplifieth the grievouſneſſe of it. Rev. 15.7. Seven golden vials, full of the wrath of God, which liveth for evermore. If the ſeven Angels ſpoken of in the former part of this verſe, be properly taken, not for the Miniſters of the Word, but for celeſtiall Spirits, yet the matter is all one, that God is decreed to execute his vengeance ſilently and fully, as one would pour water out of Vials. Note, that the firſt events of Gods judgements in this Book, were called Seals, becauſe they were for confirmation of the future: then trumpets ſucceeded, to ſhew that the judgements following were not onely denounced with great noiſe, but grievouſly executed. Thirdly, Vials, which being capacious veſſels of divine judgements, did ſerve as fit inſtruments to conſummate the deſtruction of Antichriſtian enemies, on whom they ſhould ſuddenly, raſhly, and inſenſibly fall, to their utter confuſion. Rev. 16.1. alſo 21.9. A Viall is a veſſel greater then a Cup, and containeth ſo much liquor as a man can at a draught drink in.

Victory

Victory of the Beast] A prevailing over Antichriſt, even by a full and abſolute victory; for which cauſe here be reckoned up with the Beaſt, his Image, Mark, and Number of his name. All which theſe Conquerors ſhall abhor, and have in utter execration. Rev. 15. 2. And them that had gotten victory of the Beaſt, and of his Image, Mark, and Name.

Vines (of the vineyards) of the earth] The whole number of the Reprobate, whether Heathen, Jews, Turks, or heaps of Hypocrites and wicked within the Church; or Idolaters and Hereticks, which renounce the Church and name of Chriſt, though not in profeſſion, yet in truth. Rev. 14. 19. And cut down (gathered) the vines (of the vineyards) of the earth. Some judgeth this propheſie not to be of the laſt judgement, when all the wicked ſhall be caſt into the large Winepreſſe of the pit of hell, to be tormented (as cluſters of grapes cut off, are caſt into a Fat or Preſſe, where they be preſſed) but to have been fulfilled in the yeer of our Lord, 1539. here in England, when Monaſteries, Abbies, Fryeries, Nunneries, and other houſes, (then falſly called religious) were pulled downe, their lands and revenues, converted to other moſt honeſt and publick uſes, by the advice and ſervice of the Lord Cromwell, (who as a ſharp ſickle) ſerved the providence of God, not to lop and prune, but to cut down the Vines, even the ſhining fat glory of the Pontificall Church, which had taken deep root, and ſpread it ſelf far and neer in this rich and fruitfull Iſland; ſuch a cropping of the Vines happened in Germany, much about the ſame time. Let the learned judge which ſenſe beſt agreeth.

Virgins] Such as are purged from the corruptions of the world, but chiefly from Idolatry, which is ſpirituall whoredome. Rev. 14. 4. For they be Virgins.

V N.

Unbeleeving] Such perſons as will not embrace the doctrine of Chriſt, but openly refuſe it. Rev. 21. 8. Fearfull, unbeleeving.

Unclean thing] Such as being themſelves unpure and filthy, are apt by contagion to infect and pollute others whom they touch. Rev. 21. 27. No unclean thing.

Unjuſt] One which is injurious, offering wrong and violence to the Saints, whom they ſhall exerciſe for a time with their wicked dealing, and afterward be recompenſed at Chriſts coming. Rev. 22. 11. Let him that is unjuſt, be unjuſt ſtill.

V O.

Voyces] Strange ſtings and pricks of conſcience, vexing men with continuall expectation of ſome evill to come. Rev. 4. 5. Out of the throne proceeded lightenings, thunderings, and voyces. Some by theſe words underſtand no other thing, but the fearfull judgements of God, threatned in moſt horrible manner to the wicked, alluding to the terrible manner of delivering the Law by thundring, lightening, and ſounding of a trumpet, Exod. 19.

2. The glorious Goſpel of Jeſus Chriſt, ſounded forth by the operation of the holy Ghoſt, to reprove the world, and to terrifie tyrants and worldlings, who thereupon raiſe up all manner of tumults and uprores, perſecutions and ſlanders, repreſented by thundering, lightening, and earthquake. Rev. 8. 5. And there were voyces, and thundrings, and lightenings, and earthquakes.

3. A word or ſentence uttered miraculouſly from heaven. Rev. 10. 8. And the voyce which I heard from heaven, ſpake to me again.

Voyce of the Bridegroom] The mirth and gladneſſe, ſuch as uſeth to be expreſſed and exerciſed at marriages. Rev. 18. 23. The voyce of the Bridegroom ſhall be heard no more. In theſe words he alludeth to Jer. 52. 10.

A voyce of Harpers, and Muſicians, &c.] All manner of mirth and joy, expreſſed by any manner of inſtruments, whether toucht by the finger, or made to ſound by the force of the breath. Rev. 18. 22. And the voyce of Harpers, Muſicians, and Trumpeters, ſhall be heard no more.

Great voyce of a great multitude] A moſt great and cheerfull noyſe of innumerable Citizens of the Church-Militant, cheering and rejoycing themſelves with the ruine and fall of Babylon. Revel. 19. 1. I heard a great voyce of a great multitude in heaven.

Voyce out of the Temple] The faithfull prayers of the Saints prevailing with God, for the execution of his judgements upon his, and their accurſed enemies in Antichriſts Kingdome. Rev. 16. 1. And I heard a great voyce out of the Temple. Others underſtand this of Gods own voyce, immediately thundring out of heaven, the Temple of his holineſſe: which cannot agree, ſeeing the Temple ſignifieth the Militant Church in earth, as ch. 11. 1.

A voyce out of the throne] A moſt ſweet exhortation uttered by ſome of thoſe Angels which are ſaid to be amidſt the throne, and about the throne of God, ſtirring up the Servants of God to praiſe him. Rev. 19. 5.

Then

Then a voyce came out of the throne, saying, Praise the Lord.

Voyce of many waters, and of strong thunders] An effectuall voyce, very terrible, piercing and striking (like thunder) and making great noyse (like many waters together) strongly provoking both the Jews restored, and the beleeving Gentiles, to sound forth the praises of God, for his infinite mercies in Christ, and his great judgements against the great Whore. Rev. 16.9. I heard a voyce as the voyce of many waters, and as the voyce of strong thunders.

W A.

To walk] To be alwayes present in the midst of the Church, to blesse, enrich, guide, and protect the Ministers and members thereof. Rev. 2, 1. And walked in the midst of the golden Candlesticks. If Christ be alwayes resident with his Church himself, to look into every thing, what need a Vicar? what use of the Pope?

2. To live, or to order our life according to the direction of the Word, which is a light to our steps. Rev. 21. 24. And the people shall walk in the light of it.

Wall] The strength, defence, and safety of the Church, which is as a City that hath walls for defence. Rev. 21. 12. And had a great wall on high.

Wares, or merchandise] Not onely outward merchandise and stuffs; as Silks, Linnen, precious Stones, Pearls, Purple, Scarlet, &c. the value whereof shall much abate at the fall of Rome; but spiritual merchandise, as Masses, Dirges, and such trash, which shall wax vile, and nothing worth, Revel. 18. 11.

War] Battle, hostility, or enmity against the true preachers and professors of the Word, stirred up against them by Romish Antichrist, who is therefore said to be the Beast that cometh out of the bottomlesse pit, because his beastly and savage power and tyranny is from hell, which he shall exercise with bloody cruelty. Rev. 11. 7. The beast that cometh out of the bottomlesse pit shall make war against them. Rev. 13. 7. Make war against the Saints. This war is that hot opposition, and bitter enmity, which the Tridentine Councel, with the Popes and Emperors forces, made against the Protestants in Germany, as the learned collect, by comparing events with prophesies. There is another battle mentioned, ch. 19. 19, 20, &c. wherein the Beast shall be overcome, and taken.

Was, and is not, &c.] The divers condition of the Romane Empire, according to the change of foure severall times. 1. Flourishing in majesty and power, under the reign of the first Emperors, Julius, Augustus, Tiberius, Claudius, &c. 2. Eclipsed and diminished in glory and power, under the succeeding Emperors, Nero, Galba, Domitian, &c. 3. But revived and raised up again in the Popes. 4. And finally in Gods just judgement to be thrust down into utter destruction. Rev. 17. 8. The Beast which thou hast seen, was, and is not, and shall ascend out of the bottomlesse pit, and shall go to perdition. Some other Divines understand this wholly of Antichrist, that Popish Empire, which began after St. John's time, in the end of the reign of Constantine the Great; 2 And afterward by an incursion of Barbarians, Rome and Italy being miserably wasted, the Pontificall authority and Sea seemed as it were not to be. 3, But this hurt and wound was afterward cured by Justinian and Phocas, in the time of Pope Gregory the second, which exercised a greater power (both Ecclesiastical and temporal) then any of his predecessors had done. 4. Yet this newly recovered dignity, was not alwaies to last, but to be diminished by little and little (as we see at this day) till it wholly be extinct, which posterity must see. That this is the truest interpretation, may appear by verses 10, & 12. of this chapter, which make it manifest, this Beast here spoken of, not to have been then when John wrote this prophesie, nor had not then received his Kingdome and power. Therefore they are utterly deceived, which expound this verse of the Devil; (as Ribera the Jesuite doth) or which do seek for the beginning or Seat of Antichrist any where but at Rome, where all the 4 former mutations and changes are evidently known to have happned, whether we understand these changes joyntly of the Heathenish and Popish Monarchy, or of Ecclesiasticall Empire alone, as it seems that it ought to be for the former reason.

To wash long robes] To have (being converted to Christ by faith) the holinesse and righteousnesse of Christ alone imputed to them. Revel. 7. 14. And have washed their long robes.

To watch] To shake off security and sluggishnesse, and with great care to preserve our garments of faith and innocency. Rev. 16. 15, 16.15. Bleſſed is he that watcheth, and keeps his garments.

Waters] Peoples, multitudes, nations, and tongues; at a word Countreys of every language, obeying Rome as their Queen or Miſtris. Rev. 17.15. The waters which thou ſaweſt, are peoples and multitudes, &c.

2. All impediments and lets which hinder paſſage and acceſſe to a Region. Rev.16. 12. And the waters thereof was dryed up.

3. The doctrine of Gods Word, which is like ſweet and wholeſome waters, but being infected by corrupt Teachers, they become bitter as wormwood. Revel. 8.11. Many dyed of the waters, becauſe they were bitter. See Rev. 22.1, 17.

4. Superſtitions, errors, hereſies, as a flood of water to drown the Church, Rev.12.15.

Way] Commodity or opportunity of doing ſomething. Rev.16.22. That way might be prepared for the Kings.

Rev. 18.18. What City was like to this great City

White] Pure from all ſpot, by imputation of Chriſts righteouſneſſe, and ſhining in glory, both in themſelves, by ſenſe of Gods love; and with others, by praiſes rendred to God for his grace toward them. Rev. 3.4. And ſhall walk with me in white.

Other far more probably, refer this to the victory which the truth had under the Emperor Adrian, who by mediation of certain Philoſophers, pleading the cauſe of Chriſtians before him, was moved to make a joyfull decree, that no Chriſtian ſhould be condemned, but for civill crimes puniſhable by Law. Euſeb. lib. 5. c. 3. as afterward by Edict of the next Emperor, Antonius Pius, at the motion of Juſtinus Martyr, it was proclaimed, that no Chriſtian ſhould be troubled, becauſe he was a Chriſtian, and their accuſers ſhould be judged to puniſhment. Euſeb. lib. 5.11.

2. Rev. 14. 19. Were caſt into that great Wine preſſe of Gods wrath. How ſome underſtand this not of the laſt and great judgement in the end of the world, but refer it to that ſharp judgment executed upon Popery, in the dayes of King Henry the Eight, King of England, by the downfall of their religious houſes in this our, and other Countreys of Europe, ye may read in the words Vine and Vineyard.

Alſo, becauſe he bare witneſſe and record to the truth before Pontius Pilate, when he asked him, Art thou the King of the Jews? Joh. 18. 37. wherefore Paul ſaith, he witneſſed a good confeſſion under Pontius Pilate, 1 Tim. 6. 13. And becauſe as he taught and revealed all truth, and before Pilate, in word, and by mouth bare teſtimony and record to the truth; ſo alſo becauſe he ſealed it up with his blood; he dyed, and was a Martyr, for bearing witneſſe to the truth, which indeed proves him to be a faithfull conſtant witneſſe. In theſe three reſpects he hath this title given him.

3. The City of Rome, as it is become the ſeat of Antichriſt. Rev. 17. 3. And I ſaw a woman ſit on a Scarlet coloured beaſt. This woman being all glorious (not within, but) outwardly, cannot be that true Spouſe of Chriſt, whoſe rare beauty is ſpirituall and inward.
